THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Looking for an uplift of a cheerful character in the commercial and financial centres of business, we find one remarked upon as modifying certain ill effects of labor removals enforced upon railroads by their shortened income. That modification can only be noted as promising because it tends to help relieve the weakened industries from their embarrassment resulting from the threatened insolvency facing them. Of course every one knows, except those who are wilfully blind, that there is no complete remedy for shortened revenue other than to raise freight and passenger rates. Put the roads back in those particulars to the condition in which the revenue was large enough to employ all the labor that has been discharged, then, clearly enough, that feature would be no longer existent and of course no longer troublesome.

When labor awakens to a full sense and meaning of this truth, it will dismiss these newly converted allies who are all the time attitudinizing as friends of the employees while they are destroying the revenue of the roads, and thus taking away their livelihood, leaving them without recourse except on the streets as tramps. That is no exaggeration but simple fact. Any of our readers who has a doubt can satisfy himself by turning to the pages of the "Chronicle" to-day (973-974) in the department where we always publish weekly and monthly railroad earnings. Those figures tell the whole story as to the rapidity with which such losses are compelling the roads to discharge their men, forced to it by the Government destroying their power to pay them. A secret that the receivers of the Metropolitan Railroad discovered when they took that property into their hands was that to run a road calls for ready cash to pay men and to pay the hundreds of other expenses daily required; hence they devised ways for increasing the revenue of that property. So it must always be. If a power above the railroads lowers rates it takes the road's revenue and hence takes away the laborer's wages; it is lost to the company and to the wage-earner, and their discharge is a necessity. This is the exact truth, and any official who is engaged in such work is an accessory. Rumor still says that the politicians are frightened and freight rates are to be raised. We trust labor will not compromise upon any basis except the old one. The effort of the leaders will be to make a trifling advance —good enough until after the election. This is the time for the laborer's harvest.

The idea we started with was a phase arising out of this question of discharging employees, which has been called a point of promise. Any course of action that helps to keep railroads from insolvency and receiverships—which, as already shown, this process of robbing them of their revenue must inevitably produce—that is, anything that forces the roads to economize and thus decrease their loss in net earnings is a favorable condition so far as the road is concerned; it does not help the discharged employees, but extends the time the carrier can be kept a going concern and thus wait for larger relief. The two points we wish to emphasize is (1) that no employer ever discharges his workmen until lack of funds compels him to do so; but (2) when the inevitable comes and the revenue is below the pay-roll—what does he do? The obvious answer is that he discharges the poorest laborer he has and keeps the best. Employers never let their best hands leave them except under the last necessity. No farmer would, in weeding his bed of spring plants, pull up the most promising and commit them to the fire and keep the sickly and diseased for tender care for market growing. The great truth is, the weeding process is always a trying one and doubly so because it sacrifices the weakest. But when we speak of the effect of the discharge of workmen, we recognize the fact that the balance of hands left is a higher average of efficiency, and consequently the goods made after the weeding, are made at a less cost per piece. That is a benefit to the country, just as the cutting off a man's right arm might be if life is kept going thereby. But it is none the less a hard case when large classes of corporate enterprises in a country are reduced to a similar contingency to keep the wheels of the machine still moving and in best condition.

What a curious travesty it is that while in 1908 we are in the heat of a Presidential campaign, there is at the same moment a canvass of the votes in progress of the election for Mayor of New York which occurred in November 1905. Glorying in American genius in methods and practice where such an incident can happen does not count for much. If we are not equal to something more suitable than that our boasting had better cease. What is an election in the United States? Speaking in general terms, it is the making of choice (in this case the choice was between Mayor McClellan and Mr. Hearst) by ballot by a body of qualified electors voting between certain hours on a set day, each man's ballot as cast being deposited in boxes, the boxes being opened and the votes counted with due formality after the hour expires for the voting to be finished. All this was done in the usual way and time in November 1905 and McClellan was declared elected by the small plurality of only 3,478.

The election was on Tuesday. At that point in the affair a legal proceeding was begun by Mr. Hearst, the hour of getting the order being 10 30 o'clock of the same night, the order being served also during the night. It would seem as if there ever was a proceeding that should have been carried out in broad daylight it was one affecting the handling of boxes covering the evidence of the truth or untruth of the fraud charged. The newspapers of Wednesday morning described the way the boxes were handled. Says one "Scores of Hearst followers gathered at his headquarters to receive orders for watching the removal of the boxes. Mr. McClellan was not informed of the transaction so that he might, like Mr. Hearst, have had the opportunity to send watchers to look after the evidences of his election and see that the boxes were not tampered with while being transferred to the Election Bureau. It was stated by the press that it was about 1 o'clock in the night when the police began the moving of the boxes to the Bureau of Elections. No one was there to receive them, so that the police reserves were ordered out to watch the boxes on the sidewalk till the Bureau opened. Indeed, "from midnight Wednesday until 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon Manhattan's vote stood in front of the headquarters of the Board of Elections." During all that time the ballots were either piled up in wagons or strewn along the curbs. What credence can be given to the contents of those boxes after such a midnight journey as that and such an opportunity during the subsequent hours of exposure for manipulation by any one desiring to do so, or who had an evil intent? If the object had been to hide guilt already perpetrated or to change votes, there could not have been concocted a scheme more thoroughly suited to such purposes. Under the circumstances related above, this proceeding has been begun and is being prosecuted. If me must recount votes, the method adopted on this occasion ought not to stand as a precedent.

Discussion of currency matters in Congress is not just now proceeding in a smooth way. The House Committee on Banking and Currency yesterday tabled the Aldrich Emergency Currency Bill and all week has been giving public hearings on this bill. These hearings have served to confirm what was well known before—that there is considerable opposition to the enactment of this measure. The hearings have also given rise to some heated arguments in which reckless and extravagant statements have been made in disregard of the facts. Particular objection is felt against Section 8 of the bill, providing for a change in the reserve to be held by national banks, and against Section 11. This last is an amendment which Senator La Follette succeeded in having added to the bill, and it provides that "no national banking association shall invest any part of its funds or deposits in the stocks or other securities of any corporation or association any of the officers or directors of which are officers or directors of such banking association." We indicated two weeks ago some of the objections to this provision and we cannot see that it would serve any good purpose. Plainly, therefore, it should be eliminated from the bill.

In the matter of reserves, however, the situation is different. The object of the Aldrich Bill in that respect is two-fold. In the first place, it aims to compel the banks outside of the central reserve cities to keep a larger portion of their reserves in cash in their own vaults; and in the second place, by allowing a portion of this reserve to consist of State and municipal bonds, it seeks to make provision for a supply of such bonds, ready to hand in the possession of the banks themselves, always available for use as a basis for the emergency notes which the bill creates. There are few close observers of affairs who do not hold that the country banks should be obliged to keep larger reserves of cash in their own possession. It is quite generally felt that if there is one lesson which the late panic has plainly taught, it is that it would be in the interest of greater safety for all banking institutions if more adequate reserves were required. In this State extensive revisions of the banking laws with regard to both banks and trust companies are being made with that end in view. Strangely enough, in the case of the national banks all action looking towards larger reserves for the country banks is being strenuously resisted, and predictions of panic and disaster made in case the purpose should be carried out. This week, for instance, Mr. J. D. Powers, President of the American Bankers' Association, prophesied a political and financial revolution should the reserve provision of the Aldrich Bill be retained. Here is what he said on that point, according to a special dispatch from Washington published in the New York "Times" on Wednesday morning.

"The gentleman from Alabama who was guilty of the Eighth Section, requiring an increase of bank reserves, did not know what he was doing. This depletion of the existing funds of the country for the increase of reserves will mean the retirement from commercial channels of $1,100,000,000 and the result of this retirement will be the greatest panic that this country has experienced. There would be a panic before the bill even got into operation, and there are 1,000,000 people who would know where to fix the responsibility. After this panic there would ensue a political revolution that would be a wonder and a marvel to those who look at these things."

We can scarcely credit the accuracy of the statements here attributed to Mr. Powers, and we confess we do not understand them. They are mystifying and bewildering, and they imply threats to which the country is not unaccustomed on the part of labor organizations, but which sound strange coming from a representative banker. It is within the knowledge of our readers that we do not believe in the soundness of a bond-secured currency, and therefore do not approve of the principle on which the Aldrich Bill is founded. This should not, however, blind us to plain facts or lead us in an excess of zeal to over-emphasis of any particular feature of the measure, with the effect to discredit the whole bill.

The impression which the statements imputed to Mr. Powers leave upon the mind is that the reserve provisions of the Aldrich Bill would call for such an increase in the cash holdings of the banks as to threaten immediate financial disaster. We know of no better way by which to test the accuracy of such a conclusion than by reference to the actual facts. At present national banks in reserve cities are obliged to maintain a reserve of 25%, of which only 12½% need be on hand. Under the Aldrich bill they would be required to hold two-thirds of the 25%, or 16 2-3%, on hand. This apparently means an increase of 4 1-6% in the ratio of cash required to be held. But the bill also provides that one-sixth of the 16 2-3% may consist of municipal bonds which are to form the basis of the emergency currency provided by the Act, and it is evidently the purpose of the bill that this portion of the reserve, amounting to 2 7-9%, shall be held in such bonds. It would also be manifestly to the interest of the banks to have such portion in bonds, rather than in actual cash in vault earning no money. Deducting this 2 7-9% from the 16 2-3% required, we find that the compulsory reserve in vault would be only 13 8-9%, as against 12½% at present, an increase of less than 2%. The question which, therefore, comes up is, how much addition to cash holdings this increase of 1 7-18% (for that is the exact figure) would call for over the amount of cash now held? The detailed statement of the condition of the national banks under the call of the Comptroller of the Currency for Feb. 14 is now available, and this renders it possible to make exact computation.

It appears that the net deposits subject to reserve requirements of the ordinary reserve cities (the bill makes no change in the reserve requirements of the central reserve cities) on Feb. 14 were $1,316,929,843. The compulsory reserve on this, as already stated, would be 13 8-9%, and this, accordingly, would call for cash holdings of $182,906,919. The banks actually had on hand on the date named $200,362,786 of specie and legal tenders, besides $7,364,505 on deposit in the redemption fund at Washington, making $207,- 727,291. In other words, the banks in the reserve cities are now holding $25,000,000 more than they would be required to keep under the Aldrich bill. Even if they elected to hold no municipal bonds at all, and hence had to have the whole 16 2-3% of their 25% reserve in cash, they would be only $11,761,016 short.

The situation in the case of the country banks is much the same. There is to be no change in aggregate reserve, which will remain at 15%, but whereas at present only 6% need be held in vault, under the Aldrich bill 12% (four-fifths) must be on hand, but of this 12% 4% may be in municipal bonds. In other words, the compulsory cash reserve will be 8%, as against 6% now. From the Comptroller's returns, the aggregate net deposits of the country banks on Feb. 14 were $2,461,947,527; 8% on this would call for cash of $196,955,802, whereas the actual holdings of the country banks at the same date, of specie and legal tenders, were $232,752,935, and in addition they had on deposit at Washington $18,184,224, making altogether $250,937,159. In brief, they had 54 million dollars more of cash than they will need under the Aldrich Bill. It is difficult to see how expectations of a panic can be predicated on such results. Even if the country banks concluded to hold absolutely no municipal bonds whatever, and accordingly had to hold the full 12% in cash, they would have to add only 44½ million dollars to their present cash holdings. We may say, too—without at all accepting the principle of a bond-secured currency—that we do not see how the country banks would be harmed under the operation of the bill. They are given the right to keep 4% of their reserve in bonds. Assuming that this 4% is now on deposit, it is earning say 2%. Invested in bonds, the yield should be 3½@4½%, and furthermore, in time of monetary stringency, these bonds would be available for the taking out of circulation, the only cost of which would be the tax levied on the notes.

But dispatches from Washington this week have indicated that an amendment is to be made with the view to allowing the issue of the proposed emergency notes on the basis of mercantile assets. We should regard such change as highly desirable, and as being a step in the right direction, provided the issue of notes in that way is properly safeguarded. All will depend upon the wording of the provision. At present, the proposition is wholly tentative. The suggestion, however, as put out, is to the effect that national banks not less than ten in number having an aggregate capital and surplus of at least $10,000,000 may form voluntary associations known as National Clearing-House Associations and banks belonging to such associations are to be allowed to deposit securities, including commercial paper, satisfactory in quality and amount, and to receive circulating notes not to exceed 75% of the cash value of the securities. If such proposed associations are to act through and as a part of the present Clearing-House organizations, the provision might be very useful. If, on the other hand, it is intended to allow any ten banks with an aggregate capital and surplus of $10,000,000 to form independent associations, the experiment might prove highly dangerous. Any one can imagine what would happen under a future Morse or Thomas holding "a chain of banks."

With the proposal for the appointment of a currency commission we have absolutely no patience. Congressman Fowler is reported to have introduced a resolution providing for the appointment of such a commission to report and recommend a bill "for a new system of currency" on Jan. 1 1909. Mr. Fowler's proposal is fantastic in the extreme. The commission, according to newspaper reports, is to be made up of eleven Representatives and eleven Senators, together with twenty-one citizens to be selected by the President. The twenty-one citizens are to consist of six banking economists, five members from the Atlantic Coast section, five from the Mississippi Valley and five from the Pacific Slope. Each group of five is to be made up of a banker, a farmer, a representative of labor, a merchant and a manufacturer. We know of no measure or recommendation of a commission of this kind that has ever been attended with any measure of success. As far as financial and currency matters are concerned, we have already had several commission reports within the last twelve or eighteen months, and what heed or attention has Congress given to their recommendations or suggestions? Not so very long ago a Chamber of Commerce Commission made a report, then the American Bankers' Association entered upon the work, and finally a composite measure, consisting of prominent features from both plans, was evolved. Congress has been wholly indifferent to all these labors. We cannot believe any greater success would attend the work of Mr. Fowler's proposed commission made up of the butcher, the grocer and the candlestick-maker.

While there were large subscriptions for the German and Prussian loans that were offered at Berlin on Saturday of last week, such subscriptions amounting, as reported, to twice the sum of the issues, or about 425 million dollars, only those subscribers who applied for registered bonds or who pledged themselves to hold such securities for a definite period received allotments. The foreign subscriptions appear to have been small, no doubt due to the above requirement. Swiss and Austrian bankers subscribed for considerable amounts, but English tenders were in less volume.

The issue of such large loans appears to have been somewhat of a surprise, at least in London. The leading financial journals seem to attribute the issues to a desire to cover the deficits disclosed in the recent budget statement. One journal remarks that in face of the naval program and domestic expenditures of Prussia, taxation requirements are already large. Regarding trade and industrial conditions in Germany, it is stated that "the Krupp works at Essen have recently dismissed about 7,000 hands; the Hamburg-American Line has thirty steamers lying idle, and wages in Hamburg industries are being reduced." These conditions do not seem to accord with the fact that dear money still lingers in Germany.

It was reported at Berlin early in the week that a new Russian loan is soon to be floated at Paris. This report may be, and we think it is, merely an echo of that which has recently been current and been denied. Still, it may have some foundation, and if so it will probably account for the manifest desire of the Bank of France and French bankers to accumulate gold through purchases in the London market and New York market.

It was announced on Thursday that engagements of two millions gold had been effected for export to Paris. Since early in the week there had been a gradual advance in the rate for exchange at New York on London towards the point at which, with the exchange rate at Paris on the British capital as a factor, gold could be profitably shipped hence to Paris as an arbitration operation. Another factor contributing to the success of such operations was the maintenance in London of the price of 77 shillings 10¼ pence per ounce for gold bars, which, if a correspondingly high price therefor ruled at Paris, would add about half a cent per pound sterling to the normal market value of the metal. No inducements appear to have been offered by the Bank of France to facilitate the export of gold hence; indeed, none seem to have been necessary, for exchange rates at Paris and at New York, together with the above-noted practical premium on gold, were promotive of the movement without further aid.

It seems idle to speculate upon the volume of gold that will go forward while such favorable conditions prevail, for there is nothing to indicate what degree of urgency exists at Paris for American gold. The Bank of France and French bankers have latterly been active competitors with the Bank of England in the London bullion market for the weekly supplies of the metal from the Cape, and on Monday the bulk of the £500,000 gold which then arrived was secured for Paris. If the French demand for the Cape metal shall continue and, because of competition therefor, if the price shall advance, it may be that, so long as exchange conditions shall be advantageous, the inducement of interest on the consignments while they are in transit may be offered; then gold would go forward and the time-cost being eliminated, cover would be secured through cable transfers. Though such time-cost would be extremely moderate, owing to the prevailing low rates for money, cables could not be made available for the reimbursement of the shipper without its elimination; hence, exporters might incur some risk through the employment of sight exchange for such reimbursement because of the narrow market for this class of bills. It will be seen, therefore, that the volume of exports will depend upon such uncertain factors and conditions that it cannot even be conjectured.

It is thought by some bankers that not only will exports of gold be made to Paris, but that Germany will attract the metal through the offering of inducements by the Reichsbank to New York bankers of the interest on the gold for two weeks on each consignment. Inasmuch, however, as exchange at Berlin on London is much above the import point from the latter centre, whatever arrangements may be made for shipments from New York to Germany will have to provide for direct exports instead of those through arbitration, or what is known as the "triangular" device.

Russian fiscal affairs for recent years are quite clearly and ably set forth in an analysis furnished us by Messrs. Flint & Co. of this city, they having received it from their representative at St. Petersburg. The analysis, however, is so extensive and detailed that it would be impossible to give it in full, but we extract some of its conclusions which are of current interest. Referring to the Russian budget, it is pointed out that it embraces two classes of revenue and expenditure—the ordinary covering the normal affairs of the empire, and the extraordinary having to do with expenditures for war, to meet national calamities, such as famine, &c., and providing for other special needs. It is shown that for the five years, 1899 to 1903 inclusive, the revenues under the ordinary budget were upon a noticeably increasing yearly scale, being sufficient not only to meet ordinary expenditure, but leaving a balance of 893,608,000 roubles, which to the extent of 654,627,000 roubles was used in providing for a deficiency in extraordinary receipts for the period. The net surplus of revenue for the five years was, therefore, 238,910,000 roubles. In explaining the considerable increase in ordinary revenue between 1899 and 1903—from 1,673,313,000 roubles to 2,031,801,000 roubles—it is stated that in only slight degree was it due to extra charges upon the people, the extension of the alcohol monopoly and larger revenue from the railroads accounting for it.

Coming down to the war period (1904, 1905 and 1906) we find great conservatism in the make-up of the ordinary budget. For the first of these years the revenue was estimated at 51¾ millions less than in 1903; it turned out to be 38 millions greater than in that year and left a surplus over ordinary expenditures of 111½ millions. In 1905 the ordinary revenues, originally estimated at 1,977 millions, proved to be 2,024½ millions, having been increased somewhat by increased taxes on malt, yeast, beer, products of distillation, matches, transfers of property and taxes on salaries. The year's surplus was 99½ millions. The revenue for 1906, due to the inclusion of much revenue not received in 1905, payment of which was not then insisted upon, owing to bad internal conditions, reached 2,271 million roubles, a large excess over the estimate, and left a surplus of 220¾ millions. Expenditures under the extraordinary budget in these three years, having in mind the huge calls for military expenses, were of course extremely heavy. Besides these, however, there was an outlay of 239 millions of roubles in the three years for the alleviation of famine and suppression of riots said to be unavoidable. The expenditure for war purposes was 2,598½ million roubles; an appropriation of 212¾ millions for the construction of new railroads, &c., it was thought might have been deferred. The estimate of revenue for 1907 was put at an amount somewhat under that for 1906, as that year's receipts were abnormally swelled by deferred payments, as stated above; but actual results for the first half of the year gave promise that the 1906 revenue would be exceeded. The figures for the full year, however, are not yet at hand.

Passing to a consideration of the effect of the war upon the Russian debt, it is found that to meet the extraordinary expenses incurred, various loans were floated in 1904 to 1907, inclusive, reaching an aggregate of 2,095,250,000 roubles, of which 1,007,900 roubles have already been redeemed, leaving the actual increase 2,094,242,100 roubles. This amount, added to the 6,651,836,239 roubles which comprised the debt of the empire at the close of 1903, gives a total outstanding of 8,746,078,339 roubles, equaling, at 77 cents to the rouble, $6,734,480,321. To provide for the redemption of the various loans as they come due will necessitate, of course, appreciable additions to the budgets for some years to come, but with Russia's resources this should cause no great concern.

Adverting to the present financial situation in Russia, Messrs. Flint & Co.'s representative considers it favorable, although, of course, not so satisfactory as prior to the war. He cites as a satisfactory feature the fact than savings banks deposits have appreciably increased, standing at 1,324,000,000 roubles on July 1 1907, against 1,195,000,000 on the corresponding date in 1906, an increase of 129,000,000, or nearly 11%, in a year.

There are as yet no signs of revival in the building trade in the United States. Operations in March were, it is true, upon an appreciably larger scale than in preceding months of 1908, but that was merely a normal situation applicable to the same month of earlier years. Of course it is noticeable in a few special localities West and South that construction arranged for entails a larger outlay than in March 1907, but in the aggregate for the whole country the contracts entered into in the month of 1908 call for an expenditure much below the same period a year ago. These conclusions are arrived at from a study of a statement compiled by the "American Contractor," which includes forty-seven leading cities of the United States. The compilation indicates that at the forty-seven cities the permits issued in March this year called for a total outlay of only $34,228,095; in March 1907 the carrying out of contracts for building entered into involved an approximate expenditure of $54,258,327, or 58.5% more.

At a few cities, as already intimated, considerable activity in building, even though it may be but temporary, seems to be indicated. That is the situation at New Orleans, where this year's contracts involve the expenditure of $1,833,771, or 402% more than in 1907; Little Rock, where the permits call for an outlay of 206% in excess of last year's, and Indianapolis, with the approximate cost 52% greater than a year ago. Excess of operations—but much less in amount— is also reported from Baltimore, Chattanooga, Denver, Kansas City, Louisville, Memphis, Milwaukee, Paterson, Portland, Ore., San Antonio and Spokane.

In sharp contrast with the foregoing, however, has been the inactivity in a number of localities. At Worcester, Mass., the permits issued this year in March called for an outlay of but $59,885, or 73% less than last year, this falling off following declines of 87% and 96% respectively in the two preceding months. The decrease in estimated cost at Birmingham and Toledo is reported at 65% and at Mobile 64%. The exhibit made by Greater New York is less favorable than in February, when the decrease for the combined boroughs was 59%. March contracts in Manhattan and the Bronx entail an outlay of only $3,573,700, against $11,252,579 for the month in 1907, or a decrease of 68.2%, and in Brooklyn a falling off of 63% is indicated, the expected cost of new structures this year being $2,082,190, against $5,801,283 in March of last year.

Probably a better idea of the dulness that has prevailed in building lines thus far in 1908 can be obtained by combining the results for the three months. Treated in that way, we find for the first quarter of 1908 the contracts entered into at the forty-seven cities called for an outlay of only $76,217,513, against $124,013,999 in the like period of 1907, or a decline of almost 39%. Carrying the comparison back to 1906, an even more unfavorable situation is revealed. In Greater New York alone in the three months of this year arrangements for expenditures were only $17,326,622, whereas in the corresponding period a year ago estimated costs were $42,602,945, which indicates a loss of nearly 60%.

The month of March witnessed a turn in the tide of our foreign export movement of commodities. We have the official trade statement for that period, issued this week; it exhibits a decline in the shipment of merchandise compared with the preceding month or with the corresponding period of the previous year, instead of an increase. Moreover, the total is slightly less than for March 1906. The falling off from last year's total was approximately 20 millions of dollars, this year's total having been $141,397,578. This is largely accounted for by the decline in the aggregate value of shipments of breadstuffs, provisions, cotton and oil. Cotton alone recorded a drop of 18¾ millions in values and in breadstuffs there was a loss of 1½ millions, due wholly to much smaller corn exports. But these were in part offset by gains of 1¾ and 2½ millions respectively in provisions and oil, leaving the net decrease in these leading articles 16½ millions. For the three months of the calendar year 1908 the total merchandise exports reached $514,926,702, or a gain of 4½ millions over 1907, and for the nine months of the fiscal year 1907-08 the total at $1,497,902,535 exceeds the period of 1906-07 by 47 millions.

On the other hand, imports of merchandise in March were a little greater in aggregate value than in either January or February, but with those exceptions fall below any monthly total since July 1904 or any March result since 1902. The inward movement of all descriptions of commodities aggregated a value of only $89,113,830, which is a decided decrease from the 133 millions total of March 1907 and contrasts quite unfavorably with the 113 millions and 110 millions respectively of 1906 and 1905. For the three months of the calendar year 1908 the merchandise imports aggregated $258,866,895, or a loss of 124 millions from the record movement of 1907, and for the nine months of the fiscal year reached $930,867,605, contrasting with $1,065,845,029 for the period in 1906-07.

The most noticeable contraction in volume of imports this year, as we have remarked on former occasions, is of course in luxuries, particularly in diamonds and other precious stones. Of precious stones the March importations at New York were only $389,515, as against $3,296,281 in 1907 and $3,789,825 in 1906. During the last four months (Dec. 1907 to March 1908, inclusive) they were less than 1½ million dollars, compared with 16 millions a year ago. Under such a situation in by far the largest diamond-purchasing country, it is not strange that the leading diamond firms of Amsterdam, Antwerp and Paris should have appealed to the De Beers and Premier diamond mining companies of Africa to stop the output of the stones for six months. In this connection we would state that Amsterdam is the leading diamond-cutting locality—not Antwerp, as we remarked last month. Some 5,000 cutters were idle in Amsterdam at the close of March. It is at Amsterdam that the Cullinan diamond, the stone of about 3,000 carats presented to King Edward by the Transvaal, was cut and is now being polished. This latter work, it is said, will take upwards of a year.

The net result of our foreign trade movement for March is a balance of merchandise exports of $52,-283,748, which compares with a similar balance of $28,575,058 in 1907 and $31,913,130 in 1906. For the three months of the calendar year the favorable balance of 256 millions of dollars is largely in excess of that for the like period in any earlier year, and the same is true of the nine months' balance of 567 millions. In fact, this latter figure is materially in excess of the balances recorded by all but two or three complete fiscal or calendar years.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week. The expected reduction by the Imperial Bank of Germany did not occur, and a decrease by the Bank of England was probably prevented by the heavy loss of gold; such loss since March 26 has amounted to nearly £4,000,000.

There were important differences shown by comparisons of the average with the actual changes in the various items of the bank statement last week. Average loans increased 7 millions, while the actual gain was 17¼ millions; the average increase in cash was 5 2-5 millions and the actual was 9 millions; average deposits were 11½ millions and actual 26 2-3 millions greater. The increase in the average reserve was $2,575,375 to $43,265,675, while the actual gain was $2,536,625 to $45,207,975. The percentage of average reserve to deposits was 28.53% and that of actual reserve was 28.63%.

The market for money this week indicated increased congestion as the result of the continued movement hither of balances of interior banks which, because of the apparent impossibility of employing them at home, were remitted to this centre. Sub-Treasury operations, due to disbursements in excess of receipts, contributed to the local accumulations of money, and the demand for speculation was small, owing to the professional character of stock trading and the closing of the Exchange over Easter. The larger banks seem to be in control of the call-loan branch of the market, and though they apparently permitted a recession of ¼ of 1% in the average rate compared with last week, they held in check offerings which would have established a lower average. The trust companies seemingly co-operated with the banks in their efforts to control the market, for they refrained from offering their balances at less than 1¾%. Commission houses were not in competition with the lending institutions; they have no balances resulting from previously negotiated time loans to offer, and those of such loans as have matured have not been renewed. Possibly if relief from congestion shall not come through recalls of public deposits or on account of the sentimental effect of exports of gold, a minimum of 1% on call may be recorded; then lenders will elect whether to offer their money at less than this rate or to withhold it from the market. Though time loans were offered this week at concessions compared with the rates ruling last week, the only business reported was in long maturities and transactions even in these were small. About the only demand for fixed-date loans is for those represented by commercial paper, which is promptly absorbed through purchases by local and interior institutions; the inquiry is so urgent and the offerings of the choicest names so comparatively small that rates have fallen to figures that are quite low for the season.

Money on call, representing bank and trust company balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 2@1¼%, averaging 1½%; banks placed their funds at 1¼% as the minimum and trust companies at 1¾%. Until Wednesday rates were 1¾@1½%; then the low record was 1¼% and on Thursday the maximum was 2% on account of the closing of the Exchange until Monday next week. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were quoted at 2½% for sixty and 2¾@3% for ninety days, 3½@3¾% for four, 3¾@4% for five to six and 4½@4¾% for seven to eight months. Commercial paper was quoted at 4@4½% for choice sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable, the former rate representing names of an exceptional character; for prime four to six months' single names the rate was 5@5½%.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 3%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 2⅝%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅝% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4¼%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England lost £1,879,850 bullion during the week and held £36,801,140 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that while exports exceeded imports by £370,000, heavy shipments to the interior of Great Britain account mainly for the loss in bullion holdings. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows Imports, £178,000 (of which £78,000 from Egypt and £100,000 from Australia); exports, £548,-000 (of which £82,000 to South America and £466,000 to Paris), and shipments of £1,510,000 net to the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was strong this week, with a gradual rise to the gold-export point to Paris, through arbitration operations, as the feature. There did not appear to be any new factors influencing the market other than those which have recently been effective in advancing rates. The offerings of bankers' bills were in limited volume and there was a dearth of commodity drafts, reflecting chiefly the small export movement of cotton, while there was a good inquiry for remittance, which tended to absorb the quite moderate supply and leave the market so bare that gold shipments were resorted to in lieu of exchange. One cause for the condition of the market that has not hitherto been disclosed is the negotiation early in the year of futures in exchange. Then rates for long sterling were low and those for discounts in London were relatively higher than were rates for money in New York; these conditions offered opportunity for American bankers to accumulate credits in London through the discount of purchases of long sterling, and such credits were employed advantageously so long as the above-noted relative discount and money situations prevailed. In order to effect the withdrawal of these credits to advantage the bankers sold sight drafts deliverable in April and May, with the proceeds of which they expected to accomplish their purpose. These contracts for future delivery are now about maturing and it is said that the consequent demand for sight exchange is contributing to the exhaustion of supplies thereof in the market. It is suggested as another reason for the scarcity of bankers' bills that accumulated credits in London representing investments in exchange, which credits have been created through the discount of commercial or other drafts, are being employed to greater advantage in the open market at London than they could be in our own because there call money is in good demand at 2½% as the minimum, with frequent opportunities to obtain higher rates, whereas here call money is a drug at 1¼@1½% and short time funds are unlendable. With a revival in the demand for money in our market as the result of recalls of public funds or of gold exports, the above-noted accumulated credits would probably be withdrawn from employment in London, and the exchange made through this process of withdrawal would prevent further exports of gold.

As elsewhere stated, shipments of $2,000,000 gold to Paris were effected this week and it is regarded as probable that other consignments will be forwarded to that destination in the near future and also to Berlin, should exchange conditions and other factors contributing to the movement be favorable. It may be observed that the item of time-cost involved in exports of the metal—otherwise than those which are aided by the device of allowing interest on the consignments while they are in transit—is perceptibly decreased, not only because of cheap money but also by the speedy delivery of the gold when it is shipped on the fast turbine steamers.

a The division (between gold and silver) given in our table of coin and bullion in the Bank of Germany and the Bank of Belgium is made from the best estimate we are able to obtain; in neither case is it claimed to be accurate, as those banks make no distinction in their weekly returns, merely reporting the total gold and silver; but we believe the division we make is a close approximation.

b The Austro-Hungarian Bank Statement is now issued in Kronen and Heller instead of Gulden and Kreutzer. The reduction of the former currency to sterling Pounds was by considering the Gulden to have the value of 80 cents. As the Kronen has really no greater value than 20 cents, our cable correspondent in London, in order to reduce Kronen to Pounds, has altered the basis of conversion by dividing the amount of Kronen by 24 instead of 20.

d The total of gold in the Bank of Russia includes the balance held abroad—that is, the amount held for Russian account in other Continental banks. The proportion so held, and consequently duplicated in the above statement, is about one-quarter of the total.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

It does not seem to us that the talk of serious international friction between China and Japan, which has figured prominently in certain newspaper despatches during the present week, need be taken very seriously. In so far as these despatches are to be relied upon, they reveal a somewhat curious situation, but one which is easily understood and which points for remedy, not to diplomatic pressure, but to amicable procedure by the governments concerned.

The gist of the matter seems to be that the Chinese merchants, provoked by certain actions of Japan, have instituted a sort of boycott on Japanese merchandise and on Japanese vessels as a medium for shipping goods. The provocation may have originated in the general policy of Japan regarding Manchuria, but it more probably had its immediate origin in the episode of the steamship Tatsu Maru, last February. What happened then was that this Japanese vessel, having anchored outside a seaport town in the neighborhood of Canton but under the protectorate of Portugal, was seized on February 7 by a Chinese cruiser, and was found to be laden with rifles and ammunition—destined, according to a seemingly undisputed account, for Chinese revolutionists.

The Chinese Government was about to pursue the usual course of condemning ship and cargo as contraband, but the Japanese Government interfered, alleging that the vessel was seized, not in Chinese waters, but in the harbor of a neutral port. To this contention, urged by some show of force, the Chinese Government eventually yielded, agreeing in the middle of last month to punish the officers who lowered the Japanese flag on the captured vessel, to salute the flag when it was raised again, to release the condemned ship, and to purchase its cargo. Japan, on the other hand, agreed "to exercise extra vigilance against her subjects in the matter of smuggling arms into China."

In all this episode there was nothing very unusual —nothing, in fact, different from what might at any time occur, and has frequently occurred, in the case of enterprising American filibusters and smugglers of contraband goods to South American revolutionists. But that the action of the Japanese Government, and the yielding of the Government at Peking, rankled in the minds of Chinese merchants, is probable enough. The despatches, at all events, declare that the silk and rice trade from the Chinese ports has virtually been cut off from the Japanese. They assert that the guilds of Chinese merchants have directed the boycott, and they point out such picturesque particulars as signs displayed on Chinese shops in Canton bearing the significant inscription—"No Japanese Goods Sold Here."

We have admitted often enough that trade disputes and commercial irritation are by no means to be ignored as a possible cause of diplomatic hostilities. We do not imagine that, in so far as these reports are true, the Japanese merchants could fail to be irritated at their exclusion and to bring what pressure they could upon their Government to help them out. Our own merchants would probably do the same in the conceivable case of a boycott at some European port. It is not so long ago that ardent patriots talked of war with Germany because of her exclusion of American hogs on what we regarded as a pretext that the meat was diseased. Still more recently we have heard some of the great London dailies talking of war with Germany because of certain trade aggressions by the German merchants. Such demonstrations are to be taken seriously to the extent that they foment that national dislike which gives to an ambitious government the assurance of popular support in a declaration of war. But the United States Government never had any intention of breaking off relations with Germany on account of the trichinosis dispute, and the British Government has given abundant proof that it did not take seriously the war talk of the London newspapers. We have not the slightest doubt that the cautious Government of Japan will accept with a similarly placid mind such talk as the jingoes of Tokio and Yokohama may stir up.

In point of simple fact, the incident which is imagined to be at the basis of international friction between China and Japan is an awkward one to deal with. We are told in some of the despatches that the Chinese Government has notified the merchants' guilds that they must refrain from overt actions in the way of boycott. But even the Chinese Government could scarcely go so far as to demand that its merchants buy Japanese goods which they alleged they did not want, and ship by Japanese vessels when they declared themselves better satisfied with other means of transportation. This sort of trade retaliation is no novelty. No people have ever shown greater aptitude for it than did our own in the early years of American history. The famous agreement of the colonists, when the Government of George III. clapped on the tea tax, to stop consuming that agreeable beverage, is a case in point with which all our school-boys are familiar. The British Ministry, angry and irritated at this sudden boycott of an important British industry, would have welcomed an opportunity to interfere; yet until the Boston mob boarded the British tea-ship and tossed its cargo into the bay, there was no opportunity for so much as criticism. The Chinese, not being as impulsive as the early colonists of New England, have been discreetly careful not to indulge in any overt act even as serious as the "Boston Tea Party." So long as they retain this cautious attitude, we fail to see what either the Chinese Government or the Japanese Government can do by way of forcible interposition or diplomatic protest.

We should imagine, in fact, that the episode, instead of inciting the intelligent portion of the Japanese people to measures of retaliation or force, would instill in their minds the necessity for more careful circumspection in their treatment of their Chinese neighbors. If trade facilities can be forfeited by harsh or untactful acts of government, they can be regained by cultivating friendly relations with more care than before. This is a fact which our own people have abundantly recognized in the case of the recent so-called Chinese boycott against some of our own export trade. Our statesmen wisely took the ground that the rational and proper policy was to assure the Chinese Government of our continued good intentions, and to leave such resentment as minor occurences beyond the Government's control had caused, to heal themselves.

THE BILL FOR AMENDING THE ANTI-TRUST LAW.

The opposition to the bill now pending in Congress for amending the Sherman Anti-Trust Law of 1890 is rapidly crystalizing. This bill is supposed to embody the desires of the Administration with reference to legislation in that respect. The Board of Directors of the Merchants' Association of New York last week held a meeting at which, by unanimous vote, resolutions were adopted vigorously opposing the proposed amendments. In an address delivered at Philadelphia last Friday night before the American Academy of Political and Social Science, Federal Judge Peter S. Grosscup of Illinois also spoke in opposition to the amendments, saying they provided for one-man control over corporations, and would give altogether too much power to the President. President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton University, speaking at the Jefferson dinner of the National Democratic Club at the Hotel Knickerbocker on Monday night, had the same proposal in mind when he said that the country had turned from legal regulation to executive regulation—from law to personal power—and declared that if this was necessary, government by law had broken down and personal government had been substituted.

We think that every thoughtful person, not infatuated or carried away by the craze of the day for regulation, must arrive at the same conclusion if he carefully studies these proposals. The bill of the Civic Federation, of which Seth Low is President, was prepared after repeated conferences with the President and others in authority at the White House, and is part of the policy of legislation agreed upon by Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers a month ago. The labor representatives took part in some of these conferences, and the bill embodies very important concessions to labor interests. But as the labor leaders did not get quite all they wanted, they are expressing dissatisfaction with the measure, though it is quite possible that some of this may be assumed rather than real. For, while it is true that there is no express provision in the bill granting the right of boycott in specific terms, for which the labor leaders have been so assiduously contending, there are not a few who entertain the opinion that the wording of the section affirming the right of labor to strike is so broad that it might be construed to legalize even a boycott.

The bill seeks in a most insidious manner to extend Federal authority, and it was high time that its true character should be revealed. At present, the exercise of Federal power is confined to the regulation of inter-State carriers. The proposed measure would form the entering wedge for extending this power so as to give the Government regulative control over all corporations engaged in inter-State commerce. We are opposed to the extension of Federal authority on general principles, and can see no need for the step proposed. Entirely apart from that, however, the bill contains some particularly objectionable features which make it peculiarly repugnant. Ostensibly, the purpose is to amend the Anti-Trust Law so as to make its provisions less all-embracing and less stringent. As the result of recent court decisions, there is a concensus of opinion that the law should forbid only contracts, agreements and combinations in unreasonable restraint of trade, instead of all contracts in restraint of trade, whether beneficent in their aims or not. The right to enter into reasonable contracts or agreements is to be granted under the bill, but it is not to be an indisputable, unquestioned right. It is all to rest upon the will of an executive official. His say-so is to govern. He may put his veto upon the proposition even if it is entirely meritorious. What opportunities this opens for the abuse of official discretion and power and even of fraud, in case the incumbent should be venal, must be obvious to every one. But even if that were not so, the mere fact that a citizen cannot get his rights except at the whim or caprice of a Government officer is a most daring suggestion.

The underlying principle of the bill is the requirement of registration. Registration upon the part of a corporation is not compulsory, and yet immunity from the operation of the law regarding agreements in restraint of trade or commerce can only be obtained by agreeing to register. Thus, registration becomes indispensable to obtaining relief from the existing vexatious and oppressive Anti-Trust Law. But a corporation or business concern can acquire the right to register only on compliance with certain terms and conditions, to be left entirely in the discretion of the President. In the case of labor unions and agricultural associations, which are classed in the bill as "corporations or associations not for profit and without capital stock," the preliminary requirements are very inconsequential and are specifically enumerated in the Act. They consist simply of the filing with the Commissioner of Corporations of a written statement setting forth (1) its charter or agreement of association and by-laws; (2) the place of its principal office; and (3) the names of its directors or managing officers and standing committees, if any, with their residences.

In the case, however, of corporations or associations for profit and having capital stock, registration can only be obtained by filing with the Commissioner of Corporations a written statement setting forth such information concerning the organization of such corporation or association, its financial condition, its contracts, and its corporate proceedings, as may be prescribed by general regulations from time to time to be made by the President. Furthermore, it is provided "that the President shall have power to make, alter, and revoke, and from time to time in his discretion he shall make, alter and revoke, regulations prescribing what facts shall be set forth in the statements to be filed with the Commissioner of Corporations by corporations and associations for profit and having capital stock, applying for registration." In the case of corporations not for profit or without capital stock, all that the Commissioner of Corporations can call for from time to time is "a revised statement giving as of a date specified by him such information as is required to be given at the time of original registration."

It is furthermore provided that a corporation for profit (not labor unions or associations without capital), having obtained registration and complied with the requirements that may be imposed at the discretion of the President, can even then only obtain relief from the operation of the existing Anti-Trust Law at the further pleasure of the Commissioner of Corporations. For it is provided that any corporation or association registered under the Act and any person not a common carrier, being a party to a contract or combination hereafter made, "may file with the Commissioner of Corporations a copy thereof if the same be in writing, or, if not in writing, a statement setting forth the terms and conditions thereof, together with a notice that such filing is made for the purpose of obtaining the benefit of the provisions of the Act." "Thereupon," it is further provided, "the Commissioner of Corporations, with the concurrence of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, of his own motion and without notice or hearing, or after notice and hearing, as the Commissioner may deem proper, may enter an order declaring that in his judgment such contract or combination is in unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce among the several States or with foreign nations. If no such order shall be made within thirty days after the filing of such contract, or written statement, no prosecution, suit or proceeding by the United States" is to lie under the Act, unless the same be in unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce. Any contract or combination which is not filed with the Government is to be subject to the existing law the same as now. Furthermore, no corporation or association for profit, or having capital stock, that may hereafter "make a combination or consolidation with any other corporation or association," is to be allowed to continue its registration unless it shall file a statement with the Commissioner of Corporations setting forth the terms and conditions of such combination or consolidation.

We would call attention to the two words we have italicized in this last sentence, namely the words "or consolidation." Apparently the existence of these words would give the Federal Government authority over even ordinary consolidations between one corporation and another—at least it would be within the power of the Federal officials to pass judgment on such consolidations, even if they could not prevent them.

There is one section of the law that would have to be regarded with favor except that it is qualified in such a way as to lose its utility. We refer to the section saying that no suit or prosecution is to be begun by the Government for or on account of any contract or combination made prior to the passage of the proposed amendment unless the same be in unreasonable restraint, and that after one year no suit or prosecution for or on account of any contract or combination made prior to the passage of the amendments is to be brought. Unfortunately, however, it is provided that no corporation or association is to be entitled to the benefit of this immunity if it shall have failed to register or if its registration shall have been canceled. In other words, no benefits whatever are to flow under the law unless there is agreement to register, while registration can only be obtained by compliance with a set of undefined conditions which it will be entirely within the discretion and power of the President to fix.

Under these circumstances, it cannot be deemed strange that men of the character and stamina of Judge Grosscup should express themselves in vigorous disapproval of the proposed amendments. Judge Grosscup declares that the bill "aggrandizes beyond measure the office of President of the United States, putting it within the power of that single officer of Government to say what corporations shall live and what corporations shall be outlawed." He well says the bill "lets the Sherman law stand just as it is against all associations and combinations, be they helpful or hurtful, that do not submit to the Executive Branch of the Government for its O. K. such full information respecting financial conditions, contracts and corporate proceedings as may be prescribed from time to time by the man who happens to occupy the office of President of the United States, the whole object of the pending amendment apparently being that upon making peace with the man who happens to occupy the office of President of the United States, the corporations just as they now exist may pursue without further hindrance their accustomed way." What President Woodrow Wilson says is also true, namely that if the provisions of this bill be enacted into law—always supposing that the courts would sustain the constitutionality of the measure—we will be substituting in this country personal government for government by law.

An amendment of the anti-trust law of 1890 is certainly in the highest degree desirable, both in the interest of the business community and of labor unions, but it seems to us that the only change necessary is to substitute the word "unreasonable" for "all" in forbidding contracts or combinations in restraint of trade. Then it would remain for the courts to decide, in accordance with strict rules of equity, whether a contract or arrangement in any given case was reasonable or unreasonable. And the same rule could with perfect fairness be applied to labor unions and agricultural bodies. There is no reason why these should enjoy special exemptions and immunities not open to other classes of citizens.

In the case of agreements among the railroads, the Inter-State Commerce Commission is the authority vested with power to approve or disapprove. Here there is to be no requirement as to registration, and on the whole this part of the bill is not open to any large measure of criticism. Any common carrier, subject to the Inter-State Commerce Law, may file with the Inter-State Commerce Commission any contract or combination, and the Commission may enter an order declaring such contract or combination in unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce. If no such order is made within thirty days, no prosecution or proceeding by the United States is to lie for or on account of such contract or combination unless the same be in unreasonable restraint of trade or commerce. This is giving the Commerce Commission a good deal of power and yet carriers belong in a totally different category from business and manufacturing concerns, and no one would contend that railroads should have unlimited and unrestricted right of combination and agreement. Even in this instance, however, we should prefer to leave final decision in the hands of the courts rather than in a Government body.

THE NEW EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY BILL.

The two Houses of Congress have passed a new Employers' Liability bill to meet the objections of the United States Supreme Court, which in January of the present year declared unconstitutional the old Liability Act approved June 11 1906. There seem to be grave doubts, however, whether even this new bill will stand the test of constitutionality, and reports have it that the President intends to have that point carefully looked into before giving his approval to the measure and making it a law. Mr. Roosevelt, as is well known, is a strenuous advocate of the principle embodied in the bill, and if he withholds his signature it will only be because he is advised that there is a strong possibility that the new law would meet the same fate as the original one.

The old law was held to be illegal on the ground that it failed to distinguish between Inter-State commerce, over which alone Congress has control, and commerce wholly within the State—or at least that the language was so comprehensive and all-embracing as to cover both. Other objections were raised, but that was the controlling consideration with the majority of the Court. That particular defect the framers of the new bill have sought diligently to correct, and it is evident from the discussions of the bill in the House that the belief prevails that this object has been attained. The application of the statute is expressly limited to "every common carrier by railroad while engaged in commerce between any of the several States or Territories," &c. In other respects, however, the bill has not been modified; on the contrary it has been made more drastic. Whatever valid objections therefore existed on that score against the old law would seem to inhere in the new measure and possess even greater force.

In the old law it was provided that in any action to recover damages for personal injuries to an employee or for his death, the fact that the employee may have been guilty of contributory negligence should not bar a recovery where the contributory negligence was slight and that of the employer was gross in comparison, the damages to be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee. Now the requirement that the contributory negligence shall have been slight is entirely done away with, and there is no qualifying condition whatever, it being provided simply that "the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee." Furthermore, an entirely new clause is added to this section of the bill, it being provided that "no such employee who may be injured or killed shall be held to have been guilty of contributory negligence in any case where the violation by such common carrier of any statute enacted for the safety of employees contributed to the injury or death of such employee." Another change is also in the direction of giving the employee further latitude and advantage. In the original law it was provided that no action could be maintained unless commenced within one year. The time limit has now been changed to two years. We also observe that the present bill applies to common carriers by railroad where before it applied to all common carriers without qualification. This distinction may prove important should the constitutionality of the measure be brought to issue.

In principle, therefore, the new measure is precisely the same as the old law and the question is whether this principle will be upheld by the Supreme Court. That the bill will operate to change entirely the relations existing at common law between master and servant is not disguised. How striking this change will be if the Act is embedded in the framework of our laws and left there by the courts is perhaps best told in the words of one of the Congressmen who in the debate in the House of Representatives spoke as an advocate of the bill, and who pointed with pride to the benefits that would result to railroad laborers from the statute. We refer to remarks made by Congressman Henry of Texas. At common law, said Congressman Henry, there was no right of recovery for damages for death resulting from negligence; by this Act we authorize recovery for injury or death. At common law there could be no recovery against the employer for the neglect of fellow servants engaged in common employment; by this Act we abrogate that ancient doctrine and permit recovery for the negligence of the officers, agents or employees, although the one guilty of negligence is a fellow servant of the one injured or killed. At common law the one who had contributed by his own negligence to his injury could not recover, and also for the negligence of another which had been the concurring cause; by this law we authorize a recovery in such cases, and only demand that the damages shall be diminished by the jury in proportion to the amount of negligence attributable to such employee. Furthermore, if the damage is attributable to the violation of a statute by the employer, contributory negligence cannot be imputed to the employee. At common law the employer could bind the employee by contract to renounce his right to damage in cases of injury in the course of employment; we here abrogate that rule of the common law. This statute forbids such contract.

From Congressman Henry's statement of what is to be accomplished by the proposed statute, it will be seen that some very important questions will come up for consideration if the Supreme Court should be called to pass upon the same. This will be the case no matter what form the statute may finally take, for it is the principle of the bill that is responsible for the departure from previous practice in that respect. Of course other questions also come up—for instance whether Congress has power to regulate "persons because they engage in inter-State commerce" or whether its power of regulation is confined solely to regulating the inter-State commerce business which such persons may do. In the House of Representatives the only vote cast against the bill was that of Congressman Littlefield while 302 votes were cast for it. Mr. Littlefield was on the committee which had charge of the bill, and he and Congressman Bannon submitted an interesting minority report in which they went at length into what appeared to be the constitutional objections to the bill. Mr. Littlefield argued in this minority report that if the change of legal relation between employer and employee be really a regulation of commerce, it would seem necessarily that there must be some point of contact between the regulation and the commerce itself, some place or some phase where the proposed regulation will produce some result upon the commerce regulated, at least theoretically or technically, but this place or phase or result no one has ever been able to point out.

One might imagine that a pretty conclusive opinion could be formed as to the probable fate of the measure at the hands of the Supreme Court from the position of the judges when they announced their decision with reference to the legality of the old law. The truth is, however, that a great diversity of views developed on that occasion on the part of the nine Justices, no less than five separate opinions having been handed down and the judgment against the constitutionality having been reached by only a bare majority of the Court, while three of the judges making up the majority concurred only in the result but not in the opinion, having reached their conclusions by a wholly different process of reasoning.

Whether President Roosevelt shall approve the present bill or not, the overwhelming vote cast in its favor, and therefore of the principle which the bill embodies, makes it certain that in some shape an Employers' Liability Act will be placed upon the statute books to take the place of that condemned by the United States Supreme Court. That being so, the President is in a good way of seeing the program of legislation which he laid down a month ago accomplished. This program was definitely announced in a statement given out at the White House on Saturday evening, March 21. It included five important measures (1) An amendment to the Sherman anti-trust law; (2) the passage of an Employers' Liability Law; (3) a bill limiting the powers of certain courts in the use of the injunction in labor disputes; (4) the passage of the Aldrich emergency currency bill and (5) revision of the tariff in a special session to be held after March 4 1909. It was stated that the President would support these propositions in the special message which he was to send to Congress within a few days. The following Monday, March 23, Representative Hepburn, who had attended the conferences at the White House, introduced the bill of the National Civic Federation for amending the anti-trust law, which we have discussed in a previous article, and on March 25 the President sent in the special message referred to, containing the suggestions and recommendations outlined in the program of legislation mentioned above.

In this special message the President advocated precisely the same things he had urged in his remarkable message of Jan. 31, but the language in the new message was so totally different—so temperate and peaceful, so free from violent utterances and expressions—that this fact tended to disarm criticism for a time on the part of the general public. The newspapers in their headlines dwelled mainly upon this change in tone and upon the fact that permission was to be accorded for the making of agreements among the railroads and that the anti-trust law was to be amended so as to permit combinations not in unreasonable restraint of trade; accordingly the great mass of the public jumped to the conclusion that a new policy was to be entered upon and that hereafter business interests were to be free from political cares of the kind which have been so disturbing since the present occupant of the White House has been at the helm. Gradually, however, it is dawning upon the public mind that the President's purpose remains unchanged and that he seems likely to attain the ends for which he has been so industriously striving. Considering the character of the bill for amending the anti-trust law, it is incredible that bill can go through, but the employers' liability bill, we see, has already passed both Houses. It is on the cards that the Aldrich bill, or some substitute for it, shall also be passed, while everything is being done to expedite the passage of a measure for limiting the use of court injunctions.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS FOR MARCH.

Returns of railroad gross earnings appear to be growing worse rather than better. At least our early statement for the month of March makes a poorer showing than that of any monthly compilation which we have been called upon to record thus far. Of course our tables comprise only the roads which make it a practice to furnish early preliminary exhibits. For March these number 55 companies or systems, operating 83,468 miles of road. The result is aggregate earnings of only $54,549,532 for the month the present year, against $63,700,200 for the corresponding month last year, the loss thus being over nine million dollars—in exact figures $9,150,668, or 14.36%. For February our early compilations showed only 10.71% decrease and for January but 8.74% decrease, though this latter was raised to 12.49% in our final compilation embracing all the roads from which returns could be obtained.

Though March thus shows the heaviest ratio of falling off yet recorded, it would be erroneous to assume that conditions have been growing less favorable with the roads. It is undeniable that there has been no revival of activity of any great consequence in trade and industry, except just a little to mark the progress of the season. But the larger ratio of decrease in railroad revenues, treating the roads collectively, follows entirely from the circumstance that special causes had affected the comparisons in January and February. The plain fact is, in these two months the full extent of the loss which the carrying industry was experiencing was not reflected in the aggregates, being obscured by extraneous circumstances. In February the month had an extra working day the present year, 1908 being a leap year, while in both January and February comparison in one section of the country, namely the territory on the extreme north and particularly in the region from the head of the Great Lakes to the North Pacific Coast, was with very poor earnings in 1907, owing to the severe winter weather encountered at that time.

The result was that such roads recorded for January and February gains in earnings, offsetting to that extent the losses reported by roads elsewhere. For March, however, comparison in the case of roads so situated is with very full earnings in 1907, and therefore these roads show a loss the same as the rest, thus swelling the grand total of loss and augmenting the percentage of decrease. The Great Northern Ry. and the Northern Pacific RR. furnish cases in point. The Northern Pacific this time has $683,043 decrease and the Great Northern has suffered a loss of no less than $1,142,593. On the other hand, in January and February both roads had considerable gains. Another way of presenting the situation, as far as these roads are concerned, is to state that in January and February comparison was with diminished earnings for 1907, whereas for March comparison is with figures that had shown very large gains.

As concerns the roads as a whole, comparison in January and February was with figures that had shown only moderate ratios of gain, namely 2.23% and 2.06%, but in March comparison is with quite fair-sized gains, our early statement for that month having registered $5,644,198 increase, or 7.85%. The following carries the March totals back for a series of years. It will be observed that prior to 1908 the gains in earnings were continuous and cumulative for the whole of the decade, the only exception to the rule having been 1904, when there was a trifling decrease.

Note.—We do not include the Mexican roads in any of the years.

As far as the movement of the leading staples is concerned, the railroads, speaking generally, encountered a drawback here too in addition to that arising from the depression in general trade. By this we mean that there was a falling off in the cotton traffic in the South and a diminution in the grain traffic in the West. With the exception of oats, the falling off in the Western grain movement extended to all the leading cereals.. Combining wheat, corn, oats, barley and rye, aggregate receipts for the four weeks ending March 28 the present year were only 49,371,571 bushels, against 57,940,738 bushels in the corresponding four weeks of last year. In the following we show the details of the Western grain movement in our usual form.

If Western roads, however, lost in their grain movement, a great many of them had gains in their movements of live hogs. The deliveries of hogs ran very much heavier than a year ago, having been at Kansas City 289,211 head in March 1908, against 218,103 head in 1907; and at Omaha 241,308, against 198,322 head. A part of the gain here, however, was offset by a falling off in the deliveries of cattle and sheep.

As concerns the cotton movement in the South, the shipments overland were 122,367 bales in March 1908, against 215,646 bales in March 1907. The receipts at the ports were only 417,501 bales, against 662,646 bales, as may be seen from the following

Losses on the separate roads during March ran all through the list and most of them were for large amounts. Out of 55 roads contributing returns, all but seven suffered a reduction in their earnings. We have already referred to the large losses reported by the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific. The Canadian Pacific has also fallen heavily behind, its decrease amounting to $724,000. The Baltimore & Ohio suffers a loss of $1,182,628. Southern roads and Southwestern roads have likewise been hit very hard, the Louisville & Nashville and the Southern Railway each reporting a loss of over three-quarters of a million dollars. In the table we now give we bring together all changes for the separate roads for amounts in excess of $30,000.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST COS.

—The public sales of bank stocks this week were limited to National Bank of Commerce shares, of which 47 were sold at the Stock Exchange and 40 at auction. The prices paid ranged from 156 to 175, the last previous public sale having been made last week at 155. The sharp coincident advance in National City stock has been attributed to rumors of negotiations looking to an alliance or consolidation of the National Bank of Commerce with the National City Bank; but the officials of the latter state that their stock is so closely held that a purchase of even a few shares is certain to cause a marked rise. National City Bank stock sold last week at 261 and is now quoted at 285 bid with none offered. The transactions in trust company stock reach a total of 110 shares.

—The case of the American Bankers' Association against the American Express Co., brought under the Inter-State Commerce Law, has been assigned for hearing on Tuesday next, April 21, at 10 a. m., at 67 Wall Street.

—The Minnesota bank law, passed by the Legislature last year, prohibiting the use of the word "bank" by any person, firm or corporation conducting a banking business in the State refusing to subject itself to the supervision of the Public Examiner, went into operation on the 1st inst. The text of the bill was published in this department May 18 1907. It is said that during the last few months the incorporation of institutions which formerly operated as private banks has been very active. Even before the passage of the law there was a movement in that direction, and from Jan. 1 1906 to April 1 1908 the number of private banks converted into State institutions was 116. Of these 96 have changed since the enactment of the bill.

—The disastrous fire on Sunday last at Chelsea, Mass., which burned over one square mile of territory in the manufacturing, tenement and retail business sections, damaged the buildings of the three financial concerns of the city to such an extent that they were obliged to seek other quarters. These institutions, namely, the Chelsea Trust Co., the County Savings Bank and the Chelsea Savings Bank, have jointly rented the Bassett Building, in Chelsea Square, where they opened for business early Monday afternoon. An announcement issued by the trust company stated that its vaults were intact and their contents uninjured. The total loss incurred by the fire is placed by Mayor Beck at $13,000,000. This, he says, represents not only the property damage but the deterioration of land values. The Chelsea assessors estimate the property destroyed at $6,000,000.

—A clearing-house association has been formed at North Yakima, Wash. The officers are: President, George Donald, President of the Yakima National Bank; Vice-President, W. L. Steinweg of the First National Bank, and Secretary, Charles Heath, Cashier of the Yakima Valley Bank.

—The American Bankers' Association has received a number of invitations from points desiring this years' annual convention of the Association. Secretary Fred. E. Farnsworth reports that one of these comes from the banks and Business Men's Association of Saratoga; another from the banks and Convention League of Denver, and still another from the Business Men's League of Hot Springs, Ark. The invitation from Saratoga is reinforced by the promise of hearty co-operation and support from the banks and business associations of Albany, Schenectady, Troy and Glen Falls. The invitations will be submitted to the Executive Council on May 4 next, when a decision will be reached as to the time and place of meeting.

—Jose Y. Limantour, Mexican Minister of Finance, and the leading bankers in Mexico, have agreed upon important reforms in the banking system. They have been embodied in a bill which will soon be submitted to the Mexican Congress, and will undoubtedly be passed. The following are among the more important provisions of the bill:

1. The minimum capital of any kind of banking institution in Mexico shall be $1,000,000. Under the present law the minimum for mortgage or banks of issue is $500,000 and for refractionary banks $200,000.

2. Banks of issue will be compelled to exchange periodically bills of other banks which they may have in their possession, the balance to be paid in cash, unless by special agreement. The basis of exchange will be fixed by the Government.

3. Banks of issue will not be allowed to extend loans made on mortgage, but will be required to foreclose the mortgage within a year after the maturity of the loan. The present law only accords the banks the power to accept a mortgage as a guaranty on previous operations when this operation has been the discounting of a draft which has not been honored.
4. The banks will be preferred to any other creditors for the payment of credits guaranteed by securities given as collateral and the preference will be enforced only on securities thus pledged.
5. Mortgage banks will be allowed to acquire their own bonds and any other first-class securities. The latter are specified as follows: Bonds of the Mexican Government or of any corporation under the guaranty of the Government; bonds of foreign governments earning 5% or less on their market value; Mexican State or municipal bonds earning 6% or less on their market value; bonds of chartered mortgage banks; stock and bonds of Mexican companies quoted on the Mexican or foreign markets which have paid dividends or interest during the five previous years.
6. Mortgage banks will not be allowed to accept deposits in excess of twice the paid-up capital added to the reserve fund. They will be compelled to hold an amount in cash, gold or silver bars equal to one-third of the total deposits; another third in first-class securities, and the other third in paper subject to discount within six months. In other words, the full amount of the deposits will be guaranteed, but the guaranty will not include the reserve fund required of the mortgage banks as security for the interest on bonds in circulation.
7. Banks of encouragement will probably be compelled to hold cash, or silver or gold bars equal to 20% of their deposits; first-class securities equal to 20% and paper subject to discount equal to 60%.
8. Banks of issue will be prohibited from lending money on mortgage in case the credit of the debtor is impaired; accepting uncovered drafts or money orders; opening credits which may not be revoked at the banks' will; taking corporation stock or bonds in excess of 10% of the paid-up capital plus the reserve fund; working on their own account mines, mills, factories, or entering into partnership in any agricultural or industrial enterprises; accepting, directly or indirectly, operations with any person or company when they may exceed 10% of the paid-up capital of that individual or company.
9. Banks of encouragement will not be allowed to make discounts for a term longer than six months and without two responsible firms as security; to borrow money on mortgage on their real estate properties, nor to enter into insurance operations.
10. Deposits not bearing interest will have preference over other credits, except the bank notes, mortgage credits against the banks and unpaid taxes.
11. A concession given for the establishment of a bank will be declared void in case its by-laws are not submitted to the finance department within a month after the organization of the institution.
12. Many details, in addition to those now given, will be required in the monthly statements from the banks. This date will be widely published.

—Clark Williams has been reappointed New York State Superintendent of Banks for a term of three years. His nomination was sent to the Senate by Governor Hughes on the 14th inst., and was immediately confirmed by that body. Mr. Williams was appointed Superintendent last October, to fill the unexpired term of Charles Hallam Keep. Luther W. Mott, who was first named to succeed Mr. Keep, resigned two weeks after his appointment.

—Practically all the banking reform measures recommended by Clark Williams, New York State Superintendent of Banks, have passed the Legislature, and some seven or eight were signed by Governor Hughes this week. The bills approved include the following:

Prohibiting trust companies from investing in stock of another financial corporation in excess of 10% of the capital of such other corporation.
Giving the State Superintendent of Banks discretionary power in permitting the incorporation of new banks.
Permitting a safe deposit company with $100,000 capital to maintain branches.
Prohibiting directors of trust companies from hypothecating the stock necessary to qualify them.
Prohibiting directors of State banks from hypothecating the stock necessary to qualify them.
Providing for the amortization of savings bank securities for which a premium is paid, the same to be set forth in the savings banks' reports.
Providing that the rate of interest to be paid to depositors shall only be determined after the deduction by trustees of savings banks of a fund to amortize or retire at maturity premiums paid on securities.

The most important of those awaiting the Governor's signature is that which gives to the State Superintendent of Banks the same power over insolvent State institutions which the Comptroller of the Currency has over national banks. This was passed in the Senate on Wednesday by a party vote of 32 to 9; the bill passed the Assembly on the 2d inst.

The following is a list of some of the other measures which have passed both houses, but have not yet been signed:

Requiring branch offices of trust companies to have $100,000 capital in addition to that of the parent institution.
Requiring existing branches of State banks to have $50,000 capital, and future branches $100,000 capital, in addition to that of the parent bank.
Increasing the cash reserves of trust companies.
Increasing the cash reserves of State banks.
Providing for the publicity of official acts of the Superintendent of Banks.
Requiring monthly meetings of directors and reports of loans.
Requiring trustees of savings banks to take an oath of office, and file same with the Superintendent of banks.

—A morning paper yesterday devoted considerable space to a report dealing with a contemplated purchase of the National Bank of Commerce in New York by the National City Bank—the two largest financial institutions in the city. Inquiries at the National City have resulted in an absolute denial of the truth of the report and a Vice-President speaking for the National Bank of Commerce disclaims any knowledge of the rumored negotiations.

—The report of the Loan Committee of the New York Clearing House, to whose work we referred in detail last week, has been printed in a small booklet. Members of the Association, officers of banking institutions and other interested parties may obtain a copy by application at the Managers' office.

—The New York Court of Appeals handed down a decision on Tuesday upholding the proposed merger of the Mercantile and Equitable trust companies of this city. The case was taken to the courts on the appeal of Bainbridge Colby, who had secured an order from the Supreme Court restraining the consolidation; in February, however, the Appellate Division reversed this order and permitted the case to be carried up on questions of law. The order of the Apellate Division is now affirmed by the Court of Appeals. Two questions were certified for answer in the case by the latter Court, the first being as to whether trust companies were subject to certain sections of the State banking law permitting the merger of corporations and could legally be merged under that law. This question is answered in the affirmative by the Court. The second question, answered in the negative, involved the query as to whether the law permitting such a merger against the dissent of a portion of the stockholders, was unconstitutional as depriving dissenting stockholders of their property without due process of law.

—A decision handed down on Tuesday by New York Supreme Court Justice Hendrick, in a case affecting the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank of this city, makes it permissible for committees and trustees of estates and persons to sign deferred-payment plans of reorganization. The decision affects 8% of the deposits of the institution, of which about 84% have already agreed to the plan.

It was given in response to the application made on behalf of Joseph Heidelberger, a depositor and an incompetent, for whom William Beck had been appointed committee of person and property. Mr. Beck had demurred to the signing of the deferred-payment plan on the ground that he was without authority to accede to the request and the question was thereupon submitted to the court for decision. Justice Hendrick in granting the application said:

It appears that about 84% of the depositors in the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank, in which the incompetent's funds were deposited, have signed the agreement to waive their right to immediate payment and to defer such payment, and to receive partial payments from time to time as provided in the agreement. I think no obstacle should be put in the way of the speedy resumption of business by the bank, which from the report of the Banking Department appears to be solvent. Motion granted, and the petitioner, as committee of said incompetent, is directed to subscribe to said deferred-payment agreement.

This plan provides for the payment of 10% with resumption, 15% in four months, 20% in eight months, 25% in twelve months and 30% in sixteen months. The bank suspended January 29.

—The New York Clearing House Association at a recent meeting took formal action with regard to the termination of the membership of the five banks in the Association, which were obliged to close their doors within the past six months. The institutions in question are the Mechanics' & Traders' Bank, the National Bank of North America, the New Amsterdam National, the Oriental, and the First National Bank of Brooklyn. The last named is the only one of the five which has resumed business. While a suspended institution may, after a satisfactory showing of rehabilitation, be re-instated, it cannot, it is said, regain its original number. The National Bank of North America holds an interest in the Clearing House Building Association valued at $15,100, and it is understood that arrangements have been completed for the taking over of this interest by the Association.

—At a meeting of the directors of the Lincoln Trust Company of this city on Wednesday, Alexander S. Webb Jr. was formally elected President and Abram M. Hyatt First Vice-President. These officers, as noted in an earlier issue, were selected at a meeting on March 23. The company's condition is reported as most gratifying, its deposits having increased in the past fortnight, it is stated, over $1,000,000. It will be remembered that the institution was among those which suffered during the recent panic. Because of the heavy demands of its depositors, it was at that time obliged to borrow from the Associated Trust Companies and the First National Bank the sum of over $7,000,000. These loans have all been paid, and to-day the company starts its business free and clear of all debts. At Wednesday's meeting a resolution was introduced complimenting Frank Tilford, the retiring President, the directors expressing their appreciation of the valuable services rendered by him.

—The directors of the New York Trust Co., 24 Broad St., on Thursday elected Mortimer N. Buckner, Second Vice-President and F. J. Horne, Third Vice-President. Mr. Buckner was Third Vice-President and succeeds Alexander Webb, who lately resigned to become President of the Lincoln Trust Co. Mr. Horne, formerly Secretary, succeeds Mr. Buckner as Third Vice-President. Herbert W. Morse, formerly Assistant Secretary, now becomes Secretary and James Dodd, Arthur S. Gibbs and H. W. Shaw become Assistant Secretaries. Previous to Mr. Webb's withdrawal, Willard V. King was Second Vice-President, which post he resigned to accept the presidency of the Columbia Trust Co. of 135 Broadway. All these changes noted are particularly interesting because they disclose a practice maintained by Mr. Otto T. Bannard, the institution's respected President, of advancing his junior officers to positions of larger responsibility and choosing the minor officers from among capable clerks in the company's employ.

—The transfer and reorganization departments of the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. of this city have been removed to the Delaware Lackawanna & Western Building, entrance 26 Exchange Place. Next fall the trust company will erect a new 15-story addition to its building at 16, 18, 20 and 22 William St., corner Beaver St. The new structure will adjoin the company's present site, and will allow for the enlargement of the banking room, adding 45 feet to the frontage on Beaver St. and running through to Nos. 20 to 24 Exchange Place, with 68 feet frontage. The Exchange Place entrance is opposite the old Custom House now being re-built for the future home of the National City Bank. Clinton & Russell, architects, are preparing the plans for the trust company's addition, which is expected to be ready for tenancy in the spring of 1909. The institution's home on the northeast corner of William and Beaver streets is a very valuable property, and on the opposite corners are located the Cotton Exchange, the new office building of J. & W. Seligman, Delmonico's building and the Corn Exchange Bank's immense office building.

—The Columbia Trust Co. removed on Saturday last, the 11th inst., from 26 Nassau St. to 135 Broadway, corner Cedar St., where it occupies the ground floor offices. Willard V. King, formerly Vice-President of the New York Trust Co., lately became President of the Columbia Trust.

—The Century Bank, Fifth Ave. and Twentieth St., New York, publishes a comparative statement of business showing the growth of gross deposits and amount of reserve carried since last October, when Harden L. Crawford purchased a controlling interest in the bank and became President. The gain in deposits was $557,254, or 49%, from Oct. 9 1907 to March 9 1908. On Oct. 9 1907 the deposit line was $1,126,049 and reserve 19%; Dec. 9 1907, $1,277,546, reserve 22%; Feb. 9 1908, $1,410,453, reserve 35%; March 9 1908, $1,683,303, reserve 36%. The bank has a capital of $200,000 and surplus and profits of $143,952.

—Hosmer B. Parsons, President of the Wells, Fargo & Co. Bank at 51 Broadway, this city, Vice-President of the Wells Fargo Express Co., and a director of the Trust Company of America, died on the 14th inst. Mr. Parsons was also identified with a number of other organizations. He was sixty-two years of age.

—The re-opening of two Brooklyn institutions which closed during the financial troubles of October, occurred this week. The Borough Bank resumed business on Tuesday at its main office, 16 Court Street, and at its branch at Third Avenue and 51st Street. The officers were the recipients of many floral tributes and congratulations from friends and representatives of other local financial institutions, and the first day's deposits were said to be six times greater than the withdrawals. The re-opening was accomplished under the deferred payment plan, and was made subject to the subscription of $45,000 by the stockholders, the placing of a majority of the stock in a voting trust for two years, and the election of a strong and conservative management, all of which conditions, it is understood, have been met. Vice-President William S. Hurley on Tuesday announced that the $200,000 capital of the bank was unimpaired, that the institution had a surplus and guaranty fund of $150,000 and $1,400,000 in cash. President Broc R. Shears, Vice-President Hurley and Paul Grout, Counsel of the bank, were elected to serve as the voting trustees at a meeting on the 10th inst. Pending the election of a permanent Cashier, A. K. Moore is temporarily acting in that capacity. The bank clears through the Chase National Bank, its former Clearing agent, the Oriental Bank, being now in process of liquidation. The Board of the Borough Bank is composed of the following: Paul Grout, Herbert T. Ketcham, John H. O'Rourke, Dr. Edward D. Ferris, Daniel L. Thompson, Alfred Hamilton, Dr. John E. Sheppard, Hermann Lucke, H. R. S. Rohlfs, Broc R. Shears, William S. Hurley, David B. Hutton, Thomas F. Martin W. T. Diefendorf and G. A. Helm. The five last named are the only remaining members of the old board. Under the deferred-payment plan the bank pays 10% with resumption, 15% in four months, 20% in eight months, 25% in one year and 30% in sixteen months.

—The Jenkins Trust Company of Brooklyn Borough, which had also been closed since October 25, re-opened on Wednesday under its new title—the Lafayette Trust Co. The resumption of business by this institution, which operates five branches, was the occasion of much rejoicing, especially at Coney Island, its branch there being the only bank at that resort. The conditions under which the company re-opens were referred to last week. Briefly, a subscription of $100,000 by the directors was required and an agreement of directors and others having deposits of over $300,000 to leave such deposits with the company for at least a year without interest. In addition the obligors of the so-called Jenkins loans were called upon to supply additional security to the extent of about $117,000. The company has also obtained a loan of $500,000 from a friendly banking institution. Besides this, the Brooklyn "Eagle" states that the Title Guarantee & Trust Co. has advanced to it a total of $204,600; of this $105,000 represents a loan covered by a first mortgage on its banking house. The company's reorganization plans, it is understood, entail the payment on demand of depositors having deposits of less than $50 and those not assenting to the deferred payment agreement; assenting depositors are to receive 10% monthly. The Lafayette Trust Co. is under the management of Harold A. Davidson, President; H. B. Scharmann and Louis H. Irwin, Vice-Presidents; H. F. Adams, Treasurer and Joseph Loughlin, Secretary. The institution has a capital of $100,000.

—The First National Bank of Brooklyn Borough plans the erection of a new building at Broadway and Havemeyer Street. The site has been purchased by the bank at a cost of $75,000, and about $75,000 more will be expended in the construction of the building, which is to be the permanent home of the institution. The bank is at present located at Kent Avenue and Broadway.

—Arrangements are under way for the establishment of a new Federal institution in Brooklyn Borough. The Comptroller has approved the application to organize the bank, which is to be known as the People's National, and is to have a capital of $200,000. George W. Spence, who was President of the People's Bank, which was taken over by the Union Bank of Brooklyn in 1906, is one of the principals in the movement. Those interested with Mr. Spence are Joel B. Goodman, James H. Harnden, George Christian Miller and Adolphus Gload.

—A union of the Newton National Bank (capital $200,000) and the Newton Centre Trust Co. (capital $100,000) of Newton, Mass., was effected on the 15th inst. The charter of the trust company is to be used, but the name of the enlarged institution becomes the Newton Trust Co. The officers are Dwight Chester, President, and Frank S. Richardson, Treasurer.

—At the annual meeting of the Boston Clearing House Association on Monday, Charles W. Jones, President of the New England National Bank, was elected President of the association to succeed the late Franklin Haven

—It is stated that the plans with regard to the organization of the Importers' & Traders' National Bank of Philadelphia have been changed since steps were originally taken for the bank's formation. With the intention of organizing under the national laws, the Comptroller's approval of such organization was sought and secured on Feb. 26 1907. It has now been decided, however, to incorporate under the State laws and a charter will be applied for as soon as $100,000 has been paid in on the capital, which is to be $275,000. John W Murgatroyd is Chairman of the organization committee. Among those interested with him are William A. Hamilton, S. S. Darmon, Maurice A. Rogers, Dr. Charles E. Bricker, William F. Rowan, Clarence W. Moore and George Y. Schoch.

—Robert N. Harper, formerly President of the American National Bank of Washington, D. C., and a drug manufacturer, who was convicted on alleged charges of manufacturing and selling a wrongly labeled drug, was fined $700 by Judge Kimball in the police court at Washington on the 15th inst. It is stated that the case will be appealed. This is the case where President Roosevelt had urged a jai sentence.

—A new trust company which is to operate in Pittsburgh has been incorporated in Delaware under the name of the Lincoln Trust Co. The capital is to be $100,000 One of the principal functions of the company, it is said, will be the guaranteeing of insurance company policies.

—William S. Wortman, paying teller of the Oakland Savings & Trust Co. of Pittsburgh, was arrested on the 11th inst. charged, it is said, with the embezzlement of $14,000. Bail was fixed at $10,000. The shortage is covered by a $15,000 bond.

—John V. Harris, teller of the Merchants' National Bank of Carlisle, Pa., was arrested on Wednesday charged with the alleged defalcation of $35,000. The accused is held under $5,000 bail. It is said that he has turned over to the bank property valued at $25,000.

—A merger of the Traders' National Bank of Washington, D. C., with the Merchants' & Mechanics' Savings Bank of that city is planned. To consummate the arrangement there will be a meeting of the stockholders of the Traders' National on Monday next, (the 20th inst.) for the purpose of taking action toward placing that bank in liquidation. The Traders' National has a capital of $200,000, while that of the Merchants' & Mechanics' Savings Bank is $100,000. Eldridge E. Jordan, Vice-President of the latter, is President of the Traders'.

—An application to convert the Guardian Savings & Trust Company of Newark, Ohio, into the Park National Bank, with $100,000 capital, was approved March 30. The Guardian Savings & Trust began business in September 1907.

—It is reported that the affairs of the Cuyahoga Savings & Banking Company of Cleveland, Ohio, which suspended in May 1901, were closed up in the Common Pleas Court on March 25 by Judge Estep, who directed the payment of a final dividend of 13.4%. This payment, the sixth, will make, it is said, an aggregate of 62.4% paid to creditors.

—On May 1 the Merchants' National Bank of Indianapolis, Ind., will occupy its handsome new banking offices. Although the whole building, which is to be 16 stories in height, has not been completed on account of a lease on the adjoining property, the bank's quarters and safe-deposit vaults in the basement are about ready for the bank's use. There are few finer banking buildings in this section than the magnificent new home of the Merchants' will be. The wainscotings, counters, bases, &c., and the eight massive columns are of imported verde antique marble. The counter rail is of handsomely designed solid bronze, while the same material is used for a balcony rail which runs around the room. The safe-deposit vaults are of massive construction; the main vault is 8 feet 11 inches by 8 feet 11 inches by 30 feet and contains over 1,500 boxes. Everything which can add to the comfort of the patrons in this department has been provided for in the way of private rooms, waiting rooms, committee rooms, ladies' parlor, coupon rooms, &c. This institution has a capital of $1,000,000, and surplus and profits of about $900,000. Otto N. Frenzel is President, J. P. Frenzel and Frederick Fahnley Vice-Presidents, O. F. Frenzel Cashier and J. P. Frenzel Jr. Assistant Cashier.

—At a recent meeting of the Executive Council of the Minnesota Bankers' Association, Charles R. Frost was appointed Assistant Secretary, with the understanding that he devote all of his time to the secretarial work, and open an office in connection therewith, separate and distinct from that of any bank or other organization. The appointment, it is reported, is in line with the recommendation of Ernest C. Brown, Secretary of the Association, owing to the increase in the duties of the office. The headquarters of the Assistant Secretary are in the Northwestern National Bank Building, Minneapolis. The Association is about to inaugurate a number of innovations which, it is hoped, will materially increase the benefits to members individually and also add largely to its efficiency in a more general sense. One of the ideas in having a separate and well equipped office is that out-of-town bankers will consider and use it as a sort of headquarters when visiting the Twin Cities.

—Through the declaration of a quarterly dividend of 3% the directors of the Security National Bank of Minneapolis have placed the stock of their institution on a 12% basis. During 1907 the bank paid 8%, with 2% extra in December. The institution has a capital of $1,000,000, and surplus and undivided profits (Feb. 14) of $1,181,761.

—A meeting of the directors of the Bankers' World's Fair National Bank of St. Louis was held on the 10th inst. for a final settlement of the bank's affairs with the financial institutions which were stockholders in the corporation. The St. Louis "Globe Democrat" states that the bank has returned 98% to the stockholders, and has on hand about $5,600 for a final disbursement. A portion of this, however, will go toward the settlement of a judgment against the bank for architect's fees. The institution had a capital of $200,000. It was organized early in 1904, (beginning business in May of that year) for the purpose of conducting a general banking business in the Louisiana Purchase Exposition at St. Louis during the existence of the fair. According to the "Globe Democrat" it made no loans and paid no interest on deposits, but instead charged depositors one-tenth of 1% for handling their money. With the closing of the Exposition, an application to wind up the affairs of the bank was made in January 1905.

—J. Hugh Powers, who has been Assistant Manager of the Bond Department of the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis, has been appointed Manager of the department to succeed William Foley.

—J. A. Magoun Jr. has replaced John Scott Jr. as President of the Northwestern National Bank of Sioux City, Iowa. Charles E. Hoflund has succeeded Mr. Magoun as Cashier, while J. S. Nelson takes the office of Vice-President heretofore held by Mr. Hoflund.

—The Franklin Bank, a new institution with $100,000 capital, began business on the 6th inst. in Louisville, Ky. The capital of the institution is in shares of $5.00 each, which were subscribed for at $5.50, giving a surplus of $10,000. John S. Woods is President and R. C. Head is Cashier. Mr. Head was formerly Assistant Cashier of the Commercial Bank & Trust Company of Louisville.

The savings bank closed its doors on Dec. 24 and on Feb. 4 the Union & Planters' Bank was appointed receiver. The latter obligated itself to pay to the depositors of the savings bank one-half their claims in sixty days, 25% in twelve months and the remaining 25% in eighteen months.

—An application to organize the American National Bank of Wilmington, N. C., was approved on the 3d inst. by the Comptroller of the Currency. The bank is to have $100,000 capital. W. B. Cooper, V. Sidbury, George O. Gaylord, Cuthbert Martin and A. G. Warren are interested in the movement.

—Jesse H. Jones has succeeded J. M. West as President of the National City Bank of Houston, Texas, Mr. West having become Vice-President in place of L. Davidson.

WORLD'S WHEAT CROP IN 1907.

The Department of Agriculture made public recently its compilation covering the world's wheat crop in 1907, and we give it in detail below. The fact of leading interest brought out by the statement is that the aggregate production for the year was 3,103,922,000 bushels, or about 330 millions less than in 1906, which was the record season. It will be observed that of the grand sub-divisions of the world South America alone shows a record total. How the results for the various countries for 1907 compare with the figures for 1906, 1905, 1904 and 1903 is indicated in the following:

Monetary and Commercial English News

(From our own correspondent.)

London, Saturday, April 4 1908.

Business continues very restricted on the Stock Exchange. There is a hopeful feeling everywhere. Not much is doing, but there is a tendency in all departments, even in the South African mining department, to move upwards. More important still, there is a very steady investment going on. The investment is, for the most part, by people with comparatively small means. The purchases, therefore, are individually on a small scale, but when added together day by day and week by week they amount to a considerable total, and before long they are bound to tell upon prices. Ever since Christmas the investment has been going on and shows no sign of abating.

For the moment, however, the natural effect of this steady investment is kept in check by the scarcity of money. Even now, though there have been large disbursements out of the Exchequer and though at the beginning of next week the interest upon the national debt will be paid and money, accordingly, will be plentiful, there has been a remarkable scarcity during the present week. On Thursday, for example, the outside market was unable to pay all the loans made to it by the Bank of England and which matured that day. A portion had to be renewed. Something similar happened practically on every day of the week. Largely, that accounts for the comparative stagnancy of the stock markets. Moreover, a large number of new issues are either being underwritten or are about to be underwritten and news has come of a large Imperial loan in Germany and of applications in London from other countries. All this has an effect while money is scarce, but as soon as money becomes plentiful once more it will be forgotten and prices will go up.

In Paris there is a little more courage than there has been. The hopes recently entertained of an arrangement with the Pretender to the Moroccan throne have been disappointed so far. But still there is not as great anxiety as there was regarding Morocco. Consequently there has been better buying this week of both diamond and copper shares, and there has been, not only in Paris itself, but even in London, a good deal of buying of Russian bonds on French account. In Germany, on the other hand, business is very quiet.

Money, as already said, has been in strong demand all the week, the Government having put off its large disbursements to the very last moment, and when it paid out money these funds went for the most part to the great manufacturing districts and therefore have not yet returned to London. Next week, of course, money will be very abundant and there is some expectation that the Bank of England will put down its rate to 2½%. Against that, however, it is urged that the high rate existing in Berlin and the inquiries which have been made during the past week regarding gold for Berlin will probably discourage the Bank to act. Whether there is a change in the Bank rate or not, rates in the open market are almost certain to be low and that in all reasonable probability will stimulate business on the Stock Exchange. Money is also plentiful and cheap in Paris. The French banks, indeed, find it impossible to employ the whole of their balances at home and hence are loaning large amounts in Germany.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 20 lacs and the applications amounted to only 2¼ lacs at 1s. 3 29-32d. per rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 3 29-32d. per rupee were allotted in full.

Messrs. Pixley & Abell write as follows under date of April 2.

GOLD.—There was about one million sterling in gold available this week, and the Bank of England, finding that by advancing the price they would secure a large amount, decided to compete. The price was fixed at 77s. 9⅞d., and the Bank secured nearly £600,000; the balance, after satisfying the usual Indian demand, being taken for Germany. Paris has since become a keener competitor, and the price has advanced to 77s. 10¼d. Next week £380,000 is due from South Africa. During the week the Bank has bought £417,000, of which £257,000 is in bars and £150,000 from Egypt; while a withdrawal of £50,000 has taken place for Paris. Arrivals—South Africa, £988,000; Australia, £132,000; West Africa, £60,000; New Zealand, £42,000; Bombay, £4,000; total, £1,226,000. Shipments—Bombay, £72,500; Madras, £5,000; Rangoon, £4,000; total, £81,500.

SILVER.—The market has never varied more than 1-16d. during the week, the price being sustained by continued buying for the Bazaars and also by covering orders for "shorts." The "short account" is now much reduced, and as shipments of silver from San Francisco to China are now being diverted to India, we look for a diminished inquiry for the Bazaars, and the tendency of the market is easier. We learn that a bill has been introduced into the Reichstag for increasing the German silver currency from 15 marks to 20 marks per head of the population. The price of silver in India is Rs. 65 11-16. Arrivals—New York, £199,000; Australia, £4,000; total, £203,000. Shipments—Bombay, £185,700; Madras, £2,500; total, £188,200.

Wall Street, Friday Night, April 17 1908.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—Business at the Stock Exchange has been small in volume throughout the week and has attracted little attention outside the circle of operators who participated therein. At the sme time other matters have become more prominent in Wall Street. Perhaps the most important of these is the engagement of $2,000,000 gold for export to Paris, the first movement of the metal in that direction since last October. This movement is not surprising to those at all familiar with the international trade and monetary situation, but the extent to which it may be carried is a matter of interest; especially as money market rates at all the important European centers, except London and Paris, are higher than in New York.

Latest reports from some sections of the winter-wheat belt are exceptionally favorable, but this has been more than offset, perhaps, as a market factor, by the announcement that the number of idle freight cars is increasing.

In addition to the latter as evidence of the general business stagnation is the fact that funds from the interior are rapidly accumulating at this center.

National politics are also regarded with increasing importance in financial as well as in commercial and industrial circles, and no doubt uncertainty as to the outcome of the political campaign now impending is one of the chief reasons why the March improvement in business proved ephemeral.

The open market rates for call loans at the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1¼% to 2%. To-day's rates on call were 1½@2%. Commercial paper quoted at 4@4½% for choice 60 to 90-day endorsements and 5@5½% for 6 months high-grade single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed a decrease in bullion of £1,879,850, and the per cent of reserve to liabilities was 50.06, against 51.28 last week.

The rate of discount remains unchanged at 3%, as fixed March 19. The Bank of France shows an increase of 19,950,000 francs gold and a decrease of 1,250,000 francs silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of State bonds at the Board are limited to $172,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 29½ to 37⅛.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has been more active than for some time past, owing to exceptionally heavy dealings in a few issues.

Interboro-Metropolitan 4½s have been by far the most active at steadily advancing prices. They sold up to and closed at 67⅜ against 62½ last Monday and 56 last week.

Brooklyn Rapid Transit refunding convertible 4s have also been unusually active and are higher.

United States Bonds.—Sales of Government bonds at the Board include $20,000 2s, reg., 1930, at 104; $1,000 3s, coup., 1908-18, at 102 and $7,000 4s, coup., 1925, at 123 to 123½. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has continued dull and almost featureless. Transactions at the Exchange have averaged only about 300,000 shares per day, and in most cases fluctuations covered a narrow range.

The local transportation issues, notably Interborough-Metropolitan, have been conspicuous for activity and strength. Inter.-Met. preferred has advanced 4 points, the common 1¾, and other stocks of this group are higher. The Eries have been less active than last week and all have failed to retain in full the advance then noted. Canadian Pacific has been a strong feature, and North West is over a point higher. On the other hand, Delaware & Hudson is down over a point and New York Central, Reading, Missouri Pacific and Southern Pacific are fractionally lower.

Industrial issues have not been conspicuous in the week's operations. The copper stocks and Consolidated Gas have shown a tendency to weakness, but New York Air Brake, ex-dividend, is 2 points higher, General Electric has added a point to the advance noted last week and American Sugar Refining, Colorado Fuel & Iron and the United States Steel issues are fractionally higher.

Outside Market.—No material change has taken place in "curb" stocks this week, the inactivity having become more pronounced with the approach of the extra holidays. Prices moved in an irregular fashion, slight recessions being reported in the early part of the week, though for the most part a steady tone has been in evidence. Boston Consolidated Copper fell from 11½ to 10⅜, but recovered to 12. Butte Coalition sank from 21 to 19½ and rose to 20⅛. Cumberland-Ely moved down from 8¼ to 7⅞. Davis-Daly dropped from 3⅝ to 2⅛ but advanced again to 3⅛. Greene Cananea moved down from 8⅝ to 8⅛. Nevada Consolidated Copper sold between 11¼ and 11½ and Nevada Utah went off from 4 to 3⅝. United Copper common fluctuated between 6½ and 7. Trading was also less active in other mining properties. Goldfield Consolidated declined from 6 to 5⅝ and ends the week at 5 11-16. Nipissing ranged between 6½ and 6¾. Tonopah of Nevada rose from 8⅛ to 9 and closed at 8 15-16. Standard Oil was conspicuous among the specialties. After a decline from 539 to 533 in the early trading, it moved upward to 560. American Tobacco, which was neglected for several days, sold up from 303 to 310. International Salt advanced from 10¼ to 14½. Chicago Subway declined from 19 to 17⅞, but subsequently advanced to 18½. Adams Express 4s were in good demand at one time at from 90 to 90¼, but later receded to 89⅞. Erie 6% notes sold up from 95 to 95½.

RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

ANNUAL REPORTS.

Annual Reports.—An index to annual reports of steam railroads, street railways and miscellaneous companies which have been published during the preceding month will be given on the last Saturday of each month. This index will not include reports in the issue of the "Chronicle" in which it is published. The latest index will be found in the issue of March 28. The next will appear in that of April 25.

Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

The report presented by President Joseph Wood at the annual meeting on April 1 says in part:

Results on System Proper (425.66 miles).—Gross earnings increased $249,089 50, or 6.4%. Freight earnings increased $193,911 35, or 7.9%. Tonnage increased 298,808 tons, or 10.1%. Tonnage of forest products, which was 39.2% of the total, increased 1.7%. Tonnage of products of mines, constituting 28.7% of the total, increased 21.8%. Coke tonnage increased 29%, anthracite coal 48%, and bituminous coal 18%. It is gratifying to note that although the tonnage of forest products handled is still increasing, its ratio to total tonnage is decreasing, showing growth of other business to take the place of that from the disappearing forests. Northbound tonnage constituted 43.3% of total, as compared with 40.6% in previous year. Ton mileage increased 43,638,670 miles, or 12%.

Maintenance, &c.—There were 2,987 tons of 85-lb. steel rails, as compared with 2,275 tons in previous year, and 115,731 cross-ties used for renewals; 731 tons of second-hand rails and 14,158 cross ties were used in construction of new sidings and extensions. About 32½ miles of track was ballasted with gravel and 6.45 miles with slag. There was a net increase of 2.51 miles in first track. The Veneer spur of the Missaukee branch was extended to Falmouth, about 2.97 miles, to secure shipments of forest and agricultural products. Eight bridges were [illegible] repaired, 10 openings closed and 2 highway bridges raised to legal clearance. The reduction in lenght of openings under tracks was 5.7 feet.

Nine new cars for passenger service were required at a cost of $65,605, and paid for out of proceeds of sale of second mortgage bonds. Other additions and betterments made during the year aggregated $87,65 (including payment on account of principal of 546 freight cars, $37,144, provided for as follows: Appropriation from income, $65,222; balance of assessment of third mortgage bonds of G. R. & I. RR. Co., $16,348; salvage from Osceola branch, $6,088.

General Remarks.—Although the traffic of the company was undoubtedly affected earlier by the general business depression, its earnings as compared with those for the same period of 1906 showed increases each week up to the second week in December. The subsequent decreases were heavy, but covered so short a period that the results for the year were fairly satisfactory, the gross earnings being the largest in the history of the system. The total tonnage of all lines was 4,599,3 0, an increase of 9.91%. The total ton mileage was 472,654,720, an increase of 11.62%. The average rate per ton mile was 6.8 mills, a decrease of 0.2 mill.

The total number of passengers carried was 2,340,475, an increase of 12,878, or 0.55%. The average rate per passenger per mile was 2.08 cents, an increase of .02 cent. The anticipated reduction in passenger fares became effective in Indiana on April 10 1907 and in Michigan on Sept. 28 1907. During the first nine months of the year, when the maixmum legal intra-State rate on the Grand Rapids & Indiana Ry. in Michigan was 2½ cents per mile, passenger earnings increased $77,189, or 8.39%; and the passenger mileage increased 6.90%. In the three months ending Dec. 31, during which the maximum legal intra-State rate was 2 cents per mile, the passenger earnings decreased $16,449, or 5.29%; the number of passengers increased 50,118, or 15.11%; passenger mileage decreased 387,033, or 2.51%, and the passenger train mileage decreased 0.79%. The results shown do not bear out the prediction of the advocates of the 2-cent fare that the lower rate would be supplemented by such an addition to the travel as to compensate for the difference in charge.

Traverse City Leelanau & Manistique RR.—This property was sold under foreclosure on April 17 1907, and was bought in by the trustee, the Union Trust Co. of Detroit, for the benefit of the bondholders, for whom a new company will be organized. The Grand Rapids & Indiana Railway Co. owns $75,000 out of a total issue of $27 ,000 bonds.

Change in Accounts.—The new classification of operating revenues and expenses issued by the Inter-State Commerce Commission became effective July 1 1907, and affected nearly all the accounts, and comparisons of details can therefore be made in only a small number of items.

Funded Debt.—Your board authorized the sale at par and interest of $100,000 of second mortgage bonds, which were sold in May and June 1907 to recoup the treasury for amounts expended for additions and improvements and charged against income instead of capital account; $500,000 second mortgage bonds remain in the treasury unissued (amount outstanding Dec. 31 1907, $4,500,000).

Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President W. H. Newman says in substance:

Capitalization.—The capital stock authorized and outstanding Dec. 31 1906 was $10,000,000; additional stock authorized by the stockholders on Feb. 28 1907, $20,000,000; total, $30,000,000. There was no additional stock issued during the year, there being still outstanding $10,000,000. The funded debt was not changed during the year 1907.

Acquisitions.—There were purchased during the year 2,000 shares of the capital stock and 200 first mortgage bonds of the Lake Erie Youngstown & Southern RR. Co., this being the entire issue of these securities.

Your company acquired by purchase Dec. 14 1907 from the Mahoning Coal RR. Co. a half interest in the Lake Erie & Eastern RR. Co., the line of which is now under construction through the city of Youngstown, Ohio, and sold to the same company a half interest in the Lake Erie Youngstown & Southern RR. Co. This transaction will enable your company to make direct connection from Struthers, Ohio, through the city of Youngstown, with the several existing and projected roads at or near the western boundary of that city.

General Results.—The gross earnings show an increase over the previous year of $422,905. Freight earnings increased $253,972, due to heavy movements of coke and manufactured articles. Passenger earnings increased $120,429, due to the larger volume of local and commutation traffic.

The expenses of operation increased $723,683, largely due to the increased cost of labor and material. Maintenance of way and structures increased $211,634. This increase is principally due to the raising of track at several points, additional ballast and an increased number of ties renewed. Maintenance of equipment increased $337,793, principally due to heavy charges for renewals and repairs to freight cars.

There was expended for new construction and for additional equipment and charged against income, as shown below, the sum of $4,543,171.

The net earnings were $3,376,973, an increase of $89,466.

The first charges show an increase of $72,059, due to additional taxation and increased payments on account of leased lines.

The profit from operation for the year, after payment of a 12% dividend, was $1,300,341.

Improvements and Additions.—Extraordinary expenditures for the year charged to income aggregated $4,543,171, as follows:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Rights of way | $997,755 | New depots and buildings | $219,188 |
| New sidings | 329,327 | New bridges | 91,638 |
| Second track | 43,596 | Miscellaneous | 95,762 |
| Third track | 115,741 | New locomotives | 261,801 |
| Fourth track | 393,502 | New freight cars | 1,905,444 |
| Removal grade crossings | 38,977 | Other new cars | 50,440 |

Sub-Companies.—The earnings of the Pittsburgh Chartiers & Youghiogheny Ry. enabled it to pay the expenses, fixed charges, a 10% dividend and retire $118,000 of its general mortgage bonds.

The earnings of the Monongahela RR. were sufficient to pay its fixed charges, retire $14,000 of its first mortgage bonds and make needed improvements to the property.

United Railways Co. of St. Louis.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

The report, signed by President John T. Beggs, says:

Earnings. A comparison with the preceding year, in which the figures of the St. Louis & Suburban Railway system are included for comparison, shows that the gross earnings and other income increased $510,848 (5.25%); operating expenses, taxes, reserve fund accretions and depreciation charges increased $642,893 (10.04%), leaving a surplus for the year 1907 over and above preferred stock dividend of $357,672, equivalent to 1.43% on the common stock.

The gross earnings and other income show a satisfactory increase, and the net earnings are very good in view of the following facts: (1) On Jan. 1 1907 the St. Louis & Suburban Railway system became a part of the system; hence, to get a fairly accurate comparison it was necessary to incorporate the results of operation of the St. Louis & Suburban system in the figures for the year 1906. (2) The St. Louis & Suburban system was in bad condition, requiring large expenditures, and further extraordinary outlays will be necessary during the coming year. (3) No provision had been made by the Suburban Company for depreciation, whereas this year 5% of the gross earnings have been charged, making a difference of about $57,000. (4) Adequate reserves were never set up in the Suburban's accounts for fire insurance, injuries and damages and other contingent liabilities. (5) A decided increase in the cost of labor and material has substantially increased the operating and maintenance costs for the year 1907. (6) The general financial stringency and depression in business during the latter months of the year somewhat reduced our gross earnings, the cost of operation, however, remaining practically the same.

Capital Expenditures in 1907. These aggregated $1,076,624, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Track & roadway constr'n | $560,677 | Cars & elect. equipt. of cars | $141,891 |
| Electric line construction | 17,424 | Miscellaneous equipment | 65,178 |
| Real est., bldgs., tools and fixtures | 225,188 | Power plant buildings and equipment | 62,666 |

The total capital expenditures for the three years 1905, 1906 and 1907 amount to $2,315,548.

Funded Debt. The total funded debt of the company shows a reduction during the year of $300,000. $1,500,000 underlying 6% bonds of the Citizens' Railway Co. matured on July 1 1907 and were paid out of the funds realized from the sale, at par, of $1,200,000 5 2/3% two year collateral trust notes, the balance of $300,000 being raised on our notes, it being impossible to sell the 4% bonds at any reasonable figure, owing to the financial conditions prevailing during the year.

The trustee under the first general mortgage of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis certified and delivered out of the bonds reserved for retiring underlying liens $1,500,000 4% United Railways bonds to the Mississippi Valley Trust Co., trustee, as security, along with $500,000 (5,000 shares) unregistered $100 par value) 5% cumulative preferred stock of the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, for the aforesaid collateral trust notes.

Track and Roadway.—Trackage owned on Dec. 31 1907 was 456.58 miles of single track (349.95 miles located in the City of St. Louis and 106.63 miles in the County of St. Louis), of which 447.98 miles is in operation, 2.51 miles leased and 6.09 miles not in use.

During the year there were reconstructed about 23.03 miles of track, of which 19.97 miles were laid on a concrete base with 9-inch grooved rail. All of the track so reconstructed was badly worn and destructive to our rolling stock. With a like mileage of track reconstructed per annum during the next two years, most of our very worst track will have been reconstructed.

To the paved track there has been added during the year 8.86 miles. The character of the roadbed of the 331.16 miles of track on public streets within the city is as follows: 152.32 miles of granite pavement, 57.61 miles of brick pavament, 7.10 miles of asphaltum pavement, leaving about 114.13 miles of macadam roadbed.

Philadelphia Electric Company.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President Jos. B. McCall under date of April 8 says:

The total connected load at the end of the year Dec. 31 1907 was equivalent to 1,489,851 sixteen c. p. lamps, an increase over the year 1906 of 215,989 or 17% which corresponds with the percentage of previous years. The increase in the number of consumers was 3,007.

During the year we have expended upon our construction account, $2,316,545. We have added:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Aerial pole lines | 30 miles | Generators | 10,007 k. w. |

Expenditures for Construction, aggregating $10,811,647.

The amount of $8,873,513 appearing in the balance sheet under title "advances to subsidiary companies for construction," together with an amount of $1,938,134 in cash derived from the subsidiary companies, a total of $10,811,647, represents the total expenditures made for additions to plant and property, viz.:

| | | | |
|---|---|---|---|
| Aerial | $1,256,513 | Boilers, engines, &c | $2,235,711 |
| Underground | 1,945,511 | Real estate & buildings | 2,262,546 |

| | | Miscellaneous | 435,483 |

Repairs, Replacements, &c., charged to Operating Expenses.

In addition to the expenditures for construction, the company has expended large sums from year to year for repairs, replacements, &c., in maintaining and increasing the plant efficiency. In many respects the replacements have amounted to substitution of more costly and improved equipment and machinery, whereby the plant has been enhanced in value, and efficiency amounting to an indirect allowance for depreciation. The entire cost of repairs and replacements has been made a charge to operating expenses.

Construction Depreciation Charged to Profit and Loss.

Provision has also been made for depreciation of permanent property, including charges for all abandoned machinery, by carrying to profit and loss account and in reduction of profits a direct charge for depreciation amounting to $435,766.

Extracts from Statement of Board of Directors Relating to Foregoing Compilation.

The accountants' report shows the number and amount of securities purchased. The 5% Philadelphia Electric gold trust certificates ($2,000,000) were purchased in the open market and destroyed in accordance with agreement of purchase of stock of the Penn. Mfg. Light & Power Co. and the National Electric Co.

The 4% Philadelphia Electric gold trust certificates (par value $2,015,000 carried in foregoing balance sheet among assets at $1,396,565.—Ed.) were purchased in the open market from May 16 1900 to Jan. 14 1901 at the ruling market prices, and at an average price of about 70. These trust certificates are carried in the company's treasury.

The other securities mentioned were purchased from individuals, from time to time, and secured to this company all the outstanding stocks of all the underlying companies, excepting a few shares in two or three instances. The company is the owner of the stock of the Pennsylvania Mfg. Light & Power Co. and the National Electric Co., and through the ownership of the shares of these companies controls and owns the properties of the various underlying companies.

The increases in the station capacities shown are the normal rated capacities, and do not include any guaranteed overload, which in some cases for two hours is 50% greater than the rated capacity.

It has been our policy to have the consumers share in the increased profits arising out of the unification and the growth of the business. The gross business in 1907 shows an actual increase over 1899 of $2,729,736, or 121%, If the average price had been maintained the gross business in 1907 would have been approximately $7,500,000, or an increase of 232%; so that the consumers of the company have practically shared equally with the company as the business has developed and grown.

[Accompanying the report, which contains many details as to the property and a map of the system, there has been issued an illustrated pamphlet descriptive of the company's generating stations and sub stations. The "Electrical World" of New York for Jan. 11 1908 described the new 7-story office building.—Ed.]—V. 86, p. 921, 288.

Alabama Consolidated Coal & Iron Company.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Oct. 31 1907.)

President Joseph H. Hoadley says in substance:

The past year has been largely devoted to construction work, with the usual difficulties attending construction and operation by the same forces at the same time, making it impossible to get the best results. In January 1907 the management changed hands.

At nearly every plant extensive improvements were found to be absolutely necessary to bring them up to modern practice, and these were made under the direction of the ablest engineering skill to be had. While some additional improvements of moderate cost are needed, and should be made in the near future, the physical condition of every plant is much better than ever before in the history of the company. During the year we have expended in this improvement and development work $561,761, in addition to the usual repairs which were made and charged directly into the cost of iron. We have completed the new furnace at Gadsden, upon which work had been progressing for 18 months; the company thus has four furnaces, all of them now in fine condition. The mining plants have received the same complete overhauling. The Mary Lee RR. has been practically rebuilt. As the railroad controls the entrance into one of the largest coal fields in Alabama, its value not only in the operation of the Lewisburg mines, but for the future, is very great.

At Ironaton we have found a large quantity of brown ore not known before. At Gate City we put a diamond drill down 1,200 feet, about one mile from the outcrop, and found the ore in place, thus proving the continuity of the red ore field of Birmingham, making this one of the most valuable iron ore properties in the district. On the coal properties similar work has been in progress, with equally satisfactory results.

Notwithstanding the difficulties under which we have been operating, our earnings, based on the same calculations as formerly, were $684,493. Desiring, however, to introduce every improvement in accounting, Price, Waterhouse & Co., chartered accountants, were requested to make a complete audit of the books and to submit recommendations. We submit their report, which we adopt, as showing the net earnings of the company after setting aside a larger sum for depreciation than formerly. We also present the following figures, showing the gross business and earnings as estimated on the basis of the company's former accounting system:

Price, Waterhouse & Co., under date of Feb. 28 1908, report in part as follows:

The effect of the adjustments made by us is to reduce the surplus as it appears on the books as at Oct. 31 1907 by the sum of $474,549, in addition to which the depreciation fund and betterment accounts are modified.

Examination of the relining fund accounts and expenses showed that the assessment of 25c. was entirely inadequate for the expenditures incurred when the furnace equipment repairs are considered in conjunction with the relining. A charge of from 50c. to 60c. a ton appears necessary to provide for such expenses and we have adjusted the accounts accordingly.

A careful examination of the expenditures for betterments and improvements since the organization of the company revealed the fact that considerable sums, representing replacements and reconstruction, had been erroneously charged to capital account. Approximately $420,000 of such expenditures incurred or to be incurred should now be written off to the depreciation and replacement fund heretofore provided. As this fund at Nov. 1 1907 amounted to only $44,152, it was necessary to appropriate from surplus the difference of approximately $175,000, and the adjustment was made on this basis.

We consider that an annual provision of $150,000 out of earnings, in addition to the charges for the regular blast furnace relining and repairs, is necessary to meet the accruing renewals and replacements by which the life of the plant may be prolonged and its depreciation thus met.

The Union Bag & Paper Company, New York.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Jan. 31 1908.)

President L. G. Fisher says:

The accompanying statement shows a very satisfactory financial year when it is borne in mind that our last quarter covered a period of panic and general stagnation in business. During this time, however, stocks were depleted and the orders received during January show a reasonable return to normal conditions in the bag line. The outlook in the paper line is not so encouraging.

Our possession of woodlands and water powers materially assisted in producing profits. The advance in the cost of all grades of paper, owing largely to the increased value of pulp wood, would have seriously enfeebled our statement had we been obliged to purchase this wood in the open market. We not only produced for our own wants at low cost, but disposed of a surplus at remunerative prices. Except for a long-continued stagnation in the paper market (which cannot reasonably be expected), there will be increased values in your timber holdings, which have in the past year demonstrated their ability to return good interest on the total investment.

Another great and growing asset of the company is its water powers. During the past year a modern electrical plant has been built at Sandy Hill, on the Hudson River, to develop about 10,000 h. p. One unit of 2,500 h. p. will be complete within sixty days. The other three units will be installed as fast as the power is sold. As this plant is in the midst of a manufacturing community covered by railroads and trolley lines, the possibilities of disposing of its power at remunerative prices is not questioned.

The saw-mill of the Gres Falls Co., at Three Rivers, Can., has been remodeled during the year at heavy expense, but it is estimated that the saving due to reduction in cost of operation and reduction in loss of raw material will soon pay for this outlay.

The dividends paid during the year on the preferred stock have been at the conservative rate of 4% per annum, all surplus earnings being utilized in the above-mentioned extensions and improvements and the payment of purchase money obligations. In addition to charging the expense of repairs and maintenance to operating costs, we have written off depreciation amounting to $203,241, and have also charged against the profits of the year the addition to bond redemption sinking fund—$88,175. The total amount of those funds now amounts to $699,166.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President James Rawle, under date of Feb. 12, says (compare official statement in V. 85, p. 1400):

The output from the four plants owned and controlled by the company for the twelve months ending Dec. 31 1907, together with the nine months' output of the Wason Manufacturing Co., which was acquired on April 1 1907, amounted to $9,211,826. Taking the output of the four plants owned and controlled for 1906, as compared with the output of the same four plants for 1907, the increased output for 1907 was $1,403,491. After writing off $120,442 for depreciation, and charging to repairs to buildings, machinery and tools $180,251, the total amount of profit on the output of $9,211,826 was shown to be $1,368,949.

The earnings as referred to above consist of the profit in the manufacture of cars, trucks and sundry material, and the output represents the largest in any year in the history of the business.

While the present company was incorporated on Feb. 1 1907, and consequently has been in existence only for eleven months, for the purpose of this report, and as this reorganization had no particular effect on the physical condition of the business, I have shown the earnings for the entire twelve months for the four plants which have been under the present management during that period, and for the nine months of the Wason Manufacturing Co. acquired on April 1 1907.

Quarterly dividends at the rate of 7% per annum on the preferred stock and 4% per annum on the common stock were declared and paid, the total of the dividends declared for the four quarters ending Feb. 1 1908 aggregating $508,875.

The company availed itself of an opportunity last year to purchase ten acres of land directly adjoining the Brill plant, which was the only suitable land desirable by reason of its proximity to the present works.

To meet the increased demand last year, it was determined in the early part of the year to erect at the Brill plant a new truck shop and also a new spring shop, and to increase in the capacity of the forge shop. These increased facilities, which were placed in operation in October, enabled the company to get the largest output that it has ever had.

The company also had the opportunity to purchase a small tract of land adjacent to the American Car Co.'s plant, and availed itself of this opportunity.

The physical condition of the various plants is excellent.

The lessening of business throughout the country which has taken place this year has, of course, affected the company's business as well as that of others, and it is not at all probable that the total business which the company will be able to do during 1908 will equal that done in 1907. The general outlook has somewhat improved within the last thirty days, but it is yet somewhat problematical as to what the outcome of the present year will be.

The Associated Merchants Company, New York.

(Report for Half-Year and Results for Full Year ending Feb. 1 1908.)

President John Claflin in the report recently issued says:

Our net income for the six months was $677,546, against $807,003 for the corresponding period last year. The season was profitable until late in October. The financial panic which then culminated was followed by extreme depression in business, which greatly reduced the earnings of November and December. In January distinct improvement appeared, but progress is retarded by political uncertainties incident to the approaching Presidential election.

This Ohio corporation which manufactures grand and upright pianos, piano players, player pianos, cabinet organs and all supplies, having received the Grand Prix in Paris 1900 and Double Grand Prize in St. Louis in 1904 reports to the "Chronicle" as follows:

The business was begun in 1862 as D. H. Baldwin & Co., (a firm). Subsequently manufacturing corporations were formed, the capital stocks of which were taken exclusively by the members of the firm of D. H. Baldwin & Co. In February 1898 a general company was formed, which became effective Jan. 1 1902, taking over the manufacturing divisions, and in June 1903 all of the important selling departments were taken over, leaving a few minor divisions to be added when present business is finished. (The general company was incorporated under the laws of Ohio Feb. 19 1898; amended articles were filed Dec. 1901 and July 1903.)

The company owns real estate and buildings valued at $538,482; also the entire capital stock of the Baldwin Piano Co., Gilbert Av., Cincinnati; the Ellington Piano Co., Eden Park Entrance, Cincinnati; the Hamilton Piano Co., Chicago Heights, Illinois; and the Hamilton Organ Co., Chicago Heights, Illinois.; and controls, through ownership of a majority of the stock, the Wm. H. Perry Lumber Co., Cincinnati.

The company has no bonds and no mortgage debt, but there are underlying ground rents which aggregate $43,500, purchaseable at any time and carrying a charge of from 4% to 5%. The company has no contingent liabilities for endorsements nor has it or any of its corporations discounted or sold its paper (bills receivable).

The company has a surplus (Jan. 1 1908) of $1,223,814, also has sinking funds or reserve provisions taken out of profits of $416,584. These reserve items were taken out in excess of all repairs and upkeep (which items are charged directly to profit and loss). An appraisement of the company's plants in Oct. 1907 by an independent appraisal company valued the same at a total in excess of the amount claimed by the company's books.

The preferred stock can be voted only in case of non payment of dividends for one year, in which case it has equal voting power with the common. In case of liquidation or dissolution the preferred stock ranks against the assets in preference to the common stock. No mortgage or other lien can be placed upon the property or earnings which shall have priority over or impair the value of the preferred stock without the written consent of the holders of two-thirds of such stock then outstanding.

The company has steadily paid dividends quarterly on its preferred stock at the rate of 6% per annum since it went into active operation Jan. 1 1902, and paid 4% on its common stock from Jan. 1905 and 6% on the common beginning April 1907.

On Jan. 1 1908 there were 32 common stockholders, all of whom are actively engaged in the business, and 146 preferred stockholders. Lucien Wulsin is President, G.W. Armstrong Jr., Vice-President and A. P. Hagemeyer Secretary and Treasurer.

In April 1907 there was also paid an extra dividend of ½ of 1%. This extra distribution, however, (½%) and the three quarterly payments of 1½% each paid July 15 and Oct. 15 1907 and Jan. 15 1908, total 5%, were alone charged against the earnings of 1907. On April 15 1908 the regular quarterly dividend of 1½% is payable, the dividend being now regularly 6% per annum.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President W. A. Lathrop, Philadelphia, Feb. 10 1908, says in substance:

Coal Mining Department.—The coal tonnage mined and marketed from lands owned or controlled by your company was as follows:

|---|---|---|---|
| Mined by company from fee lands | 2,320,623 | 2,310,846 | 2,973,172 |
| Mined by lessees from fee lands | 107,681 | 72,410 | 162,837 |
| Mined by lessees from lands of Alliance Coal Mining Co | 95,341 | 45,404 | 106,727 |
| Total | 2,523,645 | 2,428,660 | 3,242,736 |

In addition there was mined and used by the company and its tenants, and the tenants of the Alliance Coal Mining Co., in their mining operations during 1907, a total of 353,845 tons, making the total production for the year 3,596,581 tons.

The new shaft at No. 4 has now reached a depth of 510 feet, and will probably be finished during 1908 to the proposed depth of 988 feet. The development of a new colliery at No. 14, which was begun in 1904, has gone forward steadily during the year, but the plant will not be in position to make regular shipments in profitable volume for two or three years to come.

Work upon the Lausanne drainage tunnel was advanced 1,838 feet during the year, making the present distance from the portal 2,032 feet, with an estimated distance of about 5,000 feet to be driven to cut the basin of the Buck Mountain vein, and a further distance of 10,600 feet of gangway to be driven on the Buck Mountain vein to reach No. 2 shaft.

A new breaker of modern design and large capacity is being erected at Nesquehoning to take the place of old No. 1, and it is hoped will be ready for business by May or June 1908. Preparations are also being made to erect another breaker plant during the present year in place of old Nos. 8 and 9. A modern coal storage plant of the Dodge design, and of 280,000 tons maximum capacity, is being erected on the north side of Nesquehoning Creek. This plant will effect such substantial saving as to amply justify the expenditure, which will amount to about $300,000. It is expected this machinery will be ready for use about May 1.

Coal Sales Department.—With a view to eventually distributing the product direct from the mines to the trade, a new office has been opened in Boston, the selling forces at New York and Philadelphia have been materially increased, and six new barges, with a combined capacity of 6,600 tons were contracted for during the year. It is proposed to add to this fleet six more barges of similar character during the season of 1908.

Railroad Department.—The gross receipts of the Lehigh & Susquehanna RR. show an increase of $1,233,646 as compared with 1906, $1,076,354 of this increase being from coal traffic. The increase of gross receipts, however, does not increase the total rental received by your company, which is limited by the terms of the lease to a total of $2,043,000 plus 7% upon expenditures made by us for betterments and extensions since Dec. 31 1882. The amount received from our lessees for the use of this property in 1907 was $2,198,694, viz:—Maximum rental, $2,043,000; 7% upon expenditures made by us for improvements and extensions since Dec. 31 1882, $155,694.

Canal Department.—The Lehigh and Delaware Division canals were opened for business on April 15 and closed on Dec. 14. A total of 248,820 gross tons of freight was moved, 190,205 tons of it being anthracite coal, comparable with a total of 214,844 tons and 144,224 tons respectively in 1906. The operating revenue fell $33,011 short of meeting operating expenses, as compared with a shortage of $37,886 in 1906. Included in the operating charges is a charge of $17,819 for depreciation of equipment, against $7,891 for 1906. It has been decided to increase the equipment by the addition of 50 new boats during the coming year. The conclusion has been reached that mechanical towage would be abundantly justified with an annual traffic of 450,000 to 500,000 tons, to which point it is thought probable that the business of the canal can be developed during the next two years.

United States Gypsum Co., Chicago, Ill.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

The pamphlet report contains no text, but President S. L. Avery is quoted as saying in part:

The year 1907 was, in tonnage and earnings, the greatest in the company's history. The increase of tonnage was not, however, of the higher priced products; that branch of the business has been sustained only in the face of keen competition.

The financial disturbance encountered in the last quarter did not indicate itself materially in the company's business, as the buildings on which our products are used were at that time in course of erection and contracts compelled their completion. The depression will manifest itself through whatever restriction it engenders in building in 1908.

In the discovering and developing of new uses of gypsum, more progress has been made than in any previous period.

In conformity with conservative financing, your directors have charged off $500,000 from the account of gypsum and good will and deducted it from our undivided earnings. Liberal charges have also been made against depreciated properties.

Our fireproofing department, in which is manufactured plaster partition blocks, has installed the entire partition work in 130 fireproof buildings. This work has been done in the most prominent buildings in more than 60 cities, and the year's output, if shipped at one time, would make up a train over 3½ miles long. The progress in the sale of plaster board is equally encouraging, and this fireproof, sound-proof and non-conducting substitute for wood lath has made great gains during 1907.

Your company recently secured the exclusive manufacturing and sales rights of the gypsinite studding patents. The steady increase in demand for fireproofing in all classes of buildings promises well for this department and warrants the necessarily heavy expenditures coincident with introduction and establishment.

RAILROADS, INCLUDING STREET ROADS.

Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry.—Sale of Bonds.—N. W. Harris & Co., New York and Boston, and the Harris Trust & Savings Bank, Chicago, have purchased from the company $1,000,000 Eastern Oklahoma division first mortgage 4s, dated Feb. 26 1903, due March 1 1928; authorized, $10,000,000; issued, $9,603,000 (closed mortgage). Application has been made to the New York Stock Exchange to list $3,475,000 additional bonds of this issue, making the entire $9,603,000 listed. A circular offering the bonds says:

The above-described bonds are secured by a direct first mortgage at the rate of $20,000 per mile on 480.20 miles of important mileage located in Kansas and Oklahoma. They are the direct obligation of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. and are issued under a mortgage executed by the Eastern Oklahoma Ry. and the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. The Eastern Oklahoma Ry. has since been merged into the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. and in consequence of this conveyance of the property no additional amount of the above bonds can be issued under the mortgage. The mileage is located in a rapidly developing country, one of the most fertile sections of tue United States, and forms part of a low grade additional main line of the Atchison System between Chicago and Galveston, as well as between Denver and Galveston.—V. 86, p. 855.

Bainbridge Northeastern RR.—Status in Receivership.—In our issue of March 21 we published a statement under the heading of this company, after having first had it revised. An exchange on April 3, however, said:

We are advised that this road is not in the hands of a receiver, as reported in last week's issue. E. Swindell & Co. of Bainbridge, Ga., own a logging road which it has been expected would be acquired by the Bainbridge Northeastern. The firm of E. Swindell & Co. had been in litigation with a bank at Bainbridge for some time previous to the organization of the Bainbridge Northeastern Ry. Co. over a disputed question which is still in court. The bank secured judgment on a claim, and interests friendly to the company applied to the United States Court at Savannah for the appointment of a receiver for E. Swindell & Co. and for an injunction to prevent further action by the bank. Eighteen miles of road has been completed and material for the construction of three miles additional has been secured.

J. M. Wilkinson, receiver of E. Swindell & Co., to whom we referred the foregoing, writes:

Replying to yours of April 7, beg to advise that E. Swindell & Co. control the Bainbridge Northeastern. That it acquired from the E. Swindell & Co. the 18 miles of road that is now in the hands of the receiver. The affairs of E. Swindell & Co. and the Bainbridge Northeastern are a little mixed, for want of technical completeness in the transfers, but to all intents and purposes the roadbed, right of way and rolling stock belong to the Northeastern, and as receiver I have taken charge of all the property.—V. 86, p. 720.

Buffalo & Lake Erie Traction Co.—New Bonds.—This company has increased the amount of its outstanding "first and refunding mortgage" bonds from $1,755,000 to $5,005,000, for the purpose of building a 5-mile extension in Mill Creek Township, Pa.—V. 85, p. 1576.

California Gas & Electric Corporation, San Francisco.—Financial Plan.—A circular signed by F. G. Drum, President of the Pacific Gas & Electric Co., and John A. Britton, President of the California Gas & Electric Corporation, under date of March 26, says in substance:

Recent financial requirements have been met entirely by stockholders (see Pacific Gas & Electric Co. in V. 85, p. 163, 226—Ed.), but it is believed that the time is now come for a financial plan which will make it possible for the company to meet under any financial conditions its legitimate capital requirements.

The plan provides, in brief, for the transfer so far as practicable, of all the properties of the various constituent companies, "except railways of any kind," to the California Gas & Electric Corporation and the creation of the issue of "unifying and refunding mortgage 5% 30 year gold bonds," to mature Nov. 1 1937, secured by a direct mortgage lien upon all the properties of the corporation, including the properties so conveyed and all other property which may be hereafter acquired. The Pacific Gas & Electric Co. has also executed a supplementary mortgage covering all of its physical properties, the lien of which is prior to the lien of the Pacific Gas & Electric general mortgage and collateral as of 1906. The new bonds, therefore, have as security all of the properties owned or controlled by the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. or by the California Gas & Electric Corporation, except the property of the San Francisco Gas & Electric Co.

A syndicate composed of Eastern and California interests has agreed to purchase the entire amount of bonds of series "B." Of the $11,663,000 bonds of series "C" and "D," the first $8,605,000 can be issued only upon the approval in writing of the bondholders' committee created by the Pacific Gas & Electric mortgage, and none can be issued except for 85% of the actual cost of betterments of new property acquired, certified by the proper officers of the corporation and proven to the satisfaction of the trustee.

An agreement has been executed under date of Jan. 21 1908 between certain holders of the California Gas & Electric general mortgage and collateral trust 5% bonds, the Mrecantile Trust Co. of San Francisco as depositary, and a bondholders' committee consisting of Frank B. Anderson, William G. Henshaw, C. W. Conlisk, Leon Sloss and E. J. de Sabla Jr. This agreement provides that all bondholders depositing their bonds thereunder prior to May 1 1908 shall be entitled to receive negotiable receipts calling for the delivery to them on or before July 1 1909 of an equal amount of said "unifying and refunding mortgage 5% gold bonds," and in addition thereto (under the terms of a second depositary and committee) an amount of common stock in the Pacific Gas & Electric Co. equal to 25% of the bonds deposited for exchange. It is believed that the exchange will be greatly to the advantage of the corporation itself and the depositing bondholders.

Steps have already been taken whereby, upon the exchange of the California Gas & Electric general mortgage and collateral trust 5s, the new bonds can be made (through the retirement of several underlying first mortgage issues, referred to under the above table) an absolute first mortgage on valuable parts of this company's system, but these adjustments cannot be made until the present California Gas & Electric bonds are first exchanged.

In considering the probable ultimate value of the Pacific Gas & Electric common stock, to be received by depositing bondholders, it is important to remember that earnings for the calendar year 1907, after meeting operating expenses, maintenance, all interest and sinking funds, and the deduction of the amount called for to cover accrued dividends on the preferred stock, showed a balance of over 6% on the entire authorized common stock of the company. It will not be the policy of the company, however, to place this common stock on a dividend basis until all unfunded obligations shall be fully met and a reserve fund of conservative size accumulated.—V. 81, p. 1174.

Chesapeake & Western Co.—Sale Adjourned.—See Chesapeake Western Ry. below.—V. 78, p. 2383.

Chesapeake Western Ry.—Securities Advertised for Sale at Auction.—This company's entire outstanding capital stock and bond issue, namely, $1,419,000 first mortgage 4% bonds, $608,400 preferred stock and $811,200 common stock, all of which are owned by the Chesapeake Western Co. (V. 78, p. 383), were advertised to be sold this week by Adrian H. Muller & Son, but the sale was adjourned until Apr. 22.

Besides its own 14 miles of road, the company operates under lease the Chesapeake & Western RR., on which there are $666,000 bonds outstanding.—V. 78, p. 2383.

Chicago Indiana & Southern RR.—New Bonds Offered.—J. P. Morgan & Co. and Drexel & Co. are offering at 91 and interest by advertisement on another page $15,150,000 of Chicago Indiana & Southern 50-year mortgage 4% gold bonds, principal and interest guaranteed by the Lake Shore & Mich. So. Ry. Co., guaranty endorsed on each bond. The mortgage, which is for $20,000,000, is a first lien upon 329 miles of railroad, equipment, yards and shops (subject to trackage rights of other companies over less than 50 miles), except that there are outstanding $4,850,000 of bonds of the Indiana Illinois & Iowa RR. Co., which are a lien on the Kankakee Division only, and to provide for which bonds of the new issue are reserved. It will be seen that the bonds are practically a first mortgage. Compare annual report in V. 86, p. 852, 856.

Chicago Milwaukee & Gary Ry.—Status of Proposed New Belt Line around Chicago—New Bond Issue.—This company was recently incorporated under the laws of Illinois to acquire, by purchase and construction, a line of standard-gauge steam railroad from Milwaukee, Wis., to Gary, Ind., and has acquired the railroad and property of the Illinois Iowa & Minnesota Ry. Co. (now in operation from Momence, Ill., to Rockford, Ill., 125 miles), with its subsidiary lines, the Rockford Belt Ry. Co., Milwaukee Rockford & Eastern Ry. Co. and the Illinois Indiana & Gary Ry. Co.

The Chicago Milwaukee & Gary Ry. Co. on April 1 1908 executed to the St. Louis Union Trust Co. and the Illinois State Trust Co. of St. Louis, Mo., trustees, its "first mortgage," securing an issue of $20,000,000 40-year 5% bonds; $5,500,000 bonds have been issued in exchange for the property of the existing Illinois Iowa & Minnesota Ry. Co. and its subsidiary corporations. The balance of the bonds under the mortgage to be issued for extensions to Gary and Milwaukee, equipment, acquisition of extensive terminals, elevators, coal docks and facilities at both Gary and Milwaukee. The $2,820,000 bonds issued by the Illinois Iowa & Minnesota Ry. have been retired. We have the following concerning the company's plans, &c.:

It will immediately construct an extension from Momence to a lake terminus at the new Steel town of Gary, a distance of 42 miles, surveys for which have been completed and right of way is now being acquired. It will also construct from its northern terminus, Rockford, Ill., through Beloit and Janesville, to a lake terminus at Milwaukee, Wis., a distance of 100 miles. The total line, when completed, will be 267 miles, and will form a complete Outer Belt, connecting with all of the 32 main trunk lines of railroad entering Chicago. The company is now acquiring large terminals at Gary and Milwaukee.

Capital stock $40,000,000—$5,500,000 of which has been issued in exchange for the capital stock of the Illinois Iowa & Minnesota Ry. Co. and subsidiary companies.

The President is H. W. Seaman, "The Rookery," Chicago, Ill.—V. 86, p. 601.

Delaware & Hudson Co.—Proposed Mortgage.—The shareholders will vote May 12 on authorizing the execution by the company of a "first and refunding mortgage or deed of trust upon some or all of its property and franchises to secure an issue of bonds to an amount not exceeding $50,000,000, which bonds shall bear interest not exceeding 4% per annum free of taxes and shall run for at least 35 years, and may be made subject to redemption at 105 within a limited time." Of the proposed issue, $6,500,000 will be reserved to protect an equal amount of first mortgage bonds now outstanding. Any present issue of bonds, it is announced, will be limited to $20,000,000, and the remainder will be used only from time to time as required by the company's needs and as authorized by the Public Service Commission. A circular dated April 11 says:

The board of managers deems it wise to fund the company's indebtedness for expenditures which have been made in order to meet the growth of its business both in its coal and railroad departments. Expenditures have also been required in increasing the company's reserves of anthracite coal lands. Further expenditures have been made in the acquisition of railroads in Canada which when completed will connect the company's own lines with both Montreal and Quebec, and in extending these railroads in order to complete such connections. Still further expenditures have been incurred in carrying out the policy adopted by the company a few years since of acquiring electric lines of railway to furnish a complement to the service provided by its steam railroads. The details of these improvements and acquisitions and the cost thereof will be found in the company's annual reports for 1906 and 1907. (V. 86, p. 913; V. 84, p. 623.)

To a considerable extent the expenditures before mentioned have been hitherto carried by loans obtained through subsidiary companies, as well as by advances to such companies. It now becomes necessary that the company should itself assume and fund these loans, and the managers have satisfied themselves that these can be best arranged at a low interest charge, through an issue of mortgage bonds; thus giving the stockholders the advantages consequent upon a diminution of the fixed charges.—V. 86, p. 913.

Donora & Eldora Street Ry., Pennsylvania.—New Securities.—This company, it is stated, has increased its capital stock from $24,000 to $150,000, and its indebtedness from nothing to $100,000.

Fitchburg RR.—New Bonds, Not Mortgage.—The company has obtained authority to issue $2,400,000 4½% bonds dated May 1 1908, due 1928 to refund $2,000,000 5% bonds due May 1 1908, and pay for betterments and additions, particularly double-tracking from Troy to Johnsonville, N. Y, installing a block signal system, grade crossings, sidings, &c. The road has contracted for the sale of these bonds at 102. They will not be secured by mortgage.—V. 86, p. 794, 720

Galveston (Tex.) Terminal Ry.—Bond Issue.—The stockholders have authorized an issue of $5,000,000 bonds to meet the cost of improvements now under way. The company's facilities, it is understood, will be used not only by the Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. and the Colorado Southern, (V. 85, p. 868), but also by the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific and the St. Louis & San Francisco. The stock of the Terminal Company is owned by the Trinity & Brazos Valley Ry. The following has been printed:

About $850,000 has already been spent filling in and putting up a freight house. Over 40 miles of track have been laid, and large repair shops, roundhouses and other buildings will be put up. In addition to the six blocks of water front which the company owns as a site for extensive shipping facilities, the company has 130 acres of land on which the railroad terminal will be established. About $3,000,000 will be spent for improving the water front, including the dredging of a 30-foot channel, so that large steamers may load at the railroad docks. There will be, it is said, three piers, each 2,000 feet long, situated between 51st and 57th streets.

Georgia Railroad & Banking Co.—Settlement of Tax.—In pursuance of an agreement between the company and the State, Judge Pendleton in the Superior Court at Atlanta on April 3 re-opened the case brought to collect taxes on the company's holdings of $1,500,000 of Western of Alabama Ry. stock for the ten years from 1895 to 1904 inclusive. Compare V. 85, p. 1339, and editorial, page 1300.

The Court thereupon held that the company is indebted to the State for taxes during the years named in the sum of $80,225, to the County of Richmond to the amount of $109,121 and to the city of Augusta to the amount of $145,654, making a total of $335,000 which the company has agreed to pay in settlement of back taxes on Western of Alabama Ry. stock to 1904.—V. 85, p. 1339.

Gulf & Ship Island RR.—Car Trusts Never Issued.—In Jan. last Cramp, Mitchell & Shober, Philadelphia, offered an issue of $460,000 car trusts which they had agreed to purchase. Owing, however, to a change in the company's plan, the issue was never made, and consequently none of the car trusts was ever sold.—V. 86, p. 547, 285.

Honolulu Rapid Transit & Land Co.—Dividend Increased.—A quarterly dividend of 1% was paid March 31 on the $800,000 common stock, thus increasing the annual rate to 4%, contrasting with 3% in 1907, 3¼% in 1906 and 4% in both 1904 and 1905.—V. 86, p. 794.

Illinois Central RR.—Option to Subscribe for 15% New Stock—Disposition of Remaining 15%.—A circular dated April 7 announces that of the $28,512,000 new stock which the shareholders will be asked to authorize on May 18, one-half thereof, or $14,256,000, being equal to 15% of the amount now outstanding, will be offered at par pro rata to shareholders of record May 28, who will be permitted to subscribe "until July 7" on warrants to be issued on or about June 6 1908.

Subscriptions will be payable at the company's office, 115 Broadway, New York, 50% on or before July 7 1908 and the remaining 50% on or before Sept. 17 1908. In case both installments are paid in full on or before July 7 1908, there will be allowed a discount upon the second installment at the rate of 5% per annum from that date to Sept. 17 1908. Certificates for full-paid shares will be issued as soon as practicable after Sept. 17 1908. The new shares will be entitled to participate in all dividends which may be declared after Sept. 17 1908.

The remaining 15% of new stock not offered to stockholders as above, will be issued and held in reserve in the treasury, "the directors being authorized from time to time as they shall think proper to dispose of such remaining 15%, or any part of same, at not less than par, or to issue bonds of the Illinois Central RR. Co. convertible into full-paid shares of said stock upon such terms as the stockholders at said meeting shall determine, the right to subscribe to said shares or said convertible bonds to be first offered to the stockholders, in proportion to their holdings."—V 86 p. 729, 668.

Line to Birmingham.—The company's new line from Jackson, Tenn., to Birmingham, Ala., it is announced, will be formally opened for through freight traffic on April 19 1908. —V. 86, p. 720, 668.

Interborough Rapid Transit Co., New York.—New Securities.—The Public Service Commission, First District, on April 11 formally sanctioned the authorization of a mortgage to secure an issue of $55,000,000 45-year bonds, of which about $30,000,000 carrying 5% interest will now be deposited as security for an issue of $25,000,000 3-year 6% notes. The proceeds of the notes will enable the company to redeem the $15,000,000 4% notes due May 1 1908 and pay off other obligations, thus taking care of the financial requirements for some time to come. The new notes will be dated May 1 and will mature May 1 1911. Further details have not yet been determined upon (compare V. 86, p. 603). Negotiations are pending for a sale of the notes to a J. P. Morgan & Co. syndicate.

Status of Company upon Completion of Financing.—At the recent hearing before the Public Service Commission, Auditor Gaynor submitted a statement to show the estimated earnings for the calendar year 1908, including the income derived and to be derived from the extension to Brooklyn. This statement contemplated the issue of $25,000,000 of new 5% bonds (not 6% notes as now decided upon). It further takes into account the proposed retirement of the $15,000,000 4% 3-year notes May 1 1908; also the retirement of $10,818,000 Metropolitan first mortgage 6% bonds, and the issue in their stead of a like amount of Manhattan Ry. consolidated 4s as of July 1 1908. As modified by the change in the interest rate on the $25,000,000 new securities from 5% to 6%, the statement follows:

Favorable Decision.—The Appellate Division of the Supreme Court, First Department, on April 10, by a divided vote, reversed the decision of the lower court which restrained the company from delivering electric current to the New York City Interborough Ry. Compare V. 84, p. 1307.

The prevailing opinion by Justice McLaughlin says that it is admitted that the company has to generate more power than it needs for the operation of the subway except in emergencies, and the only way of conveying the same is through the subway ducts. Hence, it is a question of the terms of the subway lease, which does not prevent the company from making any profitable use of the subway property provided such use does not interfere with the transportation of passengers or their comfort and convenience. Justices Scott and Clarke, who dissent, hold that the subway contract is more of a public grant than a lease, and that in such a case nothing not expressly provided for in the grant can be read into it.—V. 86, p. 918.

Kansas City Mexico & Orient Ry.—$700,000 6½% Notes Offered.—This company is offering for sale $700,000 2-year 6½% notes of $500 face value each, secured by deposit with the American Trust Co. of Boston, as trustee, of $2,000 of the first mortgage bonds for each $1,000 of notes issued Subscribers to each $5,000 of the new notes, upon payment in full, will receive a bonus in preferred and common stock. The notes, which bear various dates, are not subject to call. President Stilwell says:

We have secured money to complete the line north of Sweetwater to connect with the Oklahoma section, and hope to have the line ready to operate during August. This will put into use over $1,600,000 worth of idle equipment and material and give 431 miles of continuous track and through connections for Houston, Galveston, El Paso and all points in Mexico and California. If we can place this $700,000 now offering, the proceeds can be used for the San Angelo gap, leaving receipts from bond sales for the work in Mexico.

With completion of the Sweetwater and the San Angelo gaps, we shall have over 1,000 miles, and hope to have at least 1,100 miles in operation this year. (See map on page 79 of "Railway and Industrial" Section.—Ed.) —V. 86, p. 480, 668.

Little Kanawha RR.—To Be Operated by B. & O.—J. M. Schoonmaker, Vice-President of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, on April 15 made the following announcement:

Commencing May 1, the Little Kanawha RR., one of the small railroads comprising what is known as the Little Kanawha syndicate properties owned jointly by the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, Baltimore & Ohio and Pennsylvania railroads, extending from Parkersburg up the Little Kanawha River to Creston, a distance of about 50 miles, and which has been operated under its own management under an arrangement with the three owning roads, will be operated by the Baltimore & Ohio RR. in connection with its own service. This arrangement is not intended to mean that the Baltimore & Ohio takes over the property absolutely, or that the other roads have lost any of their proprietary rights in it, this still being maintained intact. The new arrangement is for the purpose of reducing cost of operation —V. 82, p. 628.

Long Island RR.—Report.—For years ending Dec. 31:

Practically the entire common stock ($75,000,000), carrying the control of the company, will be turned over to the Mexican Government in partial exchange for its holdings of stock in the National RR. of Mexico, and on account of its guaranty of the new general mortgage bonds, and for other considerations. The entire cost of the six sections is estimated at $15,000,000, exclusive of the laying and ballasting of the four tracks, for which, along with "other equipment" bids will be asked later. Contractors on each section will be given two years from the date of contract in which to complete the work. It may not be deemed best to undertake all six sections this year.

Lexington Avenue Subway Approved.—The Board of Estimate recently approved the Broadway-Lexington Avenue route as laid out by the Public Service Commission from the Battery to the Bronx and it is hoped to let contracts for at least a portion of the work during the coming summer.—V. 85, p. 865.

Rio de Janeiro Tramway, Light & Power Co., Ltd.—New Securities "Not Authorized."—In response to our inquiry regarding the reported authorization of an issue of preferred stock, Secretary and Treasurer J. M. Smith writes:

A shareholders' meeting was held on the 6th inst., called for the purpose of confirming the revision and consolidation of the by-laws of the company, also to pass the interim balance sheet of Nov. 30 1907. At this meeting no resolution was proposed or passed regarding an increase in the company's stock or debenture issue.—V. 86, p. 920.

Rochester (N. Y.) Railway & Light Co.—Bonds for Refunding.—Application was made April 10 to the Public Service Commission, Second District, for permission to issue $1,474,000 5% bonds redeemable at any interest date, at 103, to refund obligations of the company.—V. 86, p. 109.

St. Louis & San Francisco RR.—Payment of Notes.—The company recently paid off $300,000 of the 6% loan of $3,000,000, due Aug. 29 next, arranged with Hallgarten & Co. in January last, and $130,000 of the issue of $1,750,000 one-year collateral 6% notes dated June 26 1907.—V. 86, p. 920, 858.

Seaboard Air Line Railway.—Protective Committee.—A committee representing various bonds and stock of the Seaboard Air Line Ry. and the Seaboard Co. invites by advertisement on another page the deposit of securities, with the ultimate purpose of preparing a plan for the reorganization of the company which shall justly recognize the rights and interests of all the security holders. A deposit agreement will be prepared, which will be submitted to the bondholders and stockholders in due course. The notice has special reference to the securities issued by the Seaboard Air Line Ry. Co. and not to the underlying bonds. The members are:

Southern Ry.—New Offices.—The New York offices of the following companies have been removed from 80 Broadway to Room 1940 on the nineteenth floor of the Hudson Terminal Cortlandt Building, 30 Church St.:

Southern Railway Co. | Cinc. New Orl. & Tex. Pac. Ry. Co.
Alabama Great Southern RR. Co. | Georgia Southern & Fla. Ry. Co.

Explanation.—Referring to newspaper dispatches stating that an injunction asked for to prevent interference by the South & Western (now Carolina Clinchfield & Ohio) with the line of the Southern Ry. between Marion, N. C., and Camden, S. C., indicates a desire to prevent the construction of the former's line, President Finley says:

The Southern Ry. is not endeavoring to prevent the construction and completion of the South & Western RR. The relations of the two companies have been entirely amicable. The South & Western is being constructed contiguous to the Southern Ry. at a point in North Carolina, and it developed last week that the engineers of the South & Western were conducting their operations in disregard of the rights of the Southern Ry., encroaching on its property and even, by blasting, interrupting traffic, and putting the Southern line temporarily out of operation. To prevent these encroachments and compel the conduct of the work in an orderly way, the Southern Ry. has obtained an injunction against the continuance of the specific and purely local wrongs it has sustained. It is hoped the con troversy will be promptly disposed of.—V. 86, p. 669, 230.

Springfield (Ill.) Railway & Light Co.—Bonds Offered—Earnings.—E. W. Clark & Co., Philadelphia, are offering at a price to yield about 5½% on the investment, collateral trust 5% gold bonds due June 1 1933, of which there are at present outstanding $2,700,000. (See "Electric Railway" section, p. 102.) A circular says:

| Net earnings | 433,911 | Surplus | 247,185 |

Dividends at the rate of 4% per annum have been regularly paid on the capital stock ($3,000,000) since July 1 1906. "The franchises for the gas business are without time limit; those for the railway system expire in 1922 and for the electric light, steam heat and hot-water companies in 1921."

Underground Electric Railways Co. of London.—Receivership—Plan.—At London on April 15, in friendly proceedings brought by Speyer Brothers, the Court appointed Managing Director Sir George Gibb receiver for the company, preparatory to reorganization. The company's embarrassment is attributed to unexpected delay in the work of construction, now practically completed, competition by the motor omnibuses and the municipally-owned electric street railways and unfavorable money market conditions. The December 1907 coupons of the 5% profit-sharing notes were purchased by Speyer & Co. A plan for readjustment will probably be issued here next week. Press reports say that holders of the profit-sharing notes will receive $400 in 4½% fixed-interest bonds and $700 in incomes. The "London Times" and other English papers say that the plan has been well received at that centre.—V. 86, p. 548, 338.

Union Electric Co., Dubuque, Ia.—Bonds Offered.—Perry, Coffin & Burr are offering for sale $125,000 first mortgage 5% gold bonds dated May 2 1904, due May 1 1924; authorized, $980,000; issued, $650,000. A circular says in substance:

The company owns and operates the entire street railway and electric lighting business in Dubuque, including a new steam turbine power station of the latest standards, a distributing system covering the business and residential portions of the city, and street railway of about 17.27 miles. Franchises mature 1927, and are favorable. Earnings for calendar year 1907: Gross, $294,922; net, after operating expenses, $90,448; bond interest, $32,500; balance, $57,948.—V. 84, p. 1553.

Automatic Electric Co., Chicago.—Offer for Bonds.—A syndicate consisting of A. D. Nast, Jacob Kesner, L. M. Stumer, Max Sello and Ferdinand Siegel last week made a proposition to the holders of the 20-year 6% first mortgage bonds, recently issued, to buy the bonds on a basis of 85 and interest at the end of four months, provided 75% of the bondholders should assent prior to April 15 and deposit their bonds. The officers of the consolidated company are:

Joseph Harris, President; C. D. Simpson, Vice-President; W. I. Patton, Secretary; A. G. Wheeler, Treasurer; Harmon A. Harris, Second Vice-President.—V. 86, p. 796.

Boston & Corbin Copper & Silver Mining Co.—On Boston Unlisted.—The company's 80,000 outstanding shares of $5 each, total authorized issue 100,000 shares, have been placed upon the unlisted department of the Boston Stock Exchange.

Calumet & Chicago Canal & Dock Co.—New President to Succeed Mr. Leslie Carter, who Retires on Account of Ill-Health.—Murray Nelson Jr. was recently elected President to succeed Leslie Carter, who is ill but has not died, current reports to the contrary notwithstanding.—V. 82, p. 572.

Consolidated Gas Co. of New York.—Conversion Rights.—The following announcement is made:

For the convenience of holders of the 6% convertible debentures who may wish to convert the same into capital stock at any time other than on July 1 1908 and Jan. 1 1909, but prior to the latter date, the company will, until further notice, but not later than Jan. 1 1909, issue its new capital stock in exchange for its 6% convertible debentures, with an adjustment of interest and dividends at the date of conversion.

Application for Return of Deposited Moneys Refused.—Judge Hough in the United States Circuit Court on Wednesday denied the application of the company for the return of $4,623,485 of the amount deposited with the court, representing the difference between 80 cents and $1 per 1,000 feet on all gas since the 80-cent gas law went into effect, with interest at 2½%.

On Dec. 31 1907 $6,337,340 had been deposited. The Court said: "I see no reason why the status quo should not be continued and believe granting the motion inadvisable and hope a final settlement will soon be reached in the Supreme Court." A direct appeal is now pending to that Court.—V. 86, p. 796.

Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co.—Stock Dividend—Bond Issue.—The shareholders will vote on April 27 on a proposition to authorize an issue of $2,500,000 bonds; also an increase in the capital stock for the purpose, it is stated, of paying a dividend in stock. The "Toronto Globe" of April 14 says:

The shareholders will receive a stock dividend by which every holder of three shares of stock will receive two additional shares. The company has up to the present received $2,141,250 in premiums on the sale of stock. This will be returned to the shareholders in the form of new stock, as the payment for the shares to be issued will be met out of the bonus dividend. The consent of every shareholder to subscribe for the shares at par will be necessary to effect the arrangement. The directors, further, will seek authority to issue bonds to the extent of $2,500,000. It is understood that these bonds will not be placed on the market, but will be used as the basis of the company's financing. The dividend will be reduced from 10 to 7%.—V. 86, p. 796, 671.

Denver Gas & Electric Co.—Sinking Fund Proposed.—The shareholders will vote May 12 on a proposition to provide a sinking fund for the general mortgage bonds.—V. 84, p. 1184.

Globe-Wernicke Co., Cincinnati.—Subsidiary Lumber Co.—Contract.—See New River Lumber Co. below.—V. 85, p. 342.

Jamaica Township Water Co.—Notice to Holders of Maturing Bonds.—Holders of the 6% bonds due May 1 1908 are notified by advertisement on another page that on presentation of their bonds to the People's Trust Co., Brooklyn, they may exchange them for the unified first mortgage 5% gold bonds of the Jamaica Water Supply Co. or may receive payment of principal and interest in cash. See Jamaica Water Supply Co. below.

Jamaica Water Supply Co.—Bonds Offered.—The People's Trust Co., Brooklyn, is offering at par and interest "unified first mortgage" 5% gold bonds dated July 1 1904 and due July 1 1954; authorized, $1,000,000, of which $116,000 are reserved to retire a like amount of first mortgage bonds due Feb. 1 1928; amount now outstanding, $580,000; balance, $304,000, can be issued only in payment for additions and extensions to the system. A circular says:

Subject only to the $116,000 of bonds above mentioned, due Feb. 1 1928, this issue is a first lien on all of the property and franchises of the company, which in March 1908 were examined by Nicholas S. Hill Jr., formerly Chief Engineer of the Department of Water Supply, New York City, and valued at $1,756,000. The company was organized in 1887, and furnishes the water supply for Jamaica and Richmond Hill, being the district now known as the Fourth Ward of the Borough of Queens, New York City, and several adjacent towns in Nassau County. The population of this section is increasing more rapidly than that of any other portion of Greater New York except the Bronx, and the earnings of the company show a constant and steady increase. The earnings for the year ending April 30 1908 will show a large increase over 1907.

Only $2,675,000 of the aforesaid bonds were ever issued and these have been exchanged for an equal amount of 7% preferred stock. The stock now consists of 7% cumulative preferred stock, $2,675,000, and common stock, $5,350,000, the shares being $10 each par value. Total authorized share capital $8,025,000.

Within recent months two new mortgages have been made to the Union Trust Co. of Detroit, as trustee, the authorized mortgage indebtedness being now $1,700,000. The new issues, we are informed, are intended for collateral purposes only and will not be sold. They consist of—Interest Oct. 1 and April 1. The annual dividend rate on the $3,600,000 stock was increased in 1906 from 6% to 7%, the semi-annual distribution last January being still 3½%.—V. 85, p. 287.

Bonds.—This company recently increased the total authorized amount of its capital stock from $6,500,000 to $8,000,000 and made an issue of $3,000,000 first mortgage 6% gold bonds, due April 1 1918, but convertible prior to April 1 1913 into stock at twice its par value, i.e. $10 per share, par $5. These bonds having been underwritten by a syndicate headed by Trippe & Co., 35 Wall St., New York, were offered at par pro rata to shareholders of record Feb. 17, who took about 95% of the entire issue, leaving only 5% for the underwriters. A description of these bonds follows:

Bonds dated April 1 1908 and due April 1 1918, but subject to call on and after April 1. Mortgage trustee, Bankers' Trust Co., New York. Subscriptions payable 50% March 10 and 50% April 20. The applications to participate in this underwriting exceeded, it is said, four times the amount of the bond issue.

[The company's ally, the Utah Copper Co., in February last also offered to the holders of its $6,597,500 capital stock (as increased from $5,100,000 by conversion of substantially all of its $3,000,000 convertible bonds issued in 1906 into stock on the basis of $10 in bonds for $5 in stock) the right to subscribe at par pro rata for a new issue of $1,500,000 first mortgage bonds, like the bonds of the sister company convertible into stock at twice its par value. The underwriting syndicate in this case, it is reported, secured only about 1% of the issue. W. B. Thompson and Charles Hayden, who are prominently identified with the Cumberland-Ely Copper Co. and the Nevada Consolidated Co., were early in the year added to the board of the Utah Copper Co., through the Guggenheim interests.—Ed.]

The Nevada Consolidated Copper Co., by circular dated Jan. 17 1908, announced that, after several years of development work, it had "succeeded in blocking out great bodies of valuable ore," and that it was building, in conjunction with the Cumberland Ely Copper Co., "a concentrating and smelting plant adequate for the requirements of both companies for a long term of years." This smelter is expected to be in operation early in July.—V. 86, p. 232.

(The) New River Lumber Co., Cincinnati.—Offering of Preferred Stock—Globe-Wernicke Co. to Provide for Principal and Quarterly Dividend.—Subscriptions were recently received in Cincinnati by the Central Trust & Safe Deposit Co., Fifth National Bank, Merchants' National Bank, German National Bank and Irwin, Ballman & Co., for this company's 6% cumulative preferred stock, price now 103. A circular says in substance:

Incorporated under the laws of Ohio March 21 1908 to acquire the entire properties and business of the New River Lumber Co., a West Virginia corporation, which has been carried on profitably for over twenty years. All of the stockholders of the old company have agreed to surrender their stock to be canceled in exchange for common stock in the Ohio company. The West Virginia company has a bond issue of $500,000, upon which options have been procured, and which will be retired out of the proceeds of the sale of the preferred stock of the Ohio company. Every dollar arising from sale of the preferred stock will go into the business and assure ample working capital.

The preferred stock is cumulative, has full voting power with the common in the event of default, either of dividends or redemption, and is a first lien on the assets; no mortgage bond issue can be placed upon the property, nor can the preferred stock be increased, without the assent of a majority of the preferred stock. It is positively redeemable at par, $50,000 yearly on April 1 from 1911 to 1930, both inclusive.

The Globe-Wernicke Co. (V. 83, p. 434) being the owner of the majority of the common stock, and a large consumer of lumber, binds itself, beginning April 1 1910, to buy from the company such an amount of lumber as that the aggregate purchase price each year shall be in excess of the amount necessary for redeeming the preferred stock maturing for redemption, depositing the necessary funds therefor with the Central Trust, & Safe Deposit Co., Cincinnati, in monthly installments. The funds for paying dividends on preferred stock are provided for in like manner, beginning April 1 1908, in the same agreement.

The company owns about 60,000 acres of timber land in Scott, Anderson and Campbell counties, Tennessee, within 225 miles of Cincinnati. The Tennessee Ry. was extended into the property in 1906. Present value of the merchantable timber, not including by-products such as bark, ties, poles, &c. (or coal deposits, which may prove valuable), is estimated at $2,500,000; mills, machinery, equipment, manufactured lumber, logs, &c., about $500,000; total, $3,000,000. The saw-mill at New River, Tenn., has a capacity of 30,000 to 40,000 feet of lumber per day. A new triple band saw-mill now nearly completed at Norma, some 25 miles distant, will have a capacity of about 100,000 feet a day. At least one other mill will be put in operation very soon, making in all an output of not less than 125,000 feet per day, after allowing for all contingencies, from which there should be a net profit on lumber alone of $300,000 to $350,000 per year.

Directors: Morton Butler, Pres.; H. C. Yeiser, Vice-Pres.; J. E. Blaine, Sec.; F. G. Norcross, Treas.; Leland G. Banning, Chas. F. Hofer, Geo. S. Baily.

Ohio & Indiana Consolidated Natural & Illuminating Gas Co.—Circular to Bondholders of Controlled Companies.—The reorganization committee, James N. Wallace, Chairman, and F. L. Babcock, 54 Wall St., Secretary, has sent a circular dated April 15 to the bondholders of the constituent companies, namely La Fayette Gas Co., Indiana Natural & Illuminating Gas Co., Ohio & Indiana Gas Co., Logansport & Wabash Valley Gas Co. and Fort Wayne Gas Co., saying in substance:

It is expected that the properties of all of the said companies will be sold, under the pending foreclosure proceedings, in the latter part of May 1908. The delay in proceeding with the plan of reorganization (see V. 84, p. 871) has been due partly to the unsettled business conditions and partly to the prolonged efforts which have been made to bring about some satisfactory understanding with the municipal authorities of Fort Wayne for the use of the gas mains, for artificial gas, through which natural gas was formerly supplied. An arrangement has finally been concluded between the Fort Wayne Company and the city which, in the opinion of the committee, is more advantageous to the bondholders than further litigation.

The committee has concluded to organize the new corporation with only one class of stock; and instead of having preferred stock for $4,500,000 and common stock for $2,250,000, the new company will have a total authorized capital, without any preference, of only $4,500,000, all of which will be issued to the bondholders in the same proportions as that provided for in the case of the preferred stock previously contemplated. Thus, all the securities of the new company will be issued for the benefit of the assenting bondholders.

The committee has also decided to have a board of nine directors for the new company, the assenting bondholders of each company to designate two directors, with the exception of the bondholders of the Indiana Natural & Illuminating Gas Co., who shall designate one director. The aggregate bonded debt of the five existing companies is $7,350,000. More than 90% of this entire amount has been deposited, leaving less than 10% which has not assented to the plan. The non-assenting bondholders will be paid in cash their share of the net proceeds of the properties, respectively, leaving probably about $300,000 new bonds and $450,000 new stock, on which the privilege of underwriting is given to the assenting bondholders, pro rata, until and including May 1 1908. The purchase price of these bonds and stock will, of course, depend upon the amount realized for the various properties, as that will determine the net amount to be paid to the non-assenting bondholders.—V. 84, p. 1432.

Ohio Oil Co.—Acquisitions.—This company, controlled by the Standard Oil Co., has recently been reported as acquiring:

From the Minnetonka Oil Co., for $1,250,000, about 8,000 acres of oil-producing territory in Crawford County, Ill., including 195 producing wells with an output of 5,000 barrels a day, and four good gas wells. From T. N. Barnsdall & Co. and the Red Bank Oil Co. affiliated interests, for $450,000, properties in Crawford County, Ill., consisting of 1,180 acres of leases in five townships, with a number of producing wells. Compare V. 86, p. 288.

Pacific Lighting Co.—Dividends, &c.—The San Francisco "Chronicle" some time ago said:

There was something like a reorganization nearly a year ago, which was completed about Aug. 1, when the capital was changed from a plain issue to an issue of a certain amount of preferred and a certain amount of common stock—just how much of each could not be learned. The company used to pay dividends of 40c. per share monthly, but since the reorganization the purpose and plan has been to pay a dividend of 5% per annum on the preferred stock. The company's distributing plant is in Los Angeles. It used to operate a plant also in Eureka, Humboldt County.—V. 85, p. 866.

People's Gas & Electric Co., Defiance, Ohio.—Receivership.—On April 7 Fred. L. Hay of Defiance was appointed receiver of the company on application made by the Guardian Savings & Trust Co., the mortgage trustee, the Anderson Coal Co. and the Lorain Coal Co., all of Cleveland, on the ground of insolvency. The last coupon paid on the $150,000 bonds was that of July 1 1907.—V. 77, p. 953.

(For the year 1906 the net earnings were reported as $922,758. Compare V. 84, p. 394.—Ed.)—V. 86, p. 550, 424.

Standard Oil Co.—Increase of Stock by Subsidiaries.—Press reports announce that controlled companies (see V. 85, p. 217) have filed at Harrisburg, Pa., certificates of increase of capital stock as follows for the purpose, it is understood, of making their capitalization more nearly commensurate with the value of their properties:

| | Incorp. | From. | To. |
|---|---|---|---|
| United Natural Gas Co., Oil City, Pa | 1886 | $1,000,000 | $8,000,000 |

These companies are said to be controlled by the Standard through the medium of the National Fuel Gas Co. (V. 86, p. 112).

In some quarters this action is thought to foreshadow a revival of the plans for a re-capitalization of the Standard. See also Ohio Oil Co. above.—V. 86, p. 672.

Standard Roller Bearing Co., Philadelphia, Pa.—Control Acquired by New York Interests—New Officers.—At the annual meeting on March 25, as a result of the recent transfer of control from Philadelphia to New York interests, the management was changed as follows, but there will, it is stated, be no change in policy, the new President having long been the virtual head of the enterprise:

—The banking firm of Moffat & White, 5 Nassau St., this city, is distributing a useful pocket-size cardboard folder, tabulating the comparative deposits and share-book values of the New York and Brooklyn trust companies at the last two bank calls, namely March 25 and Jan. 1 1908. The statement serves to reveal the general improvement in the local banking situation, particularly in the case of trust companies, which has occurred since the panic. The deposits of all the trust companies in Manhattan for March 25 1908 foot up $609,676,224, which compares with $539,162,882 for Jan. 1 1908, an increase of $70,513,342. The same record for Brooklyn is $69,604,872 March 25 and $65,504,869 Jan. 1. Of the 36 New York City companies reporting March 25, 24 show increased deposits, ranging from 0.2% to 37.9%, and 12 companies decreases. In Brooklyn 5 companies report increases ranging from 0.9% to 20.6%, and the other 5 concerns decreases. The book values March 25 of the capital stock of 28 Manhattan companies increased from .01% to 10.5% and 8 companies decreased from .01 to 9.6%; the Brooklyn companies increased from 0.3% to 4.9%, only one showing a decrease 4.0%. The latest folder is the second comparative statement of these interesting changes that Moffat & White have issued; the first folder compared the Aug. 22 1907 bank returns with Jan. 1 1908—the period preceding and succeeding the October panic. The firm will furnish copies of both if desired.

—The 1908 edition of "The Earning Power of Railroads," edited by Floyd W. Mundy of the banking firm of James H. Oliphant & Co., 20 Broad St., this city, is now ready. The book is well known and needs no extended comment. Its contents this year have been amplified and include the latest record of mileage, capitalization, bonded indebtedness, earnings, operating expenses, fixed charges, cost of maintenance, &c., of 131 United States, Mexican and Canadian railroads, operating over 210,000 miles, and whose gross earnings exceeded $2,480,000,000. There are also comparative statistics and information of the investments, dividends and guaranties of these roads, arranged in convenient form for ready reference. E. P. Ripley, President of the Atchison Topeka & Santa Fe Ry., says of this book: "It covers the ground thoroughly and clearly and with simplicity."

—The banking and brokerage firm of White & Co., 25 Pine St., New York, which recently commenced business, has been organized by Archibald S. White, who is largely interested in Ohio gas and coal properties; C. L. Parmelee, formerly with the old firm of Redmond, Kerr & Co.; George H. Hull Jr., previously of Bertron, Storrs & Griscom, and Lytle Hull, lately connected with Baring, Magoun & Co. The new firm will make a specialty of first mortgage railroad and corporation bonds. A copy of the firm's analysis of the Metropolitan Street Railway will be mailed to all inquirers on request.

—The Philadelphia Company for Guaranteeing Mortgages 833 Land Title Bldg., Philadelphia, has this week moved into larger offices on the second floor of the Land Title Bldg., formerly occupied by Bertron, Storrs & Griscom. This company, which was organized less than a year ago, is doing a good business in bond and mortgage loans on improved real estate in Philadelphia and vicinity and in the sale of real estate mortgages guaranteed by the company, both principal and interest. Its capital is $1,000,000 and surplus $250,000. The officers are: William R. Nicholson, President; Louis B. Henry, Vice-President, and Samuel C. Edmonds, Secretary and Treasurer.

—A useful addition to pamphlets of financial import has been prepared by the banking house of Sig. H. Rosenblatt & Co. of 42 Broadway, this city. This little publication deals with the workings of the New York Clearing House—its various committees and their duties, and the requirements of members and non-members—and seeks to furnish an explanation of the make-up of the weekly bank statement issued by the Clearing House banks, the non-members and the trust companies—the latter as called for by the Superintendent of Banks.

—Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery, Certified Public Accountants, 43 Exchange Place, announce the removal of their New York offices to more commodious quarters in the City Investing Building, 165 Broadway. This New York and Philadelphia concern is one of the most prominent and active accounting firms in the profession. The Philadelphia offices of Lybrand, Ross Bros. & Montgomery are located in the Land Title Bldg.

—We have been favored by Morris, Brown & Co., Pittsburgh, with a copy of the "Quarterly Record" of sales and price ranges of securities dealt in on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. The pamphlet also contains financial statistics regarding the various companies on the Pittsburgh Exchange, besides data and records of the Pittsburgh Clearing House, Pittsburgh Custom House, &c.

—Attention is called to the offering of $202,000 Paterson Railway Co. consol. (now first) mortgage six per cent bonds due 1931. The bonds are offered at 116½ and interest, yielding 4.80 per cent, by W. E. R. Smith & Co., New York, and F. K. McCully, Paterson. See particulars in advertisement on another page.

—Zimmermann & Forshay call attention by circular to their department of foreign exchange, circular letters of credit and travelers' international checks, mentioning a list of their correspondents, which contains over 900 firms.

—Frank Hervey Pettingell of Colorado Springs, who makes a specialty of mining stocks, has issued in pamphlet form "The Official Summary of the Certified Reports of Companies Listed on the Colorado Mining Stock Exchange."

—Knauth, Nachod & Kuhne have issued a very interesting circular on the investment situation which their bond department will send free on application.

There are relatively few indications of improvement in business, and the process of recuperation is slow. Prices have been generally pretty steady, though cotton has fallen to the lowest of the season. Caution is still the watchword everywhere.

Trade has continued dull. Western 8.25@8.30c. and City 8¼c. Refined lard has been easier for Continent and steady for other grades. Trade has been quiet and confined to local jobbers. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has been on a somewhat larger scale, but this merely means that there was an increased disposition to liquidate "long" holdings. The result has been a sharp decline. On Monday very heavy selling was reported by certain Wall Street speculative bull interests, both here and in Liverpool, apparently discouraged by the irresponsiveness of the market and the dulness of trade. That is to say, there was heavy selling of long cotton here and also large selling in Liverpool as a hedge. The effect on prices was immediate and very marked, especially as it was followed by the liquidation of other long interests, aggressive short selling and rumors that one house had found it necessary to make an arrangement with its creditors. Back of all this was not only continued dulness in trade, but some increase in the receipts of late, reports that the spot markets at the South were very quiet, especially for the less desirable grades, and generally favorable weather at the South, factors which, with the continued indifference of the outside public to the speculation, militated very noticeably against the market. The fact, moreover, that during the past week the cut in wages of 10% affecting some 43,500 operatives in New England and New York went into effect also had its influence, if for no other reason than as a reminder of the reaction in trade which necessitated such a course. Reports, too, in regard to foreign trade have been anything but encouraging. Last week's statistical exhibit was less favorable to bullish interests, not only in showing decreased takings by spinners as compared with the same week last year, but also as revealing the fact that the visible supply figures were less encouraging to the bull interests. The feeling in the trade, plainly stated, has been one of discouragement. The general belief here is that there can be no marked or sustained advance unless something happens to the crop. Spinners persistently adhere to the policy of buying from hand to mouth, and there is a feeling of scepticism as to the possibility of any marked improvement in trade conditions in the immediate future although the fact is not disputed that there is some slow progress towards a better state of affairs. With trade and speculation dull, the weather in the main favorable, and the prospects apparently pointing to some increase in the acreage in at least some parts of the belt, the conviction of very many is that present and prospective supplies are ample and that the natural tendency of prices is downward. On Thursday trading was largely of an evening-up character, as the Exchange is closed to-day, Good Friday, and will also be closed on Saturday. Better Liverpool advices than expected and some ante-holiday covering caused an early advance, but a decline occurred later, owing to local liquidation and some Southern selling. The announcement of the suspension of Crutchfield & Co. of New York and Leech, Harrison & Forward of Liverpool had no pronounced effect, having been expected. Spot cotton has been dull and easier. Middling uplands closed at 9.90c.

The rates on and off middling, as established Sept. 11 1907 by the Revision Committee, at which grades other than middling may be delivered on contract, are as follows:

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climatological Division of the United States Weather Bureau, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the weather in the various States for the week ending April 13, summarizing them as follows:

The temperature conditions of the week ending April 13 were unusually mild to the westward of the upper Missouri Valley and in the Gulf and Middle and South Atlantic States. The southern limit of freezing temperatures was much farther north than usual, extending from the central Missouri Valley through the southern portion of the Lake region to the southern New England coast but frosts occurred as far south as the Ohio Valley and the interior portions of the Middle Atlantic States. Portions of the south Atlantic and central Gulf States are much in need of rain, and rain would be beneficial in Nebraska. It is also very dry in California and Oregon. Abundant rains have occurred in central and southern Texas and in the Ohio Valley, and excessively heavy and damaging rains in Oklahoma and southern Missouri. There was much cloudiness in the Ohio and central Mississippi valleys and over the northern portion of the west Gulf States; elsewhere there was more sunshine than usual.

BREADSTUFFS.

Friday, April 16 1908.

Prices for wheat flour have shown some irregularity during the week but the changes have been unimportant. In fact, the trading has been on so small a scale on the eve of the Easter holidays that the market has been to a large extent a merely nominal affair. Export business has continued stagnant. At some of the large Northwestern and Western markets a better business has been reported at times, but at other points the demand has been even less active than recently. Rye flour has been quiet and steady. Corn meal has been dull and steady.

Wheat has advanced, mainly owing to the effects of dry weather in Nebraska, Kansas and California. Other factors in the rise have been the small receipts at the Northwest, the firmness of the spot markets there and some advance in European quotations. Moreover, there has been some decrease in the visible supply in this country, stocks at Minneapolis have been falling steadily and world's shipments have shown some decrease. But for the most part it has been what is termed a "weather market." It appears that recent rains did not effectually break the drought in the Southwest (whatever may have been stated at the time) and that California needs a good deal of rain. The significance of such reports may be readily gathered from the fact that these three States raise nearly one-third of the winter-wheat crop of the country. As if to give added effect to these reports large commission houses at Chicago have been buying, even if some leading individual operators are said to have sold on the rise. Speculation after all, however, has not been on a very large scale. Many prefer to await further developments in regard to the weather, not forgetting in the meantime the fact that the recent Government report was favorable. Besides, the export trade has been light and it is said that the spring-wheat crop will go into the ground earlier than ever before. From many parts of the winter-wheat belt, too, the reports are favorable, and it is suspected that statements of damage in Nebraska and Kansas have been, as usual, exaggerated. Finally the flour trade has been dull and the demand for wheat from domestic mills has been much smaller than recently. Thursday prices were irregular. At first there was an advance on continued dry weather in most parts of Kansas and Nebraska, unfavorable crop reports from those States and general buying. Later a decline occurred on private reports of beneficial showers in the dry sections, and liquidation. Most of the crop news was bearish. The Kansas State report made the condition 91.5% against 84 a year ago. Towards the close, however, prices rallied on covering of shorts. The receipts continued small and stocks are decreasing.

Indian corn futures have shown some irregularity. On the whole, however, the tone has been easier. Leading Chicago bulls are believed to have been reducing their holdings at every opportunity. The cash trade has been dull and stocks at Chicago are increasing. Then, too, farmers have been more disposed to sell, the country acceptances on a single day having exceeded a million bushels. Weather and crop news has in the main been of a favorable kind. On the other hand, the receipts have been small. The fear of manipulation has tended to restrain selling for a decline, leading Chicago interests, it is generally believed, still being in control of the situation. Thursday the market was dull and easier on favorable weather, dulness of the cash trade and scattered liquidation.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have been easy in tone though the trading during the week has as a rule been extremely quiet and fluctuations in prices have not been very marked. The crop news has been more favorable of late. There are still, however, complaints of poor germination. The cash trade has been dull and cash interests at Chicago have sold at times. The stock of contract grade in the Western market has further increased and is now over 4,000,000 bushels larger than at this time last year. Large deliveries are expected on May contracts. On the other hand the receipts have been light of late and the fear of bullish manipulation tends to restrict selling. To-day prices were easier on favorable weather and crop reports and liquidation.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, April 16 1908.

Easter trade during the week in the large metropolitan stores has been on a fairly active scale and jobbers have been moderately busy, but the primary textile markets have again been very quiet. Cotton goods continue to move very slowly and complaints to the effect that buyers are endeavoring to still further depress prices by exaggerating conditions are daily growing louder. There is a steady small demand for spot cotton goods for filling in purposes and some slight buying for future delivery when prices are considered reasonable, but on the whole the volume of business passing is considered unsatisfactory. Domestics are particularly dull but buyers have been induced to take some medium-count and fine yarn goods, owing to fears that the present curtailment will result in a scarcity later on. Further reductions in wages and a continually declining cotton market are leading some buyers to expect still lower prices in the future, but a fact of much importance that should be taken into consideration is that the readjustment of prices in the cotton goods market has been more severe than in practically any other industry and values are now on a level that leaves very little, if anything, in the way of a manufacturing profit. This is being realized by some who have been impressed by the refusal of mills to accept business at the reductions named by second hands and occasionally a greater disposition to take on goods is noted. The export trade is small and conditions in China are not favorable for any active buying movement. The woolen and worsted goods markets show little change from a week ago.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 11 were 3,877 packages, valued at $253,950, their destination being to the points specified in the table below.

| Total | 3,877 | 50,261 | 5,674 | 72,369 |

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $3,343,939 in 1908, against $4,521,600 in 1907.

There has been some accumulation of stocks of heavy brown drills and sheetings which has resulted in more mills being shut down; prices are slightly easier and second hands continue to sell goods at concessions. Manufacturers of medium and light-weight drills and sheetings still have some orders on their books, but these are approaching completion, and unless business improves materially further curtailment will have to take place. Apart from a small sale of drills to India at the lowest price recorded for some time the export market has presented little feature. Takings by miscellaneous countries have included ducks and prints, and fair quantities of the latter have recently been sold for the Philippines. Bleached goods continue to move very slowly, but prices remain unchanged from a week ago. Trading in denims, ticks and other coarse, colored cotton goods continues very light, but prices are quotably unchanged. Kid-finished cambrics have been reduced ¼c., to 4c.@4¼c. and business has been slightly more active at the lower level. Napped goods continue to be purchased moderately for fall. There has been some fair buying of fancy ginghams, but staples move slowly. Stocks of prints in second hands are being reduced, but buying in the primary market is slow and agents are not inclined to reduce prices until they ascertain more clearly what new business would be attracted by the naming of lower figures. Narrow print cloths are quiet, but wide goods have been taken in a small way both for spot and future delivery.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The re-ordering of men's wear light-weight woolen and worsted goods for spring has continued during the week and is creating a better feeling in the trade generally; the character of the buying continues unchanged and orders are confined almost entirely to those lines of worsteds which were the most popular during the initial buying period. There has been little doing in heavy weights, as it is still too early to look for any duplicate ordering on a large scale and manufacturers are more occupied with preparing for the next light-weight season. The overcoat season has been disappointing. In the dress goods market the principal activity is in goods for immediate delivery and the demand is centred to a great extent on striped worsted materials. Buyers are insistent that goods be shipped without delay and where these are available the question of price is one of secondary importance. For fall the fabrics best in demand are fancy worsteds in check effects and natural colors, stripes being superseded for the time being.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—The bookings of imported woolen and worsted dress goods are considerably less than a year ago, but an improved demand is anticipated from jobbers between now and the end of the summer. Silks are dull and ribbons are not moving freely. A readjustment in linen prices is looked forward to on new business. Burlaps are listless with prices unchanged.

"RAILWAY AND INDUSTRIAL SECTION."

A new number of our "Railway and Industrial" Section, revised to date, is sent to our subscribers to-day. The editorial discussions in the same embrace the following topics "The Massachusetts Commerce and Industry Report" and "Passenger Traffic in Dull Times."

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Monetary crises are not often the product of a single cause. Usually, while one condition is the paramount influence there are other contributory forces acting as conspicuous co-irritants. Within recent experience there has been one exception in modern financial dislocations when the contrary was proved true. We refer for this exception to the silver agitation, all industrial affairs having been thrown into and kept in a state of confusion by that single disturbing agency of silver-dollar coinage. There was no stopping place in the decline short of silver values if decline began. Developments had brought affairs face to face with the single question, whether our currency standard should continue to be gold or drop to silver. It was fortunate at that time that the large body of our people realized the situation and divided into two opposite camps—one espoused silver and the other gold. The battle was on as soon as the issue was distinctly raised. Radical action followed. First, then, after a fierce struggle, came the repeal of the silver-dollar coinage provision. This only began the work; that act seemed to arouse the public to a full sense of the danger threatening. It called, however, for two successive Presidential elections fought out distinctly on the gold-standard issue before the truth was accepted. Both were won and when won were followed by a cycle of prosperity such as the country had never seen before. That experience and that absolute and complete recovery from industrial dislocation and depression as soon as the gold standard had become unalterably fixed are evidence enough of what is needed now.

The problem which our people are struggling with now has not been reduced to a like simplicity. It has taken on a general character and is affecting, more or less, nearly all branches of business and hence will become a source of prolonged disturbance if not arrested. That its existence is thoroughly unreasonable is an easy belief, and yet may it not be the initiative of an unwarranted judgment of degeneration in industrial affairs? The disclosures of the day would seem to indicate that perhaps the Government had learned its lesson from a bad average in making attacks on capital—corporate and individual. Corporations and their affairs do not start from a single basis and should not be judged as if of a single color. It is not true of all forms of invested capital which are the subject of attack now and losing their stability, and becoming for the time being unrestful, that they are full of water. We have, however, a marvelous country, marvelous in undeveloped wealth—a condition which favors extravagance and loose ways; yet the chances for using money to advantage here are not by any means exhausted. Gold exports of large volume, in view of our phenomenal trade balance, have been hard to account for. Coming at a moment when loans to our corporations in more than ordinary amount are finding a ready market in Europe, they seem incongruous. The public attributes the outflow of gold to congested money here; would it not be more rational to say that capital, the most sensitive under attack of all agencies, was in that way being given wings to escape persecution?

Everything gets out of joint just as soon as capital or currency is tampered with. We have for several weeks been endeavoring to show Mr. Roosevelt and the Republican captains that they were making pitfalls for themselves which were going to be their discomfiture before the political campaign was ended if the Federal policies of the day were continued. We think what we have said ought to be enough to set them on the alert. But there is another and greater danger that faces the party. It arises, as we have frequently remarked, from the loss of revenue the railroads and other companies are suffering from by reason of the lower rates they are forced to charge and the heavy taxes and fines they are compelled to pay. Almost all the corporations in the country are in distress now because they cannot get income enough to keep their property going concerns. They are, therefore, put to their wits' end economizing. In this matter of keeping disbursements within income they are all the time forced to reduce their working expenses. This means a continual dismissal of employees, which is going to be a killing matter with the party. It is impossible for the "ins" to keep "in" when their policy tells so against not only labor but the prosperity of every industry in the land. This process is in progress. The country is sure to prosper, to an extent, even with our Government officials doing their worst to throttle business transactions. In spite of their acts we see the favorable demand our obligations still have. Messrs. Kuhn, Loeb & Co. were able to announce that two of the foremost houses in London—N. M. Rothschild & Sons and Baring Brothers & Company, Limited—had taken part in their loan to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for 40 million dollars.

We do not know at whose instance the testimony given before the Special Grand Jury for this county, which since January has been investigating Metropolitan Street Railway affairs, has been made public, but the testimony itself reveals a degree of political and financial degradation which would have been believed impossible. Unfortunately, too, everyone in any way prominently connected with this ill-fated enterprise seems to have displayed more or less moral turpitude. After the Grand Jury had concluded its work and adjourned, Mr. Thomas F. Ryan, who has for many years been one of the main spirits in the management and affairs of the street railway lines of this city, issued a statement defending his course in connection with the financing of the various properties. He undertakes to show that 83½% of the Metropolitan Street Railway stock of $52,000,000 represents actual cash paid in, and he enumerates a number of causes which in his estimation must be held responsible for the financial undoing of the concern. He mentions four of such causes, namely, (1) the extension of the free transfer obligation by legislative enactment and court decisions; (2) enormous increases in taxes; (3) the extraordinary congestion of street traffic, resulting in greatly increased cost of operation, and also in an abnormal burden of accident claims, and (4) the competition of subway lines. He then makes the dramatic statement that "the company was not 'looted'—it was throttled."

The force of what Mr. Ryan says may be admitted, and due weight be given to it, and yet it cannot be denied that many of the practices which the testimony shows to have been pursued in the conduct of these city lines must be regarded as in the highest degree reprehensible. The disposition of all those in any way connected with the management seems to be to put the blame for everything wrong upon one of Mr. Ryan's former associates, namely the late William C. Whitney. As Mr. Whitney is dead, this is an easy thing to do, but Mr. Ryan, by reason of his large interests in these city lines, and his activity in the amalgamation and financing, must assume his part of the responsibility. Incidentally, Mr. Ryan made some statements regarding railroads as a whole which are entirely mythical and cannot be allowed to pass unchallenged. The testimony was very discursive, and for some reason the District Attorney allowed the introduction of many matters having only remote bearing, or no bearing at all, on the subject matter of the investigation. In this way—doubtless with the view to making it appear that the financial plan and the financial methods pursued in the organization and management of the street railway lines of this city had been superior to those pursued by railroad financiers generally—Mr. Ryan was able to get in a statement which seems to have made a good deal of impression upon the minds of the jurors, to the effect that 95% of the stock of the steam railroads in the United States represents water and only 5% cash paid in. He appears later to have modified this statement by saying that "up to 1885 95% of all steam railroads and of all industrial corporations never put one dollar on their stock except a little organization expenses that were required for a few shares of stock in the beginning."

But the statement is not true in either form, and has been promptly denied by numerous railroad officials qualified to speak with authority on the subject and thoroughly familiar with the facts. We must confess that we do not understand why Mr. Ryan should be considered competent at all to express an opinion on the matter. His estimate and views must be based entirely on his own experience in the management and financing of railroads or on cases which came under his cognizance by reason of some interest or ownership he may have held in the same. As it happens, the roads with which he has been connected have rarely been types of moderate capitalization, or representative of the best class of properties. Fifteen or sixteen years ago he was identified with Calvin S. Brice and Gen. Samuel Thomas (the latter a forebear of one of the Thomases who recently became so conspicuous in the banking world) in a number of railroad lines in the South, and we believe he was also at one time a director in the Richmond & West Point Terminal Co. If we are correct in this, it is not strange that he should have got an idea of excessive capitalization from that instance, for the old Richmond & West Point Terminal combination certainly had 95% of water in its stock, though even in that case, when Mr. Morgan was finally induced to take up the work of reorganizing the system, after every one had given up the task, a considerable part of the water was squeezed out. Aside from a few special cases of this kind, it cannot be truthfully claimed that railroad stock does not represent full money value, and he who makes an assertion to the contrary either speaks in ignorance or wilfully deceives. We are glad that leading railroad men have lost no time in showing the falsity and absurdity of Mr. Ryan's statement, which was evidently made to divert the jury's attention from the matter in hand. As it happens, Mr. Ryan has not been fortunate with any of his properties, as witness the receivership the present year for the Seaboard Air Line, whose destinies he had been controlling. As for the New York City street railway lines, these must have met their present fate ere this except that Mr. August Belmont in an unlucky moment (for him) was induced to hitch them on to his splendid Rapid Transit system, thus carrying the load until the Public Service Commission came along and made the task for the future an impossible one.

The Grand Jury, in concluding their consideration of traction conditions, handed in a presentment saying that they "could not but feel that the physical and financial destruction of these properties was due in no inconsiderable degree to dishonest and probably criminal acts rather than to mistakes of judgment and lavish or reckless financiering." They also refer to "disbursements deserving severe condemnation," but say that nevertheless they have been unable to obtain any evidence showing the commission of a crime on which the jury could act. This is much to be regretted, for where the indications point so strongly towards wrongdoing, it would serve a wholesome purpose if at least the principals in it could be brought to book. The unfortunate part of the affair is that the unthinking multitude, not stopping to consider, will be inclined to treat this particular case as if it were a type of a class, when as a matter of fact it stands all by itself. If instances of this kind were numerous, instead of being exceedingly rare, there would be undoubted occasion for despair. As it is, the traction disclosures form simply part of the police court records. There is where they should be treated and disposed of. They display the seamy side of life. They constitute one case in ten thousand. They are no more typical of financial methods and financial morals than the "drunks" who come up for sentence in the police courts are to be taken as indicating the habits and behavior of the entire population of the city.

In view of the fact that the movement hence of gold to Paris will probably continue so long as exports shall be profitable, it will doubtless be of interest to note the process through which such exports are effected and also the factors which contribute to the movement. The metal goes forward as the result of arbitration operations in exchange. In order to ensure a profit in these operations exchange at Paris on London must be maintained at such a point as to draw gold from the British to the French capital. This condition of the exchange market between these two centers is, at the moment, chiefly due to relatively higher rates for discounts in the French compared with those in the British market and also to the better opportunities which are enjoyed by French bankers for the employment of money at home than in London, which induce them to sell their British investments and thus withdraw their capital.

The gold which French bankers are at present obtaining from London though large—as is shown by their absorption this week of about 2½ million dollars of the Cape metal and in recent weeks of equally important amounts—does not appear to be sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the Paris market; there is, however, no other European source of supply that is available, and if the French bankers are to continue in the enjoyment of the gains resulting from an urgent demand for money, they must look elsewhere for a supply. This search now discloses a condition of the New York exchange market of which advantage can be taken, so that if American gold could be bodily laid down at Paris it would immediately become available for profitable use.

The movement hence of the metal could be facilitated if the Bank of France were to offer the inducement of interest in transit; this Bank, however, declines thus to intervene and consequently French bankers must themselves co-operate with those in New York who are willing to participate in the profits of the export movement. The advantage of a partial elimination of the time-cost of such movement, which is really the chief barrier thereto, can be secured by the establishment in London by the participating French bankers of a credit against which the American shipper can draw exchange, representing the amount of the consignment, and thus secure prompt reimbursement for his shipment. In this way the profit of the American exporter can be, and most likely is, secured by his sale of sight exchange which has been drawn against the above-mentioned credit. When the gold arrives at Paris the participating banker probably uses it for the payment, through French exchange on London, of the reimbursing draft of his American correspondent, which draft will then have been presented and paid according to arrangements made between the French and the London banker. The gold, when the operation shall be completed, will have been laid down in Paris, the shipper thereof been reimbursed and the profits of the transaction been divided.

Assuming that the French banker who thus participates in the operation has for his object the employment of the gold in Berlin, where rates for money are exceptionally high, the transfer of the metal to that center can be effected through exchange at Berlin on Paris. Even if such exchange should not be low enough at the German capital to make the operation of transfer profitable, the loss which would result would be offset by the advantage obtained by the Berlin banker through the possession of the gold or its equivalent in credit. The movement here described may continue until monetary equilibrium shall be established between the two centers of Paris and London or until monetary or exchange conditions at New York shall be such as to extinguish the profits of exports hence of gold to Paris as an arbitration operation.

Owing to the excessively large volume of current redemptions of national bank notes, the redemption bureau of the Treasury is congested and relief is sought by the Secretary through appropriations by Congress with which to pay an increased clerical force. Currrent redemptions of circulating notes are, it may be observed, those which result from the sorting out of such notes, by banks at the large centers, from the money received by them in the course of business. The notes are forwarded by the banks so gathering them to Washington for redemption, and, when normal monetary conditions prevail, prompt return is made therefor by the Treasurer's check; thus lawful money is received by the remitting bank in exchange for the notes so forwarded. Ordinarily the notes are promptly redeemed and the emitting bank is required to reimburse the Treasury for the money which it has paid to the remitting institution in redemption of the notes. Now, however, the clerical force of the Department cannot handle the accumulation of notes with sufficient rapidity to enable prompt requisitions to be made upon the emitting banks for the reimbursement of the Treasury, and consequently the money in the general fund is materially reduced through the above-noted drafts thereupon for current redemptions; such reduction in the fund now amounts to about 20 million dollars. It is suggested that were either of the currency reform measures, which provide for emergency note issues, to become laws, the redemption bureaus which are provided by such measures might easily become so congested through excessive requirements for current redemption as not only to cause embarrasment but possibly serious monetary derangement and impairment of confidence in the security of the emergency issues.

The new legislation respecting banking under the laws of this State gives a distinct enlargement to the powers of the Superintendent, especially in respect to dealing with cases of insolvency. Under the old law he could—and in the troubles of last autumn he did in a dozen instances—take possession of suspended institutions; but this went no further than to hold matters as they were, being only temporary, and left the Attorney-General free to come in, on his own motion, and apply the ancient clumsy and destructive receivership. That this power was needlessly exercised, not to say grossly abused, is still fresh in mind. In one case an appointment of counsel to a receivership has been upset by the Alpellate Division as improper and opposed to good morals, with an implication of doubt whether it was not even collusive; in another a receivership was obtained after a working arrangement for paying off deposits had been made with another institution, and after this had been set aside by the Court as unnecessary and the arrangement (which has since been carried out) had got under way, a renewed application for a receiver was made.

There was much painful experience, long ago, in life insurance insolvencies, and the recent troubles added evidence that the receivership is far from being the best practicable method. The new law now gives the Banking Superintendent power to act on his own initiative, turning the handling of insolvent banks practically over to him, thus giving him about the same authority as has long been exercised over national banks by the Comptroller of the Currency. This change was objected to, while before the Legislature, as being a drastic remedy, seized upon in the reactionary feeling caused by recent events, and liable to prove worse than the disease. Undeniably, it involves possibilities of abuse, and any proposed concentration of power is always open to the suggestion that the power may sometimes be allowed to drift, by the chance of politics, into not the best hands. But such chances must always be taken, and (so long as the powers themselves are not exaggerated and are such as must be exercised somehow) there is an advantage in not having them so scattered that nobody can be held responsible. The powers of the Comptroller of the Currency have been discreetly exercised these many years, no case of alleged oppression having arisen; and there is no reason to doubt that they may work well in this State; indeed, the supervision of banking has thus far been less under the influence of practical politics than in case of the allied trust of superintending insurance.

Both these places of trust ought to be far and forever aloof from party matters; they should stand exclusively upon fitness, be judged solely by fitness as suggested or proved by experience, and should be practically on the same plane as the judiciary. The care of insurance has certainly not been thus treated, although there is reason to look for a more active demand from public opinion that it shall be so henceforth; and if the Banking Department is to be permanently invested with more direct authority than formerly, this closer relation will naturally make it more closely watched. Herein is an answer to the possible comment that the new powers are beyond those of the Insurance Superintendent, who can only report cases of insolvency to the Law Department of the State. Insolvency in life insurance may be only a technical defect, as to which the layman is not expert; moreover, the relation of creditor which the policyholder holds to the insolvent company is not so immediate that he is likely to be as quick and decided in his opinions about the case as perhaps he ought to be. The case of a suspended bank is very different. Here the relation of creditor is direct, close, immediate and intelligible; the depositor knows what funds he has there, he wants the least loss and delay possible, and his alertness to follow the progress of the handling is intelligent. Therefore the course of the Superintendent will be keenly watched, and his responsibility will be direct and felt.

The courts will always be ready to interpose, if a Superintendent should attempt an unnecessary or oppressive exercise of power; they are always open, and recent experience—notably in case of the Oriental Bank and the Knickerbocker Trust—shows that the courts are sure to be found on the side of what clearly appears to be justice. Indeed, we may draw renewed encouragement from this certainty that the courts will endure as the bulwark of safety against wrongful exercise of power anywhere; we are compelled to repose trust somewhere, and experience continues to show that we may repose it there. Mr. Gompers reminds us that judges are only fallible men (even as himself), and therefore he is obliged to decide the Supreme Court all wrong in certain cases; yet it is pretty safe to expect that the judgment of fallible men who have brought to the bench the traditions of a body of law that has grown and come down to us through centuries of administration will prevail over the judgment of uneducated men who have come to the place of decision through the steps of progress in labor unions.

The Page Bill, turning over to the two Commissions the supervision and control of telegraph, telephone, stage and ferry companies, has the negative merit of consistency in folly, having been called for by the author of the measure under which transportation in this State is now struggling. It went through the Upper House by about two to one, but failed to pass the Lower, and is therefore halted for the present. Speaking in opposition to it, Senator Grady said the Commissioners themselves do not want this extension of power for another year to come, and that even Governor Hughes desired to give them a little more time to complete their hold on things by not having the new bill take effect until October. Not three men in the Senate, said Senator Grady, know exactly what are the detailed provisions of the bill or what it proposes to accomplish. Possibly the members have not taken enough interest in the subject to read the bill, for too much legislation in these days goes through in that careless way; yet the title of the bill is enough to proclaim it as undertaking what the present law undertook, accomplishment of the impossible.

No five men, and no fifty men, could alone manage the single charge of the food supply of a great city, much less the entire transportation service of a large State; the mere mention of such a thing shows its impossibility, even to minds that are not very reflecting. Things are not done with entire perfection, we all know, but insamuch as no five or ten men are omniscient and omnipresent enough to do these various things at all, it is impossible to imagine they could perform public service better. What they can do and were set to do is to "control", to hinder and beset, to order doing or omitting this and that, to make demands intrinsically agreeable to the public, yet financially or even physically impossible; as colloquialism might put it, these commissions are "to make corporations sit up and behave." The present law, according to Senator Grady, "could never have been passed but for the belief that immediate relief for the New York City transportation facilities would be afforded, and yet the crowds are still crowding and jamming while the Commissioners go on drawing their $15,000 a year." But why blame them for not doing impossibilities, after having overcome their first reluctance to make the attempt; or for holding and enjoying their salaries or even gradually becoming drunk with the possession of a sort of power; or even for placidly claiming in their list of deeds accomplished (as they have claimed) all the physical changes which the carriers, under the increasing pressure of traffic, had begun making before the law was framed?

Whether this jamming in local travel here turned the scale in passing the law is not quite clear; it may have contributed much, but the impulse behind it was the same which carried Mr. Hughes forward, namely an emotional desire to retort upon associated capital for its apparently excessive share in the good things of life. Men listen as readily and greedily to pleasant fictions as they turn from unpleasant truths. What men get, speaking broadly, they must labor for; they must wrest subsistence from the natural world, and capital is only surplus saved over from the subsistence process. A virgin soil and a democratic form of government give all men equal chances, and the true course is for each to do his best.

But it is so easy—and therefore demagogues who want power spring instantly to do it—to inflame the Have Not class with the notion that the Haves are robbers. To labor to produce more is wiser than to attempt re-division of what already exists; but the latter is more enticing to imagination, and therefore the tongue confuses the mind and misguides the arm. We must deplore this, but there is nothing to be done about it—except to wait in patience and courage. It is the law of excesses that they shall defeat themselves by their own reaction. Artificially-made trouble seems now at the heighth of its wave, and the signs are that it is ready to begin to recede.

The Cotton Manufacturers' National Association held its eighty-fourth semi-annual meeting in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, on Thursday and Friday of last week. It was as interesting and important a meeting as any of its predecessors. Not only was the attendance large and widely representative, but matters of material importance to the cotton-manufacturing interests were presented in a clear and forceful manner, becoming, through intelligent discussion, decidedly instructive. This was true not only of subjects of a purely technical nature but of matters of more general application, such as the business situation and outlook. The report of the Secretary, Dr. C. J. H. Woodbury, furnished proof of the large and growing influence of the Association. It showed that the membership now stands at 961, or an increase of 82 within the year, and represents capital of over 750 millions of dollars invested in cotton mills. Moreover, in the establishments whose managers comprise the membership of the Association there are approximately 18 million spindles, a total equivalent to about 70% of the aggregate spindleage of the United States and Canada. As to the scope of the proceedings of the meeting no doubt can exist after a glance at the titles of the papers submitted. They comprised "The Need and Advantages of a Cotton Exchange in New England," "Cotton Mills as Investments," "Steadying Power and Influence of Consolidation," "The Arts of Weaving and Spinning," "Financial and Trade Situation and Prospects," "Testing of Yarns," "Conditioning of Cotton Yarns," "Economic Possibilities of Good Lubrication," "Belts and Belt Transmission," "Steam Turbines for Mill Power," "Combing Short-Staple Cotton," "Construction and Ventilation of a Weave Shed." Other important matters were ably touched upon in the opening address of the President and the report of the Secretary.

A Cotton Exchange in New England—its need and advantages—was discussed at considerable length at this convention in a paper by ex-President MacColl. In arguing in favor of the establishment of such an exchange at some point in New England Mr. MacColl suggests the Bremen (Germany) Cotton Exchange as the best model to follow—an exchange the membership of which, he stated, is composed jointly of spinners and merchants, the former being in the majority. This arrangement he contrasts with the Liverpool Cotton (Brokers') Association, to which, he says, spinners are admitted only as associate members. In that connection it is proper to recall that the Liverpool organization is, as its name implies, an association of brokers in which spinners are accorded limited or associate membership. This membership carries with it the privilege of having their orders executed or contracts settled at reduced rates, and this arrangement, it is claimed, seems to meet well the situation.

What Mr. MacColl states with reference to the status of membership in the New York Cotton Exchange is calculated to mislead, although without doubt unintentionally. His statement that "membership and management are confined to cotton merchants" is not quite correct. It is probably a fact that its board of officers does not at the present time include any direct representative of the spinning interest, but that is due to disinclination to serve and not lack of desire to nominate and elect. On the contrary, it has been and still is the desire of the Exchange to have the manufacturing interest officially represented on the board. Its by-law covering the requisite for membership is certainly broad enough to suit the suggestion. It provides that any person of legal age, resident or non-resident, of good character and financial standing, may be elected members. Under this liberal provision its membership is world-wide and includes New England mill men. There is no reason, therefore, that, within the limit of membership fixed by the Exchange, when seats are procurable, why manufacturers should not join the New York body and, taking part in its management, accomplish in an active, well-equipped organization those things they would like to see done. There is no question that, in any way they could be served or advantaged by an organization in New England, manufacturers can be as well or better served by the New York Exchange as at present conducted.

It has become so much the fashion of late to attack the New York Exchange that little or no care is used in making statements. For example, in an attempt to show that little spot business is done here, Mr. Burleson, in supporting his anti-option bill before Congress, recently made the statement that receipts of cotton at New York have been gradually decreasing of late years until in 1906-07 they reached only 23,108 bales. As a matter of facts the arrivals at this port in that year were 1,413,277 bales, of which 493,005 bales were sent abroad and approximately 850,000 bales forwarded to spinners. Spot sales aggregated 118,265 bales and there were 459,600 bales actually delivered on future contracts. But the misstatement referred to is of a piece with those that have preceded it and is evidently intended to keep alive the feeling of animosity toward the local body.

The immigration statement for the month of March is in line with those for previous similar periods of the current calendar year in showing a very marked curtailment in the movement of aliens to this country; and unofficial data for the elapsed portion of April does not indicate that much more than a nominal increase over March will be shown by the completed result for that month. For March 1908 the aggregate arrivals of immigrants from all countries reached only 32,517, or less than one-quarter of the influx in the month of 1907, when the total was 139,118, and making almost as radical a contrast with the figures for the period of 1906 and 1905, which were 133,245 and 126,000 respectively. It is a noteworthy fact, moreover, that while the total immigration during March 1908 was greater by some 9,000 than in February, the arrivals from Austria-Hungary, the country from which the greatest proportion of our alien population was drawn in 1907, actually showed a decline. Comparing the details for March 1908 with those for the month of 1907 we find some startling contrasts not disclosed by the aggregate figures. For instance, the immigration from Austria-Hungary this year was but 3,701, against 42,988 in 1907, or barely one-twelfth. Italian arrivals were less than one-sixth of what they were a year ago, and from Russia and Finland the influx was only about one-quarter of last year's. On the other hand, the arrivals from British North America and Mexico (a rather unimportant source of fresh labor supply at any time) were more than double what they were in 1907.

For the first quarter of 1908, which the March statement enables us to complete, the arrivals of aliens reached the abnormally low aggregate of 83,118, as against 259,076 in the corresponding interval of 1907 and 253,068 in 1906. Austro-Hungarians made up only 11,484 of this year's total, against 82,188 in 1907, or nearly as many as came from all countries in the three months of 1908. The Italian immigration this year has been only 13,037, against 61,630 a year ago, and the comparison of arrivals from Russia and Finland is between 18,366 and 45,329. For the elapsed nine months of the fiscal year 1907-08 the inward movement aggregated 673,332, which compares with 800,473 for the period in 1906-07 and 681,756 in 1905-06.

Under the unusual conditions that have prevailed since last fall, however, immigration into the country has been more than offset by the departures from it. This has been especially true since the beginning of 1908. The shutting down or reduction of production in factories, partial or total suspension of railroad and public improvement work and the general lack of activity has thrown thousands out of employment, very many of whom have returned or are about returning to the fatherland. Following the heavy efflux of February (54,378), we learn from statistics compiled by the Trans-Atlantic Conference of steamship companies that departures of steerage passengers during March were 51,922, or 19,405 more than came in. In March 1907 the outgoing was 42,294, or 96,824 less than the arrivals. For the three months of 1908 the alien emigration aggregated 166,005, against only 74,900 for the similar period of 1907. Striking a balance between the inflow and outgo, therefore, it is seen that in the first quarter of 1908 through labor emigration there was a net loss in population of 82,887, whereas in 1907 we gained net 184,176. Moreover, the outward movement shows as yet no signs of appreciably decreasing, the departures thus far in April having been in excess of 40,000. On the other hand, immigration for the month does not promise to be materially greater than in March, as the arrivals at New York to date are under 28,000.

The foregoing brief outline of immigration and emigration of what may be termed the labor element and dependants depicts quite clearly the recent industrial situation in the country. But if we are to credit reports lately current, some improvement is in progress. Mr. T. V. Powderly, Chief of the division of information of the bureau of immigration and naturalization, expressed the opinion two weeks ago that conditions were fast becoming normal again. He states that employers are replacing the hands laid off last fall, reports a daily increase in requests for farm labor, and expects in the very near future, to be called upon for industrial labor. While we have as yet been unable to discern any evidence of the improvement in conditions which this would seem to indicate, Mr. Powderly is in a position that should enable him to gauge the situation correctly and may be talking by the card. We trust so at least.

There was no change in official rates of discount by any of the European banks this week; compared with last week unofficial or open market rates were firm. A political incident of the week was a demonstration against Turkey by Italy that was intended to coerce the Sultan into compliance with treaty stipulations; the Sultan receded from his position and the incident was closed.

The differences between the average and the actual totals of the various items of last week's bank statement were slight. The changes in such items were, however, important, except in those of cash. The average loans increased 8 1-3 millions, while there was an actual decrease therein of about 2 millions. The average increase in cash was 11¾ millions; the actual increase was 10 millions; deposits were augmented according to the averages by 20 millions; the actual increase was 7½ millions. The average reserve showed a gain of $6,707,750, to $49,973,425, the highest since Dec. 30 1893, when it was $80,815,100; the actual reserve increased $8,048,075 to $53,256,050.

The negotiation this week of an issue of 40 millions 4% forty-year Pennsylvania bonds, in which negotiation the Rothschilds and the Barings participated with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., was an incident that will probably prove to be of far-reaching importance, particularly if there shall be, as the result of such negotiation, the placing, as reported, of 20 millions of these bonds in Europe. As above noted, the large subscriptions for the London County Council bonds, a fortnight ago, apparently wrought a decided improvement in the investment sentiment at the British capital. It seems quite likely, therefore, that the confidence manifested by the above-mentioned bankers in the matter of the Pennsylvania bond negotiation will likewise serve to revive interest in first-class investments, not only in the European, but in our domestic markets.

Though exports of gold to Paris this week caused the withdrawal of 5½ million dollars from the local banks, there was no evidence in the market for money that such withdrawal had even a sentimental effect. It would seem, therefore, that a continued drain of gold for export and a possible coincident surrender of public deposits through recall of the same by the Secretary of the Treasury—which recall is confidently expected—would not make much impression upon the market or cause any decided advance in the rate for money on call. As shown by the bank statement of last week the surplus reserve is the highest since Dec. 30 1893, and presumedly there will be further increases in such surplus in the near future, though, perhaps, not so large as has been the case in recent weeks. The relaxation in business activity at the interior, as reflected by decreased internal revenue collections, seems to contribute to a steady flow hither of unemployable funds from the country banks; the excess of Government disbursements over receipts of revenue causes steady accretions of funds in the local institutions through the Sub-Treasury, and current redemptions of national bank notes that are in active progress result in more or less important increases in the lawful money reserves of the banks, which are indicated in the item of cash. Ordinarily, at this season, borrowers of money for fixed dates so arrange their loans as to tide over a period of possible monetary activity in the fall; now there appears to be reliance upon the call-loan branch of the market to provide funds that may be required for Stock Exchange purposes until July or August, and there is little inquiry for loans that will mature in September or October. It would seem, therefore, that no apprehension is felt of monetary derangement as the result of the assembling of the national conventions or of the later primary distribution of the crops; there is, though, a fairly good demand for money for the over-the-year period, rates for which are firmly held. Commercial paper continues to be in more or less urgent request and rates therefor are consequently lower.

Money on call, representing bank and trust company balances, loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 2% and at 1½%, averaging about 1¾%; the above-noted institutions quoted as minimum rates—the former 1½% and the latter 1¾%. The market for money on good mixed Stock Exchange collaterals was dull and without special features. Rates were 2@2¼% for sixty and 2½% for ninety days, 3% for four and 3½@3¾% for five to six months, while all-the-year money was 4½@4¾%. Commercial paper was quoted at 4@4½% for choice sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable and for the best four months' single names; slightly lower grades of endorsed and unendorsed paper and six months' single names were 5½@6%. It is reported that recently the City of New York borrowed from abroad a block of money at 3¼% until January.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 3%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills in London 2⅝@2¾%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅝@2¾% and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4¼%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £169,859 bullion during the week and held £36,970,999 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due, in about equal measure, to imports from abroad being in excess of the outflow and to receipts from the interior of Great Britain. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports £255,000 (of which £170,000 from Egypt, £67,000 from Australia, £10,000 from Ecuador and £8,000 from Portugal); exports, £171,000 (wholly to Paris), and receipts of £86,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was generally strong this week. Though there were offerings of more than one million pounds sterling of sight bills, incident to the shipments of gold to Paris, such drafts appear to have been absorbed without causing more than a slight fall in rates, and there was a prompt recovery therein after the pressure was removed. The maintenance of the gold-export point, indicated by this firm tone, was doubtless due to the fact that the bills which were offered by the exporters of gold supplied the immediate demand for remittance. Though such inquiry was only partially satisfied, as was shown by the recovery in the rate, further remittances were probably deferred in the expectation of additional offerings of drafts against intended exports of the metal. The market for Continental exchange was firm with sight francs at the gold-export point and the fluctuations in those bills were so slight as to make it probable that none were sold as cover for gold shipments. Sterling cables were strong, though only moderately active, responding to the movement in sight, while long sterling was apparently in good demand for such remittance as could be advantageously effected with these bills. It is yet too early to speculate with any degree of accuracy as to the influence which may be exerted on exchange by the sale abroad of the 20 millions Pennsylvania bonds that were, as reported, to be apportioned to the French and other European markets. Doubtless, the bankers who negotiated these securities based such negotiations upon the exact knowledge they obtained as to the probable success of efforts to place the bonds when they should be delivered for distribution. But even so, there would be no urgency in disposing of the bonds; they would most likely be placed through direct offerings to investors and not be offered on the bourses. Presumedly the emitters of the bonds have no present need for the proceeds thereof; the credits resulting from their sale would, if that is the case, be gradually drawn against, and in such a way as not to have an unsettling effect upon the exchange market. Still, it seems quite conceivable that speculative operations in exchange based upon expectations of offerings of drafts against the above-noted credits might cause some temporary derangement; this, though, would be corrected by the results of overselling of exchange, and if the foreign bankers who controlled the Pennsylvania credits were desirous of maintaining stability in the exchange market, they could easily accomplish their purpose.

The intervention of the Easter Monday holiday, when all the European markets were closed, and the recognition of the possibility that the political situation in the near East—due to the coercive demonstration by Italy against Turkey—might cause some unsettlement on Tuesday, induced the foreign bankers who had perfected their arrangements for gold exports to await the opening of Tuesday's foreign markets; then $500,000 gold was shipped to Paris. Later in the day, and on Wednesday, further engagements, aggregating $5,000,000, were made for export to the same destination by Thursday's steamer, making with the shipment on Saturday of last week and that on Tuesday, as above, $7,500,000. The firm tone for exchange at the close on Wednesday and the unaltered rate for sterling at Paris on London seemed likely to facilitate the engagement of gold for Saturday's steamer; none was taken on Thursday, however, the market for exchange being lower. It was thought probable that because of the fact that the steamer sailing on Tuesday of next week would deliver exported gold as soon as could the steamer of Saturday, shippers would defer engagements until Monday.

On Saturday of last week the market was irregular and, compared with the previous day, 5 points lower for short and cables at 4 8710@4 8715 for the former and at 4 8750@4 8755 for the latter; long was unchanged. On Monday long rose 5 points to 4 8480@4 8485, short 10 points to 4 8720@4 8725 and cables 20 points to 4 8760@4 8775. On Tuesday long advanced 20 points to 4 85@4 8505, short 15 points to 4 8735@4 8740 and cables 15 points to 4 8775@4 8785. On Wednesday the market was easier until toward the close, when it grew strong; long fell 15 points to 4 8485@4 8490, short 5 points to 4 8730@4 8735—selling as low as 4 8720@4 8725 during the day—and cables 15 points to 4 8765@4 8770. On Thursday the market was lower at a decline of 10 points for long to 4 8475@4 8785, of 15 points for short to 4 8715@4 8725 and of 15 points for cables to 4 8750@4 8765. On Friday long and short rose 10 points and cables 5 points; the market was steady at the advance.

THE BATTLE-SHIP LEGISLATION.

The situation in what is commonly known as the "battle-ship legislation" in Congress has reached a stage which is interesting, and in many ways instructive. The episode is somewhat peculiar. Earlier in the session President Roosevelt sent in a special message, which was in the nature of a peremptory demand, for the construction of four new battle-ships. Taking the estimates which have been presented, the cost of these four ships would be something not far below $15,000,000.

The proposition to build four of such vessels encountered wide remonstrance. This took the shape, first, of assertions that such additional armament was not needed by our navy under present conditions; second, that public finances were in no shape to admit legitimately of so great a drain upon them for a fancied need; third, that construction of four of such ships, at a time when designs and theories of naval construction are rapidly changing, would involve the very distinct peril of placing enormous sums of money in ships which would hardly be floated before their type had proved obsolete. In regard to the lack of need for such vessels, a pertinent remark by Sir William Henry White, formerly Director of Naval Construction to the British Admirality, has been cited. His judgment is that at the present moment our existing fleet, "ship for ship, compared with the ships designed at a given date—and that is the only fair comparison—is equal to anything the world contains." As regards the question of finances, it is well known to every one that our Government is at present laboring under a monthly deficit of more than $10,000,000; that a deficit for the fiscal year of $60,000,000, as compared with a surplus of $72,000,000 in 1907, is an easy possibility, and that, in face of these conditions, the session's naval bill has already been increased $20,000,000 over the preceding session, with an exactly similar increase in the army appropriation.

In the House of Representatives these protests had considerable effect. In the end, the House refused to grant the four battleships desired and voted for only two. Whether by accident or intent, the formal appropriation of money for construction of these vessels was omitted. This gave the "Navy group" in the Senate a chance to reopen the controversy under favorable circumstances. They charged a trick and at once renewed their demand, not for two battleships but for four. In this position the matter stands at the present moment.

So far the question is somewhat technical, although bound up very closely with the problem of Government finance. Senator Lodge, who favors the largest expenditure in battleships that has been proposed, undertook this week to defend his position in the Senate. This was his statement of the case:

> "This is no place to discuss war or rumors of war. Nothing is more unsound than the theory that a large navy provokes war. We ought to have a great and powerful navy. It should be kept in the highest state of efficiency. Insurance against war is cheaply bought with appropriations for the navy."

There is, in our judgment, a double weakness in this argument by Mr. Lodge. The first is that it assigns no limits to what is a "great and powerful navy," or what is "insurance against war." We have never heard, nor has any one else, any assigned limitations, by the advocates of Mr. Lodge's theory, as to where they propose to stop. What was sufficient last year is not sufficient this year, and presumably will be still more inadequate, in the view of the naval specialists, two or three years hence. The experience of European governments, which is much in point, shows that concessions to demands for a larger navy, instead of leading to expressions of satisfaction, are at once made the foundation for vastly larger demands, and in every country where pressure of taxation and perplexities of the public deficit are recognized, this drift of things in naval construction is frankly admitted to be a peril almost as serious as that of the standing army.

But Mr. Lodge's argument may be considered from another point of view. Although he does not say so, the implication of his speech is that a navy of the sort described is required for the purpose of defending the American coast. Now, in the first place, if it is true that our present navy is more than a match for any other in the world except Great Britain's, there would on the face of things be little occasion for uneasiness in that direction. Our harbor defenses in the larger cities are now in a high state of efficiency, and as people have learned a little more of what is involved in a raid on a hostile coast, they are able to consider such matters in another frame of mind from the foolish nervousness which possessed even our seaside resorts in 1898 when owners of summer cottages kept away for fear of inviting Spanish shells.

But in our own judgment, the real protection of America from either blockade or invasion should be measured in a very different way. Great Britain has for years been wrestling with the problem, what would occur if a hostile fleet, or a combination of hostile fleets, were to blockade the importing trade of England? A nation which does not feed itself, and which at times has only nine or ten weeks' supply of grain in storage for its population, seems on its face to be particularly vulnerable. We have shown on other occasions why even this argument, in Great Britain's case, is largely fallacious. What we wish now to show is that our own situation as a nation is as far removed as possible even from the application of such a theory as this.

In the way of providing means of livelihood for its population, the United States has everything which Great Britain has not. In all the prime necessities of life we are an export country on a very extensive scale; hence it is that in a supposed contingency of actual blockade of our foreign commerce, our producers would be more than able to provide for the needs of the community. But this is by no means all that can be said. Not only does the United States produce, in grain, cotton, meat and other necessities of life, very much more than its people can consume, but its surplus of these commodities is a prime necessity to the largest and most important foreign communities. We do not doubt that in the supposed case of a complete embargo on our foreign trade, great derangement of industry and suffering among producers would ensue. But we venture to say that the suffering among the foreign communities, whose daily food is provided from our grain exports and whose clothing is provided from our cotton, would be so much greater as to give to our own situation an aspect of something like contentment.

What the upshot of a conceivable situation of this sort would be, we do not profess to say. This much every one knows: that commercial considerations, trade relations and the actual daily needs of a population are circumstances which in these days have more to do with provoking or preventing war than all purely diplomatic considerations combined. We suppose that this economically invulnerable position occupied by the United States is one main cause for the indulgent attitude taken toward us diplomatically by practically all the important European Powers. Invasion of the United States is so remote a possibility that it may reasonably be dismissed as a dream. The overwhelmingly large navy for which Senator Lodge and his sympathizers argue is more likely to be used for purposes of provocation on the part of an ambitious American Government than of protection of the sea-coast by a Government which has in view only the interests of the American people.

SHOULD EXEMPTION BE GRANTED TO LABOR UNIONS AND AGRICULTURAL BODIES?

The demands now being made on behalf of labor unions and agricultural associations, and the threats with which they are being backed up, will serve at least one useful purpose, namely in directing attention to the untenable character of all pleas of that kind for special treatment and special consideration. Last Sunday night meetings of working people were held throughout the country under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor, and at the meeting in this city at the Grand Central Palace Samuel Gompers, President of the Federation, delivered what the newspapers called an "impassioned speech," in which he declared that a labor crisis was impending, and urged upon his followers the inauguration of a policy calculated to meet it. He insisted that the labor people so use their political power as to exterminate all who in the executive, legislative or judicial departments of the Government should refuse to yield to the desires of the labor interests.

Resolutions were adopted declaring it the purpose to hold each and every representative and Senator strictly accountable upon his record upon the measures which the labor leaders are urging, and pledging the wage-earning class individually and collectively to the exercise of their fullest political and industrial activities, now and in the future, "to the end that we may aid in the election of such candidates for President of the United States, Representatives or Senators in Congress, and such other executive, legislative or judicial candidates as will safeguard and protect the common interests of the wage-workers." The occasion for all these manifestations and for this stand is the fact that the United States Supreme Court has recently held a labor boycott illegal and declared that labor combinations, when acting in restraint of trade between the States, fall under the condemnation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Law, just as do all other combinations. This pronouncement of the Supreme Court seems to have come as a surprise to Mr. Gompers and his friends, though why it should is not altogether clear, seeing that the Supreme Court years since indicated that the language of the Sherman statute was so sweeping that no combination acting in restraint of trade, no matter how benign its character, could escape being condemned as illegal and forbidden. So long as the operation of the law seemed to be limited to manufacturing and railroad combinations, the labor interests were indifferent, no matter how harshly or wrongly the statute might work. But now that organizations of laboring men are to be treated the same in this respect as organizations of other kinds, words cannot be found bitter enough or sufficiently scathing to indicate the sense of outrage which the professed friends of the laboring classes feel.

Strangely enough, the Court is denounced for having carried the law to its logical conclusion and ruled that labor combinations stand on precisely the same footing as other combinations. With rare guilelessness it seems to be felt that the Court could have interpreted the plain language of the law to mean one thing when applied to a business concern and a totally different thing when applied to labor concerns. In dealing with the United States Supreme Court, Mr. Gompers displays a graciousness which betokens rare tact and also evidently a becoming anxiety to avoid being hauled up for contempt of court. He says: "I resent any imputation that the Supreme Court is prompted by any sordid or dishonest motives"; then he adds with a touch of irony, "but the fact remains that the men who constitute that tribunal are men who have been successful lawyers and jurists, and the common acceptance of the term lawyers and jurists is that they are men whose rearing and surroundings and environment are not in accord with the spirit of the times."

No one can fail to observe that this fling at the lawyers and judges, as not being "in accord with the spirit of the times," is but an echo of Mr. Roosevelt's plea of last summer for "constructive jurisprudence" on the part of the courts. It will be a sad day when laws shall be interpreted not in accordance with their wording and the plain intent of the legislator, but in ready obedience to the dictates of public frenzy. The profession of the law deservedly holds a high position because, by the application of legal principles, calm analysis is insured and methods are employed which are in every way best adapted for arriving at the merits and equities of a case. It is a simple truism that courts do not make statutes. Their function is to interpret statutes and to see that they conform with constitutional requirements, and that equal and exact justice be done, so that one class may not be oppressed by any other class. It is also their duty to see that extraneous issues and matters foreign to the controversy under discussion shall be ruled out. The trained lawyer knows all this, and he would regard it as an affront to the court did he urge any other considerations upon its attention. This may not be "in accord with the spirit of the times" in the estimation of well-meaning persons like Mr. Gompers or executive officials like Mr. Roosevelt, but it is the only way in which justice ever will or ever can be administered so long as the human race lasts. Heat and passion and excitement and uncontrolled emotions can never be allowed to control the courts or interpret laws and constitutional provisions.

Nor in this age and civilization can or will class legislation ever be tolerated. What is it that is now asked by those who are pleading the cause of labor? Not the same rights that are to be accorded to others, but special rights which are to be denied to others. Combinations are the outgrowth of present conditions and no one in his senses would argue that the laboring classes should be forbidden to combine. Labor unions are beneficent agencies through which the cause of the toiling masses can find legitimate expression and advocacy, and, with due regard for the rights of others, be furthered and advanced. In the present instance, however, those who assume to speak for labor are demanding more than equality of treatment. They are asking for special exemptions and immunities which are to be denied to other classes.

This view finds expression in the bill for amending the Anti-Trust Law prepared by the National Civic Federation and endorsed by the National Administration, to which we referred last week. The Sherman Anti-Trust Law, having long since been found oppressive by manufacturing and business concerns and by the railroads, is now found also to be oppressive by labor interests, owing to the recent ruling of the Supreme Court. The law plainly needs amending. The desired end could be quickly reached by providing that combinations of whatever nature which are not in unreasonable restraint of trade, or which are beneficent in their purpose—such as labor unions, when properly conducted, can be made to be—should not be outlawed so long as they keep within their true sphere and employ only legitimate means to attain their object. But the labor interests do not proceed on any such unassailable ground as this. They are asking that they and the agricultural classes be put in a category by themselves. All those operating in other departments of human activity are to remain subject to the oppressive operation of the existing law.

The demands made on behalf of the farming interests are, if possible, even more indefensible than those put forth on behalf of the laboring classes. Consider what this would mean—what dangers it would involve. Practically everything on which human activities are employed comes originally out of the soil and passes through the hands of the agricultural community. The exceptions are chiefly minerals, which also are taken out of the ground, but are not under the dominion of the farmers. There is much complaint on the part of the consuming public of the high prices ruling for the necessaries of life; but with the agricultural classes free from all restrictions, that would mean that these classes could in the first instance enforce any prices they chose, no matter how oppressive the means employed—could fix the price for grain without limit, for milk, for butter, for cheese, for eggs, for meat of the various classes, for vegetables, and for the thousand other things that are needed for the subsistence of the body. Within limits, price agreements are perfectly legitimate and certain means to enforce prices are also legitimate—such, for instance, as withholding supplies from market. The producer cannot be compelled to part with his supplies except at his own figures any more than the laborer can be or should be compelled to work except upon his own terms and in his own way. But it is possible to proceed much further than this and seek by combination to monopolize markets and products and thus hold the consuming classes in subjection.

Agricultural societies exist without number, and if resort to such methods should be adopted why should the operation of the Anti-Trust Law be suspended in that instance? In brief, why should the law be suspended while and so long as the goods and supplies remained in the hands of the agricultural classes and only come into play after they passed into other classes to be made the subject of trading, or, by manufacturing processes, be converted into other forms. Is this fair to the laboring classes themselves, who form such an important portion of the consuming body? The object of linking the farming interests with the laboring interest apparently is that both, being so numerous, it is thought that in that way the legislator can be induced to accede to the demands made. Suppose, however, that this theory should prove correct? Suppose that by linking the two Congress should be induced to yield and pass a law giving at once the right to combine and to legalize the boycott and the black list, would not such an advantage be dearly bought if the wage-earner should find that he had to pay a higher price than would otherwise be the case for all the necessaries of life?

Thus, self interest alone should put the laboring man on his guard. But the controlling consideration is that class legislation of this kind is repugnant to the spirit of our institutions and cannot be tolerated. Labor unions and agriculturalists should be subject to precisely the same rules as every one else. Innocuous combinations and agreements not in unreasonable restraint of trade should be permitted, but when the attempt is made to go beyond that the heavy hand of the law should be laid upon the offender. Labor should not be deprived of the right to combine or to strike or by peaceable and legitimate means to attain its ends, whether these be higher wages or shorter hours or other concessions. But when the labor union seeks by unfair means to drive the non-union man—whose rights are the same as its own—out of the field, or to destroy, by reprehensible practices and methods, the business of the employer who does not yield to its dictation or accede to its terms, it is putting itself, or should be considered as putting itself, outside of the pale of the law. Similarly, business concerns should be allowed to combine, but only under like restraints and restrictions. In the last analysis, the matter is one for the courts to decide. It would be a travesty on justice to let the matter depend upon the judgment of an executive official who is not trained by experience and schooling to distinguish between right and wrong, and who cannot help being influenced by popular clamor or prejudice.

ADHERENCE TO PRINCIPLES THE WAY OUT OF POLITICAL DISQUIETUDE.

Political developments continue highly disturbing and during the last ten days there have been so many of these that even a confirmed optimist might find excuse for feeling gloomy were it not that history and experience alike teach that faith in the integrity and sanity of the American people has never been found to be misplaced. Furthermore, it must always be remembered that principles, be they moral or economic, are enduring, and hence will survive all assaults whether they emanate from designing politicians and demagogues or misguided and distracted labor leaders, or those poor deluded souls to whom every will-o-the-wisp appeals as if containing the promise of the coming of the millenium. In the preceding article we have referred to last Sunday night's meetings under the auspices of the American Federation of Labor and the special demands made on behalf of the labor interests for exemption and immunity from the operation of the Anti-Trust Law as defined and interpreted by the United States Supreme Court. We show why these demands cannot be granted.

There have been several other developments and incidents of the same character which are amenable to like criticism. For instance, on Thursday of last week a letter was read before the House Committee on Judiciary (the body which has under consideration the National Civic Federation Bill proposing amendments to the Sherman Anti-Trust Act) written by Andrew Carnegie, and making suggestions with reference to the kind of legislation which he thinks Congress should enact for dealing with questions concerning combinations and trusts. He would give the Inter-State Commerce Commission, rather than the Bureau of Corporations, the right to pass upon the desirability and reasonableness of combinations. In his opinion it would be a mistake to place common carriers under one commission and industrial corporations under another. He argues that "within the domain of commercial restraint of trade there should be authority somewhere to permit restraint needed to protect the public interests and to deny the right to restraint when it deprives the public of their benefit of competition, which is its right." He urges that a body like the Inter-State Commerce Commission can perform this duty much better than courts of law. Given such authority, he thinks the Commerce Commission would in industrial matters gradually gain "the position which the Supreme Court has won and so justly deserved in matters of law."

We are sorry we cannot share Mr. Carnegie's view of the high plane to which the Commerce Commission might be made to rise under certain circumstances. But let that pass, as it is not material to the present discussion. What is of moment is the attitude deliberately assumed by Mr. Carnegie towards combinations in general. He says the Government "should regard every application for the right to combine or to agree to combine as something wholly exceptional and against public policy." "Its necessity or advisability should be clearly proved or the privilege denied." When new combinations are proposed, he argues, the first question must always be, what is the object sought? "In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred," he declares, "it will undoubtedly be, to rob the community of its right to the benefits of free competition, disguise it as we may; therefore, the Commission's duty is to obtain satisfactory proof that the application is to cover an exceptional case. The conditions must be peculiar. If not, the application should be denied." He would not even let reasonableness be the test for determining whether a combination should be allowed or not. He says: "That the combination be reasonable is not sufficient. It should be proved that exceptional treatment is advisable or necessary, and therefore unreasonable to deny it. Only combinations advisable or necessary in the interests of the public should be permitted."

The most notable part, however, of Mr. Carnegie's argument is that he is thoroughly convinced that the particular combination in which he is interested comes within the definition of the character of a combination or agreement to which the Government should fix the seal of its approval. Mr. Carnegie has the greater part of his life been a steel manufacturer and holds even now in the neighborhood of a couple of hundred of millions of United States Steel Corporation bonds. In the steel business there have always been larger or smaller combinations, often pools, which have fixed prices, allotted output and not infrequently limited production. Mr. Carnegie is familiar with the facts in these cases, and hence has no doubt of the beneficent character of such arrangements in these instances. As far as steel rails are concerned, the price has been kept unchanged through good times and bad times, at $28 a ton, and obviously it could not have been held at this figure except by agreement among the different producers. Hence, Mr. Carnegie is entirely sure that neither the Government nor any one else should be allowed to interfere with this particular agreement. In fact he refers specifically to it as conforming to the requirement that "the conditions must be peculiar." Here is what he has to say on that point: "It is much the same with steel rails under the present conditions. The railway companies are the only customers, and each company divides its orders among the mills which give it traffic. It is quite proper, therefore, that the railroad company and the manufacturers should be allowed to agree upon a common rate, but"—he adds in a guileless kind of way—"I do not recall any other article of which this can be so clearly said."

Without wishing at all to controvert what Mr. Carnegie says with reference to allowing steel manufacturers and the railroads to agree among themselves, it is nevertheless worth noting that self interest or self knowledge is prompting him to make a special plea for exemption and immunity much in the same way as the labor leaders and the granger organizations. Labor thinks that it ought to have the right to combine no matter how any one else may be treated. The agricultural classes feel that they ought to be privileged to advance the prices of the necessaries of life ad libitum, though they insist that if the manufacturers of farming implements enter into agreement they should be severely punished. Mr. Carnegie, on his part, thinks that agreements regarding steel rails should be regarded as wholly innocuous, but as for other trade combinations, why "in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred it will undoubtedly be to rob the community," &c. We may perhaps be pardoned for adding that, while Mr. Carnegie is so strenuously insisting that the public must have the advantage of competition, no intimation has come from him that free trade with foreign countries in iron and steel products would be a good thing. That would certainly stimulate competition, however undesirable it might be on other grounds.

In the letter referred to, Mr. Carnegie also has much to say on the subject of railroad rates. He is entirely within the mark when he asserts that "railroad rates would be demoralized without common rates to common points." But he also urges that the chief duty of the Commission "is to ensure for the public the benefits of competition," and he insists no rates should be permitted which "yield undue profits to the railroads. They should only yield what average traffic does on railroads generally." In other words, no favors are to be extended to the railroad and no concessions made to it, even though such concessions may be deemed valid and proper on behalf of other interests. Thus, in effect, Mr. Carnegie declares himself in full accord with the existing movement against the roads. Granting that the railroads, being common carriers, must always remain subject to Government supervision, it is undeniable that, through excessive regulation and excessive legislation, the railroad transportation industry has been brought to the point where it is fast being reduced to starvation and bankruptcy. We say this is undeniable because our compilation of the earnings of United States railroads given in a subsequent article shows that the gross earnings of the railroad system of the country are now falling off at the rate of $300,000,000 a year.

In view of the way the railroads are suffering, a plea on Mr. Carnegie's part for greater consideration for this all-important industry, and for the exercise of caution in sanctioning further action adverse to the same, would certainly have been timely. One looks in vain, however, for a word of protest. Considering the commanding position which Mr. Carnegie holds, the fact is certainly depressing. While on this subject, we cannot forbear quoting the following dispatch, which appeared in the "Sun" of this city on Monday last. Besides illustrating the beauties of Government regulation, it also has some bearing upon the probability of the Inter-State Commerce Commission soon attaining the eminence now held by the United States Supreme Court, a distinction which Mr. Carnegie thinks the Commerce Commission under the plan proposed by him might reach in cou rse of time.

Pittsburgh, April 19.—The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad is the first road in the co untry to take up seriously the recent order of the Inter-State Commerce Commission, that every railroad in the United States compile, print and make public the fare from every station on its line to every point in the United States.

Railroad men have declared that the task was impossible and the order absurd. The officials of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie will try, however, to comply with the order.

A force of five clerks has been put to work on the task. The Pittsburg & Lake Erie is 100 miles long. It is estimated that five clerks will be able to complete the task in five years. When the work of compiling the matter is completed it will take a fortune to have it printed. How railroads like the Pennsylvania with its hundreds of miles of track will ever accomplish the task is hard to figure.

During the past week, also, the Public Service Commission of this State, another Government regulative body, has been distinguishing itself. On Monday the daily papers contained the announcement that the Commission for the Metropolitan District was about to issue "sweeping orders" affecting three of the important street car lines of this city, to become effective April 27. These orders, we were told, call for sufficient cars to provide a seat for every passenger except in the rush hours, and at least 10% in excess. Commissioner Maltbie, in explaining the order, said whether a 10% excess was sufficient to accomplish the result aimed at could not be determined without experimenting, and accordingly it was possible the percentage might have to be changed hereafter. It is to be remembered that this order is directed against railroads that are now being operated by the courts through receivers. No sooner did the Public Service Commission assume office last July than it began an investigation of the finances and affairs of the New York City lines, with the effect of destroying their credit, so that, inside of three months, all these lines were in the hands of receivers. Here is a case where, according to the sensational press, "monopoly" was proving harmful to public interest. Those who are all the time decrying combinations pointed to the merger or amalgamation of the traction interests in New York City as an illustration of the kind of thing that was especially detrimental to the community at large. The Public Service Commission has been instrumental in destroying this combination.

The New York City Railway, or Metropolitan Street Railway System, is being gradually disrupted, separate receivers having been appointed for nearly all the various branches and subsidiary lines. These receivers found that a very large part of their total receipts—a half or more in some instances—consisted of transfer checks given to the passenger free of cost. The receiver of the Third Avenue RR. reported a few weeks ago that he could not pay wages or buy materials and supplies with transfer slips. Accordingly, the Court directed that the issue of transfer checks to the Metropolitan system lines be discontinued and that only cash fares be accepted hereafter. As a result a good many passengers who previously were able to travel to and from their shop or their place of business on the payment of a single fare are now obliged to pay two fares or more. At the same time, by direction of the Court, and to carry out the orders of the Public Service Commission, the receivers of the New York City and Metropolitan street railway companies have been given authority to issue $3,500,000 6% receiver's certificates, these certificates being given a lien superior to the general and collateral trust mortgage and the refunding mortgage of the Metropolitan, thus undermining the security of these mortgages to that extent. If now the lines are to be required to furnish additional facilities so as to give every passenger a seat and leave an excess of seats of 10%, it may happen before very long that in addition to the passenger being required to pay two or more fares, the fare itself will have to be raised.

Finally, we may enumerate as among the events of the week the speech which Governor Johnson of Minnesota made last Saturday at Lindsborg, Kan., as the guest of the faculty of Bethany College. Mr. Johnson's remarks would attract no attention except that he is mentioned as a Presidential possibility on the Democratic ticket, and those who are urging his nomination hail him as a "conservative." Mr. Johnson is of Swedish parentage and his remarks were addressed to his Swedish friends. Mr. Johnson, like so many others who appear in the public eye, is disturbed by the tendency towards combination and centralization—not merely centralization in government, which all of us deplore, but centralization in business. He said "The danger of this country is centralization of everything. It is true of every line of business, and that continued centralization of everything destroys or reduces opportunity." Accordingly, he urged. "a return to the old condition where a man could start in business with a reasonable amount of capital and have a chance to succeed." This, he declared, appealed to him "as one of the things this country needs most." To have an aspirant for the Presidency talk in this way is deplorable. For, in order to accomplish what Mr. Johnson wants, it would be necessary to restore the state of things existing many decades ago, when the country store was the basis of all supplies, when there were no department stores, very little machinery, and when manufacturing and production were conducted according to primitive forms. We would in that event, of course, have the advantage, or supposed advantage, to be derived from the absence of combinations; but the consumer would also have to pay old prices, the prices which prevailed when the unit of cost was several times what it is at present.

We have brought together these several incidents of the week because they indicate so plainly the path which the legislator must pursue in dealing with the demands for new legislation. Each of the various classes whose views we have enumerated above is making a plea for its own special interests and all are in opposition to the railroads, which somehow are considered the common enemy of all. Mr. Johnson's Swedish friends are all persons of small means, and therefore he is making a plea for the return of the corner grocery. The laborer is making a plea for his interests, the agricultural classes for theirs and Mr. Carnegie, though he is now a dispenser of millions, and no longer directly engaged in the steel business, still has a warm place in his heart for the steel interests, and would have them favored above everything else.

In these circumstances, nothing further is needed to show that the merits and determination of these various and conflicting claims cannot be left to the determination of any Government body or any Government officer, no matter how exalted his position—not even the President of the United States. The matter must be placed above party and above politics, and there must be a firm adherence to principle. The courts alone can be trusted because these are so constituted that they come nearer than any human agency yet devised for reaching a judgment based on the strictest rules of equity and fair dealing. Every court rule and practice has that end in view. In revising or amending the Anti-Trust Law, therefore, this is the fact that must be borne in mind.

RAILROAD GROSS AND NET EARNINGS FOR FEBRUARY.

Our compilation of the gross and net earnings of United States railroads for the month of February shows little or no improvement over the results disclosed in the exhibit for the month of January. The amount of loss is a little less, but the month itself was smaller, and in the comparison with last year there has been the advantage of an extra day arising out of the fact that 1908 is a leap year, giving the month 29 days instead of the customary 28 days. As we are now in the latter part of April, it is proper to point out that the February figures are the latest complete results available, but that such early and partial returns as have been received for the period since then make it evident that even yet no change for the better is in progress.

We have reports altogether from 103 roads making returns of both gross and net earnings and covering an aggregate length of line of 151,580 miles in 1908. On these roads there is a falling off of $17,713,009. In January the loss was $20,025,624. When we come to the ratio of loss, however, there is very little change. For January this was 12.91%; for February it is 12.55%. When allowance is made for the fact that the month contained an extra day, which was the equivalent of an addition of about 4%, the showing for February is actually much worse than it was for January.

In interpreting the significance of the falling off in February and January alike, one fact should be clearly borne in mind, namely that in those months last year weather conditions were quite adverse in certain sections of the country, more particularly in Northern New York and in the territory extending from the Upper Lakes to the North Pacific Coast, while on the other hand the present year the winter was unusually mild. It follows that except for this circumstance, both the amount and ratio of loss would have been even larger than now actually shown.

In the case of the net earnings, the February results are a trifle more encouraging than were those for January, which indicates that railroad managers have got better control of their expense accounts, and doubtless it also means that they are omitting all repairs and renewals which do not seem to be absolutely necessary. Our tables show a loss of $8,764,602, or 25.10%, as against a loss of $11,496,346, or 29.93% in January.

As already stated, our totals cover an aggregate of 151,580 miles, this being all the roads for which it has been possible to procure comparative returns of both gross and net earnings. In addition, we give in a table at the end of this article the figures for 33,567 more miles, covering roads which have submitted figures of gross but not of net. On these the loss in gross is $1,181,395. Adding these on and allowing for the roads which even then remain unrepresented—the total mileage of the country being, roughly, 220,000 miles—it is clearly within the mark to say that if we could get data for the whole railroad system of the country, the loss in gross for February, even with the advantage of an extra day, would be between $22,000,000 and $23,000,000. For January we estimated the falling off at $25,000,000, making the loss for the two months combined in the neighborhood of $50,000,000, or at the rate of $300,000,000 a year.

The loss in net for the combined railroad system, we should judge, might be fixed at about $11,000,000 to $12,000,000. For January we estimated the loss for all the roads at $16,000,000 to $17,000,000, making for the two months combined a loss in net somewhere between $27,000,000 and $29,000,000, or a falling off, roughly, of $160,000,000 to $170,000,000 a year. In the following we furnish a summary of the gross and net earnings for February and for the two months combined, as registered in our tables, covering the roads actually furnishing returns of both gross and net.

And from Jan. 1 to Feb. 28, 129 roads in 1896; 123 in 1897; 135 in 1898; 123 in 1899; 123 in 1900; 131 in 1901; 116 in 1902; 106 in 1903; 104 in 1904; 98 in 1905; 99 in 1906; 94 in 1907; and 103 in 1908. Neither the Mexican roads nor the coal-mining operations of the anthracite coal roads are included in any of these totals.

One fact in the foregoing should not escape observation. We refer to the circumstance that in February last year, our tables, while registering a gain of $8,797,150 in the gross, actually showed a loss of $1,650,601 in the net. To this loss in 1907 the present year's loss is additional, but that is not the fact to which we would direct attention. We would lay emphasis rather on the feature of increased expenses disclosed at that time—an increase running in excess of the gain in gross—because obviously that augmentation in the expense accounts in 1907, whether caused by weather conditions or other agencies, must have made it easier to contract the expenses the present year. The same feature was observable in the January results, though in that case the loss in net last year had been very much smaller.

In the case of the separate roads, there are some striking instances of saving in the expense accounts for February this year, but also a number of instances where evidently it was found possible to practice curtailment only to a limited extent in face of a large shrinkage in gross revenues, leaving therefore a very heavy loss in the net. The Pennsylvania Railroad falls no less than $2,934,300 behind in the gross, but this was reduced to only $393,100 loss in the net through a reduction of $2,541,200 in the expenses. On the other hand, the Southern Pacific, with $1,657,824 decrease in gross, has $1,446,750 decrease in the net. The Southern Railway, having fallen $721,550 behind in the gross, managed to offset all but $87,614 of this by reduced expenses. The Atchison has $674,108 decrease in gross, with only $136,314 decrease in the net, while the Erie, with $527,381 loss in gross, has $515,921 loss in net. And so the results for the different roads vary widely as between gross and net, depending upon the extent to which curtailment in expenditures was carried or was found possible. In the following we show all changes for the separate roads for amounts in excess of $30,000, whether increases or decreases, and in both the gross and the net.

a These figures cover merely the operations of the New York Central itself. For the New York Central System the result is a loss of $675,678.
x These figures are for the Railroad Co.; the Coal & Iron Co. reports a decrease of $99,409.
y These figures cover lines directly operated east and west of Pittsburgh and Erie. The net on Eastern lines decreased $339,400 and the net on Western lines decreased $53,700.

When arranged in groups in our usual form, every group records a loss in gross; and also every group, with one exception, a loss in net. The exception is the Eastern and Middle group, made up of very small roads, where there is a trifling increase in the net.

Mileage.—The mileage for the above group is as follows: Trunk Lines, 29,801 miles, against 29,724 miles in 1907; Anthracite Coal, 3,273, against 3,273; Eastern & Middle, 3,727, against 3,714; Middle Western, 10,538, against 10,488; Northwest & North Pacific, 29,414, against 28,931; Southwest & South Pacific, 43,743, against 43,291; Southern, 31,084, against 30,986; grand total, 151,580, against 150,407; Mexican, 6,762, against 6,738.

As already stated, besides the roads from which we have procured returns of gross and net there is a body of roads (including some important systems like the Great Northern, the Milwaukee& St. Paul and the Northern Pacific) which make it a practice to supply only figures of gross. Starting with the total of the gross in the foregoing, we add on these other roads in the table we now present.

In this way, the amount of the loss in gross is raised to $18,894,404, or 11.79%. The mileage covered is 185,147 miles. We have already indicated that if we could have returns for the roads still unrepresented, the aggregate of the loss in gross for the whole railroad system of the country would probably be brought up to $22,000,000 or $23,000,000.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO.'S.

—The public sales of bank stocks this week aggregate 57 shares, of which 42 shares were sold at the Stock Exchange and 15 shares at auction. Only one lot of trust company stock, amounting to 4 shares, was sold. Ten shares of stock of the National City Bank were sold at 309 as against 261 two weeks ago and a sale of ten shares of stock of the Corn Exchange Bank was made at 295 as compared with 250 in January, when the last previous sale occurred. National Bank of Commerce stock was dealt in at last week's highest quotation—175.

* Sold at the Stock Exchange.

—After more than twelve years abode at the corner of La Salle and Washington streets, in the building erected for its accomodation and christened in its honor, the Chicago Stock Exchange removed on Saturday last to the bank floor of the Rookery, under the belief that the new location possesses decided advantages as a financial and speculative center and should redound immeasurably to the growth of business in the Exchange. A committee has been appointed, with F. D. Countiss, of S. B. Chapin & Co., as Chairman, to take measures to have certain large and influential corporations open transfer offices in Chicago—thus enlarging the facilities of the Exchange for trading in their securities. We quote from one of the leading Chicago dailies of the current week:

"There does not seem to be any good reason why there should not be a general awakening of the membership of the Exchange and co-operation on the part of the banks in enlarging the importance of the Exchange. Chicago is the second city in size in the United States and the fourth city in size in the world. It is the metropolis of the so-called West.

"The banks ordinarily will make loans on Chicago collateral only when they feel under some special obligation to the borrower. Thus they curtail the business of the Exchange by making it difficult to raise money on the securities traded in here. The manifestation of a little new blood and energy on the part of the membership of the Exchange and more consideration on the part of the banks ought to work for the mutual good of the Exchange as a market, Chicago securities as collateral for loans, and the importance of Chicago as a financial center."

—The trust companies of Indiana have been notified by R. B. Oglesbee, Clerk of the banking department of the State Auditor's office, that it is a violation of the law for such institutions to own their own stock. The Indianapolis "News" in commenting on the matter states that there are 91 trust companies in the State, and the annual reports of these show that in many cases the companies are holding their own stock as collateral for loans. The letter from the State Auditor's office declares that "the stock of a trust company when once issued cannot again be acquired by the company by purchase or otherwise, and it cannot be held as security." Companies holding any of their own stock as collateral or otherwise are directed to immediately release the same. Similar requirements, the "News" says, were exacted of the banks by State Auditor Billheimer some time ago, and their reports in this respect are now said to be satisfactory.

—The suspension of the Stock Exchange house of T. A. McIntyre & Co. of 71 Broadway, this city, was announced early yesterday morning. The firm had a number of branch offices and also held memberships in the New York Cotton, Coffee and Produce Exchanges, the Chicago Board of Trade and the New Orleans and Liverpool Cotton Exchanges. Arthur R. Peck has been named as assignee. The following statement was given out yesterday by Walter H. Moler, in the absence of the members of the firm:

"I have had no time to learn the extent of the failure, but I can say that it should have no effect on any of the markets, for the firm had very few outstanding contracts at the close of business yesterday, and its bank loans were liquidated before then. It owes little in the Street or to any of the banks. Its creditors are chiefly scattered out of town, and consist of correspondents and private individuals. The firm's trading in cotton has been very small for the past three months, and its standing account in that market at the close of business yesterday was only 5,000 bales. These were amply protected by the usual margins deposited between members of the Exchange. Therefore, you can positively say, neither the stock, cotton or grain markets should in any way be disturbed by the announcement of the suspension."

Mr. Moler is quoted as saying that one of the chief causes of the suspension was the impairment in the capital of the firm, brought about by its failure to collect amounts due from customers who had been tided over during the recent panic. He further says, when it became known that the company was embarrassed, a run was started, and the firm, not being in a position to withstand it, was forced to assign. Mr. Moler states, too, that the firm suffered greatly from the anti-option laws of the Southern States. Where before the enactment of these laws its monthly trading in cotton aggregated about 800,000 bales, now its monthly business, he says, does not exceed 50,000 a month. The firm was formed in 1904. Its members are Thomas A. McIntyre, George C. Ryan, John G. McIntyre (the Exchange member) ,Thomas A. McIntyre Jr., J. E. Hulshizer, James M. Hudson and Edward T. White. T. A. McIntyre had been senior partner in the old firms of McIntyre & Wardwell and McIntyre & Marshall.

—On account of ill health, George M. Cumming, President of the United States Mortgage & Trust Co., this city, has presented his resignation and notified the directors that he will not accept re-election at the company's annual meeting next Thursday. Mr. Cumming will leave shortly on a European trip.

—Some important changes occurred in the personnel of the Guardian Trust Co., 170 Broadway, when the board of directors elected A. E. G. Goodridge Vice-President to succeed Charies L. Robinson, resigned, and also elected four new directors who are at present on the board of the Interboro Bank, 49 Wall St., The gentlemen chosen are: William Carpender, Otto Sartorius, Howel H. Barnes and A. E. G. Goodridge. As Mr. Goodridge, the Vice-President elect is President of the Interboro Bank, banking circles considered the entrance of the new interests into the Guardian Trust as likely to result in the liquidation of the Interboro Bank and the transferrence of its business to the former. No authoritative statement regarding the Interboro's future could be obtained from its officials yesterday, although some announcement will be made next week. Lamar Ross was elected Trust Officer of the Guardian Trust this week.

—Last Thursday the Bank of New York, N. B. A., rounded out one hundred and ten years at its present location, 48 Wall St., corner William, having occupied this landmark continuously since April 23 1798. The corner-stone of the first building on this site was laid June 22 1797. This old white corner-stone, carefully preserved, was a few years ago placed on the outside of the present building erected in 1857, where it can be plainly seen by passers-by on the Wall Street side. The Bank of New York is the oldest institution in the State and the second oldest of the existing banks in the United States, the National Bank of North America, Philadelphia, being the oldest. The Bank of New York was organized March 15 1784, commenced business June 9 1784 at 156 Pearl St., then known as 67 St. George Square, was chartered March 21 1791, and entered the national banking system in 1865, retaining its old historic name and character. The bank filled an active place in the commercial world after the Revolution of 1776 and its corporate direction and history is linked with the names of men prominent in the financial and public affairs of New York City and State. Alexander Hamilton was one of its directors. Herbert L. Griggs is the present executive.

—The House Committee on Banking and Currency on the 20th inst, by a vote of 12 to 3, tabled the Vreeland Bill, offered as a substitute for the Aldrich Currency Bill, which had previously (the 17th inst) been tabled (by a unanimous vote) by the Committee. The Committee's action with regard to the Vreeland Bill was followed by the taking up of the Fowler Bill, providing for the creation of a currency commission, and this measure was agreed to by a vote of 10 to 3. The Vreeland Bill, which is based on the Aldrich Bill, like the latter provides for the issuance of emergency notes on Government, State and other bonds, but in addition makes commercial paper a basis for circulation. The most important feature of the Vreeland Bill is that permitting the creation of clearing-house associations by ten or more banks having an aggregate capital of $10,000,000 or more; banks belonging to such associations to be allowed to take out emergency notes, upon presenting satisfactory security, to an amount not exceeding 75% of the market value of such approved security. Mr. Vreeland, in his remarks before the House Committee in support of the measure suggested several modifications to his bill, the proposed changes being set out in the following statement made by him:

I gave notice to the committee that I should like to have the following amendments made to my bill:

First, the aggregate capital and surplus of the national clearing-house association created under the bill be reduced from $10,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Next, the rate of taxation on this emergency currency shall commence at 4 per cent instead of at six and shall increase 1 per cent a month until it reaches a rate of 10 per cent.

This is considered entirely safe to keep circulating notes from coming into existence unless urgently needed for the reasons that the Secretary of the Treasury and the Comptroller of the Currency must certify as to their necessity.

Next, the total amount of emergency currency which may be issued under the bill is increased from $500,000,000 to $700,000,000. Under the provisions of the bill each section of the country and each State is entitled to issue such a portion of emergency currency as the capital and surplus of the national banks in such States bear to the total capital and surplus of all national banks. On account of this geographical limitation I have increased the amounts so that ample funds may be procured at any center needing them.

I have also given notice of an amendment to the bill providing for the creation of a currency commission to take up and report upon the whole question of currency and banking laws.

—The nomination of Lawrence O. Murray as Comptroller of the Currency, to succeed William Barrett Ridgely, was sent to the Senate on the 18th inst by President Roosevelt. Mr. Murray is at present Assistant Secretary in the Department of Commerce and Labor. Mr. Ridgely resigned as Comptroller on March 27 to become President of the reorganized National Bank of Commerce of Kansas City.

—Governor Hughes of New York State on Monday signed the bill which gives to the State Superintendent of Banks jurisdiction over insolvent State institutions similar to that of the Comptroller of the Currency over national banks. The Governor has also signed the bill making it illegal for officers or employees of a bank to make or maintain deposits with other banking institutions on the understanding that an advance or loan is to be made therefor.

—A summary of the work accomplished by the New York Legislature in the matter of banking reforms during the session just concluded was given out on Saturday last by State Superintendent of Banks Clark Williams. In all some twenty-one banking measures were passed. The statement of the Superintendent in its entirety is as follows:

"Heretofore there have been very distinct limitations upon the powers of the Superintendent of Banks in respect to the correction of unsafe practices in banking institutions. These limitations have been removed to the extent of allowing him to take possession, under certain conditions, of all corporations to which the banking law is applicable. The bill conferring this authority enumerates distinctly the causes for the dissolution of a corporation, and gives to the Superintendent practically the same powers in the matter of liquidation that are possessed by the Controller of the Currency.

"The bills in which these provisions are incorporated allow much more adequate supervision of institutions under the jurisdiction of the department and should afford expert administration of the affairs of failed institutions, enabling prompt resumption when possible, and reducing the expense of receiverships. The bills are supplemented by another, creating the office of Third Deputy Superintendent of Banks, with a salary of $5,000 a year. This will enable the department to be represented in the New York office by some one in authority, and permit the proper organization at the branch office in the Metropolitan district, within which four-fifths of the banking power of the State is concentrated.

"A further extension of the powers of the Superintendent of Banks is made in bills which provide for the publication of notice of the intention to organize a new bank and give him power to inquire into the fitness of the incorporators and into the question whether the public convenience and advantage will be promoted by such an organization. Collateral to these bills are others giving the Superintendent power to approve or disapprove propositions to open branches of banks, trust companies and safe deposit companies—the latter not having had any authority to establish branches heretofore. These measures provide that any bank or trust company undertaking to open branches must furnish, in addition to its previous capital, new capital to the amount of $100,000 for every branch opened.

"We come now to the very important series of bills framed with a view to prohibiting the abuses that were disclosed last fall in connection with the establishment of so-called 'chains of banks' by certain speculative interests. These bills seek first to define the responsibilities of directors and provide, among other things, that every director of a State bank or trust company shall, upon being re-elected to office, make oath that the stock necessary to qualify him as a director has not been hypothecated during the preceding term. To the extent of actual stock ownership, at least, this provision eliminates the 'dummy' feature.

"Other bills coming in this general class provide for meetings of the directors or trustees of all institutions subject to the banking laws of the State at least once every month, and require that at every such meeting a designated officer shall submit to each director individually, or to an Executive Committee of not less than five members, a written statement of all purchases and sales of securities and of every discount or loan in excess of $1,000 made since the last meeting, standing on the books at the time of the directors' meeting, together with the collateral at the same date. This statement will show also the aggregate of loans to a single interest whose liability has been increased since the last meeting, and the bills provide that a verified copy of the statement, together with a list of the directors present at the meeting, shall be filed with the records of the corporation, and be evidence of the facts stated therein. The law now provides that the affairs of every banking corporation shall be managed, and its corporate powers exercised, by a board of directors. This new provision, it is believed, will tend to make the law effective, requiring a more intimate knowledge of the business of the corporation on the part of the directors, as well as fixing the responsibility.

"In this connection it is further provided in an amendment to the Penal Code that it shall be a misdemeanor for any officer of a banking corporation to maintain a deposit of moneys belonging to the corporation with another banking institution, with the understanding or agreement that a loan or advance is to be made in return therefor. Also, it is made a misdemeanor for an officer intentionally to conceal from the directors transactions of a corporation required to be reported, and in addition to this it becomes now a misdemeanor for any officer or employee of a trust company, by agreement, express or implied, to alter the terms of time certificates of deposit. That provision of the law has an important bearing upon those relating to trust company reserves, which I shall discuss presently.

SAFEGUARDING LOANS.

"In the matter of restricting loans, the new laws provide first that the maximum of any secured loan which may be made by a bank or trust company in Manhattan shall be reduced from 40% of its capital and surplus to 25%. Any underwritten loan is prohibited unless the underwriter shall have paid on account of the purchase of securities taken as collateral to the loans an amount at least equal to 25% of their face value. This will check the tendency toward the use of corporate funds in untried and speculative enterprises, and a further hindrance to this kind of operation is interposed in a clause prohibiting any loan of this character to be made for a greater time than one year. Banks and trust companies are also prohibited from becoming underwriters.

"Banks and trust companies are also prohibited to loan on second mortgages if the total incumbrance is in excess of two thirds of the value of the property, and may not loan on them at all if the first mortgage exceeds 10% of the capital and surplus of the bank or trust company making the loan. The aggregate of real estate loans by banks in Manhattan under the jurisdiction of the department is limited to 10% of their total assets, and elsewhere the aggregate of such loans is limited to 25% of the total assets.

"As regards deposits with other institutions, the new laws require that the consent of a majority of the directors of any bank or trust company must be given, exclusive of any director who is a director, officer or trustee of the depository designated. Loans secured by the stock of moneyed corporations may not be made if the total stock taken as security exceeds 10% of the capital of the corporation whose stock constitutes the security, and trust companies are prohibited from owning stock in any other moneyed corporation the par value of which is in excess of 10% of the capital of such other corporation. This, however, does not apply to safe deposit companies. These latter provisions will check the chain-of-banks evil.

INCREASE IN CASH RESERVES.

"In the matter of reserves, the new laws increase the cash reserves to be maintained by State banks in the Borough of Manhattan from 15% to 25% of the deposits, of which 15% is to be carried in vaults and 10% on deposit with a reserve agent. In the Borough of Brooklyn, 10% must be in cash in vault and 10% may be carried on deposit with the reserve agent. Elsewhere in the State the reserve requirement for State banks is increased from 5% in cash in vault and 5% with reserve agent to 6% in cash in vault and 9% with the reserve agent.

"On the much-discussed subject of trust company reserves, the new laws provide that in the Borough of Manhattan 15% of the deposits, excluding trust deposits within the control of the institution and time deposits represented by certificates with a definite due date not payable within thirty days, must be carried in cash in vault. Heretofore the requirement has been for 5% in cash in vault and 10% with the depository, of which amount 5% could be invested in certain bonds.

"In other boroughs of Greater New York the reserve requirement is 10% in cash in vault and 5% with the depository, and elsewhere in the State it is 5% in cash in vault and 5% with the depository, as against 3% in cash in vault and 7% with the depository, of which 3% might be invested in certain bonds heretofore. The additional reserves must be accumulated by Feb. 1 1909.

"As applying to savings banks, the new laws require that every trustee of a savings bank shall take an oath of office and file the same with the Superintendent of Banks. Another savings bank bill, framed with a view to preventing the sacrifice of valuable securities in time of financial stress, provides that a savings bank may borrow money upon the pledge of its securities by vote of a majority of its board, and with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks. There are important provisions in the new laws regarding the valuation of securities held by savings banks. Hereafter, the securities of savings banks must be carried on their books at their investment value, ascertained by amortization, and shall be so reported. In estimating the earnings of savings banks from which dividends are paid, amortization must be employed.

"These two provisions will relieve the savings banks from the irregularities of market fluctuations, but do not in any way diminish the safety of their administration, inasmuch as savings bank securities are purchased for permanent investment and in substantially all cases held until their maturity. It is proper, therefore, that there should be a gradual extinction of the premiums or discounts, so as to bring them to par at maturity. The amortization principle is applied also to the securities held as capital investment by trust companies, being fixed investments required by law.

"A provision of minor importance, for the purpose of furthering the administration of the banking law, substitutes the term 'mortgage loan or investment corporation' for the term 'mortgage company;' and the term 'building and mutual loan corporation or association or co-operative savings and loan association' for the term 'co-operative loan and building association.' The terms heretofore employed are not defined by any law of this State. The terms as now adopted are so defined.

"There is one further feature of these laws which I think should be mentioned. That is, a requirement of publicity on the part of the Banking Department through the issuance of a bulletin weekly. This bulletin is to contain notice of the appointment of reserve agents, the authorization of banks and trust companies to begin business, the authorization of branches, the closing of institutions by the Superintendent, and other similar matters. The bulletin will be available for the public. The advantage and effect of proper publicity to be given to the official acts of the Superintendent are obvious and need no comment."

—Before its adjournment this week, the New York Legislature passed the Cassidy Anti-Bucket-Shop bill, which makes it a felony for any individual, firm or corporation to enter into a contract for the purchase or sale upon credit or margin of stocks or bonds, upon the basis of public market quotations, without intending a bona fide purchase of sale. The bill requires brokers to "furnish upon written demand to any customer or principal for whom such person has executed an order for the actual purchase or sale of such securities or commodities, either for immediate or future delivery, a written statement containing the names of the persons from whom such property was bought, or to whom it has been sold, as the case may be, the time when, the place where, the amount of and the price at which the same was either bought or sold." Refusal or neglect to furnish such statement within forty-eight hours after demand would be prima facie evidence of violation of the Act. The bill defines a bucket shop as "any building, or any room, apartment, booth, office or store therein, or any other place, where any contract prohibited by this Act is made or offered to be made." The maximum penalty for violation is five years' imprisonment or $1,000 fine or both for a person, and for a corporation a fine of $5,000 for the first offense and dissolution or exclusion from the State for a second conviction.

These securities had been transferred by the bank to the company in accordance with the merger arrangements entered into between the two institutions last fall, just prior to their suspension on Oct. 25. It appears that the merger plans were drawn under the laws of New Jersey instead of New York and accordingly were regarded as illegal. A dividend to the depositors of the bank, which is the only one of the suspended Brooklyn institutions to announce that it will liquidate, is expected to be paid shortly.

Monetary and Commercial English News

(From our own correspondent.)

London, Saturday, April 11, 1908.

There is a decidedly more hopeful feeling in the stock markets this week and investment is going on upon a large scale. Moreover, members of the Stock Exchange are noting that at last money in very considerable amounts is flowing back from the great manufacturing centers and is being invested in stocks. A notable proof of the change that is taking place in opinion upon the Stock Exchange is afforded this week by the reception that has been accorded to the new issue of the London County Council. A little while ago the Stock Exchange was strongly opposed to new issues, which, it argued, kept down the prices of existing securities, and therefore, was contrary to the interests of the investing classes in general. This week, the London County Council has issued 2¾ millions sterling of 3½ per cent stock not redeemable for 21½ years. The issue price was par. The issue has been received most favorably. The applications have been on an enormous scale, and the price has gone to a premium of 1 per cent.

As the Stock Exchange will be closed from Thursday evening next until the following Tuesday morning, it is probable that business will slacken somewhat now, and as large numbers of people will go away for Easter the activity may not be resumed for a fortnight or so. But the best opinion unquestionably is that we are about to see very much more active stock markets.

In Paris, on the other hand, business is very quiet. Money is exceedingly abundant and the big French banks, unable to employ it profitably at home, are employing it abroad, more particularly in Germany, on a considerable scale. Partly the depressed feeling is due to the Morocco imbroglio and partly to the losses that have been suffered of late and to the fear of the income tax. The discussion of the Income Tax Bill is postponed now till after Easter and there are doubts whether the bill will pass, at all events, this year. Still, it exercises a depressing influence upon the Bourse. The best opinion in Paris, however, is that the Bourse there is waiting for a lead from London. The large operators have not courage to set the example. But if there is a decided recovery in London, Paris will follow.

In Berlin, there is a better feeling than has existed for a considerable time past, largely due to the new borrowings of the Imperial and the Prussian governments. The Prussian Government issues are very large and the great bulk of them will be employed in the construction and betterment of the railways. Therefore, it is argued that they will enable the Government to place extensive new orders. No doubt is entertained that the loans will be a great success. Anything that would help German industry no doubt, would be beneficial to British trade also.

But it is chiefly to the United States that people here are looking for the setting in of a great improvement. The Government crop report encourages the hope that the crops may prove good, that thereby the depression in the United States may soon be brought to an end, and that thus prosperity will return everywhere. Of course, it is too early yet to judge what the crops may be, but undoubtedly the crop report has encouraged hopes here.

Money is abundant and cheap and is likely to continue so for a long time to come. It is quite true that a certain amount of gold will have to be paid this month to the Bank of France and it is possible that the applications for the German and the Prussian loans may take some gold also. But no doubt is entertained here by the well-informed that the Bank of England will continue to gain strength all through the summer, that money, therefore, will be both plentiful and cheap, and that the Bank will be in so strong a position when harvesting requirements begin that the autumn will pass over smoothly. There is, therefore, a very hopeful feeling all over the City, which is fully shared in by the Stock Exchange.

The India Council offered for tender on Wednesday 20 lacs of its bills and the applications only slightly exceeded 2¼ lacs, at prices ranging from 1s. 3 7/8d. to 1s. 3 29-32d. pper rupee. Applicants for bills at 1s. 3 29-32d. per rupee were allotted in full.

The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The announcement of a new Pennsylvania Railroad loan of $40,000,000 and the eagerness with which the issue has been over-subscribed, both in this country and in Europe, has been by far the most important event of the week. No doubt the conditions are now much more favorable for bringing out such a loan than they recently were. The market for railway bonds has been increasingly active during the past two or three weeks, as noted in this column, but few if any of those most familiar with the situation were prepared for the complete success which has attended this new offering. The latter has resulted in a largely increased volume of business at the Stock Exchange, and is regarded as evidence that public sentiment is more hopeful.

Attention has also been given to the gold-export movement, although as a market factor it is not yet of special significance. Gold to the amount of $5,500,000 has been engaged for shipment during the week, and, as is well known, there are reasons for presuming that the movement will continue for some time to come, or perhaps until the plethora of funds at this center has been reduced and until interest rates abroad are more nearly normal.

The open market rates for call loans at the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1½% to 2%. To-day's rates on call were 1½@2%. Commercial paper quoted at 4@4½% for choice 60 to 90-day endorsements and for 4 months best single names and 5½@6% for 6 months high-grade single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £169,859, and the per cent of reserve to liabilities was 50.52, against 50.06 last week.

The rate of discount remains unchanged at 3%, as fixed March 19. The Bank of France shows an increase of 24,625,000 francs gold and a decrease of 2,950,000 francs silver.

State and Railroad Bonds.—Sales of state bonds at the Board include $3,000 Tennessee settlement 3s at 95 and $104,000 Virginia 6s deferred trust receipts at 32 to 37.

The market for railway and industrial bonds has again shown increasing activity, the transactions at the Board on Thursday amounting to nearly 4½ millions, par value, and in several cases there has been a substantial advance in prices. The market has not been strong throughout, however; a few issues are fractionally lower.

Interboro-Met. 4½s have again been the active features. They lost over two points of the advance noted last week and partially recovered. Colorado & Southern ref. and ext. 4½s have been conspicuous for an advance of nearly 4 points. The American Tobacco issues have been unusually active. The 4s advanced over 2 points and Central Leather 5s nearly as much. On the other hand Mexican Central con. 4s, Norfolk & Western con. 4s, Reading and Brooklyn Rapid Transit 4s have shown a tendency to weakness.

United States Bonds.—No sales of Government bonds have been reported at the Board this week. The following are the daily closing quotations; for yearly range see third page following.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The market for stocks was dull and inclined to heaviness during the early part of the week. In most cases the lowest prices were recorded on Tuesday, but there was very little change either in tone or actual values until Thursday, when a decided upward movement set in which continued with increased force to-day and the volume of business has more than doubled. A long list of active shares is from 2 to 5 points higher than last week.

Union Pacific and Reading have been the active features, have covered a range of 6 and 4½ points respectively and close at or near the highest. Delaware & Hudson has recovered 7 points of its recent decline. The local traction issues have been weak and Can. Pacific is fractionally lower.

Industrial stocks as a group have not been conspicuous in the dealings, although practically all have been strong. Steel common is up 2 points, the preferred 1½ and the copper shares from 1 to 2.

For daily volume of business see page 1034.

Outside Market.—The striking advances in Standard Oil and American Tobacco and the trading in the new Pennsylvania RR. 4s "w. i." were the only developments of moment in outside securities this week. Trading continues extremely dull, though towards the close the market became stronger, influenced no doubt by the better turn on the Exchange. Standard Oil opened the week at 565, an advance of 5 points over last week's closing figure, sold up to 590 and to-day, on active dealings, made a further gain of 20 points to 610. The close was at 606. American Tobacco from 306, the week's opening, moved up to 325, and to-day jumped to 365. This latest advance was accompanied by rumors of larger dividends. The stock closed at 355. Pennsylvania new 4s "w. i." were heavily dealt in between 98½ and 99¼, this last being an advance of 3¼ points above the figures at which the bonds will be offered for subscription. Erie new 6% notes also showed improvement, gaining 1½ points to 97. Illinois Central "rights" were traded in between 2⅝ and 3. Copper shares were quiet. Boston Consolidated Copper from 12 went up to 12¼ then down to 11½, closing to-day at 12. Butte Coalition rose from 20⅛ to 21⅛. Cumberland Ely sold from 7⅞ to 8¼ and Davis Daly Estates between 2⅞ and 3½ and at 3 finally. Nevada Consolidated Copper declined from 11⅜ to 11, but to-day sold up to 11⅞, closing at 11⅝. Nevada-Utah moved up from 3⅝ to 4¼ and down finally to 3⅞. United Copper common lost about a point to 6, but recovered at the close to 6⅞. Goldfield Consolidated fluctuated between 5 7-16 and 5¾. ## RAILROAD GROSS EARNINGS.

The following table shows the gross earnings of every STEAM railroad from which regular weekly or monthly returns can be obtained. The first two columns of figures give the gross earnings for the latest week or month, and the last two columns the earnings for the period from July 1 to and including such latest week or month. We add a supplementary statement to show the fiscal year totals of those roads whose fiscal year does not begin with July, but covers some other period. The returns of the street railways are brought together separately on a subsequent page.

Net Earnings Monthly to Latest Dates.—The following shows the gross and net earnings to latest dates of all STEAM railroads furnishing monthly statements. The compilation includes every road from which we can get a return of this character, and in that form is given once a month. Early returns are published from week to week, as soon as issued, but for the convenience of our readers all the roads making returns are brought together here in the week in which we publish our monthly article on net earnings—say, about the 20th of the month.

New York Chicago & St. Louis RR.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President W. H. Canniff says in substance:

Funded Debt.—The funded debt was increased during the year by the issue and sale of $3,000,000 of the $10,000,000 authorized issue of debenture bonds of 1906, and it was decreased by the redemption of bonds purchased under the sinking fund provisions $108,000.

General Results.—The gross earnings increased $563,462, or 5.69%, over the previous year. Freight earnings increased $295,469, or 3.54%, and passenger earnings increased $229,057, or 16.50%. The expenses of operation decreased $78,492. The net earnings increased $381,260, but other income decreased $28,593. The first charges, $1,322,315, show an increase of $67,700, due to charges for interest on debenture bonds issued during the year and to increase in the amount of taxes paid. The charges on account of equipment trust obligations were greatly reduced. The profit from operation for the year, after payment of 5% dividend on the preferred stocks, was $501,030. From this sum there was authorized a deduction of $500,000 as a special fund for new equipment and betterments.

There was charged to expenses for additions to equipment and improvements to roadway and structures during the year $893,584.

Co. $70,214; total, $2,605,113, from which deduct: unexpended balances restored to income account, $78,419, leaving $2,526,695, which is accounted for as follows:

Underground Electric Railways of London, Ltd.

(Report of Directors In Connection with Readjustment Plan.)

The directors submit the following statement in regard to the financial position of the company, and the reasons why, in their opinion, it is necessary, in the interests of all concerned, that there should be an exchange of the "profit-sharing secured notes" for new obligations of the company, on terms fully explained in the plan on a following page of to-day's "Chronicle."

Status.—The whole of the works have, substantially, been completed, with the exception of the extension of the Baker Street & Waterloo Railway from Edgware Road to Paddington, about half a mile of double track, the construction of which has been postponed. The company has also acquired 15,377 preference and 87,870 ordinary shares of £10 each in the London United Tramways, Ltd., which owns and operates about 55 miles of tramways, of which 47 miles are double track in the western and south-western suburban districts of London.

The payment to the company for the electrification of the Metropolitan District Railway (about 24 miles of double track) was made largely in second preference stock of the District Company, while the contract price for the construction of the Tube Railways, having an aggregate length of about 22 miles of double track, was the issue to the company of nearly the whole of the share and debenture capital authorized by Parliament of the three Tube Railway companies. The Chelsea power house, which is owned by the company, and which supplies the electric current for working the District Railway and its outlying branches and the three Tube railways, has involved a total cash outlay of about £1,375,000 out of the company's funds.

Earnings of Several Properties.—In 1903, when the notes were issued, it was anticipated that the whole of the works would be completed during the first half of 1906, thus allowing a period of two years for full operation of the whole system before the maturity of the notes. It was also expected that before the date of the maturity of the notes the Tube Railways and the District Railway would be earning sufficient revenue to pay dividends on the stocks and shares held by this company, and that the company would in consequence be able to sell, at satisfactory prices, sufficient of these stocks and shares to enable it to provide for its capital requirements and to pay the notes at maturity.

The development of the District Company's traffic has, however, been much less rapid than was anticipated; the Tube construction work has taken longer than was expected, so that the Piccadilly tube was not opened for public traffic until Dec. 15 1906, while the Charing Cross Euston & Hampstead line was only opened on June 22 1907. There has, therefore, not yet been time for the traffic on the Tubes to develop, and though on the Baker Street and Piccadilly lines the signs of increase are satisfactory, as can be seen from the figures given below, the receipts are not yet to expectations.

Note.—The traffic receipts for the first 12 weeks of 1908 amounted to £372 per mile per week, being an increase of about 12% on £331 for the corresponding weeks in 1907.

In view of the large holdings of the company in District stocks, the company has from time to time advanced to the District Company the sums required to pay for works in progress, such as the reconstruction of stations requiring renewal, re-ballasting, &c., and to meet their half-yearly revenue deficits. The directors of the District Company are applying to Parliament for power to issue "prior lien debenture stock," ranking next after the existing rent charge stocks, in order to provide funds to clear that company's surplus lands from the charges upon them, and to meet their capital requirements and any further deficits on revenue account. It is expected that after 1909 the net revenue of the District undertaking will be sufficient to pay all its fixed charges, including interest on the proposed "prior lien debenture stock." (Compare V. 86, p. 548.)

Power House.—The company's power house at Lots Road, Chelsea, is among the largest of its kind in the world: the site, which is a freehold, has an area of 3.67 acres, and there is a total water frontage on the Thames and Chelsea Creek of 1,100 feet and a private dock. There are eight turbo-alternators, each machine having a normal full load of 5,500 k. w. The power house undertaking is now yielding the company a net profit at the rate of about £17,000 per annum after paying all its working expenses and providing for the interest on the total authorized power house first and second debentures, and for depreciation.

Causes of Embarrassment—Outlook.—The unfavorable state of the money markets of the world has almost from the beginning hampered the company, and it has been obliged, not only to call up the whole of its £5,000,000 share capital, but also to raise on the security of various assets about £2,275,000 in addition to the £7,000,000 of notes. There are in addition outstanding commitments for construction work, &c., amounting to about £650,000.

Stocks generally have depreciated in price in all markets, and those dependent upon London traffic have, owing to severe competition and excessive reductions in fares, fallen lower than many securities of intrinsically less value. The competitors for London passenger traffic include the London County Council, on whose growing network of tramways passengers are carried at fares which, it is believed, are in many cases unremunerative, and the motor omnibus companies, who have only recently come into the field, but which probably cannot run profitably on the basis of their existing fares. It seems at last, however, to have been generally recognized that for a large number of companies to carry passengers at a loss is not sound business. The responsible heads of the principal London passenger traffic companies have, therefore, recently constituted a traffic conference for the purpose of discussing the best means by which injurious competition can be as far as practicable avoided. The traffic which can be secured by the carrying companies affords ample scope for remunerative enterprise. The population of greater London is about 7 millions, and is rapidly increasing. If, therefore, competition is kept within fair and prudent limits, as there is every reason to hope that it will be, it is inconceivable that the situation of the carrying companies will not gradually improve.

To give time for the development of the traffic on the railway and tramway undertakings which constitute the bulk of the company's assets, so as to allow of ultimate realization to the best possible advantage, the directors, after consultation with Messrs. Speyer and with the London committee, Edwin Waterhouse, Chairman, and the Amsterdam committee,

H. C. Veltman, Chairman, ask and recommend the noteholders and shareholders to adopt the scheme, as approved by the committees for which it is proposed, as soon as possible, to apply for the sanction of the Court.

Bush Terminal Co., New York.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

President Irving T. Bush says:

The condition of the plant has been well maintained, and an unusually large amount has been expended for a thorough overhauling of floating and mechanical equipment. Repair expenditures aggregating $116,721 have been charged to operating.

Loft building No. 3 was completed early in 1908 and will produce income this year.

The City of New York during 1907 acquired by condemnation nearly all of the water front property on each side of the company's plant, for the purpose of building piers similar in a general way to those owned by this company. This will be of benefit to this enterprise by bringing to South Brooklyn a large amount of additional shipping, and firmly establishing that water-front as the terminal for large freight steamers, and with the construction by the City of the Fourth Avenue subway will increase in value the large amount of vacant property being carried by the company.

The general business of the company will not be materially affected by financial conditions. Commercial depression usually results in the accumulation in warehouses of merchandise not required for distribution. This more than offsets the falling off in other branches of the company's business.

The earnings for the first two months of 1908 are better than the corresponding months in 1907.

Cambria Steel Co., Philadelphia.

(Report for Fiscal Year ending Dec. 31 1907.)

The comparative figures of earnings and balance sheet were given in the "Chronicle" of March 21 1908, page 719.

The report, signed by E. B. Morris, Chairman of Executive Committee, and Powell Stackhouse, President, says, under date of Philadelphia, Feb. 18 1908:

Mineral Properties.—The coal, iron-ore and limestone properties produced satisfactory results. Your company is fortunate in controlling so large a proportion of its raw materials. Explorations for ore are being continued on a large body of land in Michigan held under option, thus far with negative results.

Your Penn Iron Mining Co. shipped from its mines on the Menominee Range, Mich., 378,764 tons of iron ore for use at your works. The Republic Iron Co. of Michigan, of which you own over 99½% of the capital stock, shipped from its mines in the Marquette district, Mich., 171,048 tons of iron ore, about 150,000 tons for your use, the remainder having been sold.

The Mahoning Ore & Steel Co., Mesabi district, Minn., of which you own 50% of the capital stock, produced 1,547,711 tons of iron ore, your proportion of which was 692,107 tons: 515,000 tons for use at your works and 177,000 tons were sold at a profit. Its annual output can be increased, when required, and its ore reserves are ample for a long term of years.

General Office at Johnstown.—This six-story fire-proof building was completed and occupied in July, and your local official and clerical forces have been consolidated therein.

Cambria Plant.—Expenditures aggregating a large sum have been made in the line of remodeling and betterments. The chief of these are: Steel stock bins at No. 5 and 6 blast furnaces; one-half of these are now in use and the remainder should be completed in the first half of 1908. New and enlarged fire-proof machine shop finished and operating.

To the electric plant there is being added 2,000 K. W. electric power with 2,400 H. P. boilers at No. 6 blast furnace. The use of electricity is being constantly increased in all parts of the plant. A repair shop is under construction.

Gautier Plant.—The 22-inch plate and break-down mill under construction last year commenced rolling steel in September.

The boilers of this department were consolidated in one building.

Two 75-foot spans of steel and concrete construction have replaced temporary wooden buildings. After the removal of the 20-inch plate mill into the new building, and as opportunity offers, the work of reconstruction will be proceeded with until all the old buildings are replaced.

Franklin Plant.—Work has been carried on in the direction of the completion of the plant in accordance with the original plans.

The Franklin mines have been equipped with an electric haulage plant. The Otto Hoffman coke oven plant now comprises 312 ovens; the eighht battery, of 56 ovens, produced coke in April. No. 8 blast furnace made its first metal Aug. 7. Nos. 16 and 17, 50-ton open-hearth furnaces, and the 200-ton hot metal receiver were ocmpleted toward the close of the year. Minor additions have been made to the bloom and billet mill.

Car Shop.—Excepting a curtailment of output in November and December, this plant was in full operation during 1907, with satisfactory results. The additions under construction at date of last report have been completed. The plant is now idle, with little prospect of orders being secured in the early future.

Improvements.—The physical condition of the plant has been fully maintained by current repairs and additions. There was expended for improvements $2,102,522; of this amount, $1,986,017 was charged to plant additions and the remainder, $116,505, was repaid by amount realized from sales in 1907 of real estate and minerals, under terms of your lease from Cambria Iron Co. There was expended in addition $385,146 for replacements and alterations, and charged to operating accounts.

Manufacturers' Water Co.—This corporation, of which you control the entire capital stock, provides the water supply for your works; your use during 1907 averaged 73,000,000 gallons daily. Some preliminary work has been done on the Quemahoning dam and pipe line, but, due to the existing depression, there has been a temporary suspension.

General.—Shipments of steel show a decrease of 4.43% in quantity and 0.87% in the gross value of all products shipped, compared with the preceding year which was your maximum year.

Your mills and shops were under great pressure to fill orders for their products up to the commencement of the financial panic in October, which promptly caused a substantial paralysis in all your operations, and, while your order books contained orders for several months' work ahead, in nearly all lines cancellations and suspensions practically rendered your plant idle, from which it is slowly recovering.

[Touching balance sheet item "Inventory depreciation fund, $300,000," the report says: "The supply of iron ore is provided from the Lake Superior district; to insure continuous operation of your plants, heavy stocks are carried at this season of the year. Due to the prevailing stagnation in business these are not being marketed as rapidly as usual, and it is deemed prudent to protect the probable depreciation by this account."]—V. 86, p. 719.

Boston & Maine RR.—Statement as to Dividend Rate.—Referring to newspaper statements that the dividend on the common stock will probably be reduced from a 7% basis at the next dividend meeting, President Tuttle as quoted says:

The next dividend declaration has not been discussed by directors in any way, so there can be no authority for the statement that a lower rate will be declared. As yet the matter is undecided. Much depends upon the trend of business conditions from now on to the time action is to be taken. The securities sold were all owned by the Chesapeake Western Co., a Virginia corporation, whose $1,000,000 was formerly owned by the Chesapeake Western Securities Co., a company (dissolved in June 1905), whose $550,000 stock was controlled in June 1904 (V. 78, p. 2383) by Thos. Exeter Hampton & Amesbury Street Ry.—Reorganized.—Touching this property, recently sold at receiver's sale, President Allen Hollis, under date of April 10, writes:

These properties were reorganized April 1. The street railway will here after be carried on by the Exeter Hampton & Amesbury Street Railway, with $125,000 of common stock and $125,000 of 5% bonds. The officers are: President, Allen Hollis, Concord, N. H.; Secretary, H. P. Wood, 84 State St., Boston, Mass.; Treasurer, E. A. Bradley, 84 State St., Boston, Mass. The lighting business will be carried on by the Exeter & Hampton Electric Co., capital $100,000. The officers are: President, Allen Hollis, Concord, N. H.; Secretary, H. P. Wood, 84 State St., Boston, Mass.; Treasurer C. W. Rogers, Exeter, N. H.—V. 86, p. 668, 420.

Fitchburg RR.—Bonds Offered.—A syndicate of six Boston banking houses composed of R. L. Day & Co., Lee, Higginson & Co., Kidder, Peabody & Co., Estabrook & Co., Merrill, Oldham & Co. and Blodget, Merritt & Co. are offering the new issue of $2,400,000 4½% 20-year bonds at 103½ and interest, at which price they show an income return of about 4.25%. Compare V. 86, p. 981. The same syndicate has sold all but about $500,000 out of $5,000,000 4% Boston & Maine bonds which were offered to investors in January. —V. 86, p. 981, 794.

Forest City Ry., Cleveland.—Increase of Stock—Additional Franchises Voted.—The stockholders on April 18 authorized an increase in stock from $2,000,000 (of which at last accounts $900,000 had been issued) to $6,000,000.

At a special meeting of the City Council on April 16 franchises were voted, under suspension of the rules, covering Woodland Avenue and most of the West side, over streets now occupied by the Cleveland Electric Ry., on which the city claims the franchises of the latter have lapsed, but which the company says will not expire for two years.

A franchise was also granted to the Neutral Traction Co., half of which is owned by the Forest City Ry. and half by the Cleveland Electric Ry., on Central and Quincy avenues and the right of joint use of a small piece of track on Willson Ave., between Central and Quincy avenues. Both the Forest City and the Cleveland Electric have the right to operate over the tracks. If only one company uses them it must pay 6% on the cost of constructing the line as rental, or if they are used by both companies each company is to pay one-half of such 6%.

The negotiations for a settlement of the street car question with the city have failed to come to a conclusion, owing to a disagreement as to the price to be paid for the stock of the Cleveland Electric Ry. On Wednesday F. H. Goff, on behalf of that company, offered to place the figure at $55 a share and the matter is expected to come up before the City Council on Monday.—V. 85, p. 1461.

Fort Wayne & Springfield (Electric) Ry.—New Stock.—This company has increased its authorized issue of capital stock from $500,000 to $1,000,000, for the purpose of building an extension, next summer, from Decatur to Berne, Ind., 12 miles. The stock is all common; amount now out, $512,000. See p. 43 of "Electric Railway Section."

Grand Trunk Railway of Canada.—Grand Trunk Pacific Town & Development Co.—Possible Bond Issue.—At the general meeting in London on April 9, the Chairman said:

We have obtained a charter for "The Grand Trunk Pacific Town & Development Co.", which has already acquired a considerable amount of land, having fore-knowledge of which way the Grand Trunk Pacific Railroad was going, at and around the various stations on the road, and also at the terminal points, particularly at Prince Rupert. Many of these places which are now merely spots on the prairie of the Northwest, are the sites undoubtedly of future important towns and cities. The company will have a capital stock of $5,000,000; that will remain the property of the Grand Trunk Pacific Ry. Co. For the payment of these lands, which we have acquired on very reasonable terms, and for the future development of these properties, we shall require to raise a certain amount of capital, probably by the issue of bonds. It is our intention to offer these securities at some convenient time to the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Company preferentially, on profitable terms both as regards subscription price and as regards their eventual liquidation. We think it is only right that you who have undertaken this enterprise should profit eventually in the way I have mentioned. We have not yet exactly formulated our scheme.—V. 86, p. 602.

Illinois Central RR.—Equipment Mortgage.—The company has filed for record a first lien equipment mortgage for $30,000,000, made to the United States Trust Co. of New York, as trustee, to secure an issue of 4% gold bonds redeemable Jan. 1 1923. The mortgage, it is stated, covers the entire rolling stock of the railroad company, including 967 locomotives 595 passenger cars and 47,875 freight cars. —V. 86, p. 981, 720.

Interborough Rapid Transit Co., New York.—Bond and Note Issues Approved.—The Public Service Commission, First District, on Thursday formally sanctioned the making of the proposed $55,000,000 mortgage and the use of $30,000,000 of the bonds, bearing 5% interest and due Nov. 1 1952, as collateral, to secure an issue of $25,000,000 6% notes. These notes will mature in three years from May 1 1908, but the holders will have the privilege on any interest day until and including Nov. 1 1910 of exchanging the same at par for the bonds at 99. The notes have been underwritten by J. P. Morgan & Co. and a public offering will be made at once.

The official statement of William R. Willcox, Chairman of the Commission, contains the following:

The authorization of the issue of the $25,000,000 of notes secured by the $30,000,000 of bonds is not in any respect an authorization to increase the company's indebtedness. The unsecured indebtedness of the corporation at the date of the application amounted to $35,352,726 11. The authorized issue of bonds at the present time is $30,000,000, to secure a note issue of $25,000,000, and there is also brought under the security of the mortgage an outstanding issue of $10,000,000, maturing two years hence.

The purpose for which the issue is authorized is solely for the payment of petitioner's obligations, or for the payments of indebtedness about to mature, as representing amounts payable and obligations incurred for the acquisition, construction, completion, extension and improvement of the company's facilities. The present transaction merely provides for the extension or funding of the company's indebtedness in respect to the greater part thereof and for the liquidation of the remainder thereof.

The new mortgage will cover with the other property mentioned in V. 86, p. 603, the company's lease of the Manhattan Ry. The bonds, it is said, will be subject to call at 105. See also V. 86, p. 981.

Extension to Long Island RR. Station.—The extension of the subway from Borough Hall, Brooklyn, to the L. I. RR. Station at Flatbush Avenue, it is announced, will be opened May 1.—V. 86, p. 981, 918.

International & Great Northern RR.—Foreclosure Suit Brought under Second Mortgage.—The second mortgage bondholders' committee, Mark T. Cox, Chairman, announces that at the request of the committee the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co. has, by leave of court, filed a bill of complaint in the United States Circuit Court for the Northern District of Texas for the foreclosure of the second mortgage.

Added to Committee—Deposits.—The aforesaid second mortgage bondholders' committee, previously consisting of Mark T. Cox, Chairman; Edgar L. Marston and John W. Hamer, has added to its number H. K. Pomrov of Pomroy Brothers, and W. Emlen Roosevelt of Roosevelt & Son, N. Y.

Thomas Denny & Co., New York, who previously contemplated taking steps to protect the bonds, of which they represent a large amount, are urging all holders to deposit their bonds with the Farmers' Loan & Trust Co., as requested by the aforesaid enlarged committee. Deposits will be received on or before May 9.—V. 86, p. 603, 547.

Iowa Central Ry.—Bonds Offered.—E. H. Rollins & Sons, Boston, Chicago, &c., are offering for sale $750,000 "first and refunding mortgage" 4% gold bonds, dated March 1 1901 and due March 1 1951. President Edwin Hawley, Esq., under date of Jan. 15 1908, writes to the bankers:

These bonds are a portion of a total authorized issue of $25,000,000, of which $7,650,000 are reserved to retire an equal amount of 5% bonds due 1938 (the only prior obligation) and $5,400,000 have been certified by the trustee, under the provisions of the mortgage. Of this $5,400,000, there had been sold to the public prior to your purchase $2,070,000 bonds and the remaining $3,330,000 bonds have been held in the treasury, your purchase being from this lot.

The bonds are secured by a mortgage covering the entire property, including equipment now owned or hereafter acquired, consisting of 538 miles of main line and branches, the bonded debt, including the treasury bonds, being $24,300 per mile of single track owned. By the retirement in 1901 of the $591,000 bonds of the Keithsburg Bridge Co., this mortgage became a first lien on the Keithsburg Bridge crossing the Mississippi River at Keithsburg. The mortgage is also a first collateral lien upon the Iowa Central & Western (37 miles).

Since the Iowa Central was acquired by its present owners in June 1900 they have pursued a conservative policy of foregoing dividends, using net earnings for the improvement of the property. For the year ending June 30 1907 the surplus over and above all operating expenses and total fixed charges was $445,595. See V. 86, p. 229, 168.

Kansas & Colorado Pacific Ry.—See Missouri Pacific Ry.

Kansas City Fort Scott & Memphis Ry.—Called Bonds.—Frank H. Damon, trustee under the mortgage of the Ozark Equipment Co., will pay at 50 State St., Boston, on May 1, bonds called for payment at par (ex-coupon due May 1 1908) as follows: First series, due May 1 1910, $35,000; second series, due Nov. 1 1910, $57,000.—V. 84, p. 1551.

Metropolitan Street Ry., New York.—Mr. Ryan's Statement as to Company's History.—Thomas F. Ryan, formerly a leading spirit in the enterprise, gave out on Monday a statement intended to show the falsity of current accusations to the effect that the former management and directors were guilty of stock-watering, inside profits, &c. This statement, which was published in the "New York Sun" and other local papers of April 21 closes with the assertion that the failure of the surface lines was not due to any of the causes alleged, but to conditions which were mainly the results of State interference, among these being:

1. The extension of the free transfer obligation by legislative enactment and court decisions, so that the fare per passenger has been reduced from five cents to only a little more than three cents.
2. Enormous increases in taxes, the special franchise tax alone having almost doubled the system's burden of taxation.
3. The extraordinary congestion of street traffic resulting in greatly increased cost of operation and maintenance and also in an abnormal burden of accident claims, this item alone amounting to $2,000,000 a year, or about 10% of the gross receipts.
4. The competition of subway lines, built with the aid of the city's credit.

"These causes have reduced the net earnings of the system fully $6,000,000 a year, or more than 10% upon the company's capital stock.

The company was not "looted—it was throttled."—V. 86, p. 857, 668.

Mexican Central Ry.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $22,554,000 Central Trust Co. certificates of deposit for Mexican Central Ry. stock under the plan of readjustment and union with the National RR of Mexico, and has authorized to be listed from time to time prior to Jan. 1 1909 $36,573,100 additional of said certificates on notice of deposit of additional stock, making the total amount of said certificates authorized to be listed $59,127,100.—V. 86, p. 918, 603.

Milwaukee Light Heat & Traction Co.—Guaranteed First Mortgage Bonds Offered.—Spencer Trask & Co. are offering at 98 and interest, yielding the investor about 5.15% on the investment, $1,000,000 first mortgage 5% gold bonds, dated May 1 1899, guaranteed as to both principal and interest by the Milwaukee Electric Railway & Light Co. by endorsement on each bond. Issue limited to the $5,000,000 bonds now outstanding. A circular says:

The bonds are a first mortgage upon all property, real and personal, of the Milwaukee Light Heat & Traction Co., now owned or hereafter to be acquired, as is specifically stated in each and every bond, including all of the property constructed or acquired with the proceeds from sale of an authorized issue of $30,000,000 refunding and extension mortgage 5% bonds, of which $5,000,000 are now outstanding. The first mortgage 5s are also a first lien upon the stocks of the Racine Gas Light Co., the Kenosha Gas & Electric Co. and the Watertown Gas & Electric Co., all of the stocks of these companies being deposited with the trustee under the first mortgage.—V. 86, p. 286.

Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie Ry.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $4,500 additional common and $2,300 additional preferred stock, making the total amounts listed $7,002,300 preferred stock and $14,004,500 common stock, and has authorized to be listed additional amounts of common and preferred stock from time to time up to July 1 1908 on notice that said stocks, which were offered to stockholders in Sept. last (V. 85, p. 1646, 793, 160), have been issued and paid for in full, making the total amounts authorized to be listed $16,800,000 common stock and $8,400,000 preferred stock.

Earnings.—For 6 mos. ending Dec. 31 1907:

| Six Months. | Gross Earnings. | Net Earnings. | Other Inc. | Int., taxes & rentals. | Add'ns. & Impts. | Balance per Dec. |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1907 | $5,773,878 | $2,828,256 | $26,713 | $1,555,413 | $350,000 | $1,259,555 |
| 1906 | 6,800,536 | 3,374,903 | | | | |

From the surplus as above in 1907 were paid semi-annual dividends of 3½% on preferred stock, $243,743, and 2% on common stock, $277,206, leaving a balance of $388,600. —V. 86, p. 721.

Missouri Oklahoma & Gulf Ry.—Bonds Offered.—Status of Enterprise.—The company's outstanding $2,500,000 first mortgage 5% gold bonds are being offered for public subscription by W. H. Trumbull & Co. of Boston and the Banque Franco-Americaine of Paris, France. Principal due Nov. 1 1944, but redeemable upon any interest day after Nov. 1 1909 at 107 and interest after six months' notice.

The bonds are secured by an absolute first mortgage upon the entire property of the company now owned or hereafter acquired at $25,000 per mile, comprising at the present time 95.3 miles of standard-gauge road, constructed with 70-lb. steel rail. This road is a new low-grade short north-and-south line extending through the State of Oklahoma from Wagoner to the Canadian River, and an extension is under construction from the latter point to Denison and Sherman, Texas, where connections will be made with the numerous lines running to the Gulf of Mexico.

The lines traverse two extensive coal fields, known as the Henryetta and Lehigh fields.

A map showing the lines and terminal properties at the City of Muskogee will be found in the "Railway and Industrial" Section of April 25 1908, page 87. A special circular issued by the bankers contains a letter from President Wm. Kenefick, dated Kansas City, Mo., April 1 1908, which we cite as follows:

This company owns and operates a north and south line aggregating [illegible] miles of main track, including a coal branch 5 miles in length. Constructed with 70-lb. steel rail and 3,600 standard white oak ties per mile on a 100-ft. right of way owned in fee, and enclosed with standard fences and cattle guards. Maximum grade 6-10 of 1%; the tangent, or straight line, is 77% of the entire line with easy curvature, the maximum being four degrees. There are five steel girder bridges on the existing line, ranging from 56 feet to 740 feet, those crossing the Verdigris and Arkansas rivers being constructed as toll bridges, producing additional net income of about $4,000 per annum. The terminal property at Muskogee owned by this company is valued at $300,000.

These bonds are secured by an absolute first and only mortgage upon the entire property above described and all right of way, franchises, &c.; also by a direct lien upon 8 locomotives and 411 cars, of which 398 are 60,000 and 80,000 capacity coal cars. Under the provisions of the mortgage bonds cannot be issued to exceed the rate of $25,000 per mile of main track, and the trustee is authorized to certify only as five-mile sections are completed and ready for operation. Of the above-named amount, $2,000 per mile is reserved for equipment.

There are so many diversified agricultural and mineral resources in Oklahoma that a continuous source of revenue is insured to the railroads throughout the year, and the products of the State are increasing with great rapidity. The tonnage of this line will comprise coal, lumber, cotton, corn, oats, wheat, potatoes, alfalfa, fruit and truck farming products and numerous mineral substances. Near Muskogee enormous quantities of excellent gravel and sand are found, and the company is delivering 20 cars and 10 cars thereof respectively per diem. Natural gas is found in abundance and the celebrated Glen Pool oil fields are also within a short distance of this road. The bottom lands of the numerous streams contained in Oklahoma cannot be excelled for the production of long-staple cotton. Many thousand head of cattle, sheep and hogs are raised, and at a point on this line a $500,000 packing plant is now in course of construction which will probably be in full operation not later than Sept. 1 1908. The Henryetta Coal Field, reported to comprise over 9,000 acres, is situated directly on the company's line, and the Colgate and Lehigh fields, which are reached by the southern extension, produce annually over 1,000,000 tons of bituminous coal.

The writer estimates that the net available income for the ensuing year, over and above all fixed charges, will amount to over $30,000 (namely, gross earnings, $450,000; net, $157,500; interest charges, $125,000; balance, surplus, $32,500.—Ed.). -V. 81, p. 1849.

Missouri Pacific Ry.—"Kansas & Colorado Pacific Ry. First Refunding Mortgage Bonds."—This new issue of 6% bonds, guaranteed by the Missouri Pacific Ry., is fully described, in connection with a map, in our "Railway and Industrial" supplement issued to-day, pages 84 and 86. The road makes the link connecting the Missouri Pacific with the Denver & Rio Grande and Western Pacific. A large amount of the Missouri Pacific two-year collateral 6% notes secured by these bonds which was recently offered by Tailer & Co. have been converted into the bonds. Compare V. 86, p. 229, 286.—V. 86, p. 337, 480.

National Railroad of Mexico.—Listed.—The New York Stock Exchange has listed $253,000 additional first consolidated mortgage 4% bonds, due 1951, making the total amount listed to date $24,749,000.

The bonds listed were issued under Article 1, Section 1, Subdivision B, of the mortgage to reimburse the company for the acquisition, after Oct. 1 1903, of additional equipment, which has been made subject to the lien of the mortgage and is a first charge thereon.

Earnings.—For the 6 months ending Dec. 31 1907:

New York City Ry.—Favorable Transfer Decision Affirmed.—The Court of Appeals yesterday, by a vote of 5 to 2, affirmed the decision of the lower court in the case of one Kelly, upholding the right of the company to refuse to give transfers except when presented for a continuous trip in the same general direction in which the passenger started. The plaintiff offered a southbound transfer on a northbound car. Compare V. 84, p. 1308, 391.—V. 86, p. 858, 669.

New York New Haven & Hartford RR.—Acquired by Deed.—A deed for $27,500,000 was filed in Worcester County, Mass., on April 22 transferring the franchise and property of the New England RR. to the New York New Haven & Hartford RR. Co., which for some years past has owned substantially all of the company's capital stock.—V. 86, p. 982, 721.

Norfolk & Western Ry.—Sale of Collateral Notes—Public Offering.—The company has sold to the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York an issue of $7,500,000 "2-year 5% secured notes" of $1,000 each (c*) which are now offered to the public by advertisement on another page at 99 and interest, at which price the return on the investment is over 5½%.

A large proportion of the notes has already been resold by the bankers.

The notes are to be dated May 1 1908 and will mature May 1 1910; interest payable May 1 and Nov. 1. They are to be secured by deposit with the Guaranty Trust Co., as trustee, of $10,000,000 Norfolk & Western divisional "first lien and general mortgage" 4% gold bonds, which is equivalent to a price of 75 for the bonds, compared with a present market price of about 87. The surplus of the company for the year ended June 30 1907, after the payment of interest, taxes and rentals, was $7,000,319; against this the total charges for interest on the new notes will be only $375,000 per annum.

Dividend on Common Stock Reduced from 5% to 4% Basis.—The directors on Thursday declared a semi-annual dividend of 2% on the $64,469,200 common stock, payable June 18 on stock of record May 29, thus reducing the annual rate from the 5% basis established in Dec. 1906, to 4%.

Rothschild & Co. announce that they have requested August Belmont & Co., as their agents in the United States, to represent them in New York in regard to certain details.

Extracts from Letter of Pres. James McCrea, Philadelphia, April 21 1908.

These bonds are to be secured by the "consolidated mortgage" of this company dated July 1 1873. This mortgage is a continuing lien upon the property hereafter mentioned to secure the payment of $1[illegible] bonds, as well those first issued as these which may be issued from time to time after the payment of the whole or any part thereof, or of any subsequent issue, but never to exceed at any time $[illegible] outstanding. In addition to the amount now to be issued there are outstanding $12,569,790 bonds, as follows:

$4,998,000 5% bonds, due Sept. 1 '19 | $1,000,000 3½% sterling bonds, due
2,714,000 4% bonds due May 1 '48 | July 1 1945.
$7,799 matured bds. not presented

The consolidated mortgage is (1) a first lien (subject only to $[illegible] general mortgage 6% bonds, due July 1 1910 and [illegible] of which $19,997,820 consolidated mortgage bonds are reserved) on main line and various branches of the Pennsylvania RR. between Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, secured by direct mortgage on about 900 miles of owned main track and on the valuable terminals in Philadelphia and Pittsburgh and by the pledge of the lease for 999 years from 1861 of the Harrisburg Portsmouth Mount Joy & Lancaster RR. Co., covering 52.57 miles. (2) It is further secured by the pledge of the lease for 999 years from 1871 of the properties known as the United New Jersey RR. & Canal Co. (excepting a small branch and some real estate connected therewith.) The consolidated mortgage, therefore, covers, by direct lien and pledge of leasehold interests, railroad lines from Jersey City, N. J., (opposite New York City) to Philadelphia, Harrisburg and Pittsburgh, Pa.

In addition, the consolidated mortgage is secured by the pledge with the trustees of securities of an estimated present value of over $50,000,000.

The annual interest charge on the $19,997,820 general mortgage bonds and the consolidated mortgage bonds herefofore issued amounts to less than $1,800,000, while the net income of the Pennsylvania RR. Co. for the year ending Dec. 31 1907, over and above all interest charges, was in excess of $33,500,000.

The bonds purchased by you are to be dated May 1 1908, and are to mature May 1 1948; they will be issued in denominations of either $1,000 United States gold coin of or equal to the present standard of weight and fineness, or of £200 sterling (c*&r.) Interest at the rate of 4% per annum will be payable semi-annually on May 1 and Nov. 1 of every year. The principal and interest of dollar bonds will be payable in New York or Philadelphia, and of sterling bonds in London, England, and will be payable without deduction for any tax or taxes which the company may be required to pay or retain therefrom under any present or future law of the United States of America or of the State of Pennsylvania.

(Compare "Annual Report" in V. 86, p. 598, 607.)

The proceeds of the issue, it is stated, will be used by the company to meet the expenditures upon the New York tunnel extension and the terminal station in the centre of New York City, and for the completion of other construction work and facilities already under way and necessary to economically handle the traffic.—V. 86, p. 982, 669.

Portland (Ore.) Railway, Light & Power Co.—Consolidation.—A deed has been filed transferring to this company, which already owned nearly the entire capital stock, the various properties of the old Portland General Electric Co., this being one step in the process of consolidating a number of controlled companies into the Portland Railway, Light & Power Co.

Sale of Bonds of Constituent Company.—Redmond & Co. have purchased from the Portland Ry. Co. all of its "first and refunding" 5% bonds that it had issued and were held in its treasury. This makes a total of $6,599,000 issued by the company and purchased by the same bankers to date.—V. 85, p. 42.

Description of Power Plant.—The "Electrical World" of New York is publishing a series of articles regarding the company's generating and distributing system.

Rapid Transit in New York City.—Important Legislation.—The New York State Senate passed on Wednesday the amendment to the Elsberg bill introduced by Assemblyman Beverly R. Robinson and already adopted by the Assembly by a vote of 99 to 16, by which it is expected that private capital will be induced to bid for new subways. The Legislature has also passed the Travis-Lee bill authorizing a State election to vote on the proposed constitutional amendment taking certain bonds from the computation of the New York City debt limit, so that it is expected that $125,000,000 will be available for new subways in 1910. The amendment to the Elsberg bill, which is in the hands of the Governor, has been outlined as follows:

The Public Service Commission may sell at public auction "the right, privilege and franchise to construct, maintain and operate such railway or railways," and any existing railway corporation owning or actually operating a railway wholly or in part within the city limits may bid at the sale and enter into a contract for construction, maintenance and operation. The city will reserve the privilege to purchase the rights, privileges, franchises, plant and property of the grantee "at any time after the expiration of a period of not more than fifty years" from the date when operation begins. The price paid is to be determined by valuation of the property, which "shall not be greater than the actual cost of such plant and property." The city may then re-sell the right to operate the road, and may utilize the proceeds of such re-sale in making payment to the original grantee.

The bill extends from 20 years, the present limit, to 35 years the term of the lease or contract for the operation of a subway constructed by the city. Any new subway which is determined to be a connection or extension of the existing subway may be constructed as extra work under the terms of the contract covering the building of the subway already in operation; or it may be built with public money and leased to the company operating the present subway for a term not extending beyond the term of the existing contract.—V. 86, p. 982.

Rio de Janeiro Tramway, Light & Power Co.—Sale of Securities in Paris.—The company, it is reported, has succeeded in placing £1,750,000 of new 5% mortgage bonds in Paris, this being one-half of the total authorized issue of £3,500,000. The bonds are dated April 1 1908 and will mature April 1 1958; interest payable Oct. 1 and April 1.

Underground Electric Railways of London.—Official Report—Liabilities, Earnings, Outlook.—See "Annual Reports" on a preceding page.

Plan.—In view of the condition of affairs shown in the aforesaid report, the directors strongly recommend the following plan of readjustment, which has been formulated in consultation with Speyer & Co. of New York, Speyer Brothers of London, Teixeira de Mattos Bros. of Amsterdam and Lazard Speyer-Ellissen of Frankfort. These banking houses agree to make the cash contributions called for by the plan and to act as readjustment managers without compensation. The plan, dated April 7 1908, is recommended also by the London and Amsterdam committees of noteholders.

The company is to create the following securities:

Subject to redemption, any or all, at company's option, by drawings at par on 6 months' notice with proceeds of sale of collateral or otherwise. Principal and interest payable in London in sterling, or, at bearer's option, in New York at $4 8666 per £, or in Frankfort-on-Main at mks. 20.40 per £, or in Amsterdam at fl. 12.12 per £. Interest to run from May 1 1908, payable Nov. 1 and May 1, yielding a clear 5% per annum after payment of British income tax.

The trust deed will empower the company, with the previous approval of a majority in value of the bearers of the 4½% bonds mentioned below, to issue an additional £250,000 bonds, ranking pari passu with the other prior lien bonds for the time being outstanding.

The bonds are to be secured by a first charge upon the collateral now deposited as security for the profit-sharing notes (see list under "Annual Reports" on a preceding page), with an addition of £3,500,000 (nominal) of shares of the three Tube Railway Companies (namely £1,585,000 Gt. Nor. Plc. & Brompton, £1,375,000 Charing Cross E. & H. Ry. and £540,000 Baker St. & Waterloo Ry.) and a charge (without power of sale or foreclosure) on the power-house undertaking, subject to the now authorized power-house first and second debenture issues, or any re-issue, and to any re-borrowing to redeem such debentures.

Subject to redemption at par before maturity and with principal and interest payable on same terms as stated for "prior lien bonds" above (but subject to prior rights of said bonds). Interest to run from Dec. 1 1907, the first coupon representing interest for the seven months ending July 1 1908 and to be payable one month after the scheme becomes binding. Subsequent coupons Jan. 1 and July 1 at rate of 4½% per annum clear of British income tax.

The 4½% bonds will be secured by a charge on the same collaterals as the "prior lien bonds," similar to but ranking immediately after said bonds.

The trust deed will provide that in the event of four consecutive coupons being at any one time in arrear and unpaid, the charge for securing such bonds shall become immediately enforceable, in which event the trustee may (and, upon request of bearers of a majority in value of the outstanding amount of the 4½% bonds, shall), subject to the rights of the prior lien bondholders, realize the stocks and shares deposited as collateral.

£5,200,000 6% Income Bonds to Bearer, Due Jan. 1 1948.

Subject to redemption at par before maturity and, with principal and interest, payable in same kinds of currency as the prior lien bonds and the 4½% bonds of 1933, but subject to prior rights of those issues.

"The trust deed will provide for payment of the interest thereon (which is to be non-cumulative) in semi-annual installments out of the profits on revenue account of each half-year available for the purpose and remaining after making or providing for all other payments on revenue account for such half-year and setting aside such sums for reserve as the directors may think expedient. The full rate of interest will be such as to yield a clear 6% per annum, after payment of British income tax."

The income bonds will be secured by a charge on the same collaterals as the "prior lien" bonds and the 4½% bonds of 1933, similar to, but ranking immediately after the charge of, such last mentioned bonds.

The bearers of the income bonds are to be entitled, as far as the law will permit, to attend and vote at all meetings of the company, but they are not to vote on any resolution for putting the company into liquidation. They are to have eleven votes for each £100 of principal of the said bonds.

Terms of Exchange.—Noteholders will be asked to exchange their notes as to 40% of their nominal value into 4½% bonds of 1933 at par, and as to 70% of their nominal value into income bonds at par, the exchange taking place as of Dec. 1 1907. The 4½% bonds and the income bonds given in exchange for those notes which are payable in Unted States currency will be issued in even amounts of sterling, the exchange being made at the rate of $4 8666 to the £ sterling, and scrip will be given for the resulting fractional parts, convertible into new bonds when presented in amounts of £20 or multiples thereof. Each $1,000 profit-sharing note will thus be exchanged for £80 in sterling 4½% bonds and £2 3s. 10d. in sterling 4½% bond scrip and £140 in sterling income bonds and £3 16s. 9d. in sterling income bond scrip.

Application of Proposed New Securities.

| | 5% Prior Lien Bonds. | 4½% Bonds of 1933. | 6% Income Bonds. |
|---|---|---|---|
| To holders of £3,599,268 9s. 8d. 5% "profit-sharing secured notes" | ---------- | (40%) £1,439,707 | (70%) £2,519,488 |
| To holders of *$16,550,000 5% "profit-sharing secured notes" (taken at $4 8666) | ---------- | (40%) 1,360,292 | (70%) 2,380,512 |
| do for each $1,000 note | ---------- | (£82 3s. 10d.) | (£143 16s. 9d.) |
| Reserved for special interest fund provided by Messrs. Speyer | ---------- | 200,000 | 300,000 |
| Underwritten by Messrs. Speyer & their friends | £1,000,000 | ---------- | ---------- |
| Total | £1,000,000 | £3,000,000 | £5,200,000 |

The coupon due Dec. 1 1907 on the notes and the seven months' interest to July 1 1908 on the 4½% bonds of 1933 will be paid in full in cash out of the proceeds of the issue of "prior lien bonds."

Special Interest Fund.—As the estimated net revenues (see "Annual Reports" on a preceding page—Ed.) would scarcely warrant the company in undertaking a definite obligation to pay the interest during the first few years on the 4½% bonds of 1933, and in order that the noteholders may not suffer so serious a reduction in their income as would otherwise be the case, Speyer Brothers of London, Speyer & Co. of New York and Lazard Speyer-Ellissen of Frankfort-on-Main have, by agreement with the company, dated April 7 1908, undertaken to purchase on or before each Jan. 1 and July 1, commencing with Jan. 1 1909, such an amount of 4½% bonds and income bonds at the price of £300 (and accrued interest on the 4½% bonds) for £200 4½% bonds and £300 income bonds (taken together) as will by the proceeds make good any deficiency in the full interest for the preceding half-year on the 4½% bonds which the revenues of the company to the close of such half-year remaining after making or providing for all payments on revenue account (except interest on the income bonds for the same half-year), but before providing for reserve, are insufficient to meet. Messrs. Speyer, however, stipulate that they are not to be liable under such undertaking for more than £300,000 in all (being the purchase money of £200,000 of 4½% bonds and £300,000 of income bonds). The directors are of the opinion that the special interest fund of £300,000 will be sufficient to make up any deficiencies down to and including July 1 1912, and that thereafter, if not before, the surplus income of the company will be sufficient to meet all the company's fixed charges.

Sale of Prior Lien Bonds.—The proposed issue of £1,000,000 "prior lien bonds" will be offered to the noteholders and shareholders for subscription at the price of £93 per £100 bond as soon as may be after the scheme becomes binding and the whole of such proposed issue has been underwritten at the foregoing price by Messrs. Speyer and their friends conditionally on the scheme being accepted by the noteholders and shareholders tnd becoming binding.

The proceeds, £930,000, will be used towards meeting the cash requirements, which are estimated as follows:

|---|---|
| To retire temporary secured loan notes | £300,000 |
| To pay estimated outstanding commitments on construction account, and other liabilities, (about) £650,000. Deduct estimated cost of postponed works, £258,000; sundry debtors and cash at bank, (about) £139,000; unissued power-house debentures, £75,000; total deductions, £472,000 | *178,000 |
| December 1907 coupon on profit-sharing secured notes | 175,000 |
| Coupon for seven months to July 1 1908 on £2,800,000 4½% bonds of 1933, plus income tax at 1s | 77,175 |
| Expenses of and incidental to carrying through scheme, including underwriting commission, brokerage, stamp duties, &c., est. at | 124,000 |
| Contingencies | 75,825 |

In order to bind any dissentient minority of the stockholders, it is necessary to proceed with the scheme under the Joint Stock Companies Arrangement Act of 1870. For this purpose the company will temporarily be put into liquidation, and it is proposed that Sir George Gibb shall be appointed receiver (V. 86, p. 983). A meeting of the noteholders will in due course be convened by the court and as soon as the necessary approval of such meeting has been obtained application will be made to the court to confirm the scheme. Upon confirmation the scheme will become binding and the liquidation and receivership will be stayed. No cash contribution is asked from the stockholders and their shares remain intact. The voting trust will be dissolved.

Notes should be deposited under the foregoing agreement on or before May 6 1908 with one or other of the depositaries, viz., the London & Westminster Bank, Limited; Lothbury, London, E. C.; the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York, No. 28 Nassau St., New York; the Associate Cassa, Amsterdam, or with Mr. Lazard Speyer-Ellissen, Frankfort-on-Main, as agent for the first-named depositary.—V. 86, p. 983, 548, 338, 53.

Wabash RR.—Bonds Sold.—Offering.—The company has sold to Tailer & Co., 27 Pine St., New York, $889,000 Wabash RR. Co. first mortgage 5% gold bonds due May 1 1939, which were held in the treasury to take up the following:

$421,000 St. Louis Council Bluffs & Omaha RR. Co. first mortgage 6% bonds, due July 1 1908.

$468,000 St. Louis Kansas City & Northern Ry. ,St. Charles first mortgage 6% bonds, due Oct. 1 1908.

With the sale of these bonds, practically the total authorized issue of $34,000,000 first mortgage bonds is now outstanding, being a first mortgage on 1,514 miles of road at the rate of $23,000 per mile. This transaction provides for all the short-term mortgage bonds of the company, none falling due earlier than the maturity date of the bonds purchased, namely, May 1 1939. Tailer & Co., by advertisement on another page, offer to purchase the two above-named maturing issues.—V. 86, p. 422, 170.

Washington Railway & Electric Co.—Mr. Loeb's Statement.—In a letter from Wm. Loeb Jr., Secretary to the President, addressed to Representative Sims of Tennessee, which was read in the House at Washington on April 21, protesting against certain statements contained in the speech made by Mr. Sims on April 20, the following facts are given regarding Mr. Loeb's relation to the company:

4,700 shares of the common stock of the Washington Railway & Electric Co. stand in my name on the books of the company. One hundred of these shares, enough to enable me to qualify as a director, are mine; 4,600 are holdings of friends for whom I simply acted as representative at the last annual meeting of the stockholders, at which I was elected a director, with the view of my possible election as President of the company if I decided to take up that line of work after leaving official life. Any insinuation that in any unworthy way or in any way whatever I have accumulated such a considerable fortune as your speech implies is as unfair to me as it is unworthy of you.—V. 86, p. 230.

See also advertisement and the aforesaid statement of the directors under "Annual Reports," both on preceding pages of this issue.—V. 86, p. 983, 548, 338, 53.

Application will be made to the Governor of the Commonwealth on May 8 for approval thereof. Both companies are subsidiaries of the Standard Oil Co. Compare V. 85, p. 217.—V. 76, p. 483.

Semet-Solvay Co., Syracuse, N. The Semet-Solvay Co. and the Solvay Process Co. have been constructing and operating for a number of years coke ovens for the recovery of the by-products of coal, such as tar, ammonia, &c., and also in the manufacture of alkali products. It is true that the Standard Oil has increased the capitalization of their various gas companies to correspond to their assets, but no step whatever has been taken toward a readjustment or increase in the authorized capital of the Standard Oil Co. and no move to this end is contemplated while we are engaged in litigation.—V. 86, p. 984, 672.

Union Electric Light & Power Co. of St. Louis.—Negotiations Concluded for $5,500,000 New Refunding and Extension Mortgage Bonds.—N. W. Status in January Last.—A circular issued by Spencer Trask & Co., offering for sale three-year 5% gold notes dated Jan. 15 1906 (see V. 86, p. 725), had the following:

Capitalization Outstanding.

|---|---|
| Capital stock—Authorized, $18,000,000; issued (not including $3,000,000 treasury stock deposited as security for the outstanding $3,000,000 three-year 5% gold notes) | $9,885,000 |
| Three-year 5% gold notes, dated Jan. 15 1906, due Jan. 15 1909. Interest payable Jan. 15 and July 15. In coupon form, $1,000 each. Redeemable at 100 and accrued interest after Jan. 15 1907, upon any interest date, upon 60 days' notice. Authorized issue, $4,000,000. Outstanding | 3,000,000 |
| First mortgage 30-year 5% bonds, due Sept. 1 1932; authorized issue, $10,000,000, of which $3,798,000 is reserved to provide for the Missouri Edison Co. 5% bonds and the Missouri Electric Light & Power Co. 6% bonds below mentioned, and the remainder is outstanding, viz | 6,202,000 |
| Missouri Edison Co. first mortgage 5% bonds, due Aug. 1 1927 (closed mortgage) | 3,198,000 |
| Missouri Electric Light & Power Co. first mortgage 6% bonds, due May 1 1921 (closed mortgage) | 600,000 |
| Imperial Light, Heat & Power Co. 1st M. 5% bonds, provided for by cash which is deposited with the trustee of the mortgage | 144,000 |

The Union Electric Light & Power Co. has executed a mortgage covering "refunding and extension mortgage bonds." None of these bonds is outstanding in the hands of the public.

Description of Property.—During the past few years the company has expended several millions of dollars for extensions, additions and improvements to its plant and equipment. Owing to the time necessarily taken for the completion of a work of such magnitude, a large part of the expenditure above mentioned has, up to the present time, been upon non-revenue-producing property. The company is now operating its large and modern central generating station, which has a generating capacity of approximately 50,000 horse power. This station is favorably situated for economical operation, and is constructed on a site and under plans which permit and contemplate extensions to an ultimate capacity of about 100,000 h. p., or sufficient to furnish electric current for all lighting and industrial power purposes of the city for many years to come. Franchises unlimited as to time, except in the "underground district," where they run until 1940. The subways or conduits in the "underground district" may, on appraisal, be purchased by the city after 1911.

Note Issue.—The proceeds from the sale of the $3,000,000 notes were used for the completion of the construction plans of the company, which provide for its requirements for a long period. The company has pledged $3,000,000 of its stock as collateral for the $3,000,000 notes. It is agreed that the company will not create other note indebtedness until this note issue is paid. The North American Co. (which is without bonded debt and has a capital stock issue of $30,000,000) has entered into an agreement to purchase, at par, the $3,000,000 stock of the company pledged for the $3,000,000 notes, if the notes are not otherwise provided for at maturity. (See further facts as to organization, &c., V. 83, p. 269.)—V. 86, p. 725, 232.

United Bank Note Corporation.—New Office.—See American Bank Note Co.—V. 86, p. 425.

United States Express Co.—Dividend Restored to 4% Basis.—This company, which in November last, at the behest of dissatisfied stockholders, increased its semi-annual dividend from a basis of 4% per annum to 6%, has now returned to the former rate, which was maintained from May 1902 to May 1907, both inclusive, and has declared a semi-annual dividend of 2%, payable May 15 to holders of record May 1 Compare annual statement in V. 68, p. 916.

COMMERCIAL EPITOME.

Friday Night, April 24 1908.

Trade still keeps within very conservative bounds and wherever there is improvement it is slow. Iron and cotton have fallen in value, but on the whole prices of general merchandise have been pretty well maintained. The world of trade, however, is evidently feeling its way and taking no chances.

LARD on the spot has declined, owing to weakness in the market for live hogs, larger receipts of hogs at times, the dulness of trade and larger supplies and offerings. But for the strength of the grain markets it is believed that lard would have declined more materially. Small sales have been made of late to jobbers at 8.15@8.25c. for Western and 8c. for city. Refined lard has been dull but steady. Refined Continent 8.90c., South America 9.75c. and Brazil in kegs 11c. The speculation in lard futures at the West has been active. Prices have shown irregularity, declining at times, owing to the weakness in live hogs and the dulness of the spot trade. Steadying factors, however, have been the strength of grain prices and some support from packers.

The speculation in future contracts has been confined mainly to switching from May to September, December and March, holdings of the near month being liquidated and replaced with purchases of the distant. In such circumstances prices have ruled steady. Foreign houses have sold here to some extent.

Cigar manufacturers as a rule are believed to hold light supplies of leaf, but in view of the diminished consumption of cigars they show no disposition to replenish stocks. Speculation in cotton for future delivery has shown a very distinct downward trend of prices, the net decline for the week being 40 to 50 points. Continued liquidation has been a cardinal feature, with accompanying selling for short account. Back of that has been the dulness of trade, both at home and abroad, and a feeling that, although supplies are much smaller than those of a year ago, they will, from present appearances at least, be ample to meet the requirements of the decreased consumption. Meantime, too, the weather in the main has been favorable, excessive rains and floods in the Southwest not being taken very seriously, especially as parts of Texas seem to have needed rain, and in any case the season is still so early that any damage could apparently very easily be repaired. Two failures have occurred, and they have undoubtedly had a certain effect, though it was less than might have been expected, partly because in one instance the liabilities were very small, and in the other the trouble was not supposed to be traceable entirely to cotton. The suspension of Longshore & Co. interrupted a recovery which was in progress at the time. That of T. A. McIntyre & Co. did not prevent an advance on the day on which it occurred. But the bearish sentiment which has so long prevailed here among most people has undoubtedly been confirmed by recent developments. Among these is the evident determination of New England and some of the Southern mills to continue the policy of curtailment. This is only another symptom, however, of really the worst feature in the whole situation, and that is the dulness of the cotton trade both at home and abroad. Spinners at the same time are buying raw cotton on a very small scale, and spinners' takings for the season show a deficit, as compared with last season, which attracts more attention than the still greater decrease in the quantity of cotton brought into sight. Not only are cotton goods meeting with a very slow sale, and the raw cotton with a very light demand, but speculation is as dull as ever, and this three-fold dulness, so to speak, is undoubtedly the real explanation of the persistency with which prices have recently pursued a downward course. To-day an advance occurred, owing partly to the fact that Liverpool quotations were better than expected. Also, there was more or less covering of shorts, some buying for a turn on the long side by Wall Street and other commission houses and some purchases by Liverpool and New Orleans. McIntyre & Co.'s suspension was announced at the opening, but, as already intimated, it had comparatively little influence, most people feeling that at least a temporary rally was due after the recent very severe decline. Later on renewed liquidation caused a reaction. Spot cotton has been quiet and easier. Middling uplands closed at 10.10c.

JUTE BUTTS, BAGGING, &c.—The market for jute bagging has continued quiet the past week. Prices remain nominally unchanged at 7¼ cents per yard for 2-lb. domestic bagging and 6½ cents per yard for re-woven and inferior foreign. Jute butts dull at 2@3 cents per lb. for bagging quality.

The foregoing shows that there has been exported from the United Kingdom during the six months 730,150,000 lbs. of manufacturing cotton, against 726,983,000 lbs. last year, or an increase of 3,167,000 lbs.

A further matter of interest is the destination of these exports, and we have therefore prepared the following statements, showing the amounts taken by the principal countries during March and since Oct. 1 in each of the last three years.

BREADSTUFFS.

Prices for wheat flour have been firmer in the main, but as a rule the changes in prices have not been marked, as trade has continued quiet and of a hand-to-mouth character. The sharp rise in wheat, however, has to some extent for the time being at least offset the unfavorable features of the situation. Small sales have been made here during the week for shipment to the West Indies. Of late the sales by Minneapolis and other Northwestern mills have fallen off materially. Winter-wheat millers have reported trade stagnant as a rule both for export and domestic account. In fact European buyers have withdrawn from the market. Rye flour has been dull and easy. Corn meal has been quiet and firmer.

Wheat has been dominated largely by manipulation of the May option. This has been favored by a light crop movement, especially at the Northwest, decreasing supplies there, some complaints of dry weather in that section, an improved spot situation, even if it has not been accompanied by any great amount of export trade, and, finally, some encouraging features in the statistical exhibit. For instance, the visible supply in this country showed a decrease of 1,031,000 bushels, as against an increase for the same time last year of 808,000 bushels. Chicago's stock has fallen off nearly 200,000 bushels and that of Minneapolis has during the week decreased materially, while the Argentine shipments have shown so noteworthy a falling off as of itself to prove a stimulating factor attracting much attention. The total world's exports last week, indeed, amounted to only 6,768,000 bushels, against 9,808,000 in the previous week, and no less than 12,656,000 for the same week last year. Duluth reports have been to the effect that about 5,000,000 bushels of all grades have been sold in the recent past for shipment on the opening of navigation. Of the above, some 2,000,000 bushels are for export. It is worth while to remark, too, that on Thursday 320,000 bushels were sold for export at New York and near-by ports. In other words, the cash and May situation have been the strong features of the market. September at times has lagged behind the other options, owing to beneficial rains in Nebraska and Kansas and favorable reports on the whole as to the progress of seeding in the American and Canadian Northwest. Lake navigation is expected to open in a few days. Duluth is reported actively engaged in loading 1,900,000 bushels of wheat, Fort William and Port Arthur 1,250,000 and Chicago 800,000. European markets have, on the whole, been steady, even at times strong, although crop advices from some parts of the Continent have been favorable. It is contended, however, that there is no likelihood of a really good crop in Southwestern Europe. To-day prices declined early, owing to disappointing cables, favorable weather and crop reports and liquidation. Towards the close May rallied sharply on bull support and covering and the rest of the list sympathized to some extent.

Indian corn futures have shown some irregularity during the week, especially the new-crop months, which have been sold on the belief that prices are unwarrantably high. But the selling has not been aggressive, as planting has been retarded by excessive rains in important sections. May has shown firmness. Leading bulls have given support. There is believed to be a considerable short interest still outstanding. Receipts, too, have been light and stocks are small. The cash trade has been dull though prices have been firm as a rule. Leading bulls at the West are believed to have control of the situation. To-day the market was easier, owing to favorable weather, some increase in the receipts, liquidation and an absence of aggressive support.

Oats for future delivery in the Western market have, on the whole, been firm, though the speculation has been dull and featureless, the fear of manipulation having driven most traders out of the market. Stocks continue to increase, the supply of contract grade at Chicago now being nearly 5,000,000 bushels, or more than 4,000,000 larger than the stock at this time last year. The weather of late has been favorable in most sections. But receipts are light and leading Chicago interests have not relaxed their grip on the situation. They have given support whenever it has been needed. To-day prices declined on favorable weather and crop reports, dulness of the cash trade and liquidation.

GOVERNMENT WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT.—Mr. James Berry, Chief of the Climatological Division of the United States Weather Bureau, made public on Tuesday the telegraphic reports on the weather in the various States for the week ending April 20, summarizing them as follows:

During the week ending April 20 1908 the eastern portion of the lower Lake region, the northern portion of the Middle Atlantic States and New England experienced temperature below the normal; over most of the rest of the country the temperature was above the normal, the weather being unusually mild in the Southern States and from the upper Mississippi Valley westward to the northern and middle Plateau regions. Freezing temperatures extended from 100 to more than 200 miles farther south than in the previous week from the central Mississippi Valley to the upper Ohio Valley, and light to heavy frosts occurred generally throughout the central valleys and in the coast districts as far south as North Carolina. Texas, Oklahoma and portions of Missouri have suffered from wet weather, while Florida, the States of the upper Missouri Valley, northern Rocky Mountain region and middle Pacific coast need moisture. There was more than the usual amount of cloudiness in the lower Missouri Valley and Southern States, and on the north Pacific coast; elsewhere the sunshine was normal or above.

THE DRY GOODS TRADE.

New York, Friday Night, April 24 1908.

Warmer weather during the past few days has brought about a more active business in jobbing and retail circles, particularly in ssummer fabrics; but this has not yet been reflected in the primary cotton goods market, which remains extremely dull. Further price revisions have been made during the week, principally in heavy brown goods and print cloths, and other lines will undoubtedly be placed on a lower level when agents are satisfied that by doing so a reasonable volume of business will result. In the meantime, goods in many cases are being shipped on memorandum and buyers are doing all that they can to still further depress prices. Curtailment is continually becoming more drastic and the effect of this will make itself plainly felt when the buying movement, which cannot be much longer delayed, really starts in. That this is appreciated by some of the shrewdest merchants is evidenced by their efforts to get manufacturers to contract ahead for goods at the prices now being named by second hands; in the majority of cases these attempts are unsuccessful. While the price of the raw material has held steady during the week, reports from the South indicate that planting is proceeding steadily and that conditions are favorable, which facts will doubtless have some influence with buyers. The export trade has suffered particularly from the decline in the price of cotton and until both the cotton and the goods markets are upon a more stable basis, no important revival in the export demand is looked for. The woolen and worsted goods markets show little change from a week ago.

DOMESTIC COTTON GOODS.—The exports of cotton goods from this port for the week ending April 18 were 1,782 packages, valued at $141,313, their destination being to the points specified in the tables below:

| Total | 1,782 | 52,913 | 2,771 | 71,943 |

The value of these New York exports since Jan. 1 has been $3,485,252 in 1908, against $4,714,786 in 1907.

Heavy brown drills and sheetings continue easy as a result of the decline in the price of cotton and buying is entirely of a hand-to-mouth character; converters in some instances evince a desire to contract ahead at the current level, but, owing to the unsettled conditions in practically all industries, they hesitate to do so. Medium and light-weight drills and sheetings are lower than at this time last week and supplies show signs of accumulating. The demand for export has been very small and has been confined entirely to miscellaneous countries; there have been some small sales of sheetings to the Red Sea and of ducks and prints to South America. Buying of bleached goods has been small and only the better known tickets are called for. Discounts on ducks have been extended and these goods are now selling at the lowest level in some years. Prices of linings have again been reduced without attracting any larger business. Napped goods continue to do comparatively well and sales for fall in many instances have been quite satisfactory. The call for prints has been insignificant and there are no indications that a lower level would stimulate the demand. Ginghams are quiet. The trading in print cloths has been light, but as a result of re-selling by second hands quotations are lower; 28 inch (64 x 60s) have sold at 2⅞c. and standard gray goods at 4⅛c.

WOOLEN GOODS.—The most encouraging feature of the men's wear woolen and worsted goods market is the continued demand for light-weight goods for the current spring season. This is confined almost entirely to brown worsteds but has been sufficiently large to keep a good deal of machinery active that would otherwise have been idle. Some woolen goods of other colors are being re-dyed brown but buyers will only take these at concessions. This belated demand, when it was thought that the duplicate ordering for spring was over, has led many to believe that the same thing may occur in the case of heavy weight goods. So far the reordering of these has naturally been small, although some orders have been received of an encouraging character. In view of the small amount of initial buying it is fully realized that duplicate business will have to be heavy, but until the extent of this is known manufacturers will feel far from comfortable. Preparations are well under way for the next light-weight season. Dress goods have naturally been quiet, owing to this being the between-seasons period but some goods are being sold all the time and deliveries of spring goods are being made. There are reports of price cutting in the case of goods not delivered on schedule time, but these are not attracting much attention, as this is not in any way out of the ordinary. Sales of heavy-weights have not been quite satisfactory to buyers, but until the duplicate orders have been received it is too early to say that the season has been unsuccessful.

FOREIGN DRY GOODS.—Fine imported woolen and worsted dress goods are being freely purchased for immediate delivery. Silks and ribbons are moving slowly. Buyers of linens are seeking concessions. Burlaps are steady and unchanged.

STATE AND CITY DEPARTMENT.

News Items.

Michigan.—Constitutional Amendment to Be Submitted to a Vote in November.—We are advised by the Secretary of State that the amendment to Section 10 of Article 14 of the State Constitution relative to the taxation of property by a State Board of Assessors will not be submitted to the electors until the November 1908 election. He states further that this action was taken in accordance with a recent decision of the State Supreme Court. The joint resolution adopted by the Legislature in 1907 provided for the submission of this amendment to a vote on April 7. Section 10 as it will stand after it has been amended was given in full in V. 85, p. 1534.

New York City.—New Charter Revision Commission.—Governor Hughes on April 21 in accordance with the Act passed by the present Legilatsure, announced the appointment of the members of the new Commission "to inquire into the local government of the city of New York, with power to investigate the manner of conducting and transacting business in the several departments, boards and offices thereof, to suggest legislation with respect thereto, and, in its discretion, to draft a new charter and an administrative code for the city." The Act creating the new commission is the result of the report submitted to the Legislature in January by the Ivins Commission, which conducted an investigation of the various city departments last fall. See V. 85, p. 1475. With the exception of Mayor McClellan the members of the old board, who were as follows, have been reappointed: The Comptroller of New York City, William M. Ivins, Alderman James Cowden Myers, Hon. Edward M. Grout, Dr. E. R. L. Gould, Hon. Nathaniel A. Elsberg, George L. Duval and Charles H. Strong. In addition to President P. F. McGowan of the Board of Aldermen, who will take the place of Mayor McClellan, the following have also been appointed as members: George McAneny for Manhattan Borough, Almet R. Latson and Alfred J. Boulton for Brooklyn, William W. Niles for the Bronx, Harrison S. Moore for Queens and George Cromwell for Richmond.

New York State.—Legislature Adjourns—Special Session.—In accordance with the resolution adopted by both Houses of the Legislature some weeks ago (V. 86, p. 933), the regular session of that body came to an end at 2:30 p. m. on April 23. Within three hours after final adjournment Gov. Hughes issued a proclamation calling for a special session to convene at 8:30 p. m. on May 11. Among the most important legislation enacted by the Legislature was the comprehensive scheme of banking reforms, embodied in twenty-one separate bills, increasing the powers of the State Superintendent of Banks and providing for a much more rigid supervision of banks and banking by the State. It is supposed that the Governor's purpose in calling an extra session is to urge the enactment of the anti-race-track gambling bills, ballot reform measures and the plan to extend the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission to the telegraph and telephone companies, all of which failed of enactment at the regular session.

Texas.—School Bond Suit to Be Heard by State Supreme Court.—The "Dallas News" of April 19 contains the following article concerning a test case to be heard in the State Supreme Court on May 13 which is said to affect the validity of about three and one-half millions of school bonds issued by independent school districts of this State, owing to the question of whether the tax rate now levied in such districts is constitutional.

Austin, Tex., April 18.—The Supreme Court has set for May 13 the submission of the certified questions in the case of C. B. Snyder Jr. et al against the Baird Independent School District, from Callahan County, which case is a test involving the validity of about $3,500,000 of bonds of independent school districts the majority of which are owned by the Permanent School Fund. The case was decided by the Court of Civil Appeals at Fort Worth, which granted a motion for rehearing, after which two of the Judges disqualified themselves and two special Judges were appointed. These special Judges, with the member of the regular Court, reached the same conclusion as the regular Court, although Special Associate Justice Brelsford dissented.

The effect of the decision was that all of the independent school districts had levied an unconstitutional tax when they made it in excess of 20c. on the $100 valuation, and in nearly every instance it exceeded 20c. The Attorney General's Department has always ruled that 75c. was the limit for independent districts, and approved tax levies and bonds accordingly, and that 20c. was the constitutional limit for common school districts. The Fort Worth Court held that 20c. was the limit in both districts. Inasmuch as Judge Brelsford dissented, the litigants had the right to have the questions certified to the Supreme Court for determination. Since the submission will take place on May 13, it is expected that a decision will be reached before the end of the term, and a final status established for school districts in Texas and bonds hereafter and heretofore issued.

Bonds have been submitted for approval, records perfected, elections held and elections and bond issues contemplated by school districts over the State to a large extent since the decision at Fort Worth, but the Attorney-General refuses to act on any of the bonds until the all-important question is determined by the Supreme Court. Because of this condition, there is nearly $1,000,000 of bonds executed or in process of execution by school districts which have not been acted upon and will not be until the Court determines the constitutional tax. Should it decide that 20c. is the maximum, the School Fund would be a heavy loser, as it holds approximately $2,000,000 of bonds of independent school districts, and no Legislature can validate an unconstitutional bond or act.

Office Assistant Attorney-General J. T. Sluder will appear for the Attorney-General's Department and argue that 75c., not 20c., is the limit.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

Affairs have taken on a more cheerful and conservative aspect. This has been evident in many and diverse ways. Up to this week it had looked as if Mr. Bryan, the twice defeated silver-standard bearer and the apostle of every "ism" afloat, held the field as Democratic nominee for President. A chance of his election as head of the nation for the coming four years and a campaign with such a chance imminent was a sorry outlook. The elimination of that possibility relieves materially the situation. When we say "elimination" some perhaps may think we give too positive a turn to the change in the prospect. A significant disclosure favoring that conviction was the determination on Tuesday that New Jersey would cast its vote in the nominating convention as a unit, and not only against Mr. Bryan, but probably for Judge Gray. That State having hitherto been counted as certain to be on the other side of the controversy, and being a State sentimentally of great influence with the party (always known as a pivotal commonwealth), it has more influence than the simple fact of the number of votes it casts..

As to the influence of the change in the action of New Jersey from a friendly position toward Mr. Bryan to a most positive type of unfriendliness, we have the action of Connecticut on Wednesday. The State of Connecticut had been all along quoted as certain to be outspoken for the head of all "isms" and a fierce effort was made to put such a resolution through. That effort had its start before the Committee on Resolutions. The first formula the Bryan men adopted to express their views were fulsome in the extreme, but they were shouted down, no one being allowed even to speak in their favor. Next the attempt was made to endorse Bryan's principles, as they called them, but those in like manner failed of endorsement by a larger majority. Finally it was proposed simply to reaffirm "allegiance to those principles of government enunciated and expounded by the great Democratic statesmen Thomas Jefferson and Andrew Jackson," adding as a sort of happy climax the celebrated "William J. Bryan". As soon as Bryan's name was read one of the delegates proposed the addition also of Grover Cleveland. This last name was received with the loudest kind of applause and the further effort to boost Bryan ceased. Altogether the old silver party at this center seemed to think that with New York, New Jersey and Connecticut lost, Bryan's chances at Denver were dimmed, if not absolutely hopeless.

But aside from politics there are other occurences that have been in progress during the current week of even greater immediate importance to the general business situation than Bryan's hopes. We have referred for several weeks to the increasing transactions in the bond market. The foremost incident this week was the Pennsylvania RR. bond issue of 40 million dollars, which was offered for subscription on Monday, one-half in London and the remainder in New York, and was largely over-subscribed. It would appear that the subscriptions were forwarded almost wholly in advance of the opening of the lists, the subscription books having been closed at the office of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. in this city within one minute and in London within one hour of the time of the opening. The 25 millions offering, by J. P. Morgan & Co. on Wednesday, of three-year 6% Interborough Rapid Transit notes was also largely over-subscribed and the books were closed within one hour of their opening. The eagerness which was manifested by capitalists to secure allotments of the Pennsylvania and the Interborough issues was most encouraging; it indicated that capital was seeking with avidity the highest grades of investments when they were offered through bankers in whom the public have confidence.

Moreover, the success of these issues seems to show that the investment market is broadening and that securities of equal merit with those offered this week that are expected to be issued at intervals this year will be absorbed. The enthusiasm these sales and views have inspired materially helped to impart a spasm of activity and buoyancy to the stock market as well as to the general bond market. The inquiry for higher classes of bonds has been decidedly active, speculative issues not having found as ready a sale. Stocks, however, made a decided advance, transactions reaching a total of more than a million shares on two days (Tuesday and Wednesday each), Thursday, however, dropping to 579,141 shares and Friday showing 658,610 shares, liquidation being plainly observable, though not equally evident throughout the list.

The opening at midnight Thursday of the Brooklyn extension of the Interborough Rapid Transit system to the Long Island Railroad depot at Flatbush and Atlantic avenues marks an event of no little importance to the people in the metropolitan district. The satisfaction with which the event is viewed by the residents of Brooklyn is indicated by the big celebration which occurred in that borough yesterday afternoon and evening. Last night there was both a civic and a military parade, with plenty of music and red fire. It is not surprising that Brooklyn should rejoice over such an extremely important occurrence as the completion of this subway and tunnel enterprise. Probably the event is the most important in the whole history of Brooklyn. It obliterates the East River as the dividing line between Manhattan Island (or what was formerly the old city of New York) and Brooklyn, and makes the latter in a physical as well as a political sense a part of New York. Moreover, by means of this tunnel and subway continuous through service is provided into the heart of Brooklyn. The two bridges now extending across the river also serve to remove the river as a physical barrier to transportation service, but through trains over these have never been run beyond the terminus of the bridge itself—the Brooklyn cars and trains running across to the New York terminal of the bridge but not beyond, and some of the New York trolley cars (in the case of one of the bridges) running to the Brooklyn end of the bridge, but stopping there. The Brooklyn tunnel and subway, on the other hand, forms part of the Interborough Rapid Transit subway system, and hence there is no break whatever in the through service of the trains.

This Brooklyn tunnel was opened as far as the Brooklyn Borough Hall early in January and the part now opened extends the line to the Long Island Railroad depot. The southern terminus of the Interborough Company's subway system will hereafter be at this point. The advantages of this new connection to the residents of the different boroughs cannot be over-estimated. The benefits extend to both those living in Manhattan and those living up in the Bronx. All the residents of both boroughs can make direct connection with the Long Island Railroad for all points on Long Island; and during the summer months when travel to the seaside resorts is very heavy, these benefits must become increasingly apparent and increasingly important.

What is especially noteworthy is that this excellent subway service is available its entire length for a single fare of 5 cents. The significance of that fact will appear when it is recalled that the subway lines, besides extending into Brooklyn, cover also the whole of Manhattan Island and a good portion of the Bronx. The Interborough Company charges only a single 5-cent fare for carrying passengers over any portion of its lines. As was pointed out by us last January, a resident of Fordham on the East Side can come through the Borough of the Bronx, through the tunnel under the Harlem River, through Manhattan Borough the entire way, then through the new East River tunnel on to the Long Island station at Flatbush Avenue—all for 5 cents. Similarly, on the West Side, a passenger on the payment of only 5 cents can travel from 230th Street in New York all the way to the Long Island Railroad station in Brooklyn. The distance in this last instance is no less than 16.6 miles. Nowhere else in the world, we believe, can these cheap transit facilities be equaled or even approached.

The splendid achievement here recorded the community owes to August Belmont, and yet there has probably never been a man rendering such an important service who has received such unlimited abuse at the hands of the press and the public. The substance of his offending has been that he has succeeded in making this new system of transit a success, and accordingly has been able to realize profits as a result of his enterprise, foresight and skill. It will be argued that the undertaking was made possible through the issue of bonds by the city. This is true in a measure, but only in a measure. The city had endeavored for a long time to have subways built and had failed, and even in the case of the present subway system it was doubtful up to the very last moment whether financially responsible people could be found to undertake the work of building and operating the road, even with the aid of the city's credit and bonds. It was not until Mr. Belmont appeared that the carrying out of the project was assured. Moreover, the fact that the issue of city bonds to aid in the construction of subways is not the only element in the problem was amply demonstrated last year when the city invited bids for additional subway lines to be built with the city's aid and received not a single proposal. Furthermore, in the case of the subway extension to Brooklyn, which has now been completed, the amount of city aid has been comparatively small. The Brooklyn extension covers the whole of that portion of the line from the New York City Hall to the Long Island Railroad Depot. The amount of bonds which the Interborough Company will receive in the aggregate on this portion of the line is, roughly, only about $4,000,000, whereas the cost of the extension will aggregate $14,000,000, if not more, as pointed out by us last January.

The fact that the Belmont Subway system has been the only one it has been found possible to construct thus far should lead the whole community to reflect. The present system ought to be duplicated in all the different boroughs and there would be no difficulty in providing the necessary capital if only fair treatment were assured. Without such assurance no more subways can be built, even with city aid. Instead of inviting capitalists and investors to come in and furnish these new transit facilities, we have been doing everything to drive them away. We have added all sorts of restrictions in arranging plans for further enterprises of this sort, actuated by a fear that those engaging in such ventures might otherwise make profits out of the same. The result has been that capital declines to come in at all.

What is more, we have done all we could to maim and destroy the credit of the existing subways. Last summer, when the new Public Service Commission entered upon its work, it felt it incumbent upon itself at once to make an investigation of Interborough Rapid Transit affairs. It found that in the troublous financial times of last spring the Interborough Company had issued $10,000,000 of collateral trust notes and had negotiated them at 97. This sale of the bonds at a discount of 3% was heralded as if it were a heinous crime. The present year, the Interborough Company has been obliged to put out some more short-term notes, in part to take up maturing notes, and the managers have had to await the bid and command of the Public Service Commission before so doing. The Commission has regulated every detail of the arrangement, and been very slow about it—so much so that the date for the paying off of the old notes had almost arrived before the company could get final approval for the issue of the new notes—all the executive officials being kept, meanwhile, in a state of great suspense and anxiety, lest punctual payment of the old notes could not be made. Yet it is a most striking fact that the new collateral trust notes now issued bear 6% interest, while those put out last year bore only 5% interest, and the oldest issue of notes—that taken up this week—carried no more than 4% interest. With the enormous addition to its traffic which the Interborough Company is receiving from its Brooklyn extension, and with money a glut in the financial markets, there can be no doubt that, except for interference at the hands of the public authorities, the company could have sold its present issue of notes on very much better terms than any of the preceding issues—could, in fact, have avoided resort to the issue of notes at all, and placed long-term bonds on satisfactory terms. There is a lesson in this which is well worth pondering.

On Tuesday the Secretary of the Treasury issued a call upon depository banks for the surrender of 45 millions of public funds, of which amount 20 million was required to be surrendered May 9 and the remainder May 23. It will be remembered that when the call for the return of 35 million of deposits was made on Feb. 24, the smaller banks, or those having not more than $100,000 each, were excepted, so that only those deposits in the active and the larger depositories were affected; these deposits were about 140 millions. When the surrenders under this call were completed, there remained 105 millions of this amount subject to call. Assuming that such deposits are excepted in the current call, there will remain about 60 millions of public funds in the larger banks.

The statement of the New York Associated Banks last week reported a total of 43½ millions of public deposits; should the requisition now made cause the surrender of half this sum, which is probable, the remainder will be supplied by the other of the larger interior institutions. When the fact is considered that much of the increase in cash recently shown by the New York banks has been due to the flow hither from the interior banks of unemployable funds, it seems probable that the above-noted method of surrender of public deposits will be pursued by these institutions. Moreover, inasmuch as, according to last week's bank statement, there was an actual surplus reserve on Saturday of $61,736,512, the New York banks could, if it were necessary, surrender the whole of the amount of public deposits called by the Secretary without inconvenience or causing more than a minimum of monetary derangement. Therefore if they should surrender their own quota of 22½ millions as estimated, and also the greater part of the quota of their country correspondents, local monetary conditions might not be seriously or more than temporarily affected. It may be observed, too, that the surrenders of deposits will extend over a period of more than two weeks, in which the banks will receive from the Sub-Treasury considerable sums, the result of deficits, or Government disbursements in excess of revenue, which are now at the rate of $500,000 daily, besides other large sums in exchange for national bank circulation that will have been forwarded to the Treasury for current redemption, so that the offsets to deposits surrendered will materially reduce the latter amount.

Though there has been no announcement of the policy of the Secretary with regard to the disposition which he will make of the maturing Spanish War loan of 64 million dollars that will be redeemable on Aug. 1, it is thought likely that part of these bonds will be paid at maturity and the remainder be extended for ten years, according to the terms of the issue, or possibly be refunded into 2% consols. In view of the fact that the recall of public deposits will cause the release of the consols that are pledged for public funds, and also of other securities, it may be that the offering upon the market of these released consols will cause such a depression in the price thereof as to make efforts to refund them unsuccessful; in that case holders of such bonds as are pledged for deposits or for circulation may prefer to have them redeemed. To the extent that they are paid at maturity will the money so disbursed be returned to the market.

It is not very long since there were intimations that the Union ferries to Brooklyn would soon cease operation, and now the Brooklyn Ferry Company has given notice that it will not renew the leases which expired yesterday. What shall be done is, therefore, a difficult problem before the city. After a preliminary investigation, the Corporation Counsel suggests that the city can undertake to maintain and operate all these ferry lines; or that it can select the best of them, which might be worth the while of private capital to lease; or that, in addition, it can select those which are deemed indispensable, although not profitable, and keep them going by municipal ownership and operation or by leasing them (together with the better ones) to private parties, the leases being so adjusted as to make the profitable ones carry the others. It was always understood, before any bridge was proposed, that some of the Union Company's ferries had to be carried by the others, and if the weakest of the Brooklyn's ferries are not to be abandoned, they must be similarly carried, under any arrangement that can be devised.

The problem is a most perplexing one, and its most insoluble feature is that no one can foresee the traffic changes of even the next six years, and therefore only a temporary arrangement is possible short of embarking the city upon the hazardous experiment of municipal ownership. But it is plain that the ferries are most indispensable to trucking, which cannot satisfy itself with the bridges, because their terminals are not convenient, and is debarred from tunnels by the heavy grades. But if business must have the old routes it apparently must pay for their support, on perhaps a more expensive basis than heretofore. The Union ferries raised their tariff on every person and vehicle a few weeks ago, and the justification was so clear that no grumbling has been heard, nor has anybody been seriously affected. This method of adjusting service to the diminished traffic and the rate of charges to the diminished business does not seem to have been quite seriously considered yet. Careful investigation of the volume and classes of goods and travel, at the various hours, with the points from which these vehicles start across and their destinations, would seem to be the first thing in order, and the results would surely throw light upon the needs of the case and the best way to meet them approximately at the least cost.

Gold production statistics for a number of the important fields of the world for the first quarter of 1908 are now available. They indicate, as did the data for January, that no conspicuous development in any direction characterizes the working of the mines this year. In Africa, of course, not only in the Transvaal territory, but along the West Coast, more gold is being mined month by month than a year ago, but comparing the two years the percentages of increase recorded this year are moderate as contrasted with the gains shown in earlier years. This difference in comparative growth in product is wholly due to the relative ease with which labor has been obtained. On the other hand, in Australasia and India the yield of gold for the first quarter of 1908 is moderately less than for the same period of 1907.

Going into details, we find that in the Witwatersrand district of Africa, more commonly called the Rand, the mines produced in March 1908 a total of 553,440 fine ounces, an aggregate exceeded by the output of December 1907, but exceeding the yield of March 1907 by 33,277 fine ounces. The increase in March 1907 over the month of 1906 was, however, nearly 96,000 fine ounces. For the quarter ending March 31 1908 Rand production reached 1,614,611 fine ounces, against 1,516,037 fine ounces and 1,225,312 fine ounces, respectively, in the corresponding periods of 1907 and 1906. And the remainder of Africa, which includes the outside districts of the Transvaal, Rhodesia, West Africa, &c., has contributed approximately 300,000 fine ounces to the world's new supply, as against 250,000 fine ounces in 1907 and 225,000 fine ounces in 1906. The output for the whole of Africa for the first quarter of the current year has, consequently, been 1,915,000 fine ounces, which contrasts with 1,766,000 fine ounces last year and 1,450,000 fine ounces two years ago, the gain this year over last being only 7.9%, whereas 1907 showed an increase over 1906 of 21.8%.

The labor problem in Africa, which is as stated the key to the situation as regards increasing development of Transvaal fields, and about which much anxiety has been in evidence from time to time, seems to be adjusting itself satisfactorily. Owing to the extreme importance of the Transvaal as a contributor to the world's new supply of gold, it is only natural that anything which appeared to threaten a restriction of the labor supply should be cause for concern. Thus it was that the outcome of the policy of repatriation of the Chinese furnished ground for fear of the crippling of the mine force, especially as people of that race at the beginning of deportation made up about 35% of the labor employed in the Rand mines. But the problem is reaching a happy solution. As fast as the Chinese have been deported, Kaffir, or native, labor has been found to replace them, and recently the accessions have been appreciably greater than the deportations. This has been made possible through the release from employment by the diamond mines and Central South African Ry. of over 35,000 hands. The working force in the Rand mines at the close of March 1908, in consequence, aggregated 163,579, of which only 26,504, or 16.2%, were Chinese. This was an increase in total of 9,328 and a decrease of 1,902 Chinese as compared with February, and a gain of 13,535 in the aggregate and a loss of 5,336 Chinese contrasted with January—a very satisfactory situation of affairs, as the Chairman of the Native Labor Association at Johannesburg recently intimated. It would seem, under the circumstances, that anxiety as to labor supply may be abandoned.

Australasian gold fields as a rule continue to show a decreasing rate of yield. In Westralia the output for the first quarter of the current year was only 410,641 fine ounces, against 426,157 fine ounces in 1907 and 452,367 fine ounces in 1906. Queensland's production for the same period was but 88,000 fine ounces, against 103,000 and 108,000 fine ounces, respectively, in the two preceding years. Victorian results for the three years were 158,000, 161,000 and 180,000, and the New South Wales yield of 70,000 fine ounces in 1908 compares with 72,500 in 1907 and 77,300 in 1906. These losses are in part offset by a gain in New Zealand, but for the whole of Australasia (not including Tasmania and South Australia, small fields from which no returns are at hand), the three months' output in 1908 reached but 850,711 fine ounces, which compares with 873,567 fine ounces for the quarter in 1907 and 917,427 fine ounces in 1906. The principal East India mines return totals of about 123,000 fine ounces, 123,200 fine ounces and 139,000 fine ounces, respectively, in the first quarter of the last three years. Combining the totals for Africa, Australasia and India, which countries furnished 60% of the gold produced in the world in 1907, we have an aggregate for the first quarter of 1908 of 2,888,000 fine ounces, against 2,762,804 fine ounces in 1907 and 2,506,739 fine ounces in 1906. The excess in 1908 over 1907 here indicated is 4½%, which contrasts with a gain of 10.2% in 1907 over 1906.

These three countries furnished in 1907, as stated above, 60% of the gold yield of the world. Among the other producers to which reference should be made the most important is, of course, the United States, which ranks second only to Africa in gold output. But for this country no data except of a strictly unofficial nature is obtainable at this time, and that, while it indicates increasing development in some directions, does not seem, on the whole, to warrant expectations for any measurable augmentation in output in 1908. The yield from Canadian mines, it will be remembered, had been steadily decreasing year by year since 1900 and in 1907 reached only about 400,000 fine ounces, or less than in any year since 1897. For 1908 a better showing is expected, and the same is true of Russia. Mexico, which has been gaining prominence of recent years, having more than doubled its product since 1900, is counted upon for a further moderate increase this year. As to the other sources of supply—South America, Europe, Asia, &c.—no information from which any conclusions may be drawn is available. Summing up such data as we have secured for the first quarter, it seems reasonable to expect that the world's aggregate gold production in 1908 will be moderately greater than in 1907, and give a larger percentage of increase than the practically nominal gain of 1.1% recorded by 1907 over 1906.

The visible stock of gold in the world, with production on the high plane of recent years, is steadily and quite materially increasing, but with the vast transactions of current times an even larger stock would be desirable. In this country gold holdings are being augmented appreciably from year to year. On Jan. 1 1906 the general stock in the United States was reported by the Treasury as $1,284,943,124, of which $1,135,107,044 (either in the form of coin or in certificates represented by coin in the Treasury) was in circulation. A year later (Jan. 1 1907) the aggregates had advanced to $1,452,018,385 and $1,273,018,763, respectively, and at the beginning of the current year (Jan. 1 1908) stood at $1,604,530,493 and $1,355,186,522. A further augmentation to $1,642,565,614 total stock and $1,438,073,534 in circulation was disclosed by the statement for April 1. An addition to our general gold stock of 358 millions of dollars in 2¼ years and an addition of over 300 millions to the gold circulation in the like interval is the result revealed above. Coincident with the foregoing large addition to the United States gold holdings there have been greater or less increases in European and other countries of the world.

By going just a step further in this matter of the world's visible stock of gold we learn how much closer than in other years the aggregate increase in the gold holdings of the United States (bank, treasury, &c.) and the principal European banks for the first quarter of 1908 approximates to the apparent production of the world for the same period. In compiling a statement to show this result it has been necessary of course to estimate the output for countries other than those specifically referred to above, but care has been taken to keep within conservative lines. The statement is as follows.

GOLD PRODUCTION AND DISTRIBUTION THREE MONTHS ENDING MARCH 31.

|---|---|---|---|
| Product of Africa | $39,585,000 | $36,505,000 | $29,975,000 |

| Increase | $89,500,000 | $48,700,000 | $22,500,000 |
| Leaving as used in arts or gone to increase holdings elsewhere | $14,867,000 | $51,983,000 | $75,043,000 |

The foregoing is self-explanatory and therefore calls for no extended comments. The conspicuous fact brought to light is that between Jan. 1 and the close of March this year the stock of gold held in the United States and the gold holdings of European banks together increased $89,500,000, an amount only $14,867,000 less than the total of the metal produced by the world's mines during the period. On the other hand, in the three months of 1907 the gain of the same institutions was only $48,700,000, or less than half of the quarter's yield, and in 1906 only $22,500,000, or barely 23% of the output.

With such an important augmentation in the distribution of the volume of money at a time when, and in the directions where, most called for, it is not surprising, (1) that a period of decided monetary ease should have quickly followed the extreme stress of last fall; also, that (2) when an immediate increase was essential to business interests the wherewithal responded to the need and fully met the requirement. This spontaniety is worthy of the attention of our legislators, as it tells plainly that what the money market needs to facilitate business operations is to be let alone and not plagued by statutes.

The Pennsylvania Railroad yesterday reduced its semi-annual dividend from 3½ to 3%, placing the stock on a 6% dividend basis instead of the previous 7%. The company's return of earnings for the month of March has also been issued the present week, and this makes it evident that the decrease in the dividend distribution is a wise precaution. For the return shows that losses in earnings continue on a very large scale, while the reductions in the expense accounts are not sufficient to offset this shrinkage in revenues, notwithstanding that extreme economy and saving is being practiced. On the lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie the falling off in gross earnings for the month has been $2,169,800 and on the Western lines the falling off has been $1,360,200, making the loss in gross for the combined lines $3,530,000. On the Eastern lines expenses for the month were reduced $1,625,300 and on the Western lines $1,264,900, but this still left $544,500 decrease in net on the Eastern lines and $95,300 decrease on the Western lines, or a combined loss in net of $639,800. For the first three months of 1908 there has been a shrinkage in the gross receipts of the combined lines of no less than $10,137,500, and a decrease in net of $2,281,400. In the following we furnish a six-year comparison of the earnings of the Eastern lines—being the only portion of the system for which we have the data for such a comparison.

With the exception of a reduction by the Imperial Bank of Germany of its official rate of discount from 5½% to 5%, there was no change in such rates by any of the European banks this week.

The striking feature of last week's bank statement was the important gain of $10,334,800 in the average amount of cash, notwithstanding the withdrawal of 5 millions gold for export to Paris, indicating a continued influx of money from the interior; the actual increase in the cash item was $9,047,000. Loans decreased $5,210,700, according to the statement of averages; the actual loss was $6,791,000. Average deposits showed an increase of $5,293,900; the actual gain was $2,266,100. The average increase in reserve was $9,011,325, to $58,984,750; the actual gain therein was $8,480,475, to $61,736,512.

Neither the withdrawal this week of 4½ millions gold for shipment to Paris and of 1½ millions for transfer to Canada, nor the call by the Secretary of the Treasury, as above noted, upon the depositary banks for 45 millions of public funds, had more than a sentimental effect, and that only slight, upon the market for money. Call loans were a shade firmer, with the average at the maximum; it was scarcely expected that these would be influenced, if at all, until surrenders of public deposits should begin at the end of next week, though meanwhile such surrenders might be anticipated by local banks—as, indeed, was the case this week, when 3 millions were turned into the Sub-Treasury on this account. The time-loan branch of the market was also firm, but chiefly because lending institutions marked up their rates for the short maturities, possibly in the hope that thereby they might stimulate borrowing; no business was reported in this class of loans, and scarcely any for those which will mature in the crop-moving season, and toward the end of the year. Commercial paper was active by reason of a continual more or less urgent demand and moderate offerings; mercantile borrowers are seemingly abundantly supplied with funds for present needs; hence they are in a position to dictate terms to buyers, many of the makers of paper insisting upon concessions in rates.

Money on call, representing bank and trust company balances—the latter being offered with some freedom because of the firm tone to the market—loaned at the Stock Exchange during the week at 2% and at 1¾%, averaging 2%; banks and trust companies quoted 1¾% as the minimum. Time loans on good mixed Stock Exchange collateral were 2¼@2½% for sixty and 2½@3% for ninety days, 3@3¼% for four, 3½@3¾% for five to six and 4½@4¾% for over the year; the inquiry was chiefly for the latter period. Commercial paper of high grade, such as is regarded as most desirable by banks, is growing scarce, by reason of smaller offerings, as above noted, and some makers are reluctant to accept a higher rate than 3½@3¾%. The business that is reported is at 4@4½% for sixty to ninety day endorsed bills receivable and for four to six months choice single names; a lower grade of the latter class is quoted at 4½@5%, but it is not acceptable to the majority of buyers.

The Bank of England rate of discount remains unchanged at 3%. The cable reports discounts of sixty to ninety day bank bills 2⅝%. The open market rate at Paris is 2⅝ and at Berlin and Frankfort it is 4¼@4⅜%. According to our special cable from London, the Bank of England gained £379,441 bullion during the week and held £37,350,440 at the close of the week. Our correspondent further advises us that the gain was due largely to receipts from the interior of Great Britain. The details of the movement into and out of the Bank were as follows: Imports £94,000 (of which £32,000 from Egypt and £62,000 from Australia); exports, £50,000 (wholly to Paris), and receipts of £335,000 net from the interior of Great Britain.

The foreign exchange market was easier this week, influenced by increased offerings of bills, by speculative manipulation and by a moderate demand for remittance. There was no evidence of drawings of exchange against the Pennsylvania R.R. bond negotiation in London; speculators in exchange seemed, however, to assume that the credits created as the result of that operation would, ere long, or by May 25, when allotments will be payable, be drawn against, thus enabling speculative sales to be covered at a profit. It was thought likely, too, that if, because of the recall of public funds from depositary banks, rates for money should rise to points higher than discounts abroad, the opportunity would be offered for the drawing of loan bills and of the negotiation of sterling and franc loans, which would augment the supplies of exchange and thus enable speculative sales thereof to be advantageously closed. The firmer tone for time loans this week, though it was regarded as a sentimental effect of the Treasury call for deposits, seemed to give encouragement to speculators in exchange, for it apparently indicated the probability of a reversal of the relative monetary conditions which now exist. The tendency abroad appears to be in the direction of lower discounts, and it seems likely that the Bank of England rate will be reduced next week. With this prospect of favorable opportunities for speculative operations in exchange, it is not surprising that speculation should have been the dominating influence this week. One noticeable feature was buying of securities for European account, which was probably stimulated by the activity in our market. Another important feature was an increase in the demand for travelers' credits, reflecting the beginning of the exodus of American tourists to Europe; though the movement is not expected to be so great or the expenditures by these tourists so liberal as in recent prosperous years, the volume of credits drawn will, it is thought, be large, thus affecting exchange. The London stock market settlement occurred this week, but it would appear from the course of cables that the American balance was not large. The reduction by the Imperial Bank of Germany of its official rate of discount had an unimportant influence upon the market for marks; francs were, however, strong.

Notwithstanding the decline in sight sterling this week, gold exports to Paris were not checked, though the volume of shipments was smaller than in the previous week, amounting to 4½ millions. It seems likely that when the engagements which were made early in the week were affected, cover therefor had already been procured, and possibly on Saturday, when exchange was strong. It is reported that some of the later exports of gold were covered with cables. This seems quite likely if, as was stated in the "Chronicle" last week, the French bankers, who co-operated with our own in effecting the export, provided credits in London against which the American shipper could draw. It may be noted, too, that there appeared to be some urgency in the demand for gold; this was indicated by the fall in exchange at Paris on London on Wednesday to 25 francs 11 centimes, or one and a half centimes lower than the rate on Friday of last week, thus partially offsetting the lower quotation for sterling exchange in New York on London. Moreover, though French bankers secured the bulk of the one million sterling Cape gold that was offered in the British bullion market on Monday, the price of the bar metal declined one farthing to 77 shillings 10⅛ pence per ounce, which decline probably induced the French bankers, who were co-operating with American shippers, to offer them the advantage of cable reimbursement for the week's exports, which would result in the entire elimination of the time-cost of the operation. Should this apparent urgency in the French requirements for our gold continue, the movement, while it might be intermittent, would possibly progress until, through a decided reversal of relative monetary and discount conditions, gold exports, even though conducted under the most favorable circumstances, would be scarcely profitable. One incident of the week which attracted some attention was the shipment on Monday of 1½ millions gold coin by the Bank of Montreal agency to Canada, following a transfer on the previous Saturday of one million; the movement was due to the fact that money rates at Montreal are about double those ruling in New York for call loans.

The continued exports of gold to Paris, notwithstanding lower rates for sight exchange at New York on London, seemed to indicate that the effect of such fall in exchange was counteracted through the offering, as above noted, to the American shipper of greater advantages than those which were extended last week. Then credits appear to have been provided in London by French bankers, against which the New York exporter drew his reimbursing bill; it seems likely that such credits were this week made available for cable drafts, thus effectually eliminating the time-cost of the operation. It was reported this week that German bankers are co-operating with American in facilitating exports hence of gold, either directly to Berlin or through Paris; this does not seem to be improbable. German bankers have been making advances of two weeks' interest on consignments of gold from near-by Continental points, and of even longer periods on gold from Australia; if it were desirable these bankers could doubtless establish credits in London, as was done by the French bankers, as noted last week, and thus accomplish their purpose at a minimum cost. The statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany last Monday reported a gain of 3 millions sterling cash; if this report is correct, it indicates that the Bank has been enabled to attract the metal from sources which are not disclosed, and it is fair to assume that one source is Paris. If this shall prove to be the case, and if the Bank's requirements are still unsatisfied, we may not unreasonably expect that Paris will continue to supply Germany's needs unless, indeed, these can be met directly through the Reischsbank's co-operation with American bankers.

On Saturday of last week the market was firm, with a rise of 5 points for short to 4 8730@4 8735 and for cables to 4 8760@4 8765; long was 10 points lower at 4 8480@4 8485. On Monday long fell 10 points to 4 8470@4 8475 and short 5 points to 4 8725@4 8730, while cables were 5 points higher at 4 8765@4 8770. On Tuesday short declined 10 points to 4 8715@4 8720 and cables 15 points to 4 8750@4 8755; long was unchanged. On Wednesday long fell 20 points to 4 8450 @4 8455, short 15 points to 4 87@4 8705 and cables 15 points to 4 8735@4 8740. On Thursday the market was irregular, closing, however, steadier at an advance of 15 points for long to 4 8460@4 8470 and a decline of 5 points for cables to 4 8730@4 8740; short, after selling 5 points lower, closed unchanged at 4 87@ 4 8705. On Friday the tone was heavy with a fall in long, in short and in cables of 10 points.

SIR HENRY CAMPBELL-BANNERMAN.

The death of the late British Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, on Wednesday of last week, ended a career which in many of its aspects was of peculiar interest. No one is likely to contend that Campbell-Bannerman was a great Prime Minister, and it certainly cannot be said that he made history as other British Parliamentary leaders have done. The interest in his career lies rather in the singular vicissitudes through which it passed, and in the very unusual situation which his disappearance from the scene has left behind.

Campbell-Bannerman, though he held office for only two years, occupied the post of Premier long enough to disprove the assertions of many critics, made at the time of the general election of 1906, that he was a mere political stop-gap. That he was chosen because he alone had been consistent and courageous in his advocacy of Liberal principles in the days when the Party seemed to be dismembered during the Boer War, was admitted by every one; but it was by no means certain in the minds of his adherents whether he would turn out to be an efficient leader on the floor of the House of Commons. In the result, it was that very part of his task which Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman performed with most signal ability. A talent for debate, developed contrary to expectations even of his friends, was combined with the resources of tact and good humor which had been recognized by all during the days when he alone seemed to bear the burden of holding the Liberal Party together. Both of these qualifications were of high importance for the duties which, during the past two years, he has had to perform.

When Campbell-Bannerman is compared with other recent British Premiers, it is difficult to find a close analogy as regards either his personality or the circumstances of his Ministerial career. Somewhat resembling Mr. Balfour in personal geniality, his hard and stubborn common sense removed him as far as possible from the dreamy idealism of the Tory Premier. With Lord Salisbury, an aristocrat of the old school and a professed cynic in his public utterances, Campbell-Bannerman suggests no comparison whatever. His social talents might recall Lord Rosebery, but with Lord Rosebery adherence to party principles was subordinated to the exigencies of the hour, whereas Campbell-Bannerman was the type of public man who nails his colors to the mast in the worst of the fight, as was shown when he faced courageously even personal obloquy by denouncing the Boer War at the moment when the British soldiers were in action.

Equally far removed was his temperament from the restless inventiveness and constant searching after political expedients which characterized Mr. Gladstone, and with the high-flying imperial imagination of Mr. Disraeli the practical Scotch mind of the late Premier had nothing in common. Among other Parliamentary leaders his personality in some respects suggests Sir William Harcourt; but Harcourt carried his party loyalty so far, notably in the Home Rule issue, as to surrender personal convictions to the dictates of party leadership, and there is little reason to suppose that in any case Campbell-Bannerman would have imitated him in this. In short, it is difficult to find a close parallel for his personality and career. Had he been placed in different times, but with the similar task of consolidating a scattered and bewildered party, Sir Robert Walpole might have been taken as the nearest analogy. But the times and circumstances were different.

Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's task—the task for which be will be remembered in British political history—was the holding together of the Liberal Party at a time when its condition seemed as hopeless as did that of our own Democratic Party after 1896. More fortunate than the American Democrats, the minority party in Great Britain found for its leader under those trying circumstances not only a man of acknowledged personal attraction, but of wide information and sound common sense. To this combination of qualities his great success in holding the ranks of the Liberal Party in line, and eventually in returning it to power, must be ascribed. It was a kind of leadership which was as inspiring to his party as the leadership of our own minority, after the period referred to, was discouraging and paralyzing.

We hardly imagine that the tribute which is cordially rendered to his management of the party during its hours of adversity will be conceded to him by history for his management after the dramatic victory of 1906. It was the old story of a party and a constituency which could bear hardship but not prosperity. It is true, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's qualities of tact, good humor and steadfast honesty served no inconsiderable part in holding together the heterogeneous elements which every one could see, after the general election of two years ago, made up the victorious Liberal constituency. Whether any statesman, however forceful and powerful his talent and individuality might have been, could have constructed an independent policy and held his majorities, without compromise or surrender to the various factions which contributed to the vote of 1906, is an open question. The fact regarding Campbell-Bannerman is that he did not achieve that end, and apparently did not try to achieve it. By attempting concessions in all directions, he met the fate of the countryman in the fable who, by taking everyone's advice, pleased nobody and in the end effectually upset his own interests. At the time of his retirement, it was rapidly growing evident that neither the Labor Party nor the Irish Party nor the Socialist Party nor the old-line Whigs were satisfied with the policies of the Ministry, and predictions had been made unhesitatingly that, when the issue was finally placed before Parliament, one and perhaps several of these various inharmonious factions would abandon the support of the Campbell-Bannerman Cabinet.

This is the strange and confused political situation which was bequeathed to Mr. Asquith. Quite aside from the pressing financial problems of the day, Mr. Asquith will have to meet the questions aroused by Campbell-Bannerman's attitude, active or passive, toward such problems as the privileges of labor unions, the pensioning of the aged and the problem of woman suffrage. The new Ministry starts out with the plainest kind of warning. Mr. Winston Churchill, promoted to the presidency of the Board of Trade in the Asquith Cabinet, went back to his constituency, according to British custom, to contest the seat at a new election. The majority which he had won two years ago was reversed on Friday of last week into a majority for the same Tory opponent who canvassed that part of Manchester against him in 1906. This is only one in a series of positive warnings which the English people have been administering to the Liberal Cabinet as to its experimental policies in legislation during the past two years. Mr. Asquith has declared this week that he will loyally pursue the policies of his predecessor. Perhaps, at this time, he could have made no other declaration. But if this declaration embodies finally his Ministerial program, the most enlightened English judgment, even in the Liberal Party, is that the days of his Parliamentary majority are numbered.

THE DUTY AND OPPORTUNITY OF THE SOUTH.

The South has it within its power to render a service of great value to the country at the present juncture in national affairs. Its political leaders, by adopting a course calculated to ensure the nomination of a conservative type of man as a Presidential candidate on the Democratic ticket, can aid in lifting industrial affair out of the present slough of despond and effectuate a quick restoration of business prosperity. Not for a period of fifty years has the trade and business of the country suffered such a serious reverse as is now being experienced. The aftermath of the panic of 1873 was much less severe, while as to the shrinkage in business which attended the crisis of 1893, this was hardly a circumstance to the almost complete industrial stoppage with which the country is now confronted.

Unfortunately, too, trade prostration is becoming more pronounced with each succeeding week, and the recovery which has been so confidently predicted, month by month, ever since the upheaval of last October and November, seems as far in the distance as ever. The best illustration of the truth of this statement is the fact that gross earnings of United States railroads for the latest full week available, namely the third quarter in April, show the very largest decrease yet reported for any week, reaching 18.29%. In the general collapse the South finds itself hit particularly hard. It has felt the depression in trade more seriously than any other section of the country. Taking those two representative roads, the Louisville & Nashville on the one hand and the Southern Railway on the other, the gross earnings of the former in the third week of April fell off $220,315, or nearly 23%, and the gross earnings of the latter $208,719, or over 19%.

The problem presented to the South and to the whole country is how this unfortunate situation can be cured most readily and most effectively. There may be differences of opinion as to the cause or causes of the tremendous slump in business. It seems to us there can be no doubt as to the remedy to apply. The country needs above everything else freedom from further agitation tending to cause fear and distrust. After the strain to which it has been subjected, this is indispensable to a recovery of the former strength and tone.

What is now needed above everything else is a return and revival of confidence; and obviously confidence cannot be revived or restored by the undertaking of more experiments of the kind which have already wrought so much mischief. Grant, for the sake of argument, that the movement of the last few years had much in its favor—would it be prudent to treat the patient with more doses of the same kind when he is now sick nigh unto death? Would it not be much the better plan to proceed slowly and cautiously until the effects of past action can be clearly and definitely ascertained, and it can be determined whether any good results at all are likely to follow from such action? Yet politicians, always slow to learn, have failed utterly to perceive the lesson which recent experience is teaching. They are still proceeding in the same old way, seeking further to disturb and unsettle the established order in the hope that political advantage can be gained thereby.

The need of the hour, therefore, is conservatism in politics. It is here where the South can be of such great service. Note the trend of affairs in the two great political bodies. It seems as plain as an event of the future can be in advance that the coming Republican Convention will present as the nominee for the Presidency Secretary Taft, whose candidacy Mr. Roosevelt has openly espoused and in whose behalf he is using all the means and agencies and power at his command. Thus, in the case of the success of the Republican ticket the country would run the risk of having four years more of doubt and trial like the six years through which it has already passed. For it would be too much to expect a complete recovery of confidence so long as the old disturbing agencies remained at work.

Stop now to consider the probabilities in the Democratic Party. Should Mr. Bryan secure the nomination, there would be even less chance of a restoration of business properity. The South has it within its power to prevent the nomination of Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan has recently been losing ground, but he is still in the lead, and his defeat for the nomination can be accomplished with absolute certainty through the co-operation of the Southern States. The South is supposed to entertain kindly feelings towards him, but the fact which we wish to impress upon its attention is that, in the event of his election, the result could be neither beneficial to the South nor to the country at large. By reason of his views, to which he would give expression in the same unreserved way as Mr. Roosevelt, and which he would seek to have incorporated in the statutes and Constitution with the same strenuousness, he would fail absolutely to win the confidence of the investment and business classes. More than that, the country would be kept in a state of perpetual turmoil. The result would be that very little capital would go into new undertakings of any kind, and as a consequence reproductive enterprise would remain at halt just as it is to-day. This, we are sure, would not accord with the desires of the Southern people. What the South wants, what every one else wants, is some speedy way of bringing about a restoration of the prosperity which the whole country enjoyed until recent periods.

We think the nomination and election of a conservative, yet progressive, Democrat—a Democrat of the Jeffersonian type—would produce a revival of confidence and be followed by an almost immediate return of trade prosperity. Judge George Gray of Delaware would meet the requirement, although we mention him only as a type of a class.

We urge the South to throw its influence in favor of such an accomplishment. Let the South for its own best interests and for the interests of the whole country turn from Mr. Bryan to some leader of unblemished reputation, commanding the support of the entire population, thereby putting the wheels of industry in motion again. Let the Democrats at the political conventions still to be held in the South refuse to instruct for Mr. Bryan and then let the delegates go unpledged to the National Democratic Convention at Denver with their minds open, bent on selecting the right candidate. With a goodly portion of the delegates of the Southern States uncommitted, and with New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania and the bulk of New England adopting the same attitude, Mr. Bryan's nomination can be prevented and a combination be formed strong enough to insure the election of a man who will lead his party to victory and at the same time confer lasting benefit upon the whole community.

There are also other considerations that should influence the Southern States in seeking the nomination of a Democrat who could command the support of all those, whatever their political affiliations, who are opposed to Mr. Roosevelt's doctrines. Mr. Roosevelt is seeking by every conceivable means to extend Federal authority and bring about further centralization in government. This is a departure from the principles of the fathers and fraught with serious political danger, tending slowly but surely to undermine the liberties of the people. The danger which would attend lodging power in the Central Government that belongs to the States is well illustrated by the course of recent railroad legislation in the South. This legislation in some of the States was distinctly inimical to the roads. The United States Supreme Court has lately rendered much of it nugatory, but the point to which we wish to direct attention is that long before that Court announced its decision, most of the Southern States had begun to retrace their steps. They compromised with the roads by allowing the latter to charge higher rates than those at first insisted on. The reason for this move was that trade depression had come and the earnings of the roads were falling off very heavily.

The Southern legislator, when enacting the new laws, had insisted that he was not actuated by a desire to cripple the carriers. True to their declarations, the Southern people modified their laws the moment it became evident that the roads were experiencing reverses. This was the reverse of the course pursued by the Federal authorities at Washington. The Southern people did not have to be told that the roads were falling behind. The evidence was before their eyes. A striking indication of the change in the attitude of the States was given by Chairman McLendon of the Georgia Railroad Commission in a speech made before the Carrollton (Ga.) Board of Trade on March 16th. Mr. McLendon, after referring to the difficulties under which the roads are laboring with the increase in operating cost and decrease in income, said: "The conditions that surround us call for a display of the highest patriotism and intelligence of which our people are capable. It is a time when foolish men should be asked to remain silent. It is a time when from the multitude of sane counsel there should come wise suggestion in the place of wild assertion."

With this injunction that it is a time when foolish men should be asked to remain silent, consider by contrast the attitude of the Central Government, far removed from the effects of shrinkage in revenues. Since the 1st of January gross earnings of United States railroads have been declining at the rate of 25 million dollars a month, and yet Commissioner Lane of the Inter-State Board has been arguing lately that the roads had no reason to complain—that their losses were, on the whole, comparatively light. The Commissioners, not amenable to any home constituency, are not easily touched by the pressure of adversity, and moreover lose all idea of proportion. Similarly, President Roosevelt even the present week has again been asking for an extension of Federal authority so as to include all inter-State corporations—his third message on the subject in 1908—and for further repressive legislation at a moment when the States have already begun to modify their policy adverse to the roads. Incidentally, it may be recalled that it was really the Federal Government that urged the States on in their assaults on the roads. They were told that unless the State exercised its authority, the National Government would step in and undertake the work. In the light of what has happened, are we going too far when we assert that there was design in all this? Does it not look as if the purpose had been to provoke the States in their zeal to commit excesses in order to furnish the basis for a claim that the States could not safely be trusted in such matters, but that the whole subject must be relegated to the Federal Government—that only the strong arm of a Central Government could protect inter-State concerns against oppression by the States.

We accordingly appeal not only to the self-interest of the South but to her patriotism, to her love of liberty and political freedom and to her devotion to the fundamental principles on which popular institutions rest. In the early days of the Republic she laid the whole country under great obligations. Up to the time of the Civil War in 1862, a period of just three-quarters of a century, she contributed one-half the Presidents of the United States. Let her now once more resume political leadership by saving the country from the dangers of Bryanism and helping in the nomination of a candidate around whom all those still devoted to early ideals can rally. The opportunity is now here. By embracing it, she will enable the United States to retain its place among the foremost industrial nations of modern times, will put the whole country under an everlasting debt of gratitude, and will contribute to rehabilitate trade all over the world, for commercial depression in the United States is fast dragging down trade in England, Germany and the other leading countries of the globe.

ENFORCED STOCK SALES BY LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES.

Some months ago it was the belief of a considerable portion of the investing public that the prospect of the enforced sale by the life insurance companies of this State by the end of 1911 of their stock holdings had already exercised some unfavorable effect upon prices. While it is obviously impossible to bring such an opinion to test by facts, it is also impossible to say how far impressions about the not distant future may enter into the public feeling which does largely determine current prices; and as we are now well in the second of the five years allowed for clearing out these holdings by the companies, it is interesting to note what has been done in that direction up to this date.

The New York Life closed out its stocks some years ago, and the holdings of other companies than the Equitable and Mutual are inconsiderable. The stocks in those two were reduced in 1906 about 7 millions, as an anticipatory action. At the end of 1906 the Equitable and Mutual held respectively 12 and 20 items of railway stocks, amounting at par to $8,390,810 and $17,859,400; these were carried through 1907 and still stand unchanged. The 5 items of miscellaneous stocks in the Equitable, amounting to $735,000 at par, also remain unchanged; of the Mutual's 4 items of miscellaneous amounting to $3,522,000 at par, the $123,000 of Lawyers' Mortgage Co. has been sold. Of its 14 items of financial stocks, the Equitable has sold the $250,000 of Fidelity Trust of Newark and the $271,800 of Lawyers' gage Co., and has nearly closed out its Fifth Avenue Trust stock, besides largely reducing its stock in the Commercial Trust of Philadelphia; these reductions amounting to $742,000 on a total of just under 10 millions at par. From its score of financial stocks, totaling $8,597,700, the Mutual has sold its $10,000 of Astor National Bank stock and its $253,200 of Fifth Avenue Trust, these sales, together with the $123,000 Lawyers' Mortgage just mentioned, footing up $386,200. It is hardly needful to add that all these sales were made at large premiums, and will therefore appear under the head of "profit from sale of securities," although whether this is really and permanently profitable is quite debatable. Incidentally, $144,000 of stock came to the Mutual from changes made in the proportions of stock and surplus in the Chemical National during 1907; this is just an incident outside of the law, and one of the many things which constructers of laws cannot foresee or control.

Of a little over 39 millions of par holdings in the two companies, a little under one million has thus been sold since 1906. This is, of course, not large enough arithmetically to warrant stating in detail, but the point is that the companies, desiring to comply in good faith with an injurious demand of statute, yet bound by the obligations of trusteeship to do so with the least possible harm to the trust, have been able to do so little in the first 16 months of the entire 60 prescribed for the complete process. It is proper to add, furthermore, that these small sales were favored by conditions in those particular cases, that is to say, they were made with cautious ability, and thus avoided either sacrifice or injury.

The assumptions, in the Armstrong report and the law itself, that stock ownership certainly involves the possibility (1) of disaster and of being compelled to nurse the property, while bonds are always an adequate recourse in case of default, and (2) that so-called syndicate participations may be abusively practiced in case of stocks but not of bonds, are childish, and simply show how unfortunate it is to have men who are not well-informed about business affairs engaging in legislating on important matters of business. Yet one of the "charges" against Commissioner Kelsey was actually that he had not compelled the companies to sell their stocks. As to this, the requirement is to make, "in each year," such reduction "as may be approved in writing" by the Commissioner. He is not required to demand any reduction in a particular year; it is not to be expected that he will do more than pass upon transactions after being made or that he will ignore the market conditions; and one happy result of the failure to remove Mr. Kelsey is that a possible successor of the "brass knuckles" class was kept from an opportunity to make unfortunate conditions worse.

The harm which could be done, both to the trust funds and to other interests, by any attempt to force these holdings upon the market, need only be suggested. It is indisputable that the companies are now, as they long have been, in able administrative hands, notwithstanding the assumption of the lawmaker that they need to have discretion limited. It is equally certain that the paramount duty of these trustees is to conserve their trust, and that no court will ever require or permit them (should the occasion arise) to sacrifice these properties. We may also remember that these investments were lawfully made. To prohibit making more of them is doubtless within the scope of law; but whether law can take a retroactive turn and enforce an injury to the trust is certainly a debatable question. These are private interests, of which only a very minor fraction is owned by persons under the jurisdiction of New York; and although we must admit that foreign members of these companies necessarily come under local law, propriety and sound jurisprudence suggest that this control should not be pushed too far. A large amount has already been taken from these funds, expended with no more actual or reasonably prospective benefit to the owners of the funds than if the law had ordered the money spent on a pyrotechnical display. This is so because men who make laws are like other men in not being in fault for inability to foresee future events; but they should not dictate conduct to business interests as if they were able to foresee.

The law has lately been modified to meet one damaging situation which was not and could not have been foreseen; the unfavorable conditions which at present prevent sale of these stocks make another unforeseen situation. In all respects this law is working badly, just as those who tried in vain to prevent its enactment predicted that it would. Plainly, it cannot stand as it is, but we have the practical assurance that the exingency will be taken care of before it becomes immediate and that the laws of business will once more prove stronger than mere paper statutes.

PROTECTION OF FOREIGN CREDITORS IN THE UNITED STATES.

A highly-esteemed subscriber in Zurich calls our attention to a series of articles which have appeared in the "Frankfurter Zeitung" dealing with the rights of foreign creditors in the United States as defined in a recent decision of the United States Supreme Court. He tells us that these articles are tending greatly to reduce the confidence of foreign banks and bankers in the legal protection to be accorded them by our courts. He argues that it is of the highest importance that contracts made by foreigners with any subject in the United States should be enforced in the same way as in any other civilized country—that upon this depends the continuance of European investments in the United States.

We have taken the pains to look up the case which formed the subject of the discussions in the "Frankfurter Zeitung," and whose comments have so disturbed our correspondent. We find that the facts do not fully bear out the construction put upon them. The United States Supreme Court decision to which he refers did not at all involve "contracts made by foreigners with any subject in the United States." The case was that of the Disconto Gesellschaft, a foreign concern, against Augustus C. Umbreit, appearing for the defendant Terlinden, the latter also a foreign subject. It appears that Terlinden was and still is a resident of Germany; that about July 11 1901 he absconded from Germany and came to Wisconsin and assumed the name of Theodore Grafe; that shortly after (on Aug. 16 1901) he was apprehended as a fugitive from justice upon extradition proceedings instituted against him, and was thereupon extradited to Germany. On July 27 1901 proceedings in bankruptcy were instituted in Germany against Terlinden, and Paul Hecking was appointed trustee in such proceedings. On Aug. 21 1901 the Disconto Gesellschaft was appointed a member of the committee of creditors of Terlinden's personal estate. The Disconto Gesellschaft about the same time began an action against Terlinden for the recovery of damages sustained by the tort of Terlinden committed in the month of May 1901. Terlinden appeared in said action by A. C. Umbreit, his attorney, and answered the complaint. Finally, on Feb. 19 1904, judgment for $94,145 was given, with interest.

Having learned that Terlinden had on deposit $6,420 with the First National Bank of Milwaukee in the name of Theodore Grafe, process in garnishment was served on the bank on Aug. 17 1901. On March 21 1904, a little over a month after the Disconto Gesellschaft had recovered judgment against Terlinden, Umbreit, his lawyer, commenced an action against Terlinden for recovery for services rendered between Aug. 16 1901 and Feb. 1 1903. To this action no defence was put in. Accordingly, on June 11 1904, judgment was given by default in favor of Umbreit and against Terlinden for $7,500 damages. Umbreit likewise served process of garnishment on the deposit of Terlinden in the First National Bank of Milwaukee.

The Circuit Court of Milwaukee County upon the facts here stated rendered judgment giving priority to the levy of the Disconto Gesellschaft for the satisfaction of its judgment out of the fund attached in the hands of the bank. The Supreme Court of Wisconsin, however, reversed the judgment of the Circuit Court and directed judgment in favor of Umbreit, that he recover the sum garnisheed in the bank. The Disconto Gesellschaft then carried the case to the United States Supreme Court. It alleged that the effect of the proceedings in the State Court was to deprive it of its property without due process of law, contrary to the Fourteenth Amendment, and to deprive it of certain rights and privileges guaranteed to it by treaty between Prussia and the United States.

It will be seen that the case was an entirely exceptional one. The plaintiff, the Disconto Gesellschaft, was a German corporation and Terlinden was a German subject. Umbreit alone, the lawyer and intervener, was a citizen and resident of Wisconsin. The fact that Terlinden did not attempt to defend the claim of Umbreit makes it appear as if there had been collusion between client and lawyer. On the other hand, the fact that Terlinden allowed the action against him by Umbreit to go by default is entirely consistent with the theory that there was no collusion. Of course it must be remembered that Terlinden was hardly in position to appear and make much of a defence, seeing that the court records disclose that he had been extradited to Germany three years before. It is quite possible, too, that the claim of Umbreit was entirely valid and covered real services rendered by lawyer to client.

Be that as it may, the attachment suit resulted adversely to the Disconto Gesellschaft. The Supreme Court of Wisconsin took the ground that the fund attached could not be subjected to the payment of the indebtedness due the foreign corporation as against the claim asserted to the fund by one of its own citizens, although that claim arose after the attachment by the foreign creditor; and, further, the fact that the effect of the judgment in favor of the foreign corporation would be to remove the fund to a foreign country, there to be administered in favor of foreign creditors, was against the public policy of Wisconsin, which forbids such discrimination as against a citizen of that State.

The opinion of the United States Supreme Court was delivered by Justice Day, who points out that alien residents, by the policy and practice of the courts of this country, are ordinarily permitted to resort to the courts for the redress of wrongs and the protection of their rights. But what property may be removed from a State and subjected to the claims of creditors of other States is a matter of comity between nations and States and not a matter of absolute right in favor of creditors of another sovereignty when citizens of the local State or country are asserting rights against property in the local jurisdiction. He declares that examination of the authorities shows that "all civilized nations" have recognized and enforced the doctrine that international comity does not require the enforcement of judgments in such wise as to prejudice the rights of local creditors and the superior claims of such creditors to assert and enforce demands against property within the local jurisdiction. Such recognition, he avers, is not inconsistent with that moral duty to respect the rights of foreign citizens which inheres in the law of nations.

The doctrine of comity, it is pointed out, has been the subject of frequent discussion in the courts of this country when it has been sought to assert rights accruing under assignments for the benefit of creditors in other States as against the demands of local creditors by attachment or otherwise in the State where the property is situated. The general conclusion reached has been that voluntary assignments for the benefit of creditors should be given force in other States as to property therein situate, except so far as they come in conflict with the rights of local creditors or with the public policy of the State in which it is sought to be enforced. Justice Day refers to the case of Oakey vs. Bennett, where it was said that national comity does not require any government to give effect to such assignment (for the benefit of creditors) when it shall impair the remedies or lessen the security of its own citizens. There being then no provision of positive law requiring the recognition of the right of the Disconto Gesellschaft to appropriate property in the State of Wisconsin and subject it to distribution for the benefit of foreign creditors as against the demands of local creditors, how far the public policy of the State permitted such recognition was a matter for the State to determine for itself. Justice Day could not perceive how this application of a well-known rule could be said to deprive the plaintiff of its property without due process of law.

Even between States of the American Union, Justice Day shows, it has been the constant practice not to recognize assignments for the benefit of creditors outside the State, where the same came in conflict with the rights of domestic creditors seeking to recover their debts against local property. This is the doctrine in force as against natives of the country residing in other States, and it is this doctrine which was applied by the Supreme Court of Wisconsin to foreign creditors residing in Germany. As to there being a violation of treaty obligations, there is nothing in the treaty in force between the United States and the German Empire undertaking to change the well-recognized rule between States and nations, which permits a country to first protect the rights of its own citizens in local property before permitting it to be taken out of the jurisdiction for administration in favor of those residing beyond its borders.

It will thus be seen that this decision of our highest court does not conflict with the practice in other "civilized countries." Furthermore, subjects of a foreign country are treated no differently than one State in the American Union treats citizens of other States—the local creditor is always preferred to the outside creditor.

THE MASSACHUSETTS COMMISSION ON COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY.

The following letter from Secretary Droppers of the Massachusetts Commission on Commerce and Industry calls attention to an error which crept into our article in last Saturday's issue of our Railway and Industrial section reviewing the recent report of that Commission.

Williamstown, Mass., April 28 1908.

The "Commercial & Financial Chronicle," New York City.

Dear Sir:—I note that in the editorial article of the Industrial section of the "Commercial & Financial Chronicle" for April 25 you state that Charles F. Adams 2d, a member of the Massachusetts Commission on Commerce and Industry, was formerly a member of the Massachusetts Railroad Commission. This is a mistake. The present Mr. Adams is Treasurer of Harvard College and a son of Mr. Charles Francis Adams who was once a member of the Massachusetts Railroad Commission and formerly President of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Yours very truly,
GARRETT DROPPERS,
Secretary of the Commission on Commerce and Industry.

ITEMS ABOUT BANKS, BANKERS AND TRUST CO'S.

—The public sales of bank stocks this week aggregate 127 shares, of which 25 shares were sold at the Stock Exchange and 102 shares at auction. The transactions in trust company stocks reach a total of 218 shares. The table given below, in our usual form, shows the actual sales of New York City bank stocks made during the week at auction and at the Stock Exchange. Extensive tables showing the bid and asked quotations, deposits, surplus, &c., of banks and trust companies in all important cities of the United States are published monthly in the "Bank and Quotation" section, the May issue of which accompanies to-day's "Chronicle." Bid and asked quotations for all New York City bank and trust company stocks are also published weekly in another department of the paper, and will be found to-day on pages 1082 and 1083.

—Two New York Stock Exchange memberships were reported transferred this week for $70,000 and $71,000, respectively. The last previous sale was at $65,000.

—National banks cannot avail of the provisions of the Oklahoma law guaranteeing deposits, in the opinion of Deputy Comptroller of the Currency T. P. Kane. Mr. Kane's opinion was expressed in a letter written under date of April 18 to J. W. McNeal, President of the National Bank of Commerce of Guthrie. According to the Dallas "News" Mr. Kane in part said:

"This question is of sufficient magnitude and importance to the banks of Oklahoma to obtain an official opinion from the Department of Justice, if it can be obta ned, and this office has spared no effort and lost no time endeavoring to obtain such an opinion. It is probable that the opinion will be obtained. And until this office advises you in regard to the matter, you would not be justified in contributing any money under the law of Oklahoma. In my opinion, national banks have no right to avail themselves of the terms of the Oklahoma law relative to insuring deposits, and until the Attorney-General or the courts decide otherwise I shall so hold."

More than 80 of the 309 national banks in Oklahoma had applied to the State Banking Board for permission to participate in the privileges of the new law, and 42, it is said, had been approved.

—The Governing Committee of the New York Stock Exchange has adopted a new rule with regard to the admittance of visitors to its gallery. The resolution stipulates that "no person will be admitted to the Stock Exchange gallery unless accompanied into the gallery by a member the member remaining with the visitor." The gallery was closed to visitors some time ago, the New York Produce and Cotton Exchanges following a similar course.

—At the annual meeting on Thursday of the stockholders of the United States Mortgage & Trust Co. of this city, Arthur Turnbull, who has been a Vice-President of the company, was elected Acting President, pending the election of a permanent successor to George M. Cumming, resigned. The Board of Directors of the institution was reduced from thirty to twenty-one members, and the following were elected: class expiring March 1909, William P.Dixon, M. L. Schiff, C. H. Mackay, C. A. Coffin, William B. Boulton, J. W. Platten, and William A. Jamison; class expiring March 1910, Charles D. Dickey, G. E. Kissel, Robert A. —Arthur R. Peck, who was named as assignee of the failed firm of T. A. McIntyre & Co. of this city on Friday, the 24th ult., has been appointed co-receiver of the firm with C. C. Burlingham. The firm's assignment was followed by the filing against it of two separate petitions in bankruptcy. The claim was made by the attorneys representing the second group of petitioning creditors that there are two firms of T. A. McIntyre & Co., one consisting of five and the other of seven members. The first petition, it was alleged, was filed against the out-of-town firm, and the receiver named in response thereto had, it was asserted, no right to take possession of the local offices; accordingly the second petition was filed and the two receivers named. An explanation as to the existence of the two firms was offered as follows on Thursday by Maurice Leon, counsel for Mr. McIntyre.

It was understood at the time the partnership papers were drawn that there should be two agreements, one that there should be seven members of the firm up to a certain time and after that only five. James M. Hudson and James E. Hulshizer, under one agreement, were to leave the firm on May 1, and the others, under the other agreement, were to remain with the firm two years longer. As far as the public was concerned, however, there was only one firm, and on the day of the failure there was but one firm. Two firms were not incorporated, but partnership articles were drawn up in accordance with the agreement. The names of the seven members were on the door of the firm's office.

An examination of the members of the firm was begun on Thursday with a view to locating some $400,000 securities said to belong to its customers.

—Under the provisions of the new law, giving the State Superintendent of Banks direct authority over suspended State institutions, Clark Williams yesterday appointed G. S. Leonard as Special Deputy Superintendent in charge of the liquidation of the Home Bank of Brooklyn Borough. The appointment is the first to be made since the enactment of the law. The Home Bank closed its doors on February 1. No receiver had been named to take charge of its affairs, and it was understood that plans for its reorganization were under way.

—A decision recently rendered by the Supreme Court of Iowa holds that savings banks in availing of the privileges to deal in commercial paper, likewise assume the obligations incident thereto in the matter of the guaranty and endorsement of the same. The case concerned the failed Corning State Savings Bank of Corning, Iowa, whose suspension, it is said, was brought about through the forgeries of its late President, F. L. La Rue. When the bank failed, suit was brought to compel the receiver to make good the forged paper. While savings banks in Iowa are empowered by law to buy and sell commercial paper, Section 1855 provides that they cannot incur any liability other than to the depositors. The receiver contended that, because of this provision, the bank could not be held liable for the forged paper. A decision accepting this view of the case was rendered by the Adams County District Court, which, however, is now reversed by the Supreme Court. The latter, according to the Des Moines "Register," says in part:

We cannot think that after authorizing savings banks to deal in paper as commercial banks, the Legislature intended so to limit and cripple such authority as practically to defeat the object sought to be obtained.

Very little paper, comparatively, passes on endorsement without "recourse" and even then this does not obviate the liability involved in the warranty of genuineness and of title.

If appellees' view should prevail, every one taking paper from a savings bank must not only receive it endorsed "without recourse," but must know at his peril whether the paper is genuine and the bank has title, as well as that the object of the officers of the bank in disposing of it was "for the purpose of obtaining money with which to pay deposits."

One of the basic functions of banking is the dealing in notes, bills of exchange and credits.

Having authority to deal in commercial paper they necessarily must assume the obligations incident thereto and among these are those of guaranty and endorsement in transferring the same.

—A clearing-house association formed by the six banks in Danville, Ill., has been in operation for several months. L. T. Newlon is Manager.

—Lawrence O. Murray, who was recently named as Comptroller of the Currency to succeed William B. Ridgely, took the oath of office on April 28, and immediately entered upon his new duties. Mr. Murray retires as Assistant Secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor.

—O. H. Cheney has been appointed Third Deputy Superintendent of the New York Banking Department by State Superintendent of Banks, Clark Williams. The office is a new one, created at the late session of the Legislature in order that the department might be represented by one in authority at the branch office in the metropolitan district. Mr. Cheney assumes his new duties immediately. He is a member of the law firm of Cheney, Schenck & Stockell.

—Governor Hughes, who had already approved a number of the banking bills passed at the late session of the New York Legislature, signed another batch this week. These embrace the following:

Increasing the reserves of trust companies and banks.

Providing for the publicity of official acts of the Superintendent of Banks.

Requiring that future branches of State banks must have a capital of $100,000 in addition to that of the parent institution, and must secure the consent of the State Superintendent of Banks; in the case of existing branches the consent of the Superintendent is not necessary, but for each of these a capital of $50,000 is required in addition to that of the parent bank.

Providing that no savings bank shall borrow money or pledge or hypothecate any of its securities, except with the approval of the State Superintendent of Banks, and in pursuance of a resolution of its trustees.

Requiring trustees of savings banks to take an oath of office and to file the same with the Superintendent of Banks.

Requiring monthly meetings of directors of banking corporations and the designation of an officer to prepare and submit to each director at each meeting, or to an executive committee of not less than five members of the board, a statement of all purchases and sales of securities, and of every discount and loan (exclusive of those less than $1,000) made at the date of the regular meeting and describing the collateral to the loans.

Making it a misdemeanor for directors to loan to one another above the amount allowed by statute, or to deposit the bank's money with another corporation with the understanding that the corporation receiving it shall make any loan to a director or employee of such bank; or for concealing discounts or loans from the directors, or making an agreement that a holder of a certificate of deposit may receive payment before its maturity.

Reducing the maximum of a secured loan made by a State bank or trust company in Manhattan from 40 to 25% of the capital and surplus. Institutions in the other boroughs and elsewhere in the State are permitted to retain the 40% limitation.

Requiring trust companies to obtain the consent of the Superintendent of Banks for the opening of branches and also requiring a capital of $100,000 for each branch in addition to the capital of the main institution.

The measures amending the laws affecting the reserves of trust companies and banks are of particular interest, and we give herewith in full the text of these. The trust company reserve law is as follows, the new matter being shown in italics and the old matter to be omitted in brackets:

AN ACT

To amend the Banking Law, relative to the lawful money reserve of trust companies.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 164 of Chapter 689 of the laws of 1892, entitled, "An act in relation to banking corporations," as added by Chapter 337 of the laws of 1906, is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 164. The whole of such reserve fund may, and at least two-thirds thereof must, consist of either lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association, and the balance thereof over and above the part consisting of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association must consist of moneys on deposit subject to call in any bank or trust company in this State having a capital of at least $200,000 or a capital and surplus of at least $300,000, and approved by the Superintendent of Banks.* Every trust company having its principal place of business elsewhere in this State shall at all times have on hand a reserve fund equal to at least 10 per centum of its aggregate deposits [.], exclusive of moneys held by it in trust which are not made payable under the conditions of the trust within thirty days and also exclusive of time deposits not payable within thirty days represented by certificates showing the amount of deposit, the date of issue and the date when due, and also exclusive of deposits which are secured by outstanding unmatured bonds issued by the State of New York. The whole of such last-mentioned reserve fund may, and at least fifty [thirty] per centum thereof must, consist either of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills, issued by any lawfully organized national banking association; [thirty per centum thereof may consist of bonds of the United States, bonds of the State of New York and bonds issued in compliance with law by any city of the first or second class within the State of New York computed at their par value and which are the absolute property of such corporation exclusive of all other investments;] and the balance thereof over and above the part consisting of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, notes and bills, issued by any lawfully organized national banking association, [and the part thereof consisting of bonds as above provided,] must consist of money on deposit subject to call in any bank or trust company in this State having a capital of at least $200,000 or a capital and surplus of at least $300,000, and approved by the Superintendent of Banks. The amounts to be kept on hand, as above provided, shall be called the lawful money reserve. If the lawful money reserve of any trust company shall be less than the amount required by this section, such trust company shall not increase its liability by making any new loans or discounts otherwise than by discounting bills of exchange, payable on sight or making any dividends of its profits until the full amount of its lawful money reserve has been restored. The Superintendent of Banks may [shall] notify any trust company whose lawful money reserve shall be below the amount herein required to make good such reserve, and if it shall fail for thirty days thereafter to make good such reserve such trust company shall be deemed insolvent, and may be proceeded against as an insolvent moneyed corporation.

Section 2. This Act shall take effect immediately, except that prior to July 1 1908 that part of such lawful money reserve above required to consist of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association, must equal at least 5 per centum of the aggregate amount of the deposits of a trust company, if its principal place of business is located in any city of the State having a population of 800,000 or over, and must equal at least 3 per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits, if its principal place of business is located elsewhere in the State; that on and after July 1, 1908, that part of the lawful money reserve above required to consist of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association must equal at least 10 per centum of the aggregate amount of the deposits of a trust company, exclusive of moneys held by it in trust, which are not made payable under the conditions of the trust within 30 days, and also exclusive of time deposits not payable within 30 days represented by certificates showing the amount of deposit, date of issue and date when due, if its principal place of business or a branch office for the receipt and payment of deposits is located in a borough in any city in the State which borough had according to the last preceding State or United States Census a population of 1,800,000 or over, and must equal at least 7½ per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits, exclusive of moneys held by it in trust, which are not made payable under the conditions of the trust within 30 days and also exclusive of time deposits not payable within 30 days represented by certificates showing the amount of the deposit, the date of issue and the date when due, if its principal place of business is in a borough in any city in the State which borough had according to the last preceding State or United States Census a population of less than 1,800,000, and such trust company does not maintain a branch office in a borough having a population of 1,800,000 inhabitants according to the last preceding State or United States Census, and must equal at least 4 per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits, exclusive of moneys held by it in trust, which are not made payable under the conditions of the trust within 30 days and also exclusive of time deposits not payable within 30 days represented by certificates showing the amount of the deposit, the date of issue, and the date when due, if its principal place of business is located elsewhere in the State; provided, however, that on and after February 1, 1909, the entire amount of such part of said reserve must be at all times maintained and kept on hand as above required.

—The new law relative to the reserves of banks provides for the maintenance of a 25% reserve by banks in the boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn, instead of 15%, as heretofore, and a reserve of 15%, instead of 10%, by banks elsewhere in the State. It provides that two-fifths of the reserves of the banks in Manhattan, one-half of the reserves of other boroughs of the Greater New York, and three-fifths of the reserves of institutions elsewhere in the State may consist of moneys on deposit with an approved depositary. The text of the law is as follows. The new matter is given in italics and the old matter in brackets.

AN ACT

To amend the Banking Law, relative to the lawful money reserve of banks and individual bankers.

The People of the State of New York, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

Section 1. Section 44 of Chapter 689 of the laws of 1892, entitled "An Act in relation to banking corporations," is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Section 44. Lawful money reserve.—Every bank or individual banker shall at all times have on hand in lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association an amount equal to at least [15] twenty five per [cent.] centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits, if its principal place of business is located in any borough in any city of the State [having a population of 800,000 and] which borough according to the last preceding State or United States Census had a population of 1,000,000 or over; and an amount equal to at least [10] fifteen per [cent] centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits if its principal place of business is located elsewhere in the State. The amount thus to be kept on hand shall be called its lawful money reserve. Two-fifths [one-half] of such lawful money reserve of any bank or individual banker located in any borough in any city in the State which borough according to the last preceding State or United States Census had a population of 1,800,000 or over, one-half of such lawful money reserve of any bank or individual banker located in any borough in any city of the State which borough according to the last preceding State or United States Census had a population of less than 1,800,000, and which bank or individual banker does not maintain a branch office in any borough having a population according to the last preceding State or United States Census of 1,800,000 or over, and three-fifths of the lawful money reserve of any bank or individual banker located elsewhere in the State may consist of moneys on deposit subject to call with any bank or trust company in this State having a capital of at least $200,000 and approved by the Superintendent of Banks as a depositary of lawful money reserve. If the lawful money reserve of any bank or individual banker shall be less than the amount required by this section, such bank or banker shall not increase its liabilities by making any new loans or discount otherwise than by discounting bills of exchange payable on sight, or making any dividends [or] from profits until the full amount of its lawful money reserve has been restored. The Superintendent of Banks may notify any bank or individual banker whose lawful money reserve shall be below the amount herein required to make good such reserve; and if it shall fail for thirty days thereafter to make good such reserve, such bank or individual banker shall be deemed insolvent and may be proceeded against as an insolvent moneyed corporation.

Section 2. This Act shall take effect immediately except that prior to July 1 1908 that part of such lawful money reserve above required to consist of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association must equal at least 7½ per centum of the aggregate amount of the deposits of a bank, if its principal place of business is located in any city of the State having a population of 800,000 or over, and must equal at least 5 per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits, if its principal place of business is located elsewhere in the State; that on and after July 1 1908 that part of the lawful money reserve above required to consist of lawful money of the United States, gold certificates, silver certificates, or notes or bills issued by any lawfully organized national banking association must equal at least 11¼ per centum of the aggregate amount of the deposits of a bank, if its principal place of business or a branch office for the receipt and payment of deposits is located in a borough in any city in the State which borough had according to the last preceding State or United States Census a population of 1,800,000 or over, and must equal at least 10 per centum of the aggregate amount of its deposits if its principal place of business is in a borough in any city in the State which borough had according to the last preceding State or United States Census a population of more than 1,000,000 and less than 1,800,000 and such bank or individual banker does not maintain a branch office in any borough having a population according to the last preceding State or United States Census of 1,800,000 or over, and must equal at least 7½ per centum of its aggregate deposits if its principal place of business is located in any borough in any city in the State, which borough had according to the last preceding State or United States Census a population of less than 1,000,000 and such bank or individual banker does not maintain a branch office in any borough having a population according to the last preceding State or United States Census of 1,000,000 or over, and must equal at least 5½ per centum of its aggregate deposits if its principal place of business is located elsewhere in the State; provided, however that on and after February 1 1909 the entire amount of such part of said reserve must be at all times maintained and kept on hand as above required.

—The New York Produce Exchange Bank of this city has received the approval of the State Superintendent of Banks to open a branch at the northeast corner of Fourteenth Street and Second Avenue. This will be the eighth branch opened by the bank; it will be known as its Stuyvesant Square Branch.

—The merger agreement of the Equitable Trust Company with the Mercantile Trust Company of this city was voted down at meetings of the stockholders of the two institutions on Thursday, notwithstanding the fact that the litigations instituted by a small minority stock interest had resulted in a decision upholding the proposed merger. It is announced that the directors of both companies, while adhering to the view that the merger was desirable at the time the agreement was made (about a year ago), now believe it to be to the best interests of both to maintain a separate existence. Dividends of 9% on the capital of the Equitable Trust and 30% on that of the Mercantile have been declared. These dividends were at the regular rates paid by the companies prior to the commencement of the merger proceedings, and cover the period during which dividends were deferred owing to the pending litigation.

—Albert E. Mayer, who since the organization of the foreign exchange department of the National Park Bank in 1898 was its manager, died this week, after a long and painful illness. George H. Kretz the Assistant Manager of the department since 1900, has been apointed to the chief position; he was formerly in the employ of G. Amsinck & Co.

—The petition in bankruptcy filed last October against the New York Stock Exchange house of Mayer & Co., was dismissed by Judge Holt of the United States District Court on the 27th ult. Judge Holt also vacated the appointment of Edward G. Benedict as receiver, and all proceedings in the bankruptcy action have been discontinued. The firm assigned on October 23. The shrinkage in the value of stocks, and particularly Delaware & Hudson, was ascribed as the principal cause of the concern's difficulties. The liabilities were placed at approximately $6,000,000.

—The United States Exchange Bank of this city, located at 23 West 125th Street, has decided to wind up its affairs, owing, it is stated, to a lack of business. The bank was organized in 1905 with a capital of $100,000. At the time of the financial troubles last fall, the institution was one of those which suspended business, its doors being closed from October 25 to November 25. On March 25 it reported surplus and profits of $22,100 and deposits of about $385,000. John J. Gibbons is President.

—At a meeting of the trustees of the Lincoln Safe Deposit Co. of this city, on April 23, John R. Van Wormer, previously Secretary and General Manager, was appointed Second Vice-President and General Manager, and William J. Murphy was appointed Secretary and Treasurer.

—A 5% dividend (in liquidation) was paid on the 1st inst. to the stockholders of the Gansevoort Bank of this city. The institution was merged with the Fourteenth Street Bank in June 1905. With the above payment the stockholders have received thus far a total of 80%.

—The suspension of the New York Stock Exchange firm of Coster, Knapp & Co. was announced on the Exchange on the 29th ult., following the suicide on Tuesday of its senior member, Charles Coster. Louis Werner has been made assignee. J. M. Knapp, the surviving member of the firm, is quoted as saying that the "Cause of the suspension was undoubtedly overspeculation by Charles Coster. The loss for the most part" he stated, "will be borne by the members of the firm. We had only about a dozen customers and were doing a very limited business." Mr. Knapp also made the following statement:

"Owing to the death of Mr. Coster and the consequent condition of the firm's affairs, it has been deemed advisable to make an assignment for the benefit of all the creditors. This step was taken at the request of the creditors, and Mr. Werner of the law firm of Simpson, Werner & Cardoza of 52 Broadway, the assignee, has already started in to straighten out accounts, so as to be in a position to make a correct statement to all parties interested at the earliest day possible."

The firm was organized in October 1893 by W. B. Coster, J. M. Knapp and Charles Coster. W. B. Coster, who retired recently, transferred his Stock Exchange seat to Mr. Knapp about a year ago. The liabilities of the firm are estimated at about $1,000,000.

—An opinion was handed down by Judge Hough of the United States Circuit Court on the 29th ult., overruling the demurrers interposed to the indictments against Charles W. Morse and Alfred H. Curtis, formerly Vice-President and President, respectively, of the National Bank of North America. Judge Hough, it is stated, sustains a number of the counts in the indictments, including all those charging the misapplication of funds.

—Despite the announcement a month ago that the depositors of the Williamsburgh Trust Company of Brooklyn Borough had abandoned all idea of resumption, plans for the reorganization of the institution have since been under way, and are expected to result in its reopening within a month or two. It is understood that arrangements have been made whereby the Metropolitan Trust Company of this city is to advance $1,500,000 in cash to aid in the reopening. Argument on the motion for the removal of the receivers is to be heard by Justice Crane on Monday next. In the event that the company resumes, it is said that there will be no deferred-payment plan, the institution being ready to pay its depositors in full with the help of the Metropolitan. The company suspended on October 25. Frank L. Bapst and Augustus Van Wyck are the receivers.

—The Jenkins Trust Company, or rather the Lafayette Trust Company, the latter being the name under which the institution reopened on April 15, has anticipated the first 10% payment due depositors on May 15, having announced its readiness to pay the same on the 29th ult. The plan under which the company was reorganized provided for the payment to depositors of 10% monthly, the first installment payable thirty days after its reopening.

—The fifth annual convention of the New Jersey Bankers' Association was concluded on Saturday last at Atlantic City, where the bankers were in session for two days. In his address as President of the Association, Henry G. Parker, Cashier of the National Bank of New Jersey, at New Brunswick, spoke against both the Fowler and Aldrich bills, characterizing the former as a mere "emergency device," which he stated would hardly answer even that purpose; Mr. Parker declared the provisions of the Fowler Bill with reference to the insurance of bank deposits to be "a catch-penny device put out with the intention of securing public support of the measure" which he referred to as "Utopian and visionary." An address of more than usual interest was that delivered by J. Shirley Eaton, of New York on "The Relation of Higher Education to Banking." Mr. Eaton, who will perhaps be remembered as the author of the work on "Railroad Operations, How to Know Them", presented his views to the bankers in a forceful manner. In introducing his subject he declared that the fact that a body of hard-headed practical men should give over one of their sessions to such a theme was but another mark of the times, when the man of theory and the man of practice are getting closer together. "Perhaps," he added, "from one view-point it may be that the mutual approach of the theorist and the practical man characterizes our times. No entirely successful man to-day can escape an appreciation of the interdependence of the two." The following is a further extract from Mr. Eaton's address:

"We may properly be distrustful of a class consciousness, but a professional consciousness sounds an entirely different note. Such a consciousness erects its standards of efficiency, its ethics of responsibility and public service. It takes at their full import the trusteeship committed to it by the public. Among the agencies that enhance this tendency toward a professional consciousness are your conventions, your literature, and now, may we not add, the schools of business where are to be accumulated and crystalized the traditions and standards of the best practice.

"It may not be untimely to ask, what is the larger service to which the banker should consistently aspire? Does he command the confidence and lead the thought in his peculiar field, as the architect, the lawyer, the doctor or the engineer do in theirs? In the social system he peculiarly stands at the throttle of the economic forces, since, as dealer in credit, he is a public custodian. It is incumbent on him not alone to know something of the personal honesty and general ability of the individuals whose paper he discounts, but to go further, and be informed of the economic positions of the community which he serves, wherein lies its strength and its weakness, which are the possibilities to be developed first, which are those of less promise or that lead to social waste. Questions of local and general public policy he should be the master of, and he should not be backward in claiming that consideration which belongs to him. Where is the bankers' voice to-day in the questions of taxation and currency reform, in the economic policies of localities and sections of our country?"

"The banking fraternity occupies a peculiar relation to this higher education for business. It was the American Bankers' Association that, in the early nineties, commissioned an expert to study the methods of Higher Education for Business in Europe. That expert was Professor James of Wharton School of Finance. Your action was both timely and well considered. The report made by Professor James and his subsequent activities have been large factors in what has been done in this direction so far. On the other hand, there is no class of men of equal position in the community which are in such sore need of higher education in their calling. A leading banker in New York City ventures the statement that not one out of fifty of the one hundred thousand bank and trust company officials of this country has ever read a book on finance and banking, and the ratio is still more startling if we were to designate those who have any adequate knowledge of the laws of finance on which their business rests. Such knowledge may not be required in grinding the daily grist that comes to mill, but the system breaks down when you reach into the field of public policy. Witness to-day the colossal blunders in public finance and the present hopelessness of the currency situation. It is not enough to say that this is the fault of the politician, it is the fault of the bankers, who do not command the public confidence and devote their associate machinery to the enlightenment of the public on the primary questions of public finance. It is due to the fact that they themselves have not given these problems the thought which their importance demands."

The bankers adopted a resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee to take up the question of reforms in the laws governing examinations of financial institutions in the State. The new officers of the association are: President, William C. Heppenheimer, President of the Trust Co. of New Jersey at Hoboken; Vice-President, E. L. Howe, Vice-President of the Princeton Bank at Princeton, and Treasurer, William F. Arnold, Cashier of the City National Bank of Plainfield.

—Michael F. Dooley, formerly Vice-President of the Union Trust Co. of Providence, has been appointed President of the National Exchange Bank of that city. Mr. Dooley replaces A. R. Pierce, who has become Vice-President of the bank.

—F. A. Drury has succeded D. D. Muir as President of the Merchants' National Bank of Worcester, Mass. The latter recently became Vice-President of the First National Bank of Boston.

—Two banks in Venango County, Pa., the Farmers' National of Emlenton (capital $50,000) and the First National of Clintonville (capital $25,000) were placed in charge of receivers on April 24. The institutions are said to be closely connected.

—The Traders' National Bank of Washington, D. C., was placed in voluntary liquidation on April 21, the merger of that institution with the Merchants' & Mechanics' Savings Bank of Washington, having gone into effect on that date. The last-named institution, which conducts a commercial and savings bank business, has increased its capital from $100,000 to $200,000. The enlarged bank on April 27 reported surplus and undivided profits of $41,386, deposits of $1,408,976 and total resources of $1,679,356. The officers are Eldridge E. Jordan, President; Michael G. McCormick and Julius I. Peyser, Vice-Presidents; J. Fendell Cain, Cashier and H. Owen Thompson, Assistant Cashier.

—Eben H. Bourne, President of the Union National Bank of Cleveland, died on April 24. Mr. Bourne was born at Wareham, Mass., in 1840. He became Cashier of the Union National with its formation in 1884, and in 1904, with the death of Marcus A. Hanna, succeeded to the presidency. Mr. Bourne was President of the Cleveland Spring Co. and the Columbia Spring Co. He was an ex-President of the Cleveland Clearing-House Association.

—The Commercial National Bank and the Commercial National Safe Deposit Co. of Chicago, jointly, are distributing an artistic booklet descriptive of the magnificent new building at the corner of Clark and Adams streets of which they took possession a few months ago. The paper, typography and pictorial embellishments of this pamphlet are all of superior quality. The half-tones, both of the exterior and interior, of this beautiful structure of the Italian Renaissance school show most graphically the varied architectural details. When it is considered that this sky-scraper represents an investment of four million dollars; that the main banking room (one of the largest in the world) occupies an area of 28,000 square feet—the main lobby, 60 by 100 feet, being entirely unobstructed by columns or pillars; lavish adornment of imported marbles, bronzes, encaustic tiling and opalescent glass; the rich wainscotings in East Indian and Cuban mahogany and Circassian walnut; the tons upon tons of Harveyized nickel steel armour plates used for the security of the bank and safe deposit vaults; and all the other modern appliances and paraphernalia adopted for the convenience and comfort of the bank's patrons—great credit is seen to be due the builders for what has been accomplished and congratulations are in order to the two prosperous financial institutions for their ability to dwell in so luxurious a home.

The Commercial National was organized in 1864 with a capital of $200,000. It has grown to an institution with a capital and surplus of $3,000,000 each, undivided profits of $1,300,000 and deposits (February 14) of $41,287,311. It is pointed out that, notwithstanding panics and times of depression, the bank has never found it necessary to pass, reduce or defer the payment of regular dividends, which have been declared for ninety-seven consecutive periods. It is further noted that the increasing business has not been obtained by the absorption of other banking institutions, but is wholly the result of the bank's own natural growth.

—W. S. Bishop, formerly Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank of Duluth, Minnesota, has become connected with the National Bank of the Republic, Chicago, in the capacity of chief clerk.

—At the annual convention of the South Carolina Bankers' Association, held at Columbia on April 23 and 24, a resolution was adopted recommending that the State banks keep on hand 15% of their general funds as a reserve fund and 5% of their savings deposits. R. G. Rhett, Mayor of Charleston and President of the People's National Bank of that city, was among the speakers at the meeting; his remarks dealt with the pending currency bills, and contained an explanation of his own plan for the solution of currency reform. Col. F. E. Farnsworth, Secretary of the American Bankers' Association, who also addressed the convention, stated that the National Association had decided to urge the appointment of a currency commission consisting of forty-three, eleven from the Senate, eleven from the House and twenty-one from the country at large, appointed by the President. T. B. Stackhouse, Vice-President of the National Loan & Exchange Bank of Columbia, is the newly elected President of the Association. Giles L. Wilson of Spartanburg has been re-elected Secretary and Treasurer.

—The first report of the condition of the State and private banking institutions of South Carolina made by Bank Examiner Giles L. Wilson has been issued, and gives statistics as of March 9. The statement covers 233 institutions and shows the total paid-in capital of these as $9,061,714, the surplus as $1,536,410 and undivided profits $2,781,585. The individual deposits of the combined institutions are $17,381,323, the savings deposits, $11,075,257, the other items, including amount due to banks and bankers, bills payable and other liabilities aggregating $6,139,518. Aggregate resources foot up $47,975,807. The last previous statement showed the condition at the close of business on December 16 1907, and included 227 institutions. The aggregate then was $48,267,486, of which $8.657,951 represented capital, $1,538,306 surplus, $2,902,714 undivided profits, $16,410,885 individual deposits, $11-917,314 savings deposits and $6,840,316 due to banks and bankers, bills payable &c.

—Pending an investigation into the affairs of the Bank of Mecklenburg at Boydton, Va., the institution suspended on April 13. There is said to be a shortage of over $100,000, due to overdrafts. President C. J. Faulker, Vice-President Lucius Gregory and J. W. Edmonson were appointed receivers on the 15th ult.; Mr. Gregory, however, has declined to serve. The institution has a capital of $16,000. It operated a branch at Chase City, Va., which is also closed.

—The program for the convention of the Alabama Bankers' Association, which is to be held in Montgomery on May 15 and 16, contains addresses as follows: "Legislation and Revival of Business" by William B. Ridgely, President of the National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City, and ex-Comptroller of the Currency; "Co-operation Essential Between Banks" by Alfred J. McGrath, Vice-President of the Western National Bank of Philadelphia; "Sidelights on Banking" by Col. T. O. Smith, Vice-President of the Birmingham (Ala.) Trust & Savings Co.; "International Banking" by S. D. Scudder, Assistant to President, International Banking Corporation, New York; "Lessons of the Panic" by Sol. Wexler, Vice-President Whitney Central National Bank of New Orleans, &c., &c. The President of the Association is E. J. Buck, President of the City Bank & Trust Co. of Mobile.

—Steps to convert the Seaboard Bank of San Francisco into the Seaboard National Bank were taken at the annual meeting last month, and the application for its conversion was approved by the Comptroller of the Currency on April 20. The capital is to remain unchanged at $250,000.

Monetary and Commercial English News

(From our own correspondent.)

London, Saturday, April 15 1908.

Generally speaking the reorganization of the personnel of the British Government since last week is approved by the Stock Exchange. Mr. Asquith becomes Prime Minister and is succeeded as Chancellor of the Exchequer by Mr. Lloyd George, who has been such a success at the Board of Trade. The new chief at the Board of Trade will be Mr. Winston Churchill.

The threatened strike of the employees of the North Eastern Railway has had less influence upon stock markets than might have been anticipated. Mr. Lloyd George, when President of the Board of Trade, was generally so successful in his methods of arbitrating between the contending parties that it is hoped and believed that his successor will be able to bring about an amicable arrangement. Like most disputes of the kind, there is much to be said for both sides. Undoubtedly the hours of the men on the North Eastern, as well as on all the railways of the country, are very long, and their remuneration is by no means excessive. At the same time trade is less active than it has been in the recent past, as is evident from the Board of Trade returns, the receipts of the railways and the figures of the Bankers Clearing House. Moreover, employment is not as plentiful as it might be and it is thought, therefore, that the men will be brought to see that the present is not an opportune time for a great strike.

The arrangement proposed by the Underground Electric Railways has practically had no influence upon stock markets. The arrangement involved an application to the courts which has been made with the result that Sir George Gibb, the Chairman of the District Railway and Vice-Chairman of the Underground Co., has been appointed receiver and manager. This is a purely technical matter, and has been done in order to protect the interests of those concerned. It has been known so long now that the company will not be in a position to meet its profit-sharing notes maturing in June, that any reasonable scheme likely to meet the deficiency had a chance of being welcomed.

While the Bank rate of discount remains at 3%, money so far, although, of course, cheap, has been by no means as plentiful as was generally expected. This week, of course, there is a heavy drain to the country in connection with the Easter holidays. But although Lombard Street has nothing to complain of, Throgmorton Street has been somewhat disappointed that while the rates for money are moderate the actual supply is far from being abundant. However, the general opinion seems to be that it is merely a question of a few weeks, and that in due time the hearts of jobbers and brokers will be gladdened by the appearance of large sums awaiting investment.

Practically the India Council has ceased to be able to sell drafts at the price which it is willing to accept. Owing to the terrible drought in the United Provinces of India in particular and over a large part of India generally, that country has comparatively little to export this year. In order to maintain the gold standard the Council has to endeavor to maintain as far as poosible a fixed par of exchange. The level of 1s. 4d. is constantly departed from, but beyond a certain point the Council does not feel it expedient to go. This week it offered for tender ten lacs of rupees and received applications for only half a lac. This amount was allotted on the basis of 1s. 3 29-32d. The total sales for the financial year which began on April 1 have so far realized £52,000, as against £708,000 for the corresponding period of last year.

At the Bank £100,000 has been received from Australia and £78,000 from Egypt, while £249,000 has been withdrawn for Paris and £10,000 for South America. SILVER.—On the 10th inst the quotation fell another 1-16d. to 25 3-16d., but at this price offerings were moderate, and there was no change until yesterday, when, on some inquiry for the Indian Bazaars, the market recovered to 25 ¼d. This has been followed by a further rise to-day of ¼d. and the Indian Bazaars have again been moderate buyers. The tone at the close is barely steady, buyers being satisfied. The Bombay quotation is Rs. 65 5-16 per 100 Tolahs. Arrivals—New York, £160,000. Shipments—Bombay, £11,500; Singapore (coin), £11,930; Madras £5,650; Calcutta, £5,000; total, £34,080.

Note.—In the case of the Clearing-House banks, the deposits are "net" both for the average and actual figures: in all other cases "gross" deposits are shown. The Money Market and Financial Situation.—The success which attended the Pennsylvaina bond offering, as noted last week, has continued to influence the security markets favorably.

The bond market has been less active than last week but this was offset by a largely increased volume of business in shares. The transactions in this department on Tuesday amounting to 1,104,329 shares, the largest recorded since the exciting days of the panic in October last.

The failure of two brokerage houses during the week, and the consequent closing out of contracts under the rules of the Exchange, caused more or less disturbance to the market and the movement of prices has, therefore, been somewhat abnormal.

Gold exports have been continued by the shipment of $4,500,000 to Paris, making $12,000,000 for the month.

The foreign bank statements reflect this gold movement and there is a tendency to easier money market rates abroad. On the other hand rates here are a little firmer as a result of gold exports and a call by the Secretary of the Treasury for $45,000,000 of Government funds deposited in banks.

The open market rates for call loans at the Stock Exchange during the week on stock and bond collaterals have ranged from 1¾% to 2%. To-day's rates on call were 1¾@2%. Commercial paper quoted at 4@4½% for choice 60 to 90-day endorsements and for 4 months best single names.

The Bank of England weekly statement on Thursday showed an increase in bullion of £379,441, and the per cent of reserve to liabilities was 51.04, against 50.52 last week.

The rate of discount remains unchanged at 3%, as fixed March 19. The Bank of France shows an increase of 26,525,000 francs gold and 1,075,000 francs silver.

Railroad and Miscellaneous Stocks.—The stock market has been unusually active during a part of the week, the transactions on Tuesday and Wednesday amounting to over 1,000,000 shares. Tuesday's market was strong, but a reaction followed, and although there has been a recovery averaging nearly 2 points to-day, closing prices are in some cases lower than last week.

St. Paul was conspicuous for an advance of over 10 points. Northern Pacific is nearly 5 points higher than on Monday, Southern Pacific 4½, Union Pacific nearly 4 and Louisville & Nashville 3½. These, however, are exceptional, the list generally having covered a much narrower range.

Outside Market.—Active trading in the new Pennsylvania RR. 4s and Interborough Rapid Transit 6% notes stimulated business in the bond department of the "curb" market this week. This at first imparted a generally stronger tone to the balance of the list, though later a reaction left the market weak and lower. Pennsylvania RR. new 4s sold up from 99 to 100¾ and closed to-day at 100⅛. Transactions of over $2,500,000 were reported. Initial sales of Interborough Rapid Transit 6% notes were reported at 101 and thereafter down to 99⅝ and up to 100⅛. The close to-day was at 100. Some $2,000,000 were dealt in. Erie 6% notes advanced about a point to 98. Consolidated Steamship 4s sank from 11½ to 10. Allis-Chalmers 5s advanced from 65 to 67½. American Tobacco was conspicuous for a 9-point advance to 360 and a later reaction to 345. The final quotation was 349. Standard Oil rose from 606 to 614, but dropped back to 585½ and closed at 586.
